Phelan Wins Scholarship

The winner of this year's annual Columbus Academy Alumni Memorial Scholarship is Michael A. Phelan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy P. Phelan of 336 Loefler-av.

Mike is presently an eighth grader at Holy Rosary School, where he has been a top student, a member of the football, basketball and baseball teams, and a class officer.

He is one of 21 boys who competed for the award by undergoing a battery of aptitude tests and personal interviews.

The award is made each year to that boy who demonstrates to the Alumni Scholarship Committee qualities of scholarship, leadership and character. Further, the boy must show that without a scholarship grant he could not attend the academy.

Graduates 259

On Wednesday, June 5, 259 students of Barrett Junior High School received their diplomas in the school auditorium. Class speakers for the school's 39th graduation ceremonies were Douglas Meszaros and Claudia Dunigan, members of the honor society.

Ninety-three additional pupils are eligible for promotion to senior high school status, having earned credit in two of the four required major subjects at the grade nine level.

All pupils graduating or being promoted will report to South High School at 9 a.m. on Friday, June 7, for orientation.

Soldier Trained

South Side's Fourth of July Event Is Gaining Momentum

Girls' State Is Opening At Capital

The Southeast schools will be well represented when the 17th. annual Buckeye Girls' State session opens on the Capital University campus this Saturday.

Sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary of Ohio, the nine-day government workshop will be attended by over 1,200 outstanding girls selected from the junior classes of Ohio high schools.

A mythical state will be set up with 24 cities and three counties functioning under a two-party system. Each girl will have either an elective or appointive position through which she will become closer acquainted with the functions of government.

Among the speakers they will hear are Governor Rhodes, Ohio Supreme Court Justice Paul M. Herbert and Dr. Nicholas Njaradi of Bradley University and former finance minister of the Hungarian Republic.

Schiller Plans Big Things For Summer

Schiller Recreation Center opened a new season yesterday with registration for the summer.

A full-scale program in sports, arts and crafts, games of all kinds and numerous special events are planned for all children from the ages of eight through 18.

Junior Jet baseball registration was held for the eight and nine year olds last night with the ten through 12 year olds scheduled to meet tonight. Softball sign-up has also started.

Ronald Kirkpatrick, summer playground director, announces that a complete track program and the physical fitness tests are beginning the first week.

The first big special event and one of the most popular events of the entire summer program is starting next week with the playground pet shows being held on Thursday and Friday, June 20 and 21.

All children are urged to begin now to make plans for entering their pets in the contest.

Further information can be obtained at the playground.

Tournaments in four-squares, horseshoes and tether ball will begin shortly after the pet shows.

South Sider Season's First Water Victim

Rescue efforts by friends failed Sunday afternoon to save a South Side man who liked water but could not swim well. He drowned in a qarry south of Frank-rd.

Firemen dragged for an hour and a half before recovering the body of George Kiefer, Jr., 22, of 280 Alcott-rd, in 20-foot deep water about 15 feet from shore.

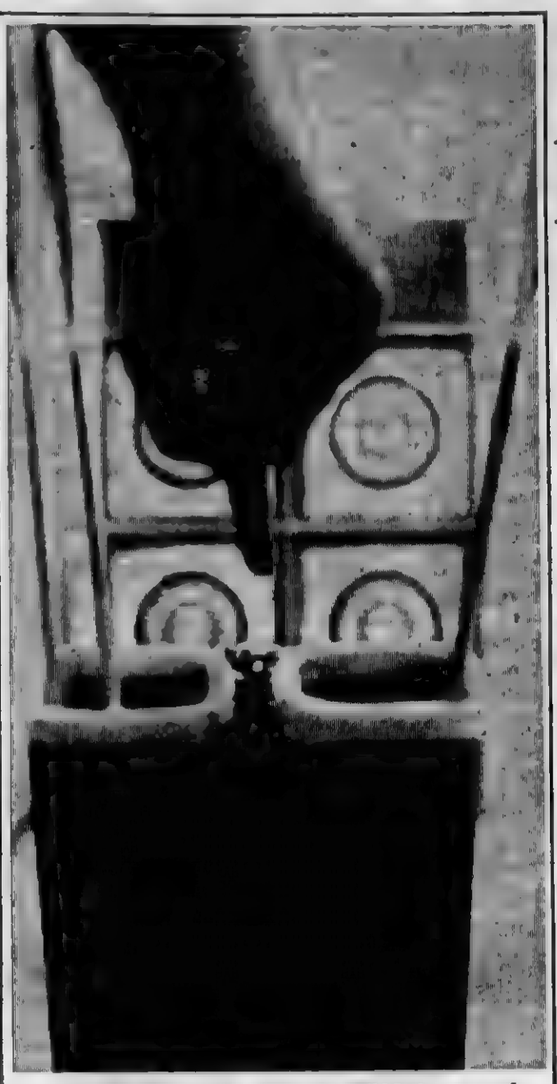
The drowning was the first of the summer season in Franklin County.



One of eight children of Mr. and Mrs. George Kiefer, Sr., Kiefer left for the quarry about 3 p.m. with three neighborhood buddies, Cherry, 16; Danny, 20 and Ernest Bellomy, Jr., 23, all of 225 Alcott-rd.

The family had only been living in Columbus for a year since Kiefer Sr. retired from the Army.

St. Paul's List Time Schedule

Beginning Sunday, June 16, through Sunday, Sept. 1, St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Stewart-av at Bruck-st, will have the following time schedule: 8 a.m., first service; 9 a.m., Sunday School; 10 a.m., second service.

HIGHLIGHT of the South Side YMCA's new archery range is the Saunders' Electronamatt target. The shooter merely presses a button on a nearby stand and, through a photo cell light beam, the target travels to him for easy arrow removal.

Electronic Age Hits Archery 'Alley' At New South Side 'Y'

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

The electronic age has finally caught up with the Robin Hoods in this world as the sport of archery becomes as tame as bowling and as easy to play as a pinball machine.

That nasty old task of walking to the target to retrieve the arrow is now passe and the South Side Branch YMCA, 190 Southwood-av, is leading the movement.

In its new archery range, the "Y" has installed a unique Saunders' Electronamatt target that operates on a photo cell light beam. After the arrows are fired, a nearby button is pressed and the entire target zooms back to the shooter at four miles per hour for easy arrow removal.

THESE TWO South Side YMCA members pull their arrows from the unique Electronamatt target without leaving their shooting spot. The target comes to them (at four miles per hour, no less) rather than the shooter going to the target. Standing is William Penrod, 695 S. High-st, and kneeling is David Bobo, 111 Southwood-av.

STAFF CHIEF

Dr. Baxter Is Honored At Hospital

A special tribute was given Dr. Earl Hayes Baxter, 70, Wednesday afternoon as he completed his term as chief of staff at Children's Hospital.

Dr. Baxter, internationally-known pediatrician, is credited with building the institution into one of the nation's most outstanding children's health centers during the past 43 years — 25 years as chief of staff.

A highlight of Wednesday's ceremonies was the formal naming of the new 280-seat auditorium, the Earl Hayes Baxter auditorium. A portrait of Dr. Baxter was unveiled.

Dr. Dorothy Falkenstein, representing the medical staff, unveiled the portrait and made the presentation.

Dr. Baxter's biography was delivered by Dr. Rolo Baker. William S. Guthrie, board member and chairman of hospital education and research, was master of ceremonies.

Livingston Taylor, chairman of the hospital's development board, made the dedication speech.

Rev. Arthur . Becker, professor of theology at Capital Seminary and chairman of the hospital's intern chaplain program, delivered the invocation and benediction.

A dinner at Rocky Fork Country Club, north of Gahanna, was given by the staff in honor of Dr. Baxter following the formal services.

THERE ARE 42 STARS on this old American flag discovered in the attic of her father's home by Mrs. Esther Brook, 700 Lilly Chapel-rd, West Jefferson. The flag belonged to Mrs. Brook's grandfather, Z. R. Taylor, who operated a drug store on Main-st in West Jefferson for many years. The 12-foot-long flag was only manufactured during an eight-month period between the admission of Washington, the 42nd state, Nov. 11, 1889, and the 43rd state, Idaho, July 3, 1890. It is printed on bunting, rather than sewn, and is in a remarkably good state of preservation.

Flag Day Is Observed Friday; Be Sure To Display 'Old Glory'

In all corners of the globe Americans and their friends will pause for a few minutes this Friday, June 14, to pay a special tribute to our national emblem on its own special day, Flag Day, 1963. It is especially noteworthy that our servicemen from Korea to France will take this opportunity to demonstrate for their friends in foreign lands their respect and love for the American Flag.

Without exception every American should display "Old Glory" on this special day as their tribute to our way of life and as a sign of respect to the history of our great nation.

If you do not have a proper

'Checkmates' Program Termed 'Big Success'

A total of 1704 people living between Morrill-av and the New York Central Railroad in the South Side have taken advantage of the free Christmas Seal TB tests.

And 991 have had free chest X-rays aboard the Turberculosis Society's "Operation Checkmates" cruiser, as of May 28.

To top it off, the TB Society plans to stage a drawing for three used cars to be given away for participation in "Operation Checkmates."

The drawing will be held, Friday, June 21, at 9 a.m. on the "A.M. Show" viewed locally on WLW-C, Channel 4.

The cars, donated by Gager-Keim Ford, will go to three eligible families who had their TB tests and chest X-rays in the recent "Operation Checkmates" program.

The twin cruisers have been offering these free double-checks against TB since May 6. "Checkmates" closed June 8.

Of the 1704 people who had free TB skin tests, 309 had positive reactions. There were 726 children TB tested and 978 adults. Ten children and 299 adults were positive reactors.

"This means," stated E. Clifford Roberts, Checkmates director, "that approximately 34.9 per cent of all adult tests had TB germs in their bodies."

$750 Stolen From Parsons Theatre

A thief who talked a theatre cashier into leaving the box office to go to a nearby pizza house escaped with an estimated $750 in receipts from the Parsons Follies, 1291 Parsons-av, Sunday night, according to police.

Police said the man told the unidentified cashier she was wanted at the restaurant. When she left he entered the unlocked door and picked up the money.

To Submit Plans

The Columbus Park Commission Wednesday, June 5, promised to submit approved park plans for Beck Square in the German Village for consideration by the German Village Commission.

Confederate Jackpot Growing

A total of $69 now awaits the winner of this week's jackpot in the "Confederate" Money Contest being sponsored by this Hartley Newspaper.

Twenty-one "Confederate" emblems were hidden in 21 different copies of the 72,000 newspapers published by Hartley Newspapers this week. One of these emblems is worth the entire jack pot, to a paid subscriber, the others are good for $1 in "Confederate" cash to the finders.

To learn how you can be a "Confederate" money winner and for a list of last week's winners be sure and look for the story on the inside of this paper.

GLORIA JEAN McBRIDE
So Close, And Yet . . .

Columbus Girl Is Second In Famed Miss Ohio Contest

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Boswelling the recent activities of a one Miss Gloria Jean McBride, it's easy to see how she could feel the plight of a girl who's always a bridesmaid but never a bride.

Curvy Gloria, 21, of 1367 Stelzer-rd, was first runner-up in the recent Miss Columbus competition here and, out of sheer desire, entered the Miss Ohio contest ("More out of curosity than anything else," she said). She placed second in this one, too.

"Maybe some girls would be quite disappointed to come that close and yet be so far," she said with a smile.

Not with this lass, however, who (if anything) feels it was "quite an honor" even to be included in the list of entries.

Of course she was excited about the Miss Columbus competition, but her feelings of elation over the Miss Ohio contest in Cleveland last week were as evident as the spotted face of a five-year old with the measles.

"It was just wonderful . . . I've never been a pageant more beautiful," she talked in spurts to reporters, obviously still gasping for breath over the second place distinction.

Although quite conscious about her diet (and who wouldn't be with a 36-23-36 tape measure reading, in the usual order) Gloria couldn't help but decide that the food served the entries in Cleveland's Chateau Club was the highlight of the entire event.

"It was steak, steak, steak every time you turned

It's too hot for snowballing, but what other adjective can be used in describing the Fourth of July activity plans in the South Side?

In fact, that's the very same adjective selected by John Marshall, chairman of the Council of South Side Organizations' July Fourth committee.

This is the first year Marshall has been at the helm of this major event in the area and he has a tough act to follow when ol' reliable Mike Mileusnich (now CSSO president) stepped down after coordinating the celebration for the past two years.

There are several factors entering into celebration this year that justify the old "bigger and better" line. For instance:

- There's added interest in the Council's second "Miss South Side" race since last year's winner, Linda Tapia, was a runner-up in Miss Central Ohio competition and is a possible contender for Miss America.
- For the first time, Ohio State championship softball tournaments will be held on Southview field starting at 1 p.m. And there are several South Side "Y" Inter-church all-star games planned.
- The Council has dealt out more money this year for its gigantic fireworks display which, even in leaner past years, has been an awesome and colorful expression of patriotism.

As usual, refreshments will be available and there will be pony rides for the children and entertainment in the evening, featuring the Marion-Franklin High band.

The beauty contest is scheduled to go on at 8:15 p.m. with local radio, TV and newspaper personalities serving as judges. The fireworks will be ignited at 9 p.m.

Marshall reminds that South Side girls (living within the limits of Livingston-av south to the city limits and between the Scioto River and Alum Creek) are still being urged to sign up for the beauty competition.

The deadline for entering is midnight, July 1. Entry blanks are available at the South Side YMCA, 190 Southwood-av. Or, just call there

ENTERS RACE

Karen Nutter, 2685 S. Cassady-av, a pretty 16-year-old Marion-Franklin High student, was the first contestant to enter the race for Miss South Side this year. Deadline for entering is midnight, July 1.

LINDA TAPIA, the first "Miss South Side" sponsored by the Council of South Side Organizations and elected last July Fourth, is ready with her crown when the new Miss is selected at Southview Park. Lithesome Linda was graduated from South High this month.

Anita Heckman, Robert Telfer Are United In Marriage At Trinity Lutheran Church

Trinity Lutheran Church was the setting June 1, for the marriage of Miss Anita L. Heckman and Mr. Robert C. Telfer, with Rev. Harold S. Goers officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Audry L. Heckman, 1181 Seymour-av, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mildred M. Telfer, 381 E. Gates-st.

Mr. Marion E. Taynor, uncle of the bride, gave Miss Heckman in marriage. She wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace fashioned with a sabrina neckline of pearls and tridescents, long tapering sleeves and a bouffant skirt featuring tiers in the back.

Her veil of French silk illusion, edged with Chantilly lace, was held by a crown of pearls, and she carried a duchess white rose with a cascade of white roses.

Mrs. Karl Bergamo was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Rebecca Roecher and Miss Jan Thiele.

A reception was held following the ceremony.

The new Mrs. Telfer is a graduate of Capital University School of Nursing and is employed at Children's Hospital. Mr. Telfer is a graduate of Ohio State University, College of Engineering, and is employed by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

Following a wedding trip to the Pocono Mountains, the couple will reside at 1850 Holburn-av.

DISTRICT DINNER

The White Oaks District held their annual district recognition dinner May 28, at Lockbourne AFB. A record total of 270 people attended.

Scouters and adult leaders were presented awards and reports from various committees were given. The Keyrings Quartet entertained with a Sing-a-Long program.

Receiving the Scouters Keys, which represent three years as a leader, were Vern Boetcher, Seymoure Hickman, Lloyd Douglas, Gerry McMillian, William Tucker and Vern Wagner.

Charles Henderson and Stephen Dickerson received the Commissioners Award, for service as a neighborhood commissioner.

Veteran Awards were presented to Lloyd Douglas, 15 years; Ray Jacobs, 15 years; Cecil E. Richards, 15 years, and Barney Seltzer, 10 years.

Tom Currier, neighborhood commissioner, was recognized for having contributed the name "White Oaks" when the district was renamed. He also wrote the song for the White Oaks District.

The officers for the 1963-64 season were installed. The committee is composed of Harold Fleck, chairman; Dick Hawkins, vice-chairman; Ed Davis, organization and extension chairman; Ray Bidwell, advancement chairman; Paul Benidict, finance chairman; Jim Stolzenbach, public relations; Don Cook, camping and activities; Sam Robeano, leaders training; Harlan Elmore, health and safety and Harold Wood, explorer chairman.

On the Commissioner's staff are Sam Krouse, commissioner; Charles Henderson, Art Jacob, and Bill Kane, assistant commissioners and Jud Althause, Bill Astley, Hasson Baldish, Hank Bobulski, Bob Burnett, Tom Currier, Steve Dickerson, Lloyd Douglas, Harlan Elmore, Bob Fowler, Rodney Hetzer, Charles Marshall, Art Mittendorf, George Neibler, Bob Roesch, and Bill Tucker, neighborhood commissioners.

AWARDED FOR ACHIEVEMENT

M/Sgt. Henry W. Malkowski, 83rd Division Advisory Group, Columbus, has been awarded a Certificate of Achievement by Maj. Gen. Andrew R. Lolli, commanding general, 20th U. S. Army Corps, prior to reassignment to Germany. His wife and two children live at 5017 Fairlane-rd.

King George VI ascended the throne of Englind Dec. 11, 1936, when his brother, Edward VIII, abdicated to marry American divorcee, Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson.

A NEW GOODYEAR store in the Great Southern Shopping Center is now celebrating its Grand Opening with gifts for the family and valuable prizes to be awarded to visitors. The 10-day affair will introduce area customers to the service and facilities offered by the famous stores throughout the nation.

New Goodyear Store In Great Southern Begins Grand Opening

A 10-day Grand Opening Celebration to mark the opening of a new Goodyear Store in the Great Southern Shopping Center has been scheduled for Thursday, June 13, through Saturday, June 23.

Store Manager Max Bruckman said the celebration will include the awarding of 100 free roses each day to customers, balloons for the children, free 7-Up to drink, and free registration blanks to make the visitor eligible for prizes.

At the end of the celebration a drawing of names will be held to determine 10 winners for free prizes. Winner of the top prize will receive his choice of either a Westinghouse refrigerator, range or laundromat. Second prize winner will be awarded a set of tires to fit his car, third and fourth prizes are Westinghouse clock radios, fifth prize is a transistor radio and sixth through 10th prize is a free case of 7-Up. Winners need not be present for the drawing.

Also to be given away are 10 diamonds, valued at $100, which are hidden in ice cubes in a Westinghouse refrigerator. Each visitor will be allowed to choose an ice cube, which when melted could reveal one of the diamonds.

Manager Bruckman pointed out that his new store is similar to other fine Goodyear Stores in the Columbus area. Facilities include the sale of appliances and television sets featuring Westinghouse products, sale of Goodyear tires and batteries and a service department to handle work on automobile brakes, alignment, tune-ups and mufflers.

Bruckman stated that budget terms are available at the store and that the store carries its own accounts without outside financing.

Bruckman is a native of Columbus and resides with his wife and four children at 5094 Southland-dr. Before returning to his home town he was assigned to a Goodyear Store in Bluefield, W. Va.

Besides Bruckman, the store personnel is made up of Larry Eveland, credit, sales manager; Charlotte Throckmorton, office; Sam Cassady, sales; Joe Dummit, service manager; Dick Dungan, mechanic, and Jim Davis, mechanic.

Store hours are 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. daily, except Sunday.

Schacht Reports ACP Progress

Indications are that Agricultural Conservation Program practices were carried out on more farms in 1962 than in any other year since 1953, according to Carl W. Schacht, chairman, Franklin Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee.

Preliminary estimates put the total number of farms participating in ACP in 1962 at around 1,270,000 — about a five-per cent increase over the 1,217,000 farms participating in 1961. Of this number, about 200,000 were "new" participants — where conservation work had not been done in recent years.

In Franklin County, ACP practices boosted conservation on about 174 farms last year. Program practices completed on participating farms included such practices as liming, tiling, land shaping, and establishment of permanent pastures.

The ACP for 1963 — the 28th program year—is now well under way. In Franklin County, 138 farmers have already requisted ACP cost-sharing to help expand soil, water, woodland, and wildlife conservation work needed on their land.

Ends Course

Army Pfc. John R. Tedrick, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ottis D. Tedrick, 925 Gilbert-st, recently completed an eight-week general warehousing course at the Quartermaster Center, Fort Lee, Va. Tedrick, who entered the Army in March, 1961, attended South High School.

BUILDING PERMIT

John Boss, 1755 Lattimer-dr, has been issued a permit to build a two-car concrete block garage valued at $1,300.

YMCA Leader Dies Sunday

An associate of the YMCA since 1940 and executive-secretary of the Town and Country Branch of the organization since 1944, W. Glaze Thompson, 57, of 3920 Kiokaav, died Sunday, June 9, at Mt. Carmel Hospital.

He had been hospitalized since May 26, when he suffered a heart attack.

He was an ordained minister of the Christian Disciples Church, had attended Ohio State University and was a graduate of Hiram College .

Service was to be held today (Thursday) at the Schoedinger Mid-Town Chapel. Interment at Green Lawn Cemetery.

Reassigned To Lockbourne AFB

Airman 1C. Ronald C. Weethee of 1913 Orlando-rd, is being reassigned to Lockbourne AFB following his graduation from the Air Force technical training course for jet aircraft maintenance technicians at Sheppard AFB, Tex.

Airman Weethee was trained to supervise and perform detailed maintenance and inspection of single and multi-engine jet aircraft.

The airman's wife, Saundra is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Rife of 4383 Melroy.

JACKPOT IS GROWING

$69 In 'Confederate' Cash Available To Lucky Reader

There's "Confederate" cash waiting for some lucky person right now at the Hartley Newspaper loffice! Although the bills may be a little old, you'll find they're right up to date when you spend hem at any place of business advertising in a Hartley Newspaper.

To collect your share of the loot, being offered this week by this paper, you must come up with a "Confederate" emblem like this "1". The emblems are always printed in a bright colored ink and placed somewhere in the white space of an advertisement on the inside pages of the paper. Not every paper contains an emblem, only 21 of the 72,000 copies printed.

Any reader finding a "1" emblem can collect $1 in "Confederate" cash by merely sending the page containing the winning insignia to Hartley Newspapers, 2465 W. Broad-st. The "Confederate" cash will be mailed to the winner.

To win this week's jackpot of $69, in "Confederate" money, you must come up with the "5" emblem, like the one shown in this column, and be a paid subscriber, the emblem is worth $5 in "Confederate" bills.

Like the "1" insignia, the "5" emblem is printed in a bright colored ink, but it appears in only one copy of this week's edition of Hartley Newspapers. If you find a "5" emblem you must bring the paper containing it to the Hartley Newspaper office to claim your prize.

Winners of one "Confederate" dollar in last week's contest were Mrs. Allen J. Pipelow, 4940 Dublin-rd, and R. D. Fannon, Jd., 358 Stephen-dr, W. This means that $23 in "Confederate" money not claimed in last week's contest was ladded to the jackpot to make up the cash available to this week's winners.

This contest is not open to employes, including carriers of Hartley Newspapers or members of their families. All entries must be received by noon on Monday, following publication of the paper, in order to be eligible to win in the contest.

76 Buckeye Boys Staters Leave For Ohio University

Leaving Thursday, June 13, for Ohio University in Athens, O., are 76 Buckeye Boys' State representatives from Franklin County. The delegates were selected from this year's junior classes in 34 high schools.

John L. Worrell, commander of the newly merged 12th District Council of the American Legion, predicts that Franklin County will have the largest delegation enrolled. The boys are being sponsored by 22 Legion Posts, Worrell said, and co-sponsors are 38 civic and other organizations, businesses and individuals.

Service clubs acting as co-sponsors include the East Side, Hilltop (two), New Albany, Gahanna, Bexley (two), Whitehall, and Groveport Lions Clubs; the Hilltop (two), West Side and West Franklin Kiwanis Clubs; the West Columbus and Eastern Civitan Clubs, Western Optimists and the Bexley Business and Professional Men's Club.

Other assisting groups are the Walnut Ridge Boosters, 13 Club, Columbus Elks, East Side Business Association, the Hilltop Business Association, and a group of Southway Post 144 members who call themselves the "East Side Outpost."

Camp Chase 98 (10), Southway 144 (six), Paschall 164 of Grove City (one), Leach-Benson 239 of Canal Winchester (one), Navy-Marine 276, Columbus (two), Lazelle 411 of Dublin (three).

Bexley 430 (four), Robert Dutro 486, Groveport (two), Comrade, Whitehall 490 (three), Scioto 604, Columbus (three), Memorial 614, Hilliard (two), Hanford Village 690 (one) and Capital City 698 (one).

Area schools and their representatives are as follow:

East — Klaus Williams, Arthur Woodruff, Richmond Green. Westmoor — Ronald Hodge, David Praver. Walnut Ridge — Ronald Dawson, Thomas Coneybeer.

Marion-Franklin — John Stanton, Michael Schoonover, Gary Pemberton. South—Paul E. Hunt, James Lyle, Roger Peer. West — Timothy DeWitt, David Holdren, James Hughes, Jay (Skip) Sanford, Douglas Torrance.

Eagles Hold Annual Picnic

Columbus Aerie 297, Fraternal Order of Eagles, 771 N. High-st, Drill and Ritual Team will hold its annual picnic on Sunday, June 16, at the Fraternal Order of Police picnic grounds on Rt. 62, just north of Gahanna.

Entertainment and games for kiddies and adults will be programmed on eight acres of picnic grounds. Dancing will be from 3 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 10 p.m. in the beautiful new hall with a floor show at 9 p.m.

All Eagles, their families and friends are cordially invited.

Summer Picnic At Catalpa Park

The public is invited to attend the St. John Chrysostom Summer Picnic, Sunday, June 16, at Catalpa Park, on Groves-rd, one mile south of Livingston-av, by way of Hamilton-rd South.

Special features include Mass at 11:30 a.m., games, refreshments and food. Music will be furnished by the Polka Gems of Zanesville, O.

Gossip is the worst microbe. It has neither legs nor wings but consists mostly of tales, most of them with stings . . . Betty Crocker.

CONSTRUCTION OF NEW LAZARUS STORE BEGINS

THE NEW LAZARUS Northland Store, covering 200,000 square feet, will include three selling floors and be more than twice the size of Lazarus West on W. Broad-st. A separate building will house the department store's auto accessory and tire center. The new store scheduled to open in August, 1964, will be part of Central Ohio's first mall-type regional shopping center which is now under construction. The new Northland Center will include 55 stores and cover a 71-acre site at the southeast corner of Morse and Karl-rds.

TO CLOSE OUT 50TH YEAR

TV-4 Stars Will Head Franklin County Fair Grandstand Offering

The WLW-C, TV-4 "Cavalade of Stars" will be the grandstand attraction for the 50th anniversary of the Franklin County Fair, it was announced this week by the Hilliard and Franklin County Fair Board.

The headliner act has been booked for 8 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 17—the final day of the fair which begins Aug. 12.

The "TV Cavalade," with popular personality and Hilliard resident Stan Robinson as emcee, will feature country and western musician Clay Eager, the Al Waslon TV quintet, songstress Jeanne Cummins and musical comedienne Nancy Courtwright.

The ensemble will present a show of variety and audience participation, fair spokesmen said. An extra added attraction to the group is yet to be announced but has been promised.

Robinson is best known, perhaps, for his role as TV-4 weatherman and co-host of the morning "A.M. Show" at 9 a.m. on WLW-C.

Eager, emcee of the weeknight "Jamboree" at 7 p.m. on TV-4 has been a country-western music expert since his youth. He was emcee of the "Midwestern Hayride" for a time.

Waslon is the music director of the "A.M. Show" and a former arranger-pianist with the orchestras of Jimmy Dorsey, Buddy Morrow and Phil Napoleon.

Jeanne is currently viewed as songstress on the "A.M. Show" and on "Green Thumb" each weekday morning at 7:25 on TV-4. A show business veteran, she has been singing professionally since the age of five.

The review is scheduled to last a full two hours.

Eibling Heads Building Group For Red Cross

Dr. Harold H. Eibling, superintendent of Columbus schools, will head a building committee of Red Cross board members to develop plans for a new building on the recently acquired site of the present headquarters, 995 E. Broad-st.

Other members of the committee included Mrs. P. Webster Huntington, Mrs. Jack Neel Taylor, John B. Piehn, Richard A. Borel, David Chases and Robert W. Greer.

Henry L. Wagner, chapter chairman, said tentative plans call for a building large enough to house both headquarters facilities and the Columbus Regional Blood Center now located at 812 E. Broad-st.

Stadium Theater Offers 'Harvey'

Roy Bowen, managing director of OSU's Stadium Theatre, announces that the first attraction of the Gate 10's fourteenth annual season will be "Harvey," the famous comedy hit that captured the imagination of Broadway theatregoers for over four years, and a Pulitzer Prize as well.

This play concerns an imaginary rabbit, six feet one and a half inches tall, whose constant campanionship with what is probably the world's most ingratiating tippler, has created more laughter than any play in modern times. It will open at Stadium Theatre, Tuesday, June 18, for a five-performance engagement through June 22.

Girl Scout Camp Holds Open House

Open house will be held at Girl Scout Camp Ken-Jockety on Sunday, June 16, from 2 to 5 p.m. The camp is located on Hubbard-rd, which goes north from Rt. 40 between Alton and West Jefferson.

Miss Dorothy Gamber, the camp director, and her staff, will be present to welcome friends and relatives of girls who will be attending two-week sessions at Ken-Jockety this summer. Tours will cover the central portion of the camp as well as the units where special activities are planned. June 16 is the only visiting day of the summer.

'GONNA BE MISSED'

Starling's 'Smitty' Wraps Up 53-Year Coaching Career

By JACK WITTENMEIER

Carl V. Smith escorted his little group of incoming seventh grade students through Starling Junior High Friday on "get acquainted day." His guided tour was different in one respect this year. After 42 years at the Central Avenue school, it was to be Smitty's last official day.

It was perhaps fitting that Smith's last function should be one of guidance. Since 1910, he has filled that need of youth in both the classroom and on the athletic field.

A THREE-SPORT athlete at South High, Smitty's relationship with sports is one of long standing. Early memories could recall positions as a basketball referee and service as the first lifeguard (along with Chic Harley) at the old Olentangy Park.

Smith, who was recently honored by the City Recreation Department for 50 years of service, joined the department in 1910 and soon became the first director at Schiller Park.

Ten years later, he became one of the city's first three gym teachers, working the five South Side elementary schools. "Each school had gym classes twice a week then," Smitty explained. "I'd go to one school in the morning and another in the afternoon."

IN 1921 Smitty began his 42-year term at Starling. His physical education classes were conducted then in the south section of Central High until West High moved to its present site from the Central-Parsons location.

Besides his duties as gym teacher, Smitty filled the position of coach for all of Starling's athletic teams until 1960.

Although his coaching duties were widespread (even wrestling in the late 1920s), baseball was his number one interest as he guided Starling to 13 diamond championships.

A LIST OF Smith pupils who advanced to great heights in the sporting world would be too numerous to list but names like All-American football great Hopalong Cassady, Major Leaguer Bob Kline and Jet General Manager Harold Cooper could be mentioned in passing.

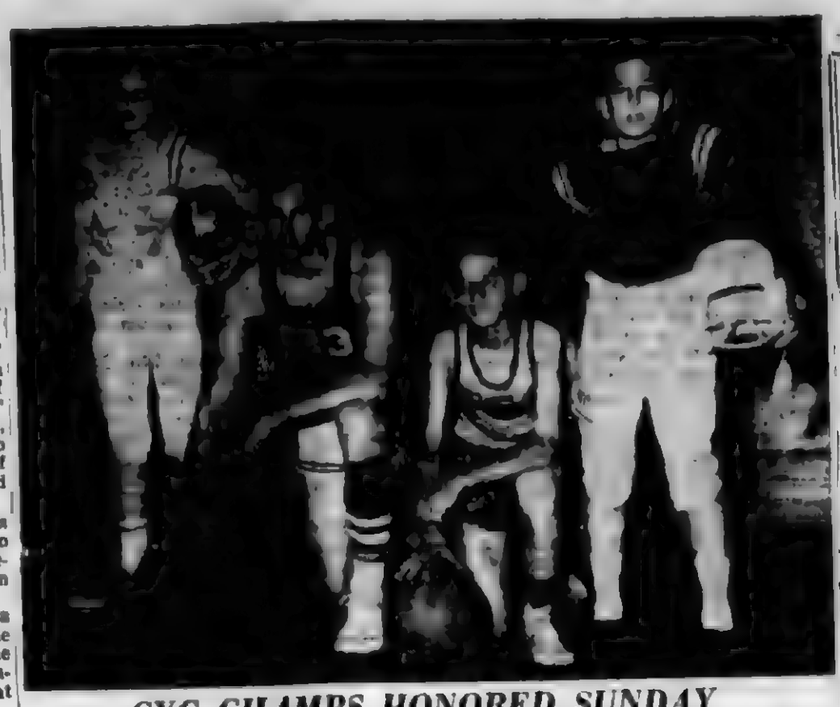
Smitty has seen revolutionary changes in the realm of physical education — the greatest, perhaps, in facilities. "Today, we have a locker for every boy to store his gym clothes. Back in the 20's, everybody played in street clothes."

Smith had to go along with the argument that physical fitness among youth today is below par in comparison with his playing days. "Even though the facilities are far better today, television and the automobile have cut down on the fitness of today's youth."

"I CAN REMEMBER walking from my home on Indianola-av to South High, playing ball after school and then walking back," Smith recalled.

Insight into his own youth has helped Smitty in his work with youngsters. "There are still a lot of kids who think they have to fight their way to the top with their fists. I try to make them see that their brain is as important as their strength."

Although Smitty refuses to consider himself a good student, he is a graduate of law school and holds degrees in both education and physical education from OSU.



LOOKING BACK over his long career as teacher and coach, Smitty was quick to admit that he'd "do it over again. I'd rather be associated with kids. I've never really seen a bad one. One thing about kids, they're genuine and they're honest."

And what about now? Where does Smitty go from here? "I've got plenty of things to keep me busy," Smitty said. "For one thing, I love to travel. I'd like to take my wife to see some of the places I've visited around the country."

Smitty also admitted he's got some catching up to do in the hunting and fishing department on his farm in southern Ohio.

CARL SMITH carried a truck full of memories home with him Friday when he closed the books on his teaching and coaching career at Starling.

Maybe one of the most rewarding in 42 years came near the close of our interview when one of his charges stuck his head around the door of Smith's office to say, "I'm gonna' miss you, Smitty."

CYC CHAMPS HONORED SUNDAY

MERCY HOSPITAL LADIES' BOWLING CHAMPS

THESE FIVE WOMEN bowlers were recently crowned champions of Rainbow Lanes' Merry Mix-Up League and honored at a banquet held at Lockbourne Air Force Base. The kegling quintet, representing Mercy Hospital, also took two of three games against the Mercy men's team to win the hospital's undisputed championship. Mrs. Agnes Salter (middle) had a 186 three-game average in the championship play-off games. The five lady bowlers, all employed at Mercy Hospital are, left to right: Mrs. Doris Bader, R.N., surgical supervisor; Miss Agnes O'Connell, surgical technician; Mrs. Salter, R.N., orthopedic supervisor; Mrs. Allene Fixer, administrative department, and Mrs. Evelyn Weininger, medical technician.

Jr. Jet Baseball Opens On Area Playgrounds

The Columbus Recreation Department's Junior Jet League baseball program will begin this week with a series of organizational meetings for all boys eight through 12 years of age who want to play baseball this summer.

All boys who report for practices and games will play at least three innings in each six-inning ball game. Various fraternal and civic organizations co-sponsor this program by providing T-shirts for the players in each league.

ALL BOYS eight through 12 years of age as of June 15 should attend the meeting at the Junior Jet playground closest to their home according to the following schedule: eight year olds meet at 6 p.m. on June 12; nine year olds meet at 7:15 on June 12; 10 year olds meet at 6 p.m. on June 13; 11 and 12 year olds meet at 7:15 p.m. on June 13.

Bow Wow, Duke Share Lead In Old Timers

Gene Mock of Blatz blasted out three home runs and played an outstanding defensive game in the outfield but his team lost to Planks, 24-16.

Don's Inn blasted Old Landmark, 20-6; Deibel's won over Arena, 16-13; Bow Wow and Duquesne remained tied for first place as Bow Wow defeated Schoenlings, 16-6, and Duquesne defeated Babberts, 19-7.

PLANKS LOADED up with seven home runs as Ray Beery and Jerry Spires hit two each and teammates Dick Jones, Dick Kelley and Carl Rau each connected one.

Chuck Raymond of Duquesne and Ed Schafer of Don's Inn also led their teams with two home runs each.

Other home run hitters for the night were Virg Emswiler, Bill Dunn and Jim Amburgey of Duquesne; Cliff Antes, Bill Goodwin, Art Hartman and Don Murnane, Don's Inn; Rich Herbert and Bill Morin, Arena; Hank Brietnicher, Blatz; Paul Junk and Sam Simon, Deibels; and Harold Duckworth, Fred Howard and Tony Yoli, Bow Wow.

PAUL JUNK (Deibels), Gene Mock (Blatz) and Rich Herbert (Arena) all had a perfect night at the plate when they all hit five for five while Bob Harper of Bow Wow and Bob Callahan of Don's Inn hit four for four.

Frebis Stays Undefeated In 'Y' Loop

Rains, wet grounds and threatening weather put a crimp in the South Side "Y" Inter-Church softball program last week as only the Intermediate Boys and Adult Slow-pitch circuits were able to play their scheduled games.

INTERMEDIATES

Defending champion Frebis Church of God took advantage of South Methodist's misques to roll on undefeated, as both John Evans and Jim Hemmerly pitched five hitters.

Joe Smith's two singles proved to be the best hitting performance. In other games the Ohio Avenue-South Congregational Combo, won a slugging bee from St. Paul United, 16-9, while Brookwood Presbyterian outscored Wilson Nazarene 13-8.

ADULT

In the Adult Slow-Pitch League, St. Paul Lutheran slid into first place by outscoring St. John United on a diamond that showed the effects of heavy morning rains.

Evans won the Lutheran hit parade but was overshadowed by Henry Held who stroked out four singles for the losers.

OHIO AVENUE EUB, led by Rev. Ketner, came through with a well-balanced attack to nip Southwood Church of Christ, 9-8, and St. Paul United won its first games of the campaign by beating Livingston Methodist, 10-7.

Calendar, Not Clock, Should Be Fish Guide

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

The telephone rang, and there was a prospective vacationer on the line. "When is the best time to go fishing?" he asked.

Well now, this is quite a question — almost as famous as "To be, or not to be?" It is easy to answer though, for the fishing is good all the time, someplace. A better question would be "where should I go fishing this month?"

THE FISHING is "good" in the middle of the winter. Statistics gathered by the Ohio Division of Wildlife show that there are more fish caught per hour of angling effort by fishing through the ice.

Fishing for crappies was "very good" this year at Hoover Reservoir and Big Darby Creek. But the time was April and early May.

Bass fishermen generally concede that May is their best month, and the smallmouths cut loose this year on schedule around the islands in Lake Erie and in local streams. The largemouths also cooperated in a number of farm ponds, and in Burr Oak Lake and Hocking Lake. So the bass fishing was "good" in may and incidentally, is still worth your while.

TO THE BANK fisherman who likes to dunk worms and minnows, fishing is best in the spring. What with bullheads, crappies and bass all looking for a meal, he can hardly miss.

But what about now, this month? There are several "good" possibilities. Most spectacular are the white bass in the western end of Lake Erie. They travel in voracious schools, and a spinner tossed in their direction will bring a strike on every cast. You can find white bass by two or three methods.

When you see a flock of gulls and terns wheeling and diving into the water, it means that a school of white bass has chased a school of shiners to the surface. The bass are feeding under the water, and the birds are reaping a harvest on top. Approach the school, with caution, and do not cut through it with your boat. Fishing such a school is a never-to-be-forgotten bonanza.

SOMETIMES YOU will see two or three boats congregated, and this may mean a school of white bass. A third method is to cast over reefs and to points of shoreline in hopes of locating a school. But the important fact is that June is the proper time, and party boat captain Elden Hales, at Catawba Marine, reports that they have already started.

You can also expect "good" fishing closer to home. The walleyes will be hitting better at Hoover Dam this month. The drop-offs and ledges seem to be the most productive spots, and nightcrawlers used with a spinner are deadly. Some anglers troll a plug very slowly for walleyes.

Bluegills are hitting artificials on the surface right now, either rubber spiders or flies. They provide "good" fishing for those who go out with flyrods. Admittedly, this is not everybody's sport. But bluegills might be called "Ohio trout" for they provide many hours of superb fishing enjoyment for the light-tackle clan. Bluegills are being caught this way at most lakes and farm ponds.

NIGHT FISHING will also produce for you. If you like to still fish, then this is the season for channel catfish. They will be caught in numbers starting this month, and the fishing will continue right up to cold weather.

Bass, especially big bass, are also caught by nocturnal anglers. The advantage here is that you do not need to take off from work for good fishing, that is, if you can do without some sleep. If you don't like to fish at night, then for the "good" bass fishing in June you should be out early in the morning and just before dark.

To answer the original question then, the fishing is good right now. But you must find the fish and give them what they want. This is the way it always is.

Do You Know Your Sports?

(Second in a series)

Ever since the day Orville and Wilbur managed to keep the first "flying machine" airborne, Americans and their overseas counterparts have engaged in aviation contests.

The first tests involved endurance and then speed, altitude and stunting took precedence as flying sportsmen soared toward new records each year.

TODAY'S SLICK jet aircraft have broken most of the existing records but more than 500,000 private plane owners still have a taste for upstairs competition.

Remarkably, about 18,000 of the private plane pilots are women.

In recent years, skydiving became a subsidiary branch of sporting aviation until the present day when it has developed into an individual form of competition.

ANOTHER BRANCH of sporting aviation is model air-craft. The Academy of Model Aeronautics estimates that there are over 250,000 model plane builders in this county alone.

Prices in this sport range greatly. The common hand-launched glider sells for as little as 50 cents while radio-controlled crafts are priced for as much as $500.

The '63 model championships will be held in July at the Los Alamitos Naval Air Station in California.

IF YOU CONSIDER golf your passport to pleasure, you'll probably run into one or all three of these characters on your local links this summer. This trio is to be avoided at all times on the fairways and greens. They are easily recognized by their lack of golfing etiquette. Look for the first of their harrassing tactics next week on this sports page.

Pro Ref Lists NBA Officiating 'Greatest'

Anyone who didn't know Dick Sheldon was a basketball referee would only have to watch the wide assortment of signals emanating from the life guard chair he fills during the summer months at a local pool to get the message.

Sheldon, who switched over to the now defunct ABL after a short term in the National Basketball Association, talked about the pros last week when we stopped in at his establishment to escape the soaring temperatures.

WE THREW a curve at Dick with our first pitch by asking him to list an all-NBA five. He responded by placing Elgin Baylor and Bob Pettit at the corners, Bill Russell at the post and Bob Cousy at one guard. Jerry West and Oscar Robertson shared the remaining outside spot.

"The toughest thing about breaking into the NBA," Sheldon said, "is recognizing the difference in personnel. Everybody's an All-American. Since playing basketball is their bread and butter, they give you a harder way to go during the game.

"But after the game's over, everything's forgotten. These guys play every game separately. They're perfect gentlemen. They respect you for putting them in their place."

SHELDON supplemented his comment by recalling a run-in with Celtic coach Red Auerbach. "He was yelling at me the whole game but I just ignored him. When the game was over, he came up to me and said he thought I did a good job but that next time I better toss him out when he got too loud on the bench."

Funny things happen in the course of ball games and more often than not the referee is put on the spot.

Contrary to high school or college ball, no time out is called by the referee in the NBA when a player loses a shoe or breaks a shoestring.

In his very first NBA game, Sheldon was confronted with this problem.

"IT WAS JERRY West's first year in the league. During the game, he tossed a pass. Just as he passed, his shoe came loose and he yelled at me, and I blew the whistle. Well, the pass was intercepted and the other team started a fast break.

"I don't know to this day whether he actually twisted his ankle or was just pulling a fast one."

Sheldon tabs Cousy as the greatest player he's ever seen and also the nicest guy in the NBA. "During one game, Bob apparently got it on the wrist as he was shooting and the ball fell short. When he passed me on his way back down the floor, Bob smiled and said "Dick, I don't miss 'em that bad'."

WE ASKED Dick about NBA play, which has a reputation of being rougher than any other league. "There's a line you've got to walk in relation to fouls. You have to decide if the contact had any bearing on the scoring. This is the separation point.

"Anyone of these guys could be the best actor in Hollywood. You have to do a certain amount of anticipation. You have to learn to think like the players and coaches while you're out there."

Eventually the discussion got around to Wilt Chamberlain. We wondered about the scoring king's rash of fights and ejections last season.

"YOU HAVE TO remember that they give Wilt a rough way to go. He takes a pretty rough beating each game. After games I've seen him with red welts all over his body."

Wilt's long reach came in handy in particular during one game in Philly when Sheldon became the target of a quart of orange juice tossed his way by an incensed fan.

"Wilt helped me wipe it up off the floor and told me not to let that kind of a guy bother me."

THE CHARGE HAS often been made that the pros ignore defensive play. "There's more defense applied than meets the eye," Sheldon says. "Since pro basketball employs the fast break to such a large degree, oftentimes there's no chance to set up a defense. But they play defense. Look at Bill Russell — a tremendous defensive player."

Why do some top collegiate scorers make it big in the pros while others fail to make the grade?

"Just being a top scorer isn't the whole story. Stamina is very important. These fellows play a 90-game schedule plus a heavy exhibition slate. The traveling alone takes a lot of energy."

AND HOW ABOUT the referees themselves? "They don't hire any fat men in the NBA. You have to stay in shape. They want you to be within three or four feet of the ball during the game and you work down the center of the court in pro basketball—not on the outside."

Sheldon lists his top thrills as officiating the game in which Elgin Baylor set a single-game scoring record with 72 points (since broken by Chamberlain and standing in Madison Square Garden between Cousy and Robertson during introduction before 14,000 fans.

"It's quite a thrill when I remember that just a year before I was calling high school games at Aquinas."

Sheldon plans to get back into the NBA next season to resume his whistle-tooting in the "biggest league." Just like Dick says, "It's the greatest."

Jim Harper Grid Mentor At M-F

JIM HARPER

The '32-year-old Harper, who produced four championship and two runner-up squads during his six-year term at Heights, replaces Ron Mauller who will devote full time to the classroom.

Harper, a '49 graduate of Central High, completed his service obligation and then gained a degree from OSU in 1957. He coached at Eastmoor before moving to Licking Heights.

Rev. Perkins Assigned To First Church

Rev. Roland G. Perkins, pastor for the past three years of Livingston Avenue Church, Livingston at Third-st, was given the additional assignment as pastor of First Methodist Church, Bryden-rd at 18th-st.

The conference reported the two churches are considering merger, since Livingston Church is to be razed to make way for the Fulton Expressway.

Starting Sunday, June 16, a new time schedule will be put into effect for both churches.

Morning worship will be held at First Church at 9:15 a.m.

Emmanuel Holds Vacation School

Emmanuel Lutheran Church started its daily vacation Bible School June 10, and will continue through June 21.

'Witnesses' To Convene

Robert E. Wigton, 5195 Ivyhurst-dr, will lead a delegation of 75 members of Southeast congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses to an international convention at Yankee Stadium in New York, July 7 through 14.

Convention officials in New York expect 125,000 persons to attend the eight-day gathering representing the Eastern United States, Canada, Central and South America and the Caribbean islands.

In addition to the New York gathering, conventions are scheduled for County Stadium in Milwaukee, Wis., June 30 through July 7 and the Rose Bowl, Pasadena, Cal., Sept. 1 through 8. Approximately 250,000 are expected to attend the three conventions.

White To Serve As Delegate At Convention

Robert O. White, 3081 Baker Hill-rd, ministerial assistant of the Columbus South Unit Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, will serve as a delegate to an eight-day international convention of the religious group, scheduled for Yankee Stadium, New York, July 7 through 14. Attending with him will be his wife, Mary Ellen, and their three children.

Convention officials expect 125,000 persons, representing the Eastern United States, Central and South America, Canada and the islands of the Caribbean to attend the convention.

Don't delay any longer. Get your order in right away so you can have your flag on display as soon as possible. Flag Day and Independence Day, July 4, both fall within 30 days. Don't be the only person in your neighborhood who does not have a 50-star flag on display on these important patriotic holidays.

Wilson Church Plans To Honor Fathers Sunday

Wilson Avenue Church of the Nazarene, 1650 Wilson-av, will hold special services Sunday, June 16, in observance of Father's Day.

Awards will go to the oldest father and the father with the most children in attendance. All fathers will receive a cross to wear in their lapels.

Church Sets Bible School Monday, June 24

First Baptist Church Groveport, Groveport-rd, will hold Vacation Bible School, beginning Monday, June 24, through July 3, from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m.

Boys and girls between the ages of three and 16 are welcome.

Preparation day is Friday, June 21, from 9 to 11 a.m.

Sohio To Honor Dealer At Dinner

A plaque commemorating 20 years service as Sohio dealer will be presented to J. S. Mathias, 2071 Lockbourne-rd, by the Standard Oil Co. at their annual Dealer Appreciation Dinner, Tuesday, June 18.

Mathias was one of 12 Columbus area dealers to be honored for years of service to the company.

(HI. 4-2151) and tell them you're interested. It's as easy as that.

The only real requirement (besides living in the area) is that the young lady must be between the ages of 15 and 21.

"I really isn't fair to say that the South Side Council is doing this celebration alone," ever-fair Marshall pointed out. Giving credit where it's due, he pointed out that the CSSO is really in a co-sponsorship with South Side businessmen.

Their contributions have furnished a majority of the funds for staging the event. At press time, the following South Side merchants and civic groups had contributed:

South Side Business and Industrial Association, Erfurt's Market, Gager Keim, Inc., Topper Steel, Swift and Co., Virginia Homes, Inc., Columbus Lace Cleaning Co.

Commissioned In Naval Reserve

Theodore M. Charvat, 146 Glencoe-rd, was one of eight students at Ohio State University commissioned an ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve during spring quarter commencement exercises in St. John Arena, June 7.

All receiving commissions had completed four years training in the university's ROTC program.

Electronic Age—

said James Wagner, executive secretary of the South Side "Y." "It's the newest thing in archery and we're happy to have it in operation here."

To prove its popularity, Wagner pointed out that eight classes have already been enrolled in the activity (about 86 boys and girls 8 to 16 years of age) and the "Y's" signing them up now for adult classes.

The target really is something to see.

The Electronamatt is a complex unit of some thousand components. It's started by the archer pushing a button which shoots a light beam down to it where the signal is picked up and amplified to activate the proper circuits. See?

Photo cells, built into either side of the front, control the guide mechanism. As the Electronamatt moves, these cells signal the electrical steering so proper correction is made instantly if the unit wanders to either side of the white "track."

The "track" would look to the uneducated as a mere piece of yellow tape and, naturally, the question came up about loss of steering control. If the machine ever jumped the track it might act like a robot out of control in a science fiction movie.

"This can happen if the battery is allowed to run down or if a bulb burns out," said a comany spokesman rather pessimistically. "But," he added to assure users, "the instant the Electronamatt gets off the line, it turns itself off."

This should be comforting.

around," she commented. "I've never seen so much wonderful food as they shoved at us during those three days of the contest. I broke four New Year's resolutions just looking at the menu."

Rivaling her own excitement was that of Gloria's mother, Mrs. Margaret Barber, who commuted back and forth between Columbus and Cleveland during the three days.

Of course, Mrs. Barber has felt this kind of excitement before, since this beauty business is nothing new to Miss McBride. She was Little Miss Cincinnati, an Island Girl at Lincoln Lodge and Little Miss Coney Island. She was also selected Miss Casablanca at the Casablanca Hotel in Miami, Fla.

Miss Columbus, Joanne Picking, was named to forth place in Cleveland, also. "We're quite proud of our two Columbus girls," said Mrs. Jan Cardi, the Miss Universe coordinator for the Miss Columbus wing-ding here. "They're survived two nights of elimination among some of the most beautiful girls I've ever seen in a beauty contest."

There are more piano players than licensed fishermen; as many painters as hunters.

Defense Dept. Worker Retires

The U. S. Army Mobility Support Center, 52 Starling-st, recently honored Edmund E. Loomis on his retirement from Federal Service. Loomis, who resides with his wife Iva at 695 Whittier-st, has worked the past 15 years with the Department of Defense.

Formerly the owner of a 60-acre farm near Bowling Green, O., he attended the Ohio State University's College of Agriculture. He came to the Columbus General Depot in 1948 following 14 years employment with the Wegner Brewery.

Loomis is a member of the First Congregational Church. He is the father of two sons and one daughter, the grandfather of four children and has two great-grandchildren.

The retirement observances included the gift of a "money tree" plus a silver dollar for each year of service, a bouquet of pink roses for Mrs. Loomis, a congratulatory letter from the Center's Commander, Colonel G. A. Sweeten, two personal poems from co-workers and a potluck luncheon.

Applies For Fair Competition

Larry Bayes, 47 E. Welch-av, is one of two Columbus boys who filed applications for exhibits in the Junior Division of this year's 110th Ohio State Fair, according to an announcement by fair officials yesterday.

Bayes will be competing for honors and valuable premiums in the Hobby Show and was one of the first of many entrants expected in this year's 11-day exposition.

WORLDS TO Conquer!

©Coleman Adv. Ser., P. O. Box 20067, Dallas 20, Texas

Many Young People have just recently stepped out of the world of training and study, and now look to make their spot in the world. These words of encouragement are written for you.

New frontiers are still there to be conquered, there is a place of service for you. Do not be afraid, for in the strength of your youth, you can accomplish much, however, do not shun the advice and help of others. Above all, seek the knowledge of the Lord. "Thou shalt guide me with thy counsel." Psalm 73:24

ATTEND CHURCH REGULARLY

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH — THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Grassroots Philosopher 'Dusty' Mixes Wit And Deep Thought

By PATTY HARTLEY

Dusty, retired newsman of the Wilmington (Ohio) Daily News Journal, has been busy since he left the newspaper business after 50 years. An average of three times a week he is delighting audiences at dinners, club meetings, conventions and commencements.

Dusty has his own philosophy about life and the people that make the world go 'round. At 81, he still is as spry mentally as he is physically, and he doesn't miss a trick.

Commenting on a curvaceous model of the fair sex, he exclaimed: "What she didn't have, she didn't need!"

Dusty says he has spoken "in every city you can name" in the U.S., as well as in Canada and Mexico. Next month he will make his annual sojourn to the Buffalo (N.Y.) Kiwanis Club for an engagement.

With his wife, Gracie, Dusty attends First Community Church, although the couple belongs to the Friends Church in Wilmington. It is evident when talking with them that their common faith has been a bond that has carried them through more than 50 years together.

Dusty often tells of his busy life at home, too. "I keep three typewriters going—I use one while the other two are cooling off." His typing entails, for the most part, correspondence to friends all over the country.

A self-made poet, Dusty clips pictures from magazines and newspapers, adds a bit of appropriate verse, and sends it off to friends for birthdays, holidays or just special occasions. The cards are "provoked by circumstances," Dusty says.

The Millers moved to the Arlington area three years ago when Dusty retired. They chose Columbus as their new home because one of their two sons, Gene, resides here. Many family pictures deck the walls of the Miller home, including photos of their five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

At home Gracie helps Dusty proofread his work or discuss his coming speaking engagements. Her favorite chair is a Kennedy rocker ("They used to call them Boston rockers," she said). Dusty says, "She rocks with a good bit of 'vigah'."

Although mail is delivered to his home daily, Dusty won't let the postman take his letters to be mailed. He walks the several blocks to the corner box every day "except for three or four days last winter when it wasn't fit for man or beast," he added.

Dusty began his journalistic career at the age of 12 when he started writing for the Hillsboro News, he said. The paper served as his first schoolbook as he learned to read from it.

A graduate of Wilmington College, he served on the board of trustees for over 35 years. Wilmington Rotarians made him a lifetime member of their group before he migrated to Columbus.

Dusty and Gracie Miller are grateful for their health and their more than half-century together. They are members of the Hartley Newspapers' Golden Wedding Club and Dusty has been speaker for several of the annual parties of that group.

"People in this world have no reason to complain," Dusty said, "especially about the weather. They should just be glad they're here to enjoy it. We must live each day as it comes."

And we hope many more days will come to Dusty and Gracie.

Millerisms

"Nothing in this world is so grand as doing something when you like to do it. Everything's your attitude. What are you going to do with a person who hates people and loathes what he does?"

"Where I play golf the greens committee has to meet to decide whether to replace the turf or returf the place."

"The Good Lord is so mindful of you and me, He puts close to us those people with His own spirit."

"The new cars have so many new fangled gadgets—I've been waiting all these years for them to make an automatic choke for the back seat."

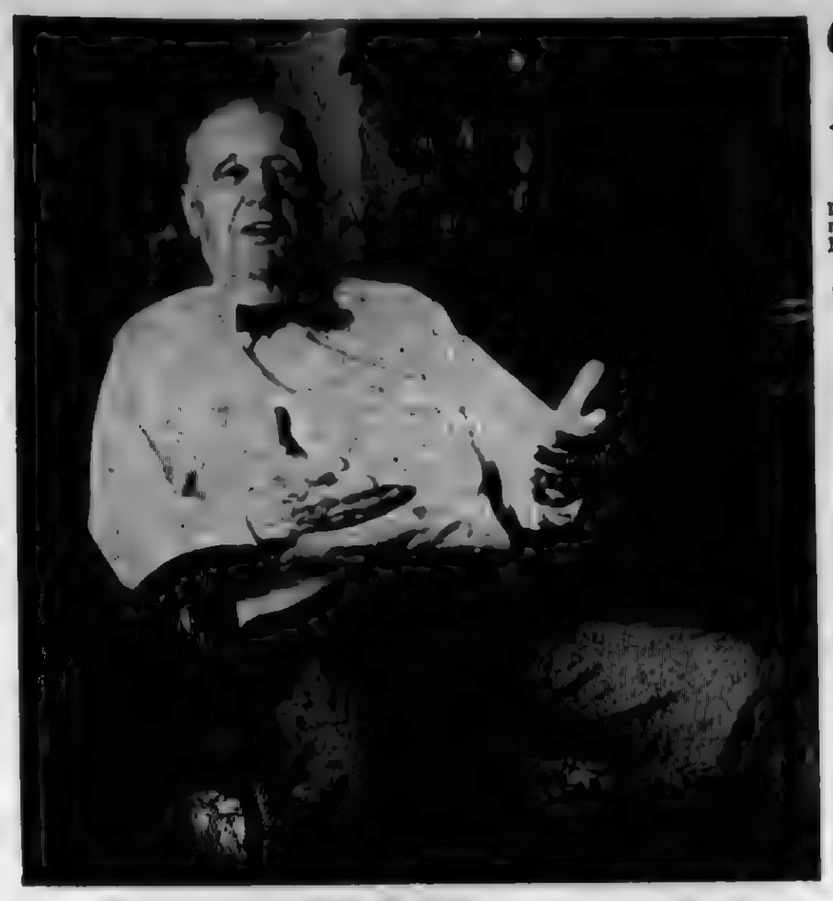
"At the little country church I used to go to, they shipped preachers in and unloaded them on us. It was a 50-50 deal, though; they had to take us sight unseen too!"

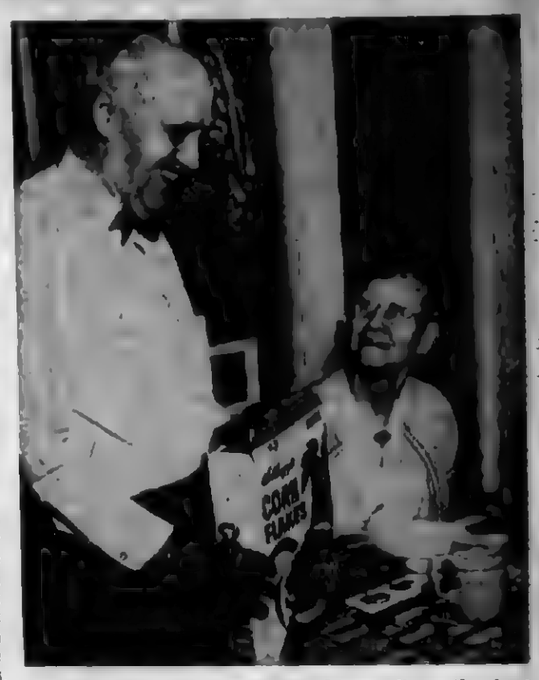
"You can't build an iron curtain around people who have open minds and open hearts. The most practical thing in the world is an open mind."

"Don't ever watch a newspaperman run a typewriter—it's unorthodox!"



"Did you ever have an experience that put a lot of emphasis on the ratio between the importance of you and other people? Don't take yourself too seriously."

"I can't drive a golf ball out of a sandtrap, but I can talk it out. My preacher used to say I knew the relatives of his golf ball on both sides of the family."



"There's an opportunity in citizenship, but there's an obligation about it. It has to be a balancing equation."

"'Very' is the most over-worked word in the dictionary."

"Life is not an ordeal. It is an opportunity."

"THE GOOD LORD gave us each an equal amount of time in each day; what we make of it is our own doing," says grassroots philosopher Dusty Miller. Dusty says he lives each day as it comes.

HANDY IN THE KITCHEN as well as the typewriter, Dusty prepares breakfast every morning for Gracie, his wife of ever 50 years. Gracie quietly sits back and takes all the kidding from her devoted husband.

A FILE OF IDEAS is kept up by Dusty Miller. He uses these clippings and verses on original cards sent to friends for various occasions, or for no reason at all.

STILL SPRY AT 81, Dusty Miller walks to the corner mail box every day to keep in shape. "I'm luckier than a lot of old folks," he said.

An Editor's Outlook . . . by Jenkin Lloyd Jones

Keen Crew Handles O'Hare Hot Spot

Contrary to some lurid reports, they are not going crazy up in the O'Hare tower. They just have a right to go crazy.

Chicago's O'Hare Field is the busiest airport on earth. She handles about 1,400 flights a day, including half of the pure jets in the nation. More than 45,000 passengers use O'Hare each day. You might say the air is a little crowded.

Jones

Between six and seven p.m., O'Hare tower takes care of 140 take-offs and landings. That's a movement every 25 seconds. It takes a pretty special kind of a man to keep these birds from meeting each other in the air.

A couple of these men are George H. Niles, chief controller, and Robert C. Schwank, assistant chief. Niles got his start back in '38 at the old Midway tower when there was nothing faster than a DC-3, when one man handled the whole works and even announced the departure gates to the waiting passengers.

Schwank, another Midway product, remembers the soupy old days when the pilots hunted for the "cone of silence" on the old N and A ranges and the controller opened the tower windows and listened for the engines. It's a little different now.

You take the tower elevator to the fifth floor and climb the stairs to the big observation room. Why, the place is run by kids! Supervisor Jim Hanten is 29 years old. There are seven tower men on this morning shift, average age about 24. But if the atmosphere is relaxed there is no skylarking. This is deadly serious business.

The boy on Ground Control guides the planes from the loading fingers to the run-up point or from touchdown to the loading fingers. The Clearance Delivery man sees that pilots have their approved air routings. Flight Data is in touch with the big Chicago Air Route Traffic Control office 20 miles away in Aurora, which operates a radar antenna with a 150-mile range. The Runway Utilization Clerk logs the traffic on each runway. And finally — and this is the hot one — Local Control clears for takeoffs and landings.

Every 60 or 90 minutes the boys change jobs.

The glassed-in tower used to be all there was to air traffic control. When the tower told you goodbye you flew by Bugscuffle, if you chose, or Hootnanny Junction and at any altitude that pleased you. But no more. The big planes are now on routings as rigid as railroad tracks.

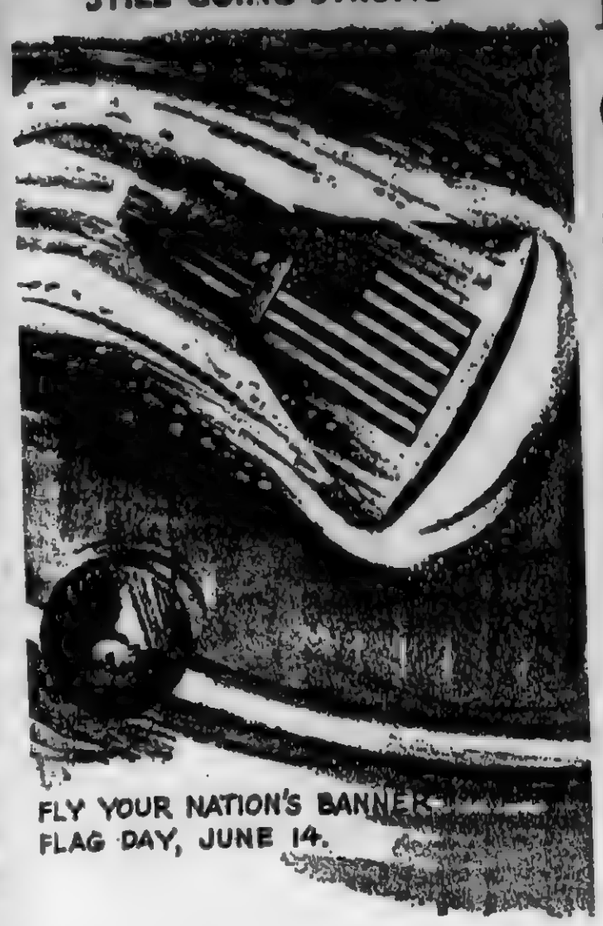
Oncoming jets can close at 20 miles a minute. A DC-8 can overtake a DC-3 at the rate of 450 miles an hour. The tower can mother planes in the landing or climb-out pattern by merely looking at them. But it is in the area beyond visual range out to 100 miles that air control is critical. For that is where the jets are cutting up or down through altitudes reserved for the turbo-props, the piston planes, and the lowly sportsters.

On the first floor of the O'Hare tower, in a block chamber dimly lit by luminous radar scopes, the delicate region from the landing pattern to about 15 miles out is handled by seven men sitting at a huge console.

In the center are the two radar vector controllers. Flanking them are their coordinators. Outside of them are the radar handoff controllers who receive the responsibility of incoming planes from Chicago A.R.T.C. or hand them off as they depart. There is an additional scope watcher who works the south satellite fields of Midway and Meigs.

You used to identify a plane among all the blips on the scope by asking it to make a turn. Now you merely tell a pilot to switch on his transponder and what appears as a twin blip momentarily becomes a single. So fast is this ID system that the jets which used to let down in a complicated teardrop pattern now come straight in, and the "stacking" of five years ago over Chicago's five holding patterns is rare now, even in sour weather. Chicago's landing minimums are now down to a 200-foot ceiling and a half-mile visibility.

Have you noticed that your airline flight is crookeder than it used to be? Have you wondered why, in fine weather, you sometimes fly southeast for a few minutes when your destination is southwest? This is part of the game of rigid separation. Your pilot is routed over specific omni-ranges and he had better make them sharply and not cut corners.



But there is some new freedom, too. Meteorology has now progressed to a point where a jet-stream-seeking pilot enroute from San Francisco to New York can find his favorable winds over Twin Cities, or Omaha or Tulsa or even Dallas. But Air Traffic Control wants to know precisely where he is. He can't change his mind without permission.

Lash-Ups? There are going to be mistakes, and now and then near-misses and occasionally a major tragedy. The problem has grown so big and come so fast. But America's towermen are a blooded breed.

They don't put the sissies up there, or the indecisive or the flippant. Every time the wheels thump on the runway and the stewardess goes into her pleasant "Come Again" sales pitch the boys behind the big glass windows and in front of the big green scopes have won another.

STILL GOING STRONG

FLY YOUR NATION'S BANNER FLAG DAY, JUNE 14.

Pamper Dad On His 'Day'

With Father's Day coming up on Sunday, June 16, we would like to suggest a few suggestions to make his day a happy one.

Let him sleep a bit late in the morning. (He'll probably be tired from his Saturday night card game, or late TV watching.)

Don't remind him that he forgot to mow the lawn on Saturday. And if he didn't keep his promise to wash the car — so what? It can just as well be done next week.

If Father isn't the picnicking type, forego the urge in favor of a quiet day at home. And please don't grouse at Dad's selection for TV viewing. (Maybe you'll eventually learn to like baseball.)

In other words, let the "Old Man" do what he does every Sunday, but, because it's Father's Day, don't complain about it.

Keep On Your Toes Keep Toes On You

The power mower is a wonderful convenience. It must also be recognized as a potentially dangerous tool. As easily as the power mower can whisk off blades of grass, it can cut off toes, or mangle a foot.

The same power mower that glides so quickly over the lawn can hurl a stone, piece of metal, or other object with the force and effect of a bullet.

1. Know the operation of your mower, and carefully instruct anyone who is to use it.

2. Don't allow young children to operate a power mower (any more than you would allow them to use any other potentially dangerous power tool).

3. Clear the area to be cut of all rocks, stones, sticks, wire, broken glass and other debris before using the mower.

4. Provide self protection by means of long, heavy denim trousers and heavy shoes.

5. Don't allow anyone to stand around while you are using the mower. Bystanders are even less protected than the person using the mower.

6. Cut hills and banks crosswise instead of up and down. This will prevent loss of control over the mower, slipping into it, or having the mower slide into you.

7. Never attempt to remove any object from the mower until the motor has been completely stopped.

Follow these rules, and the chances are excellent that the only thing cut will be the grass.

Remember Flag Day

Friday is Flag Day. It is an opportunity for each of us to renew our patriotic farver by displaying our national emblem.

Many heroic deeds have been inspired by our flag, but how many of us will keep Old Glory packed away in a closet when it should be on display as visible evidence of our love of country? How many more of us do not even own a flag?

Let's get back to the "Grand Old Flag" days of George M. Cohen. Let's remember that we all have a partnership in the freedom, tradition and history represented by the Stars and Stripes. And let's meet the responsibility of our partnership by showing pride in the heritage that has been won for us by the blood of our fathers and brothers.

And as we fly the flag on patriotic days, let us rededicate ourselves to our country and its traditional freedom.

Church Council Affects Neighborhoods

The General Council of the Catholic Church now in progress has been covered in the press regularly, but I thought it might be good to mention a few of the ways it will affect the average person in our neighborhood.

Msgr. Kulp

Though the bishops and representatives of many Christian groups are not in session this month, the committees, the research and discussion continue at full pace for the next session in September. And the average person in every neighborhood is receiving first consideration. Thus, much time was given to planning the worship of the Church so it would be easier to follow — exchanging universal Latin for local languages; making the ceremonies clearer in meaning; giving the Scriptures a bigger part — all so that everyone stepping into a Catholic church would feel immediately as a participant.

Then there is a great effort to make Catholic teaching easier to understand. We say revealed religion rests upon the Bible and tradition. Tradition is too easily misunderstood. It does not mean legend, custom. It means the instruction the Apostles received and gave but did not write down. Others did write it down but not in the Bible, and today everyone uses it somewhat but we need a new word for it.

Part of the work of the Council is to streamline the organization of the Catholic Church so it can be apostolic in two ways: able to make adaptation for the sake of bringing the purity and fullness of Christ to every neighborhood, and second, to preserve a living link with Christ through His chief of Apostles, Saint Peter, whose successor, the Pope, carries so much responsibility for every individual soul.

A big task of the council also is to set up ways to confer with all Christian groups of good will concerning Christian unity, for the Lord prescribed "one flock and one shepherd." While Catholics would not set aside Christ's revealed truths, many, many things can be negotiated such as language, ceremonies, the clergy's customs and many customs that have built up over the centuries.

Every locality may profitably have such dialogs. Let us pray that all these things may bring much good to souls.

Msgr. James Kulp

Variety . . . by I. F. Howell

THIS IS MY LAND

This is my land, where in this strange, new age
Anticipated and remembered things
Become the living seeds of memory.
This present is a fateful rendezvous
Of past and future blended into one.
This is my land, where freedom's shrines endure.
This is my land. May freedom's beacon light
Forever guide and guard us and all men
Into a golden time of righteous peace.

Each year in this great and good land thousands, perhaps millions, of the young and the old visit our patriotic shrines. Hundreds of places have been saved from oblivion by people who have cared and have remembered the costs that were spent to establish and preserve our freedom.

These places are of great variety and too many to list here, but information about them is easily available from many sources. One could scarcely see them all in a lifetime.

Some are fields where grass and trees and flowers now cover the soil of sacrifice. Others are places where our great were born or lived. Still others mark the steps in our national growth from the Atlantic to the Pacific and beyond.

It says here . . .

Patriotism is the strong arm that upholds freedom's flaming torch.

Frosting On The Cake
By
"UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

Every so often, in the life of any free people, there comes a time when statesmen take the place of double talking politicians, and once again some right things begin to happen.

Facts take the place of fiction and truth supersedes appeasement with evil, and action takes the place of cowardice.

Something sacredly new in man's experience on this planet came out of the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia almost 200 years ago. It was the will of free men, deciding to establish a way of life that had its base and roots deep in the soil of man's passion to be free.

Free from ignorance;, free from exploitation of the many by a few whose god was power and privilege and gold instead of God.

The right to know; the right to aspire; the right to accumulate private property honorably and be allowed to keep a large portion of it. The right to serve without conceit and give of one's self without shame.

Today, we see a growing army of political opportunists all over the world who worship glory instead of God. Who seek "importance" instead of the health of their own soul.

Then, when the darkest hour impends, this same free people awakens to the truth and some man arises who seems destined to become the next great oak in the forest of American statesmanship. History tells us about Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, Teddy Roosevelt.

We are now ready for the fourth cycle of the present 30 years of Populist insanity. His name is not yet engraved upon the minds of people, but he will because Almighty God still has this great land by the right hand.

No Need For Panic On The Sugar Situation

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Strawberries, melons, bananas, peaches, lemons

With the fresh fruit season coming on rapidly many families will need extra sugar for table use, as well as for canning and freezing fruits. So, concern as to the sugar supply and the future retail price is natural.

Although sugar prices have risen sharply since the beginning of the year, the U.S. Department of Agriculture says that the sugar tonnage available to the United States in 1963 will likely maintain the same average per capita distribution as during 1958-1962. Therefore, there should be no shortage of sugar unless normal purchase patterns change and people start hoarding.

Mrs. Franks

Why the problem then? For the past two years sugar consumption exceeded production, following several years of production exceeding consumption. Europe—where many sugar beets are raised — has had unusually bad weather, reducing the crop. Cuban sugar production has been cut back sharply. And the demand for sugar throughout the world keeps growing due to increasing population and the needs of emerging nations.

Although the U.S. is the largest sugar importer in the world, demands (in relation to the supply available) of other nations have increased to the extent that some other countries have bid the price of sugar up to a level where the world sugar market is higher than the U.S. market.

Even though fewer acres of sugar were planted, accompanied by unfavorable weather, a carry-over of eight million tons from the 1961-'62 season will be used to make up the difference in needs.

Within the U.S. a little over half of the available sugar goes to industrial users, principally canners, confectioners, bakers, soft drink bottlers, and manufacturers of ice cream and condensed milk. The other half goes directly to the consumer in the retail market. Each person in the U.S. consumes about 100 pounds of sugar annually. This includes that used in processed foods.

Perhaps the quickest way you, as a consumer can help stabilize sugar prices is to buy sugar as you need it, just as you normally do.

BUSINESS REVIEW

REMOVING THE DENTS in an automobile is one of the many repair services offered by Walter's Auto Service, 155 N. Ninth-st, by competent mechanics and repairmen. In this case "Curley" Lambert, 1935 E. Hudson-st, is busy putting a front fender back into shape before the paint is added to its original finish.

Reasonable Cost And Guarantee Offered By Walter's Auto Service

A former truck-driver, Walter Zimmerman decided to open his own garage and auto repair firm about five years ago to offer his many friends quick service at a reasonable cost. Since then the business has grown and expanded until today Walter's Auto Service, 155 N. Ninth-st, offers just about every type of auto repair and service possible.

One of the main specialities of the auto service is all phases of body and fender work, including painting of cars. This specialty, in charge of "Curley" Lambert, has proved to be an asset to not only the garage but also to customers who find the need to have a dent removed from the "old buggy."

The garage offers competitive prices and free estimates for any type of automotive repair from an engine overhaul, to a valve grinding job to rebuilding a transmission. The firm also handles a complete line of Delco batteries and other automotive accessories.

Although the garage is open daily, except Sunday, from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m., 24-hour wrecker service is available by calling CA. 1-9311 after business hours or CA. 1-9334 during weekdays.

All mechanical repairs and body-fender work is guaranteed 30 days by Walter's Auto Service.

Finding the garage is best accomplished by either driving north from Long-st on Ninth-st or turning east from Cleveland-av, one block north of Long-st. As Zimmerman pointed out, "It's a little out of the way, but we feel the service and prices are well worth it to our customers."

Name H. A. Jahn Bogen & Bogen Superintendent

The appointment of H. A. (Hal) Jahn as superintendent of the installation department has been announced by Arthur D. Bogen, president of Bogen Heating & Air Cinditioning Corporation.

Jahn has been associated with Bogen, Bogen and Bogen for six years. He is a graduate of RSES schools as well as several manufacturer's training schools. He has had many years experience in servicing all types and models of furnaces and air conditioners.

Assisting Jahn in layout work will be Pat Jackson, who has moved up and through the installation department, after working in all phases of the department. He has been with the company since 1954.

Bogen's have installed two-way radios in all the installation equipment, as well as service trucks, and have expanded their shop facilities to provide better service to customers.

Individuals interested in gaining proficiency in office machines, typing, or shorthand will have the opportunity at Columbus Evening High for eight weeks this summer, starting Monday evening, June 17, at the Central High Bldg., 75 Washington-bl.

Registration is Thursday, June 13, after 6 p.m.

For further information call CA. 4-3243.

Patrol Opens New Exam Station In Whitehall

The Ohio State Highway Patrol has opened its second Driver License Exam Station at 166 S. Hamilton-rd, Whitehall, in the Fairport Shopping Center.

According to Patrolman A. P. Giuffrey, the new station is to relieve the amount of examinations currently being made at 702 17th-av, across from the Ohio State Fairgrounds.

Over 61,000 examinations were given there last year.

Hours of operation for the new station will be Tuesday through Saturday (8 a.m. to 5 p.m) for driving exams by appointment and Tuesday through Friday (same hours) for pre-exams by appointment.

Temporary license examinations will be administered during all hours of operation without appointment.

One of the advantages of the new location is that the Hamilton-rd bus (to E. Main-st) runs right past the structure to make it more easily accessible to interested persons. There is no bus service to the other exam site.

SOUTHSIDE 'Y' '62-'63 BOWLING CHAMPS

Parade Of Homes To Show A Typical Russian House

A typical Russian house, built from Soviet plans, will be on display during the 1963 Parade of Homes which opens in Forest Park Saturday, June 15, at 1 p.m. and continues through Saturday, June 23.

According to Jack Esper, Parade chairman, the single family Russian home is being built according to plans from the Library of Congress which originally appeared in a journal published in the Soviet Union. It is being built locally by Melvon, Inc.

"This house," Esper said, "is not the biggest or the smallest available in that country, but it is typical of their single family housing. We feel it will be interesting and educational for Columbus residents to actually compare this house with the kind of homes we have in the United States.

"Naturally, this is just one of the outstanding attractions featured in this year's Parade of Homes," Esper continued. "The real stars of the show are 34 homes in all styles and architecture built by 32 builders, all of whom are members of the Home Builders Association of Greater Columbus."

Hours are 1 to 10 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays and 5 to 10 p.m. on weekdays. Forest Park is located on Karl-rd, between Morse-rd and Rt. 161.

A plan book carrying floor plans, description and a rendering of each Parade home will be given to visitors as led by adults.

Admission is 50 cents for adults. Children under 16 admitted free when accompanied they enter.

South YMCA Honors Keglers

The 38th annual banquet of the Southside Branch YMCA Church Bowling League honored the members of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints' team as the '62-'63 kegling champions.

The banquet which was held at St. Paul United Church of Christ, was attended by 138 bowlers and their wives. League president Howard Stegmiller presided and Robert C. Cooper, general executive of the Columbus YMCA, was guest speaker.

OTHER TROPHY winners were: individual high average—Dick Yantis, Ohio Avenue EUB; high individual game — George Norris, St. John United Church of Christ; high individual series—Bob Jones, St. Paul United; head pin winner (Class A)—Don Gabriel, Latter Day Saints; (Class B)—Herschel Green, Latter Day Saints.

Senior Citizens Move Into New Facility

June is moving month for the first residents of the new $2.5 million Sunshine Terrace, the Columbus Metropolitan Housing Authority's apartment building for senior citizens, located at 272 S. Gift-st.

They will move into the 11-story facility at the rate of eight or nine families a day until, by the end of the month, all 188 units are occupied.

Especially designed for senior citizens, with their needs and comforts in mind, the building is a pioneer project, the first federally subsidized public housing for senior citizens with an adjoining city recreation center.

Each step of planning for Sunshine Terrace, from selection of site to the installation of grab bars above the bathtubs, was governed by the needs and preferences of the occupants.

The result is as near perfect an answer to the problem of oldsters' physical comfort and safety, relaxation and recreation, as careful study and planning can achieve.

Units include two-room efficiencies, and one and two-bedroom apartments, each furnished with electric ranges, refrigerators and garbage disposals.

The rooms sing with color—walls are painted in clear pastels and floors are covered with attractive, easy to care for vinyl tile.

Self-operated elevators, mail pick-up in the building, and a basement laundry equipped with automatic washers and dryers are other concessions to the elderly occupants' needs and comfort.

Balconies on each floor, protected by tile grilles, overlook the attractive grounds, to be landscaped this summer, and the carefully chosen surroundings.

Selection of a site for the project was given a great deal of consideration, and the choice was as near the ideal as could be found.

Earl Ross, management assistant, Columbus Metropolitan Housing Authority, explained: "The site, adjacent to Sunshine Park, was chosen for a number of reasons. Residents can walk out onto the grounds during the summer months and, of great importance to senior citizens, they can watch children at play.

"The city vacated two full blocks of Sullivant-av, from Gift to McDowell-st, making it possible for the apartment and the recreation center to be an integral part of Sunshine Park."

The site's central location, within five minutes of downtown, was an added attraction.

A complete program of fun and recreation, all geared to senior citizens' needs and preferences, is offered at the adjoining, new recreation center.

Here they gather for crafts and cards, dancing, games and visiting. In addition to the center's program, frequent bus tours are planned, with occasional all-day visits to senior citizen centers in other towns.

Occupants must be in a low income bracket, and rental of the units range from $35 to $38 a month. Eleven thousand applications were received for the project.

Pet Shows, Day Camp Leads Early Playground Activity

City supervised playgrounds which opened June 12 already have some special events under way.

Pet shows will be held at each of the 81 locations Thursday, June 20. On the following Friday evening (June 21) sectional pet shows, open to all children and their pets, will be held at Glenwood, Schiller and Beatty Recreation Centers. Pets should be registered by 6 p.m. to be ready for show time, 6:30 p.m.

Registrations are now open at all playgrounds for summer day camp visits to Indian Village. Cost is $2.50 for the week, which includes bus transportation. West Columbus youngsters will attend the week of June 17, leaving from Sunshine or Glenwood centers.

The West High School June Class of 1953 will have its 10th-year reunion party June 22 at the Desert Inn, Columbus.

Class President John R. Morison (191 Guernsey-av) said that about 150 members of the class and their wives and husbands are expected to attend the party, the first the class has held as a group since its graduation from West High.

Morison said the reunion party will begin at 6:30 p.m. at the Desert Inn with a social hour. This will be followed by a dinner and "reunion program." A dance, with music by Jerry Johnston and his orchestra, will cap the evening's program.

At the "reunion program," prizes will be awarded to various class members, including the one who traveled the longest distance to attend, etc. Morison will act as master of ceremonies for the program.

Senior Citizens Center

By POLLY SEIDEL

Senior citizens are looking forward to several festivals that are reminiscent of olden days.

An old - time strawberry party is planned for June 14, from 5 to 6 p.m. If the weather permits and the planting on the grounds between the recreation center and the beautiful new high-rise apartment are completed, the party will be held in the lovely outdoor gardens, to add to the festive air.

On Wednesday, June 12, the monthly euchre party will be held in the Senior Center auditorium. This party has become more and more popular and the attendance has increased until this is one of the big parties of the month.

Score cards are purchased at the door for 25 cents and there are prizes. Girls from the insurance agencies volunteer their help with punching the score cards so that a very pleasant evening of card playing is provided. Mrs. Harriet Evans is chairman of the party.

Reed Serving On USS Warrington

Robert L. Reed, yoeman third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Reed, 3109 Hillgate-rd, is serving aboard the destroyer USS Warrington, operating from Newport, R. I.

During a recent cruise, the destroyer turned in an outstanding performance in transferring personnel at sea while underway. There were 44 passengers transferred from the aircraft carrier USS Essex.

The Warrington is part of the Second Fleet, the major element of American seapower in the Western Atlantic and the Caribbean.

TO BUILD GARAGE

Eugene Tilton, 1804 Jason-dr, has a permit to construct a two-car, concrete block garage valued at $1,300.

TO BUILD ADDITION

Frank Kondos, 648 S. High-st, has received a permit to build an addition to a concrete block building, valued at $2,500.

NAVY MEN TRAIN

Three South Side Navy men, Freddie L. Rowland, 21, son of Mrs. Mabel W. Rowland of 359 E. Mithoff-st, Garlin D. Galloway, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Coleman of 686 E. Kossuth, and Ted R. Crives, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore J. Crives of 360 Siebert-st, are undergoing recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

Green Thumb Failing You? Gardens Thrive In Africa

If about now, your garden isn't producing like you'd like it to, why not try a new location, say Africa?

From planting time to harvesting requires only six weeks for such edibles as corn, tomatoes, cucumbers, radishes, okra, etc. This information was acquired from Marianna Baughman, now residing in Nigeria.

She further states that the flowers and vegetables grow twice as large as they do in the states, if further inducements are needed.

Of course, there are disadvantages, too, in a spot where nature grows things so big and fast, noticeably in the insect line.

To quote the South High School graduate, "The spiders live between the ceiling and roof of our house and they are very busy when not adventuring into the house. When we open the door in the morning we usually find ourselves encased in a web and then see that whole section of the veranda is covered. Sometime between sunset and sunrise the spider has industriously spun his web. Oh for the diligence of the spider!"

The former Miss Grimes describes one of the eerie sounds in that section of Africa: the wind in the palm trees, which has no American equivalent with which to compare. She says, "Sometimes it sounds like a great storm is blowing up when there is only a small breeze stirring the branches.

"In March, the tree sheds its old branches and they begin to fall. We find it safer to have the branches removed rather than letting them fall and perhaps damage the car, office or cistern or hurting the children.

"So we had a man come and it was interesting to watch him, rope around himself and the tree, laboriously work his way up the rough bark of the tree to the top. Then he hacked the branches off with his machete. The trees were now ready to bring forth new fruit.

"When the trees lose their branches the natives collect the palm kernels from the trees. The men who clean the trees bring down huge bunches of the small red kernels, which are sorted and dried. The women grind the juice from them with their feet and then the oil is used to cook fish, yams and other foods. And some of the other kernels are used by the local brewery (not OUR kernels) to make palm wine. This is an intoxicating beverage and very potent.

"We recently acquired a beautiful bird. She is called the Crown Bird because of the golden tuft that crowns her head. She fluffs her wings of black and white much like a peacock. She spends most of her time just walking about and when she opens her mouth to speak she sounds like a horn hooting.

"The people who gave her to us had had her for two years. She is a native of the eastern region of Nigeria. She is shy of people and walks away when we come near, but she knows her bowl which contains her meal of guinea corn and she comes for it when we leave. She is making herself at home by helping us to cut the grass. (A good thing, because the lawn mower is being repaired.)"

The missionary's wife described the hunger that Nigerians have for higher education, as they realize the great necessity of learning in this fast-moving age.

Many advertisements are carried in the papers, for teachers at the University of Nsukka. She suggested that interested readers could send their references to Nigeria, Nsukka, Eastern Region, Nigeria. Cola, the Baughmans' pet chimpanzee, is still with them, and considers herself as one of the family. And Tom, also a South High School graduate, is still collecting snakes, whenever one crosses his path.

Naturally the two missionaries enjoy hearing from their area friends, so we'll include their address for the readers who might like to write to them: Box 46, Otta Nigeria, West Africa.

The final meeting of the Downtown YMCA Mothers' Club was held Wednesday, June 12. Hostess for the pot-luck luncheon was Mrs. Oscar Brown, 374 E. Whittier-st.

The June 15 wedding ceremony of Dolores Harmon, 944 Euclaire-av, and Alex Komives, Jr., 406 Jenkins-av, will be performed in the Hungarian E and R Church. Both are employes of the Owens-Illinois Glass Co. Miss Harmon is a graduate of Columbus Business University while Mr. Komives attended Ohio State University.

A June 17 reservation is necessary for the Thursday, June 20, YWCA Tour to the Josephinum College, in Worthington. The bus leaves at 6:30 p.m., returns at 9:30 p.m.

For this group this week has added significance, as it contains a birthday for them: Randall Miller, Richard Ross, Joyce Reynolds, Carol Silver, Robert Garren, David Walters, Bobbie Fox, Wanda Cunningham, Dianna Eisel, Mary Ann Cooper, Pamela Pesonte, Danny Floyd, Sharon Bailey, Janet Wells, Marjorie Alvis and Tim Gordon.

Adult friends in the candle and cake department are these: "Buss" Leonard, Jim Corlett, Margaret Krause, Mabel England, Norris Dean, Frances Coleprove, Chuck Wallace, Leola Jenkins, Alice Leonard, Priscilla Day, Delvin Anderson, Flora Hoffman, Gravce Reisdorf and Nellie Stevenor.

June brides and grooms of former years include Bob and Judy Wilson, Virginia and Richard Kocher, Helen Mae and Charles Turner. Special acknowledgements to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davis, who attain a 25th anniversary on June 17. Bob is well-known to all who enjoy the facilities of the South Side "Y." Our loved doll lady, "Dee Dee" Bier, and her spouse chalk up wedded year "51" on June 15, while Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gix celebrate a 54th anniversary on June 18.

The dwindling list of meetings include these:

King's Workers Class of South Methodist will meet on Tuesday, June 18, at 7:30 p.m. The scheduled list of hostesses includes Catherine Woodward, Clementine Easterling, Mildred Telfer, Violet Peters. The Wesley-Wed Class of South Methodist will meet at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, June 19. Newly elected class officers are Robert Franz, president; Charles Reichert, vice-president; Hattie Tatum, secretary; Evelyn Stevenson, treasurer.

Group B, OSU Mother's Club will meet for a noon dessert luncheon at South Methodist Church, June 18.

The Evening Women's Guild of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will enjoy its traditional "eating out" night on Friday, June 14. Shade's Restaurant at Canal Winchester, will be the site of the 6:30 p.m. dinner.

The annual picnic of the Teens-for-Christ will be an event of Tuesday, June 18, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Two women's guilds of St. John's Evangelical Protestant Church will meet on Wednesday, June 19. Martha Circle will meet at the church, while Ruth Circle will hold a picnic at the home of Mrs. Robert Chapman, 1000 Yearling-rd.

The annual conference of the EUB churches will get underway on Monday, June 17. Delegates from Ohio Avenue EUB Church are Rev. Fred M. Ketner, Joe Schoppelrei, with Carl Gerhard as alternate. Herbert Cripe is the delegate from Washington EUB.

Two Washington Avenue EUB Circles will meet at 7:30 tonight, Thursday: Florence Circle will meet at the church, while Mrs. Walter Miller, 1399 Lilley-av, will be hostess for Vada Circle. The Ladies' Bible Class will hold a picnic at South View Park, Monday, June 17.

The ailing list includes Kathleen Tayor, a patient in Grant Hospital; Rhoda Williams, also in Grant Hospital; Margie Coffman, a patient in Mercy Hospital; Julia McKee, a patient in room 554, Riverside hospital; two sisters, Becky Shreve and Margaret Larger, are recuperating from an automobile accident in May. Mrs. Shreve sustained a broken wrist and bruises. Her sister underwent surgery in Grant Hospital for a broken leg and a broken nose, as well as cuts and bruises.

Vacation Bible Schools scheduled to start next Monday, June 17, include those of Hope Lutheran Church, Mrs. John Westlake, assisted by Mrs. Walter Lensenmayer, is in charge of the morning sessions. The Ohio Avenue EUB Church Vacation Church School will meet from 9 to 11:30 a.m. June Gerhard is the director. The Bible School of Washington EUB Church also holds 9 to 11:30 a.m. sessions with Grace Fleck as the director.

The South Side "Y" Mothers Club will combine service to the local "Y" with a social session at its final meeting of the season on Tuesday, June 18, at 9:30 a.m. The mothers will spend part of their day at the "Y" Park by repairing bedding, etc.

Members are asked to bring food enough for their noon meal. A membership orientation will be held at the Southwood-av building on Friday, June 14, at 7:30 p.m.

Adult leathercraft class was started on Wednesday, June 5, and will continue until July 24.

Saturday, June 15, seems a popular wedding date for many area residents who will attain the marital status on that day. The day's list includes Judith Kamer, 1411 Fairwood-av, who will become the bride of William Reich, 2768 Castlewood-rd. Bill had been a long time resident of Hanford-st before moving to the eastern section of the city.

JoAnn Gillivan, 1087 E. Whittier-st, and George McNamara, Delaware, will exchange their vows at 10 a.m. in Corpus Christi Church.

St. Leo's Church will be the setting for the nuptials of Marianna Heinmiller, 357 Hanford, and George Vargo, 303 Hinman-av. Janet Louise Steinmetz, 1153 Linwood-av, and Frank Keneavy, 120 E Lincoln-av, are also to be listed among this year's June newlyweds.

Phyllis Jean Jordon, 282 Loxley-dr, and Michael Allison, Johnstown-rd, are also numbered among the June 15 celebrants of marriage ceremonies.

South High graduate Sharon O'Keefe, 70 S. Cypress-av, and Dean Colombini, 183 S. Gift-st, will have their marriage solemnized at 4:30 p.m. in the West Broad Street Presbyterian Church.

The June 15 wedding of Suzanne Windmiller, 316 Frebis-av, is not the only high point in the month for the recent OSU graduate. The bride-to-be received her B.S. in Engcation on Friday, June 7, and was one of the select few to achieve it "cum laude." Miss Windmiller's vows will be said at 7:30 p.m. in the Bexley Methodist Church, when she becomes the bride of Richard Bond, Maumee.

Other "cum laude" degrees earned by area residents at OSU were those of Joy C. Fischer, 837 E. Columbus-st, journalism; R. P. Berkowitz, 1113 Lilley-av, D.S.S.; Peggy A. Glenn, 855 Jenkins-av, education.

St. Francis School of Nursing, Circle 13, will meet at 8 p.m. on Wednesday, June 19, in the home of Mrs. William Bauman, 1414 Lockbourne-rd.

An open house on Sunday, June 16, will mark the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weekly, 544 Sycamore-st. The event will be held in the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Weekly, 1932 Alsac-rd. A daughter, Leona Price, will be a co-hostess also. Also present will be seven grandchildren and one great-granddaughter. The golden wedding celebrants were married in the house which is still their home, on June 19, 1913.

Donation of a piano, in good condition would be very much appreciated by the teaching staff of the Parsons Avenue school. Pick-up arrangements will be gladly made by the principal, Mrs. Allen, if called today or tomorrow at 444-8298.

Apply Swift Kick To Young Delinquents

AN EDITORIAL

BY JENKIN LLOYD JONES

Let's try the swift kick on juvenile delinquency.

We've tried repeated paroles that end only when the parolee commits a crime so serious that it cannot be ignored.

Jones

We've tried Big Brother clubs, and palsy-walsy cops.

We've tried wrecking tenements and building nice public housing. We've tried volleyball and tennis courts and Saturday outings into the woods.

We've tried country club reformatories with no walls and big swimming pools and movies every night.

And still the young hoods multiply.

While the majority of kids are born straight and stay that way, the Hennings Committee of the U.S. Senate reports that 20 per cent of American youngsters between 10 and 17 now have juvenile records. One out of five! Why?

You can't lay it to "underprivilege." In terms of creature-comforts American kids, as a whole, are the most privileged of all kinds. The boy who robs to get a new four-barrel carburetor for his hot rod is not underprivileged. The ticky kid who slugs a woman for her purse in order to buy a "pop" from the corner heroin peddler is not a fugitive from starvation. The vicious gang that beats a crippled boy to death for "kicks" is not struggling for dignity.

Perhaps one of our troubles arises from the fact that do-gooders have drifted into juvenile work and many of these do-gooders are so good themselves that they simply cannot comprehend the psychology of evil.

They give out such soft-headed statements as "There's no such thing as a bad boy," and they keep trying to tie the can of crime to "society" while the young punks smirk and hone their switchblades.

Because the last thing a do-gooder would do is scrag an old lady for five bucks, he cannot understand how a child would do it unless driven by social desperation or uncontrollable compulsions. This being the case, punishment is not in order.

Well, of course, that approach hasn't been working.

But if punishment means putting a kid away in a reform school where he can take advanced courses in crime and vice there is good cause for concern. For reform schools rarely reform. Neither the old bleak reformatories nor the fancy new semi-resort hotels are doing what they were designed for.

They may teach a trade, of sorts, but the inmate generally emerges with a wide acquaintance among the upcoming generations of criminals and a determination to score on the cops next time.

So if no punishment doesn't work and the reformatory punishment doesn't work—what then?

Last summer Judge William J. Obermiller of Whiting, Ind., a Chicago industrial suburb, found himself confronted by a group of youths aged 17 to 19 who had been drinking and fighting on a beach. The defendants ran combs through their luxuriant hair, snapped their fingers and talked "bop" talk. The rest of the gang filled the spectators' benches to listen and laugh. The procedure in such cases had been to parole the defendants to their ineffective parents.

Suddenly Judge Obermiller got a different idea. He summoned three husky policemen to spank the ringleaders. Then he ordered ducktail haircuts shaved off and the defendants to spend the next four weekends cleaning up the beach under police supervision.

This was not according to script. The finger-snapping stopped abruptly. The young spectators slunk away. The beach was cleaned up and delinquency rates dropped fast.

"The trick," said judge Obermiller," was humiliation. We took the glamor out of it."

Recently in Montana, Judge Lester H. Loble of Helena cut the kid crime rate by junking the rule of

Two Happy Days

"I am told there are two happy days in a boater's life—the day he buys and the day he sells. I am happy." These are the words of William W. Scouts Honor Pastor

The inspiring 20 years of service to Scouting given by Rev. Lyle L. Brown was recognized Saturday when the Central Ohio Council presented him with the Award of Silver Beaver, its highest honor.

When Brown first moved to Columbus in 1942 he saw the need for a scouting movement in the Lincoln Park area where he lived and organized the first troup in the housing development.

Presently chairman of the Mohawk District Leadership Training Committee this dedicated man has volunteered wherever the need has arisen for leadership. He has filled the positions of scout-

Who Is To Be Responsible?

Throughout the past several months our newspapers have called attention to the pending Senate bill No. 61 known as the Hospital Immunity Bill. Last week it was approved 19-13 by the Senate.

There are many pros and cons regarding this bill but little has been said on it in Central Ohio while other areas in the state have had a good bit to say.

While we may not have all the answers, it would appear that something is wrong in this bill that would, as we understand it, excuse hospitals from liabilities and mistakes made by staff personnel. Any such mistakes would be strictly the responsibility of the individual person involved.

This is hardly the way that business works, since most businesses are responsible for the actions of their employees while employed at the job. Hospitals are big business and it would seem as such are not entitled to any special concessions of this type.

The bill is being heard in the House on Wednesday and Thursday evenings this week. If you have observations on the bill or would like to learn more about it this is your opportunity.

July Fourth Firework $$$ Needed Now

It takes money and a lot of it to make a really big bang the Fourth of July. To date 21 South Side businesses and organizations have come through with contributions for the spectacular firework display planned by the Council of South Side Organizations.

John Marshall, chairman of the day-long celebration featuring beauty queens and baseball champs, band concerts, pony rides and patriotism, gave fair warning that personal solicitation will be made of firms and clubs that have "overlooked" their donations.

No one less than "Spook" Beckman will cast his vote to determine "the fairest of them all" as a judge when local beauties vie for the title of Miss South Side. The woman's point of view will be well represented when Mrs. Betty Daft of Hartley Newspapers and Helen Barret of a local modeling school add their votes to Spook's.

Any single girl at least 15 and not yet 22 who lives on the South Side is urged to file her application before the July 1 deadline. The blanks may be obtained by either calling or stopping in at the YMCA or giving Marshall a ring at his home number, HI. 4-2151.

The names of the early-bird contributors to the fireworks fund are August Wagners Brewers, Continental Bakeries (Kroger), Harmony Glee Club, American Aggregate Company, Guy Elbin, (county engineer), O. P. Wiechers, Columbus Serum Company, Loyal Orders of Moose No. 11, Southway American Legion Post 144 and Reiner's Bakery.

Dave Wood's Marathon, Schmidt's Packing Company, Ted Hysell (clerk of court), Swiss Club, Sycamore Recreation, Sycamore Cafe, Plank's Cafe, Max and Irma's Cafe, Plank's Garden, South Hi Wee Wash It, Mader-Quint Funeral Home and Seamon Auto Supply.

SHE'LL PASS the trophy on to whatever lovely young lady is crowned Miss South Side in the beauty contest sponsored by the Council of South Side Organizations on the Fourth of July. Linda Tapia, who wore the crown last year, was one of the five finalists Sunday competing for the title of Maiden of Roses. A 1963 graduate of South High School, Linda's appeal was further noted when she was runner-up in the Miss Central Ohio contest this spring.

6 New Principals Take Over In Fall

Lewis Feesler will take over as principal of Buckeye Junior High School when it opens its doors for the first time next September.

The new assignment for Feesler, who is currently vice-principal of Marion-Franklin Junior-Senior High, was approved Tuesday by Columbus School Board along with seven other administrative changes in South Side schools.

Miss Margaret Patterson will become vice-principal at Buckeye, and James Boster will assume the duties now held by Feesler. Miss Nettie McAllister, Clark Greenwood and George Zorich are assigned as principals at Siebert, Fornof and Reeb Avenue elementaries, respectively.

Feesler received his bachelor's degree from Denison University in 1949 and his master's degree from Ohio State University in 1952. He also attended Western Reserve University.

Beginning his teaching career at West High School in 1952, he taught at Franklin Junior High in 1953-54 and from 1954 to 1956 was headmaster of Cairo American College in Cairo, Egypt.

Returning to Columbus, he taught and counseled students at Starling Junior High during the 1956-57 school year and served as a cadet principal during the 1957-58 school year.

Feesler became vice-principal at Starling Junior High School in 1958 and assumed similar duties in 1961 at Marion-Franklin.

Miss Patterson received her bachelor's degree in 1940 and her master's degree in 1946 from Ohio State University. She also attended Marshall College in Huntington, W. Va., and Capital University.

From 1940 to 1954 she served as a teacher at Monroe Township, in Pickaway County; Bloom Township, in Scioto County, and Highland and Garfield high schools, in Portsmouth. From 1954 to 1960 she served as a teacher and dean of girls at Marion-Franklin High School and from 1960 to 1962 was a teacher and counselor at Barrett Junior High.

Boster graduated from Capital University in 1952 and received his master's degree from OSU in 1961.

He served as a teacher at Crestview and Dominion junior high schools from 1956 to 1962, when he became a cadet principal.

A graduate of Bexley High School, Boster attended Fair Avenue Elementary School.

Miss McAllister received her master's degree in 1956 from Ohio University where she has

GERMAN VILLAGE PREENS ITSELF FOR GALA HAUS UND GARTEN TOUR

"WILKOMMEN, WILKOMMEN," Mrs. Michael Farr, Jr., will call out as she "welcomes" guests to the Phillip Milford home Sunday during the German Village Society's Haus und Garten Tour. She will wear the authentic dress of the Siebenbergen Saxtsons who centuries ago emigrated from Saxony to make their homes in what is now known as Transylvania. The ethnic Germans were "people of the earth" Mrs. Farr explained and came to the new world only "to make their fortunes," but few fulfilled their dreams of returning to their native lands. The "Sunday-go-to-meeting" dress was painstakingly made for Mrs. Susanna Hartig when a young girl in the Carpathian Mountains by Mrs. Edward Baeumel. Both women, forced from their homes by Russian occupation after World War II, are now Columbus residents. The intricate embroidery indicates the village of the wearer, the cap indicates one's marital status, and "Confirmation" streamers evidence church membership.

"Das Haus Meiner Traeume."

That legend appears on the door plaque of the Phillip Milford home at 540 S. Sixth-st, proclaiming to those who "sprechen Deutsch" that here is "the house of my dreams."

The Milford residence is but one of the 11 homes which will hold open-house during the German Village Society's fourth annual Haus und Garten tour, which will begin at 10 a.m. this Sunday and continue until 6 p.m.

The shuttle buses will run all day from the shelter house on Jaeger and Deshler-av to City Park-av, and north to Livingston. They will then proceed south on Third-st to Reinhard, back up Mohawk-st to Livingston-av, over to S. Sixth and back down Jaeger.

Ticket holders may board or leave the buses at any point, stopping wherever their interests may be.

Churches of all denominations have invited tourists to their early morning services,

Jackpot Reaches $89

Five Readers Win 'Confederate' Cash

"Confederate" cash is really paying off! During the past week five readers each collected $1 in "Confederate" money, which can be spent just like U.S. legal tender in any place of business advertising in a Hartley Newspaper. Since there was no jackpot winner last week, this week's pot is now up to $89 "Confederate" dollars.

Those who received the lucky money included Mrs. C. Biederman, 2488 Spaitz-av; Leslie Chesnut, 965 Alton-rd, Galloway; J. Craig, 901 Alton-rd, Galloway; E. Rose, 6125 Harrisburg-pk, Orient and J. Cochran, 6263 Miller-st, Galloway.

Each week 20 separate newspapers are hand-stamped with a "1" emblem. It is always stamped in a color other than black and appears in the white space surrounding an advertisement on the inside pages.

This emblem is good for $1 in "Confederate" cash and can be redeemed by sending the page containing the emblem to Hartley Newspapers, 2465 W. Broad-st. The "Confederate" cash will be returned by mail.

To win the jackpot, a reader must find a "5" emblem just like the one printed in this column, and be a paid subscriber to a Hartley Newspaper. Just like the "1" emblem, the "5" is always printed in a color other than black and appears on an inside page of the paper. There is only one "5" printed

June Saluted As National Dairy Month

This month a stylized flower, symbol of June Dairy Month, is blossoming in newspapers, magazines and food store windows. Food stores are featuring dairy products and their many uses.

It's all a part of the 27th observance of June Dairy Month by leaders in agriculture, business, education, government and scores of other enterprises related to the dairy industry. In view of the national concern about physical fitness, the calling of special attention to the values of dairy products has a particular timeliness this year.

Special emphasis during June Dairy Month this year is on the freshness and convenience of dairy foods as well as on the nutritive values of those products. Suburban homemakers will be reminded of how easy it is to provide good nutrition and good tasting food, even in the informal setting of the patio or cookout, through the use of dairy products.

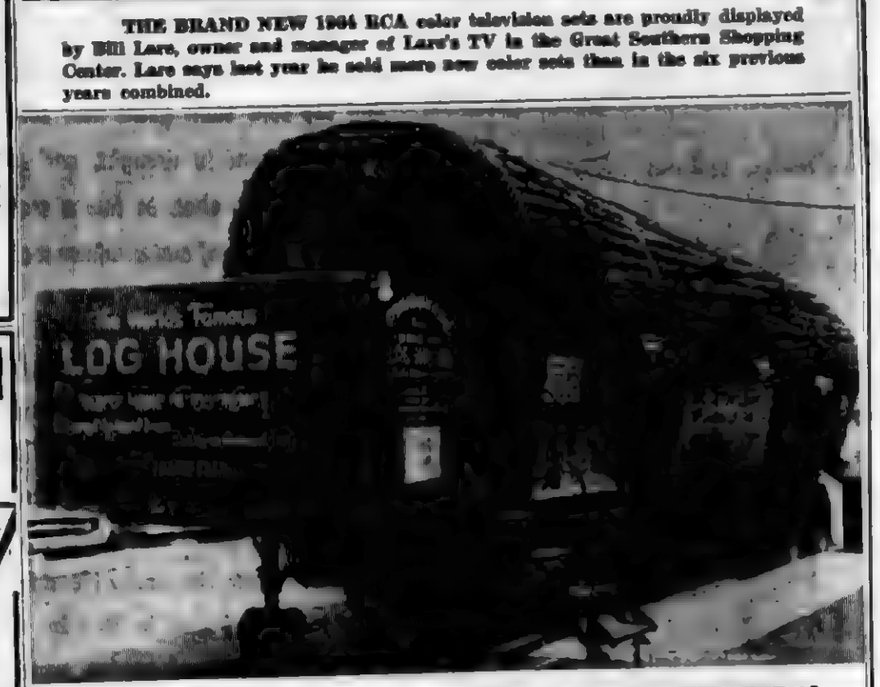
Color Set Popularity Increasing According To TV Store Owner

"I sold more color television sets in 1962 than the six previous years put together, and it looks like an even better year this year." These words came from Bill Lare, owner and manager of Lare's TV Center in the Great Southern Shopping Center, when he was asked to comment on the growing popularity of color TV.

"Now that the 1964 models of RCA color sets are out we'd like to have folks come into the store for a demonstration and a sample of what these beautiful new sets can do," Lare added. Store hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily except Sunday.

A complete line of the new RCA models is stocked by Lare's store along with a selection of black and white sets, radios, transistor radios, stereos, phonographs, tape recorders and supplies.

Complete servicing of sets is also available from the store and pick-up and delivery of sets and repair jobs is available daily, except Sunday, from noon until 9 p.m. However, Lare pointed out that 90 per cent of all repair work is done in the customer's home by a competent repairman and bringing the set into the shop is usually not necessary.



Lare also stated he has found that color sets require no more servicing or repairs than an average black and white TV set.

Liberal finance terms are available on any purchase from Lare's TV with up to 36 months to pay, with no down payment.

Lare moved to his present location six years ago from a store he established on Williams-rd. He has been a resident of the South Side of Columbus since 1928 and during that time has taken an active part in the service, sales and repairs offered by his store.

THE BRAND NEW 1964 RCA color television sets are proudly displayed by Bill Lare, owner and manager of Lare's TV in the Great Southern Shopping Center. Lare says last year he sold more new color sets than in the six previous years combined.

OLDEST HOME DUE AT GREAT SOUTHERN

A THREE-ROOM HOME, constructed from a 1900-year-old section of California Redwood, will soon be displayed at the Great Southern Shopping Center, 3300 S. High-st. The exhibit, which will be set-up between Lares and Gray Drugs, will be open from Monday, June 24, to Saturday, June 29, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily. The house, eight feet wide and nine and one-half feet high, is equipped with all modern facilities, such as an electric refrigerator and fluorescent lighting. The house was built by Keith Straughan and Son.

secrecy. The press was invited to name names. The courtroom doors opened to the public. Parents of wild youngsters suffered the humiliation of being identified with their crimes.

When Judge Loble gave a kid one more chance he didn't make a speech about the Pilgrim Fathers and George Washington. He had a shorter one. He'd say, "Next time you come here bring your toothbrush." They got the message.

In view of these experiences some penologists are suggesting a new approach: the quick, sharp punishment for those youths who have violated at least one parole.

A work farm. Sentences no shorter than three days and no longer than a week. Individual barred cells—no fraternizing. Reveille at 5 a.m. taps at 9 p.m. Books but no TV. A heavy work schedule from dawn to dusk, raising food for the jails, painting traffic signs, pulling nails from scrap lumber, anything useful that's no fun.

Good food for the workers. Bread and water for the shirkers. No glamor. No chance to form a crime club. No chance to develop institutional psychology. Just a few very unpleasant days.

This isn't going to cure the psychopath. But it might re-rail the kid who has an immature tendency to jump the track. Certainly, what we've been trying hasn't been working.

Let's give the swift-kick a whirl.

ROTC CADETS 'SHAPE UP' ON THE DOUBLE

It was "On The Double" and "Yes, Sir!" and "No, Sir!" for the ROTC cadets who poured into Lockbourne AFB Sunday morning to begin four weeks of encampment.

If there was the slightest doubt as to who were the bosses, it was erased in a hurry with gig sticks and military discipline.

Representing ROTC units from 48 colleges and universities over the country, the young men hadn't been given such a rough time since freshman hazing—but they took to it like ducks to water and by nightfall bore a passing resemblance to members of the United States Air Force.

Along with their civilian slouches and Bermuda shorts went any hair longer than three-quarters of an inch and anything but solemn countenances. And it was thoroughly understood that the grass was officers' territory and "square corners" was the order of the day.

After the "wet-nursing" of Col. Eberhard Helmuth, commander of the Summer Training Unit of ROTC Cadets, and his staff, the men who have completed their undergraduate work will be commissioned as second lieutenants. A majority of the 240 cadets are taking their summer encampment between their junior and senior years, and will not become officers until graduation.

Leaving the sack at 5 a.m. the boys will undergo intensive training with lectures, demonstration and actual performance of military duties. All will fly on KC 135 Jet Tanker refueling missions, and the deserving, Col. Helmuth explained, will fly the T33 jet trainers and the F 101 Voodoo Fighters.

A highlight of the encampment is the survival training when each flight is taken to a national forest area in Hocking County and taught to "live off the land." They will be given only field rations and will trap, snare and scrounge for their supplementary diet. Top survival officers have been brought in from far-flung SAC bases to give this instruction.

The Royal Canadian Air Force has added its bit to the strenuous schedule for the boys by the introduction of their 5 BX physical fitness program. In 11 short minutes, to meet the standards set up, each cadet must demonstrate his ability to do 30 toe-touches, 22 sit-ups, 50 chest and leg raises, 42 push-ups and 500 stationary-run steps interspersed with semi-squat jumps.

After a couple of weeks of restriction and regimentation, a bit of relaxation sets in with tea dances and other social events scheduled.

But as the sun beat down on the red-faced neophytes, some doubt arose whether they would all pull through to twist again. One cadet confided, "ROTC was never like this."

Col. Helmuth pointed out that much of the training is based on the premise that an officer must learn to take orders before he can give them.

FIRST LINCOLN PARK CLASSES END

Homemakers Enthusiasm High

"And with the money I saved I bought a set of dishes I've wanted for so long," exclaimed Mrs. Mary Taynor, discussing the food preparation courses she has just completed at the Lincoln Park Family Living Center.

She enthusiastically went on to emphasize that it was even more important to her that she had been taught to serve meals which were nutritionally better for her family.

Mrs. Taynor also took advantage of the classes offered in money management and clothing construction.

The Columbus Public Schools and Columbus Metropolitan Housing Authority have joined efforts to establish these courses for homemakers and are holding their first recognition program Friday evening. Eighty per cent of the class will receive certificates indicating their regular attendance with less than 20 per cent absence.

Although the classes drew heavily from women living in Lincoln Park, Mrs. Betty Lou Pyle was one of the "town girls" who caught a bus several times a week in her desire to become a better wife and mother. The courses are open to any Franklin County resident.

"I've learned so much, I just thank the Lord," she said, proudly wearing the first dress that she had ever made. "I just wish you could taste the cinnamon bread and Southern fried chicken I can make now," she added.

Mrs. Essie Wheelwright, who is an advanced seamstress, was wearing a completely lined eyelet dress which she had made for the fraction of the cost in retail outlets. "I think it's too bad that some people just won't take the effort to try to help themselves," she said, indicating impatience with those who while necessarily living with limited budgets could raise their standard of living with proper training in household management.

The attitude of these students is typical of the 22 women enrolled in a total of 30 classes, according to Mrs. Lois Sigler, coordinator of the program.

A second series of classes is scheduled to begin in August, the details of which will be reviewed at the Friday night program.

PUTTING THE FINAL touches on the garments they have made and will model at recognition night at Lincoln Park Family Living Center, 1709 S. 20th-st, are Mrs. Essie Wheelwright at the work table and Mrs. Mary Taynor at the ironing board. Mrs. Betty Lou Pyle, right, has completed her dress and is going through pattern books to decide upon her next venture in making her own wardrobe.

Survey To Learn Number Of Chronically Ill Begins

A household survey to determine the number of chronically ill persons in Columbus and Franklin County began June 19 and will continue through July and August. The survey is part of a study of Chronic Illness Services co-sponsored by the Academy of Medicine, Academy of General Practice, Columbus Health Department, United Community Council and the electrinic data processing equipment.

Two South Siders Take Training

Two Army men from the South Side, Sgt. Peter L. Francis, 33, and Pfc. Robert L. Spencer, 19, participated with other members of the 1st Cavalry Division in Exercise Rainstorm I, a three-day training maneuver in Korea in late May.

Sgt. Francis, section chief in Battery B, 5th Howitzer Battalion of the division's 31st Artillery in Korea, entered the Army in February, 1951. He was last assigned at Fort Sill, Okla. His wife, Sally, lives at 536 S. Ohio-av.

Spencer, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence R. Miller, live at 1178 S. Ohio-av, is assigned to Company C, 1st Battle Group of the division's 5th Cavalry in Korea.

Performs For German Exec.

Army Pfc. Roy C. Smith, whose wife, Shirley, lives at 1481 Madison-av, participated with other members of V Corps in an artillery demonstration in mid-May for Heinrich Luebke, president of the Federal Republic of Germany.

Smith, a cannoneer in Battery C, Fourth Howitzer Battalion, 18th Artillery in Germany, entered the Army in October, 1961. He completed basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., was last stationed at Fort Sill, Okla., and arrived overseas in March, 1962.

Present Awards For Attendance At Southwood

Twenty-four students at Southwood School were presented perfect attendance awards, according to an announcement by James R. Roy, principal.

The following students were not absent during the past year:

Ronald Burgess, Skylar Burgess, Karen Early, Jeff Henry, Ricky Johnson, Melvin Jordan, Sammy Marcum, Geraldine McCoy, James McCoy.

Jack McKinney, Jean Milam, John Milam, Mary Miller, William Miller, Elissa Nagy, Tommy Newlon, Mike Oberle.

New Civic Group Plugs Adequate Street Lights

Without a street light south of Refugee-rd, the newly-formed Marion-Franklin Area Civic Association has its work cut out for it, according to Mrs. Beverly McCoy, executive committeewoman.

She pointed out that it has been five years since the first housing project was built and that all the area residents' pleas and petitions have gained is promise of action "sometime when we have some money" from the city.

Believing the lack of adequate lighting creates a safety hazard for the children, 622 persons recently signed a petition presented to council. Superintendent Howard Stemm estimated the cost as between $35,000 and $40,000 and gave little hope for relief in the near future.

The 45 active members of the association, working with Rev. William Talley, III, as their president, is also challenged by the lack of year-round recreational facilities for the children.

He believes that the large percentage of school-age children in the area bounded by Williams-rd on the south, Lockbourne-rd on the east, Refugee-rd on the north and Alum Creek on the west warrants such a program. The group feels that a recreational center with a swimming pool, gym and space for arts and crafts and sewing classes is the only long-term solution to the problems.

Mrs. McCoy explained that the association will be on the alert to prevent the blight common to any area that is growing as rapidly as this south side section and through the group, citizens can seek solutions to community problems as they arise.

Dennis Payne was elected vice-president, Mrs. William Loyola, secretary, and Mrs. Marion Henry, treasurer. Other executive committee members are Mrs. Doris Adams, Glen Price, Thomas Yates, Carl Dixon, Greeme Small, George Perry and Emery Saunders.

During the school year the civic organization will meet the fourth Monday of each month at Watkins Elementary School. All residents of the area are urged to take part in the cooperative effort. Any information desired on the activities of the group can be obtained by calling Rev. Talley at 491-1620 or Mrs. McCoy at 491-0930.

Bible School Concludes With Picnic, Program

South Side community vacation Bible school will conclude with a picnic at the Y-Park, Friday, June 21, in the morning, and in the evening parents and friends will visit. Pins will be awarded and crafts displayed.

The school began two weeks ago in the First Congregational Church with 154 in attendance.

Classes were provided for children of kindergarten age, through junior high, in Bible study, recreation, crafts and choir.

Mrs. Ray Kuehner, dean, and Mrs. Ray Leland Montjoy, principal of the three church YMCA sponsored schools, have each served 25 years in the planning, administration and direction of the South Side Community Church School.

United Appeal Releases 'Thanks To You' Sheet

A total of $138,140 in United Appeal funds has been earmarked to help agencies located on the South Side area meet the needs of the people they serve.

In the past year these agencies have served a total of 14,184 people with help of the UA funds.

These service and financial figures were released this week as part of UA's "Thanks To You" report on the use being made of contributed funds.

The allocations and number served by South Side agencies are South Side Day Care Center, 90 served, $31,030; South Side Settlement House, 900 served, $26,211; YMCA — South Side Branch, 4851 served, $73,792 and South Side Community Center, 243 served, $5,107.

About one out of three persons in Franklin County benefit directly from UA services. A complete, down-to-the-penny breakdown on the distribution of funds will be delivered to every home in the county, with a guide to proper use of UA services.

The theme of the "Thanks To You" observance this year is "People Helping People." United Appeal officials also reported the 12-year progress on fund raising, reducing of solicitations and cost control.

More than 98 per cent of its overall goals have been reached with $1 ¾ million increase in giving with UA's Open Door policy, which encourages qualified outside groups to apply. 14 new organizations have joined during the last 11 years and campaign expenses, plus year-round administration, have been maintained at five per cent of the total raised, compared with a 7.4 per cent national average.

Desires Increased Traffic Enforcement

Columbus Police Chief George Scholar has called for 36 per cent increased enforcement of traffic laws on Main-st from 18th to Wilson-rd and 47 per cent increased enforcement on Parson-av from Forest to Siebert.

'Checkmates' Totals Keep Getting Larger

More than 3,207 people visited the "Operation Checkmates" cruisers from May 6 to June 8, the Tuberculosis Society reported today.

Two thousand sixty of these people live between Morrill avenue and the New York Central Railroad, where the "Checkmates" cruisers made neighborhood visits.

Free Christmas Seal TB skin tests were given to 2010 people and free chest X-rays to 185 people, who live in the area.

Clifford Roberts, "Checkmates" director revealed, "We found, through TB tests and chest X-rays 18 suspected cases of TB of all kinds and approximately 107 other suspected serious chest ailments."

"We were surprised," Roberts continued, "at the number of people who had positive reaction. More than 32.9 per cent of all adults skin tested have TB germs in their bodies."

A positive reaction to the skin test does not necessarily mean these people have active TB. It does mean that they have been in close contact with someone who does have active TB and that TB germs have entered their bodies.

Positive reactors found during "Checkmates" are advised to have yearly chest X-rays to spot TB early if it should develop.

"Positive reactors living in this high TB incidence area have 10 times the chance of developing active TB in the future as negative reactors," Roberts stressed. "That is why it is especially important for them to get this annual chest X-ray."

Village

and restaurants will be open all day.

The homes on display are but a handful of the many turn-of-the-century houses built by German immigrants who settled in the South Side. Through restoration an area only a few years ago slated for slum clearance has been turned into the show place of Columbus.

When the society was formed several years ago, it was with the goal of the members to dedicate themselves to "the preservation and restoration of the property in the German Village area and to the retention of its charm and unique Old World Atmosphere."

The thousands of sightseers visiting the village Sunday will learn how much closer to [illegible] the founders of the city have come in the past.

The Maennerchor (the male [illegible]) will present a concert in Schiller Park during the afternoon, and the Lederhosen Five will fill the air with German melodies as they parade through the streets.

The Village Art Colony will hold an exhibit and local artists will demonstrate their technique at easels set out on the streets.

Tickets may be obtained from any member of the society and will be on sale the day of the tour at the office, 624 S. Third-st, for $1.50 each.

The committees and members have spent months in preparation for the event which attracts people from several states. They extend a cordial invitation to Greater Columbus residents to see the "miracle in their own backyard."

OES To Award Pins At Meeting

Southern Way Chapter 467, Order of Eastern Star, will meet Thursday, June 27, at South Gate Masonic Temple.

A covered-dish potluck will be served in the social hall at 6 p.m. Worthy Matron Helen Tilton and Worthy Patron John Tilton will preside at the 7:30 p.m. meeting. Twenty-five year pins will be presented.

Refreshments will be served at special birthday tables, and all members will be honored.

Jenkins Reports

The air station is part of the Norfolk Naval Complex, one of the world's largest communities. It is the aviation center of Atlantic Fleet operations and representative of one of our country's strongest forces for national security.

Americans are becoming disenchanted with cars, boats, mass-produced goods. With personal creativity in the arts, they can achieve satisfaction and self-expression, as well as social status.

"For Me to Live is Christ"

"And the Lord shall guide thee continually, and satisfy thy soul in draught, and make fat thy bones: and thou shalt be like a watered garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters fail not." Isaiah 58.11.

"For me to live is Christ," is to be living for a purpose—to serve God by drawing out my soul to the poor, lonely, hungry, and lost. "For me to live is Christ," is to lead men everywhere to Jesus Christ who is the fountain of the water of life. And He has promised that when I am in His service He will guide me, and satisfy me, and I shall be like the flowers in this picture, like a watered garden, sustained by Him.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH — THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for men and of His demand for men to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

GOLF ETIQUETTE–1

TEE OFF–AND IMPENDING DISASTER

EVEN THE WORLD'S worst duffer will tell you that the first shot—the one off the tee—is all-important in compiling a low golf score. But interference, such as your playing partner's head, can be costly—both to your score and his well being. Next time you're out on the links, give the man at the tee plenty of swinging room. Register your game on a score card—not on a hospital chart.

Schoenlings Ends Draught In Old Timers

Schoenlings broke into the win column for the first time this season in the South Side Old Timers League by defeating Blatz 12-10, Tuesday night. Old Landmark was defeated by Arena 14-6, and Don't Inn won over Planks Cafe 6-4.

In the circuit's other games, Bow Wow downed Babberts 14-10 and Duquesne walloped Deibels 20-4.

JOHN FUCHIK of Duquesne took hitting honors for the night as he went five for five at the plate. Jim Pilkington of Deibels also had

DERBY'S OPENING DAY

ALTHOUGH THE sixth annual Schiller Park Fishing Derby will run through Aug. 15, these two young anglers decided to get a head start last week when the Derby opened. Steve Rothery, 9, of 404 E. Deshler-av (foreground) keeps his eyes peeled for some activity on the line of buddy Ross Wells, 8, of 414 E. Deshler-av. The Derby, open to all boys and girls under 14 years of age, will provide prizes for catchers of tagged fish. Steve and Ross hadn't hooked a winner yet, but they did catch some fish.

Fishing Should Be Fun, Not Habitual Slavery

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

Have fun on your fishing vacation this year. This is my prescription for your health and happiness today.

Too often, we work ourselves to exhaustion trying to have fun on vacation. If you tumble into bed each night bone-weary after 12 hours on the water, you're not fishing — you're slaving. A person may be forgiven for working too hard but not for habitually playing too hard.

RELAX AND ENJOY yourself. You will not only have more fun and live longer, but you'll probably catch more fish in the process.

Sure, a full stringer represents effort. But it's the manner in which a man goes fishing that makes it play, not drudgery. Most old-timers have learned how to unwind with the help of a rod and reel and detach themselves from the anxieties of their jobs. When the fishing slows down and the warm sun takes effect, they doze off for an hour or so.

You should religiously observe lunch time, by going ashore and getting a hot meal. This could be a shore dinner, prepared under the evergreens on a rocky and remote point. Or it could be in a cottage or restaurant. But the important thing is to take a break. If you are away from civilization, lunch is no longer a big chore. Pocket-sized canned heat stoves, powdered soups and beverages make the task simple.

AFTERWARDS, SIT down under a tree along shore. Watch the display of nature around you — birds, insects, a squirrel. You'll see a world you never knew existed. And, let's face it, you really haven't missed any fishing. It will be there later in the day, and you'll be rested and rarin' to go when they do start hitting.

Most of us fish at a leisurely pace at home. We go out at prime times, skipping the heat of the day, a muddy stream or inclement weather. But there is something about the psychology of "being on vacation" that makes us rush around not wanting to waste a minute. The real reason for taking a trip is to waste a little time. This is the only thing that makes it different from staying home.

Vacationitis is not exclusively a disease of anglers. Golfers suffer too. Some want to play 36 holes a day for two weeks, and insist their vacation has been a success as they are carried away on a stretcher. Tourism is worse — to the West Coast and back in 14 days plus hitting 31 states, is pure madness.

You should fish hard enough to catch some, get in some exercise and sleep soundly. But please don't make work out of it. Fishing can be a delightful treasure, but if you grasp it too hard and try to wring pleasure out of it, you will lose it. Have fun on your fishing vacation this year — for your sake.

Cincinnati Fiasco Or– Keepin' Reds In Black

..CINCINNATI, O. — The noise circulating around baseball circles about the improved New York Mets became too loud to ignore after Casey Stengel's crew knocked off the Reds twice Friday and Saturday.

For this reason and because we've always been an avid Jim Piersall fan, we took the journey to the South Sunday for the Reds-Mets doubleheader.

According to Monday's paper, the Mets are still the stumbling, fumbling sore thumbs of major league expansion after the Redlegs had put them back in their place with 11-5 and 10-3 shellackings.

BUT AFTER running the maze at Crosley Field for four hours Sunday, we could never approve or deny the fact.

As the last three of the 18,323 patrons to pour through the gates Sunday, we were already at a disadvantage as far as seeing the game was concerned.

Our two companions, who admittedly were more interested in the downstairs concessions area than anything going on on the field, spent most of the first inning stocking up for the long afternoon.

AFTER A three-inning tour of the upper deck in search of seats, we gradually worked our way to the entrance of the rightfield Sun Deck.

We had almost talked our companions into this proposition when the gateman piped up with the warning that Sun Deck admittance is strictly one way ("once you go in, you don't come back out").

The threat of sunstroke or dehydration turned us back to the lower grandstand area where our companions set out on another effort to keep the Redlegs' concessions in the black this summer.

AFTER THEY HAD gone through their second five dollar bill, somebody spotted a TV set and spirits began to run high on spending the rest of the afternoon viewing the game at that position.

When all appeared lost, we suggested (as a last resort) converting our ticket stubs into box seats. This stroke of genius fell short, however, when the usher escorted us to a section about 30 feet from the leftfield wall.

Since every pair of binoculars at Crosley Field had been sold earlier, we spent most of the rest of the the afternoon watching Jim Owens, Al Worthington and Bill Henry warm up in the Cincy bullpen.

WHEN ONE of the three wasn't blocking our view, we had excellent glimpses of the infield practice between innings.

The day wasn't a complete loss, however, since Piersall didn't let us down. Between games, he appeared under the grandstands long enough to grab a little girl's hat and run away with her in hot pursuit.

Apparently Jim isn't concerned about his .206 BA this season—not with teammates like Al Moran (.197), Cliff Cook (.145) and Norm Sherry (.089) playing regularly.

But now that the Cincinnati fiasco is over, we have only one worry in the world. How do we get rid of those four tickets to the All-Star game in Cleveland Aug. 9?

BIT OF WIT (T) — The Cleveland Indians probably won't win the AL flag this season, but one thing's for sure — they'll have the cleanest ball park.

Ticket stubs will no longer be counted among the litter at the stadium now that the Tribe management has come up with a point system that provide prizes for the ticket stubs that go in the pocket and not on the ground.

YMCA WRAP-UP

Frebis Club Upset, 7-4; S. Methodist Wins Again

With the weatherman cooperating 100 per cent, the South Side Y Inter-Church Softball leagues played a full slate of games last week.

The ole dope bucket upset the Intermediate circuit as Frebis Church of God, a constant winner during the past two years, dropped a 7-4 decision to the classy Ohio-South Congregational combo.

ONLY JOHN Evans and Larry Anderson were able to solve the slants of Joey Poeschel, while Chester Ellis hit best for the winners.

St. Paul United topned Wilson Nazarene and Brookwood bested South Methodist in other games in this division. Tom Flockin, Wes Trainer and John Ranft were the individual stars in these games.

GIRLS — Thanks to some fine hitting by Ann Slaughter and Loretta Boso, South Methodist continued to roll on undefeated, but received a real scare from the lassies of St. Paul United.

Carla Sickbert and Peg Dupler were the bright lights for the Saints. In other distaff action, the powerful Washington Ave. EUB crew beat Ohio Ave EUB, Emmanuel topped Brookwood Presbyterian in a real slugging bee, and Hope Lutheran outscored Livingston Methodist.

Patty Hall, Nancy Kirby, Connie Wray, Sue Stewart, Linda Hiltbrunner, Kathy Toth, Sally Edwards, Sue Wardlow, Dinah Caldwell, Frieda Fillinger, Pat Hamilton, Pat Koch, Sue Snyder and Mary Lou Ellinger deserve this week's spotlight for their fine play.

WEDNESDAY JUNIORS —High scoring games were the order of the day as St. Paul Lutheran nosed out St. Paul United, St. John United outpointed South Methodist and Ohio Ave. EUB was declared the winner over Southwood Church of Christ. David Davies, Mike Roth, Willis Dubler, Ernie Heller and Bob Vick were tops in the hitting department.

SLOW PITCH — Play in this division saw St. Paul Lutheran win via the forfeit route from Southwood Church of Christ. Ohio Ave. EUB showed real power in its win over St. Paul United and Livingston finally hit on all ten to upset St. John United.

Do You Know Your Sports?

Of all the sporting implements used in the wide variety of games today, probably the weirdest is the "shuttlecock" — the ball used in badminton.

But it isn't actually a ball but rather half of a small, round cork with 16 feathers stuck in the flat side. The total weight is less than one-fifth of an ounce.

THE REACTION of the "bird" is even stranger than its composition for when hit with a racket, it flies across the net at blinding speed only to die suddenly and fall straight to the ground.

The game as we know it today originated in India several centuries ago and was called "poona." The British military played the game on foreign soil and then introduced it to Europe when they returned home in the 1870's.

IN 1890, the game was introduced in the United States and its popularity grew until today when over 8,500,000 Americans race around backyards in pursuit of the strange acting bird.

Probably the greatest selling point for the game is its

There were three winners at Columbus Motor Speedway Friday night. Don Gregory picked his fourth straight win in the feature and there were two winners in the game of Total.

Gregory started 22nd in a field of 25 cars and took over the lead in the 13th lap. Sonny Pencial and Joe King gave him a rough time.

SUNDAY NIGHT there was a new winner for the late models. Bob Bower, who has been racing for 15 years, won his first feature event. He edged out Sam Belfiore in the 18th lap. Bower and Belfiore were running bumper to bumper in the last five laps.

Don Trees, who conked out during the late model feature, did manage to win the pursuit race in five laps. Trees was put on the tail of the feature in the sixth lap for passing on a yellow light.

BOBBY REITZ was back at CMS Sunday night after a long absence. It was good to see him back. However, his car is up for sale.

Several fans have asked about the one time king of the speedway, Jack Bowsher. Jack is doing right well in the late models. He is running the MARC circuit, running at Cleveland this Saturday and at Lancaster, N.Y., Sunday night. Jack has won four features this year with his '62 Ford and is top man in point standings.

Racing sets forth again Friday and Sunday nights at Columbus Motor Speedway with racing getting underway at 8 p.m.

Stelson Seeking 8100 Books For Program

South Side Leader—T

Wanted: 8,100 books — elementary, high school and college texts.

Requests for these books have come to Columbus from schools and libraries in such [illegible] as Ethiopia, Japan, Mombasa, Taiwan, and Zanzibar. All of the requests have been addressed to Stelios Stelson, a quiet, unassuming Greek immigrant living in a bachelor apartment on West Franklin Park.

The present backlog of requests, explains in part, the recent chartering of the International Friendship Foundation, of which Stelson is executive director.

Stelson, a naturalized American citizen, has, for nine years, been carrying on what his friends call "a remarkable person - to - person program." He first became aware of the need for young people in other countries to have access to American texts while serving in the Far East during the Korean War.

Working almost singlehandedly, and paying postage and packing costs out of his own pocket, Stelson, over the years, has sent 21,000 books overseas. Each new shipment has resulted in additional requests from an ever-increasing number of schools, libraries and individual students.

Those wishing to donate books may do so by calling BE. 1-0093 or BE. 5-4423.

Think About Speed, Slowly

This particular accident on W. Mound-st near the Sandusky-st exit was relatively insignificant. The auto of one of our editors, while halted for a traffic light, was smacked from the rear by a tipsy, illiterate, uninsured driver. He had just left the 50-mile-an-hour traffic zone—a road that soon likely will be posted 60.

But the editor and Officer C. also were mindful of the wild, unrestrained traffic on the interchange. Kids out for kicks in their jalopies, cutting in and out, playing bumper tag, and dragging. At the same spot, about a year ago, a young mother was crushed in her car by a speed-crazed drunk who bounded over the divider strip.

Occasionally Officer C. glanced at the "hot car" list on his sun visor, then returned to his lengthy report. "Yessir, if they hike the speed limit, we're really gonna see trouble." Patrolman C. was thinking of the Ohio House-approved bill to boost the speed limit to 70 m.p.h. on rural freeways and to 60 m.p.h. on freeways with paved shoulders within cities. (Columbus has these.) The bill was passed by the Senate this week and now requires the signature of the governor.

State Highway Department officials believe our best freeways are ready for the higher speed limit and that the new law will eliminate deliberate speed traps set up by some small towns. In this, they are probably right.

But Columbus officials will have the right to appeal for a reduction from 60 on in-city expressways. State Highway Director Pearl Masheter cannot institute such action on his own, even though he has the final say. We believe Columbus Traffic Engineer John Gallagher and City Council should prepare such a request.

It's a known fact that traffic authorities often allow a 10 per cent speedometer error factor before making arrests — and motorists take advantage of it. This means we can expect "legal" 67 m.p.h. driving on our expressways soon. These highways are complex enough now, especially to strangers. Why open them up to mass suicide, sure to happen when the new hordes of drivers come with the completion of Interstate 71 and future freeways?

Let's hold the limit to a more sensible 50!

Safety Begins IN the Car

S&L Week Salute

"Savings and Loan Week" is being observed in Ohio through June 22, marking the 75th anniversary of the founding of the Ohio Savings and Loan League. The league is the trade association for 575 savings and loans throughout the state.

Savings and loan organizations play an important role in providing a healthy and stable state-wide economy. In addition to financing two of every three homes sold in Ohio, savings and loan associations and companies are the trustees for more than $7 billion belonging to more than four million thrifty Ohioans.

Ohio is about to embark on a new and intensified drive to attract industry and encourage industrial expansion within the state. It is encouraging to know that we can offer a healthy home building industry as an incentive to other industries.

Shop For The Dealer And Not The Car

From the Better Business Bureau we received ten rules for buying a used car which the Ford Motor Company guarantees to be safer than the old tire-kicking method.

1. Drive it first! Reputable dealers are happy to have you test-drive their used cars because they know they're in proper running condition.

2. Check the speedometer reading! Grease and oil stickers are a good clue. They give you the mileage at which service has been performed. If the tires aren't the originals, you know the mileage is high. If arm rests, gas pedal, clutch and brake pedals show a lot more wear than the speedometer indicates, take the hint!

3. Note the steering wheel play! More than two inches of "free" play either way is too much.

4. Where there's smoke . . .! Heavy, bluish exhaust smoke when you accelerate rapidly is a danger signal.

5. Sluggish pickup on a high mileage car usually means the rings are ripe for replacement.

6. Let a mechanic see it! A good mechanic can spot serious defects you might miss. For example, he can tell normal exhaust smoke from smoke caused by heavy oil burning merely by feeling it with his hand.

7. Insist on a detailed, receipted bill with all the facts about your purchase.

8. A written guarantee! If there is a guarantee, be sure it's in your hands when you close the deal.

9. Know what you're signing! On a financed purchase, be sure the contract is made out and read by you before you sign it. You should get a copy, too.

10. Shop for the dealer, not the car! An established dealer with a good reputation is your best bet.

Variety . . . by I. F. Howell

The Pope of Brotherhood no longer walks the earth.

The late Pope John XXIII reigned little more than four short years. But not since the tragic division of the Church four centuries ago has any Pope done more in the cause of reconciliation. Uppermost in his mind and heart always was the reunion of the "separated brethren" with those remaining within the fold of what he believed the original holy, universal, apostolic Church.

This is neither the time nor the place to discuss dogma and doctrine. More than half a billion Catholics believe the Pope to be Christ's only Vicar on earth. Millions more sincerely cannot agree. And still more know nothing about it. But all this has nothing to do with the dignity and humanity of Pope John XXIII and the love he bore in his heart for all mankind.

Pope John hated evil—the thing in itself—not the people who practiced it. This was why he could give audience to a dedicated communist, an avowed atheist, without making any compromise with evil.

If the Protestant voice means anything, we think it speaks a hope that Pope John's successor will advance the cause of understanding and brotherhood so nobly begun. Truly, as has been said, here was a man "touched by grace." We believe it is the Protestant prayer that the same grace be upon the next Bishop of Rome.

It says here . . .

Mutual love and trust must come before Christian unity.

A White Man's Prayer

By Frank Ryan

There are many blessings for which I am grateful to a loving and merciful God. I am particularly thankful, for instance, that He chose to create me as a white man rather than a Negro.

RYAN

I realize that it does not please God to have my thanks in this matter. I know and believe that ALL men have equal rights in His sight. The problem here on Earth is that all men do not have equal rights in the sight of each other.

The question of racial equality finds my spiritual nature and human nature in almost direct conflict. My spiritual nature has control of my tongue. I decry the fact that the Negro — in both the North and South — is a second class citizen. I am ashamed of a society that places "social leg irons" on the Negro and then bitterly complains that he does not run as well as the white man in the race for personal dignity and social progress.

But my human nature fashions most of my actions in racial matters. In negotiating for the purchase of a home, I asked the realtor its proximity to any "colored section," and how soon he thought the immediate neighborhood might be integrated. I was a bit embarrassed, to be sure, but I asked. The hard, cold and unChristian fact is that I placed a higher priority on property value and social prestige than on human value and spiritual growth.

I am certainly not anti-Negro. But in a sense I might as well be, because I am too much afraid of social sanctions to walk as I talk. I am — subconsciously, at least — ill at ease in most contacts with Negroes whom I number among my friends. How can I accept their friendship when my actions mark me as the proud Pharisee rather than the humble Publican?

I have, however, a consolation and a hope. I can't help feeling that many members of my "white" society (perhaps a large majority) are fighting the same personal conflict that is mine; that we are entrapped by an unwritten social law that does not at all represent our personal views.

Those of us too timid to fight the "social law" can take heart in President Kennedy's effort to (in effect) take us off the book. He has proposed laws of the land designed to ratify President Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation of 100 years ago.

I pray God that Congress will act before the demonstration mania becomes an actual national madness. I hope for the day when we will stop asking the Negro to "earn" what the Constitution tells ALL of us are God-given rights.

For 100 years the majority of Negroes have followed the "be patient" philosophy. In the meantime, they have been victimized by self-seeking politicians, by radical hot-heads and by the "professional Negroes" in their midst who prostitute the cause of equal rights with phony cries of discrimination.

Yes, I will gladly trade emotionalism for hard and fast laws. We are at a critical crossroads in our history, for we must decide if we are to accept the basic concepts of our Constitution.

If, as we profess in our Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag, we are "one nation, under God, indivisible. . . ." how, then, can we deny equality of opportunity to our brothers in Christ?

As The Twig Is Bent, So Grows The Tree

In Proverbs 22:6 Solomon said: "Train a child in the way he should go; and when he is old he will not depart from it."

We need the cooperation of the whole family to get the youngsters to Junior Church. Unless we are interested in these little ones, what will be the church of tomorrow?

Beatitudes For Children
By Charles H. Wenhold

Blessed is that child who has someone who believes in him and has high hopes for him.

Blessed is that child who has someone to whom he can carry his problems unafraid.

Blessed is that child of whom life is a book of knowledge and who is privileged to turn the pages one by one.

Blessed is that child who is allowed to pursue his curiosity into every worthwhile field of information.

Blessed is that child who has someone who understands that childhood's griefs are real and bitter and call for understanding sympathy.

Blessed is that child who is led gently by the hand along the pathway of life by one who is guide, companion and inspiration.

Blessed is that child who has about him those who believe in his divinity and not his depravity.

Blessed is that child whose love of the true, the beautiful and the good has been nourished through the years.

Blessed is that child whose [illegible] nate imagination has been turned into channels of creative effort.

Blessed is that child whose efforts to achieve have found encouragement and kindly commendation.

Blessed is that child who has learned freedom from selfishness through responsibility and cooperation with others.

Blessed is that child who discovers that all life is a process of education and that each graduation is but a commencement in a higher grade.

Blessed is that home or community or nation which sees in the child the hope of the future and dedicates himself to the realization of that hope.

'He Helped Another . .

To The Editor:

I would like to publicly thank a man who lives in my neighborhood for taking the time to help my daughter repair a bicycle tire at a local service station.

Mr. William Carroll of Kumler-dr in Whitehall spent two hours trying to help another child, although he has several children of his own.

In this day of busy parents, busy children and busy days I feel his charitable act serves to remind us all how we best serve our fellow men through concern for them.

They See Alike . . .

To The Editor:

I, a citizen who prefers women to be and act, and look like the "ladies," want to congratulate the publisher for his Spectator comments (May 28-29) about women dressing in such short shorts, ugly faded overalls, etc.

Women should make it a point to always look and act their best.

To The Editor:

Congratulations C. C. Hartley on the article on dress. Educate people to see the propriety of it.

YES Project Aided

To The Editor:

Prairie Norton PTA thanks you for your kindness and consideration in giving our Youth Employment Service program excellent coverage in your paper of June 13. Through the efforts of your staff and interested and devoted residents of our fine community, this project cannot help but be a success.

Our PTA has searched desperately this year for a service that we could offer that would bring our community together in serving youth. We sincerely hope that this operation will prove to be the answer to our aspirations.

Mr. Harold Hayden, principal of our school, and I express our personal thanks.

Pet Show Highlights Playgrounds Week

The annual pet show, with children from 19 South Side playgrounds participating, will be held at the Schiller Park Bandstand, 6:30 p.m., this Friday.

A big event of the summer season, which is now in full swing at the 81 playgrounds operated by the Columbus Recreation Department this year, the pet show is open to children with any kind of pets except insects, announced Tom Cranshaw, district supervisor.

Awards will be presented to children with pets which are adjudged the Prettiest, Best Groomed, Most Unusual, Most Obedient, Best Costumed, Smallest, Most Affectionate, Largest, Best Performer and the Cutest.

A registration card which can be obtained at the playground nearest the child's home must be taken to Schiller the evening of the Pet Parade and an identification number will be assigned to each child.

Morrie Butler of WLW-TV will be the master of ceremonies and Ollie Oelgoetz, of the Recreation Commission, and William P. Hoermle and William Fornoff of the City Council, will be among the judges.

There will be no charge for admission and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Schiller

The annual playground pet show is being held this Thursday at 2 p.m. in Schiller Park. This parade of dogs, cats, monkeys, birds, turtles, raccoons and many other species of animals is for Schiller Park children only and a second parade is scheduled Friday night for children from playgrounds all over the South Side.

In the Thursday parade, ribbons will be given for the Biggest pet, Smallest pet, Most Unusual Pet, Most Obedient Pet, and other categories. All children are urged to dress them in ribbons and bows and come to the pet parade tonight.

Tournament time is coming on Monday with playground tournaments in horseshoes, four square and tetherball being started. Also all children are starting immediately to prepare their costumes for the clown contest which will be held Wednesday night of next week. Winners in this clown contest will parade in their costumes in the city-wide contest at City Hall the following Friday.

Junior Jet baseball games started this week and all boys from eight to 12 who have not signed up for baseball are urged to do so immediately.

The new wading pool on the playground is near completion and all of the younger kids will soon be splashing in the sun. Games and equipment of all kinds are available for use. Softball and track teams are being organized for boys and girls.

Karns

A hootenany will be held every evening at 6:30 p.m. and the Junior Jets are playing every evening.

The paint has been mixed and the crayons are ready for anyone interested in arts and crafts. Interesting projects have been started and will continue every day from 1 to 3 p.m.

This evening (Thursday) at 6:30 Smith Road School will hold a pet show. All pets must be confined or on a leash.

Wednesday, June 26, there will be a clown contest. Boys and girls are urged to come and wear their clown costumes. The arts and crafts class will make masks for the occasion.

Next week the arts and crafts class will make animals, jewelry and jewelry boxes. More newspapers and cardboard boxes are needed.

All boys between the ages of eight and 12 are invited to join the Junior Jet baseball teams. Teams are now being formed, and more boys are needed. Boys' and girls' softball teams are also being formed for juniors, intermediates and seniors.

Watkins

At Watkins Playground boys eight to 12 years old are being organized into Junior Jet teams. Softball teams are being started for boys and girls up to 19. Track practice and physical fitness tests will begin soon.

Parents and children of all ages are welcome at the playground Monday through Friday, 12:30 until 8:30 p.m. The leaders this year are Linda Schwab and Bob Reall.

Children in the eight through 12 age group will attend day camp at Indian Village Camp the week of July 1.

The arts and crafts program is varied and interesting this year. Children are divided into classes according to [illegible].

The big event at Watkins this week is the playground pet show. This will be held Thursday, June 20 at 6 p.m.

Mohawk

June 17, 18 and 19 the physical fitness test for boys and girls of all ages began. These tests will continue throughout the playground [illegible].

The playground four-square, tetherball and horseshoe tournaments will be held June 24 and 25.

The playground clown contest will be held Wednesday, June 26.

Now is the time to come down and sign up for the sport you enjoy.

The week of July 1 the members of Mohawk will go to Indian Village day camp. Anybody from eight to 12 may sign up.

Deshler

Deshler playground opened Wednesday, June 12, at 12:30. The leaders can be found between 12:30 and 8:30 p.m. Monday through Friday leading the activities.

The girls' softball teams are off to a good start, having had practice for the juniors, 8-12, intermediates, 13-15, and seniors, 16-18. Any interested girl eight or older should sign up as soon as possible. Practice for the juniors is at 1:30 p.m. with the seniors and intermediates at 2 p.m.

A softball league for boys eight-18 has also been started. The boys will be divided according to age. All boys of these ages are invited to sign up as soon as possible.

June 12 and 13 was the beginning of our Junior Jet program. At the two meetings each night there were 60 eight and nine-year-olds, and the second night there were 80 10, 11 and 12-year-olds. The boys hope to have at least 12 teams in their program this summer and start the games by June 24. The games will begin at 6:15 p.m. with two games being played at night.

During the coming week Deshler will have tournaments in four-square, horseshoes and tetherball. Boys and girls age eight-15 should sign up now.

Thursday, June 26, a clown contest will be held on the playground and winners will be chosen.

Any boy or girl ages eight-12 who wishes to go to Indian Village Day Camp should get an application blank from the leaders. Camp dates are July 1, 2, 3 and 5, and the cost is $2.

During the opening week on the playgrounds, the craft classes made pencil holders, vases, belts and flags on Flag Day.

Lincoln Park

Leader Mary Ellen Brant said awards will be given for the best entries in each category.

Four-square, horseshoe and tetherball tournaments will begin next week at the park, and a clown contest will be held next Wednesday.

Junior Jet and softball teams are still preparing for league play. More than 100 boys are registered for the Junior Jet baseball program, open to boys age eight to 12.

Softball teams, for boys and girls from eight to 18, are still open for membership.

This has been physical fitness week at the park. Those who pass fitness tests this summer will receive certificates from the Columbus Recreation Department.

Heimandale

The playground at Heimandale School officially opened June 12. One hundred and twenty children registered for the different activities offered. Some of these include Junior Jet baseball, boys' and girls' softball, boys' and girls' track, tetherball, volleyball and horseshoes. Further information may be obtained regarding the activities offered at Heimandale by contacting Walter Grelle or Ruth Ann Marriott. The phone number is HI. 4-6308.

All children eight-12 interested in going to Day Camp at Indian Village should register at Heinmandale Playground before June 24. The fee for one week is $2. The camp period will begin July 1 and will end July 5. There will be no camp on July 4.

Girls' softball teams are being organized at Heimandale Playground in the junior and intermediate divisions. Any girls 16, 17 or 18 interested in softball should contact Ruth Ann Marriott, girls' athletic director.

Baseball teams composed of boys eight-12 are now being organized, and at the present there are 60 boys organized into four teams. All boys interested in Junior Jet should contact Walter Grelle, leader, at the playground.

Junior, intermediate, and senior boys' softball teams have been organized and will play once a week. All boys eight-18 interested in softball should contact Grelle.

CLUB PROVIDES OLYMPIC BOOST

Lorimer Lauds Civitan Efforts For Olympic Development Plan

Ohio Track Club president Jim Lorimer had a happy ring in his voice last week — the tone of a man who was beginning to see the fruits of his efforts paying off.

Lorimer, who promotes this country's Olympic Development Program as avidly as other's do the space race, lauded the Western Civitan Club, who had just provided uniforms for three young ladies Jim has high hopes for in the future Olympics.

IT WAS LORIMER'S hope last March that area service clubs and other organizations would take the initiative in a program to develop promising feminine track talent with the ultimate goal catching the Russian gals in the Olympic games.

The three girls Lorimer discussed are members of the Pleasant View Girls Track team, which topped all other area representatives last spring in their annual Invitational.

THEY ARE sprinter Mary Boggs, Sue Kalish, who tosses the softball, and Ellen Upson, who Lorimer has in mind for a try at the pentathlon — the equivalent of the men's decathalon. (The pentathlon includes five events — 80-meter hurdles, high jump, broad jump, shot put and 200-meter run).

Lorimer, who believes the best way to improve is through regular competition, will take his girls to the Regionals in Cleveland next weekend — a warmup for the National Outdoor Women's Championship in Dayton, July 5-6.

Jim Lorimer is a man with his eye on the future. The trials for the '64 Olympics are scheduled for New York City next summer. By that time, he hopes to have his crew ready.

Jim admits that it's quite a job, but cooperation, like that shown by Western Civitan, has helped greatly to lighten the load.

LEGION WRAP-UP

Chase, G-C, Southway, Eastmoor Big Winners

Tight pitching performances highlighted play in American Legion baseball play during the week as Camp Chase and Grove City paced the Gold Division while Eastmoor and Southway chalked up the most wins in the Blue section.

CAMP CHASE and G-C each picked up a pair of wins. Chase showed awesome offense, blasting Columbus Post, 13-1, and Worthington, 21-2.

Mike Gregg and Jim Workman paced the Worthington massacre — the former driving in seven runs with a pair of homers, the latter going four-for-four (three doubles) in Chase's 15-hit assault on five Worthington hurlers.

WARDEN WALKED but two, fanning 13 in his winning effort. Against Columbus Post, G-C rallied for two seventh-inning runs to remain unbeaten Sunday. Eddie Harris provided the batting punch with three hits.

The only other Gold win was picked up by Hilliard as Mike Ryan fanned ten and set down Worthington on two hits, 2-0. Craig Duffey's fifth-inning double drove in both Hilliard runs.

Over in the Blue circuit, Southway Post was most successful, winning a pair without loss. George Maurer checked Bexley Post on four hits to win, 8-2 as Roger Nisley provided the big hit with a three-run triple.

TOM SCHNEIDERER and Maurer shared pitching duties as Southway clipped Capital City, 7-3, Sunday. Larry Uhrig's bases-loaded triple broke up a 3-3 seventh-inning tie to provide the win. Nisley homered for the winners.

Cromer picked up both of Eastmoor's wins. The Warrior hurler, who helped pace Eastmoor to a runnerup finish in City League play last spring, fanned 12 and walked five while blanking Groveport, 3-0, with his no-hit effort.

Cromer's second effort, Sunday against Scioto Post (St. Charles), was almost as good as Eastmoor won, 1-0, on Doug's one-hitter. The loss was a heartbreaker for Scioto's Frank Lally, who yielded but three Eastmoor hits.

CAPITAL CITY blemished Eastmoor's record earlier in the week, however, as Mel Smith set the Warriors down on a single hit, 3-1.

Whitehall's Bill Dildine bested Groveport's Jim Fox in a pitching duel Sunday as Post 490 downed the Cruisers, 3-0. Ken Saul drove in the first Whitehall run while Terry Tedder plated the insurance tallies in the third with a two-run triple.

Bob Call and Larry Hammer provided the hitting while John Pettorini limited Groveport to five hits. Jack Diamond's two-hitter provided Bexley with its win over [illegible].

Wells, Meade Pace Ranger Bat Statistics

The Hamilton Township Rangers, under the direction of George Hamric, recently completed their '63 baseball season with a fine 10-1-4 mark, including victories in their last seven games.

Here are the Ranger batting statistics:

Player	AB	H	RBI	Avg.
Don Alltop	1	1	1	1.000
Jim Wells	82	22	12	.442
Chuck Ingram	14	6	5	.429
Ed Wikoff	10	4	2	.400
Bill Meade	86	21	22	.393
Dave Mouser	56	21	16	.382
Gary Barnett	28	7	4	.368
John Schreiber	33	10	11	.340
Dave Parent	48	16	7	.333
Ray Robison	26	8	4	.308
Alex Harmon	11	3	4	.273
Denny Hedges	41	11	9	.268
Roger Ellis	43	9	6	.209
John Jukas	9	1	0	.111
John McJunkin	10	1	0	.100
Woody Adams	1	0	0	.000
Dick Johnson	1	0	0	.000

IN THE individual batting departments, Wells led two categories - runs scored (18) and most hits (23). Meade was the Ranger's RBI leader with 22 and extra-base king with 11. Dave Mouser had two home runs to top that division.

Meade and Schreiber split the pitching duties, the former finished with a 5-1 mark, the latter closing at 5-3. Meade fanned 66 batsmen, Schreiber 43. The Rangers averaged 8.4 runs per game as compared with 4.5 for their opponents.

Western Hosts Heart Tourney

Western Lanes will be the site of the first annual Heart Beat Headpin Bowling Tournament to be held Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 10-11, from 12 noon until 12 midnight.

Western Lane officials have announced that a number of top Columbus celebrities will be on hand on both days of the kegling tourney to take part in a special division of the tournament.

THE CELEBRITIES, as yet unannounced, will be present to compete on Aug. 10 at 2 and 8 p.m. and at 2 p.m. on Aug. 11 at the Georgesville-rd lanes.

The tournament proceeds will go to the Heart Fund Drive.

relatively low expense. For as little as $5, participants can purchase all the equipment necessary (four rackets, a net, two bamboo poles and three shuttlecocks).

The courts (20 by 44 feet) can be marked off in just about any yard, or — for that matter — inside the house!

BECAUSE OF the nature of the game, there is no real age limit with both junior and grandpa able to play.

The American Badminton Association is located at 4820 Stanford-av, Seattle 5, Wash. The U.S. Open championships are held yearly on Apr. 10 to 13 at Gilman Country School in Baltimore, Md. Philadelphia is the site for the Junior Tourney each Apr. 12 to 14.

Lemley Becomes Copter Mechanic

Airman Third Class Donald C. Lemley is being reassigned to Offutt AFB, Neb., following his graduation from the United States Air Force technical training courie for helicopter mechanics at Sheppard AFB, Tex.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Gostel of 1060 Hilack-av, he attended Marion Franklin High School.

Airman Lemley was trained to inspect, repair and maintain turbojet and reciprocating engine helicopters.

TRAINED

ARMY PVT. Richard L. Storr, son of Mrs. Lily R. Storr, 1352 Studer-av, completed eight weeks of advanced infantry training at the U. S. Army Training Center, Fort Gordon, Ga., late in May. The 17-year-old soldier entered the Army in January, 1963, and completed basic combat training at Fort Gordon. He attended [illegible].

REPORTS FOR DUTY

Stephen J. Beran, airman, USN, son of Mrs. Mildred A. Beran of 664 Morrill-av, recently reported for duty at the Naval Air Station, Quonset Point, R. I.

WEST, G-C ON TOP

Shaffer, Beets Pace Summer BB Leaders

Grove City and West maintained unspotted W-L marks Saturday as both clubs remained atop their respective Summer League divisions with their third and fourth straight victories.

G-C handled St. Charles, 4-0 and 16-1, as Dave Beets blanked the Cards in the opener on a two-hitter. The 'Hounds, who collected only one hit more, scored all their runs in a big third frame.

Grove City capped a 16-hit attack in the nightcap with a seven-run sixth inning to sweep the doubleheader.

GEORGE SHAFFER and John Goodin provided the Cowboys with tight hurling as West took two from Marysville, 7-4 and 7-0.

Shaffer fashioned a no-hitter in the nightcap (his second of the season) after Goodin had limited the losers to seven first-game bingles. The Broncos backed up Shaffer's effort with a 12-hit attack.

HARTLEY AND SOUTH were forced to be satisfied with even splits in their contests. The Hawks clobbered Brookhaven in their opener, 14-5, but got bounced in the late innings of the nightcap, 8-3.

South's Bill Howard flipped a five-hitter to save the Bulldogs, 3-2, after Grandview had taken the first game, 5-1.

Ready battled Arlington down to the wire before dropping a pair, 5-2 and 5-4. In other games, Watterson downed Johnstown twice, 7-0 and 11-1.

SECTION I

	W	L
West	4	0
Watterson	3	1
Arlington	2	2
Marysville	1	3
Ready	1	3
Johnstown	0	4

SECTION II

Grove City	4	0

INTERESTED IN FLORIDA?

If you are, you'll want my report on a great new Florida community where retire-ment has become re-new-ment," says John Cameron Swayze, noted news commentator and reporter.

"I've watched a new Florida Gulf Coast community grow from a few residents to a beautiful "city in the country" where nearly 10,000 people are today enjoying the rich rewards of Re-new-ment Living. It's a fascinating story!"

New officers of the South Methodist WSCS will be in charge of that group's final meeting of the season, Wednesday, June 26, at 7:30 p.m. The officers and committee members installed last Sunday are: Kathryn Stewart, president; Florence Lehner, vice-president; Hattie Tatum, secretary; Ella Tesi, treasurer.

Secretaries of lines of work are Mary Carter, children; Jerry McDaniel, Christian social relations; Mabel England, literature; Beth Shevaller, missionary education; Jane Harris, promotion; Violet Peters, spiritual life; Helen Denney, student; Lucille Castle, supply; Marie Warren, Wesleyan Service Guild; Bessie Penrod, youth; Helen Yockey, local church activity; Laura Houghn, South Side Settlement; Ruth Snyder, Florence Franz and Jane Ward, membership; Alda Carlisile, Sunshine; Hazel Brockerman, Jennie Henson and Violet Peters, publicity.

Camp Fire Girls of the Southeast District will initiate the Day Camp at Camp Moore from Monday, June 24, to Saturday, June 29.

A former Columbusite, Mary Killian, would enjoy hearing from area friends, so we'll include her address — St. Ann's home, Columbia, R.D. 2, Lancaster County, Penn.

The ailing list includes Mrs. Ray L. Kuehner, Arthur Thompson, Elizabeth Honadel, Mrs. Harold Hill, Mrs. Ira Daniels, Ester Pinkermon, Christine Guickel, Mary Ann Hatfield, Marie Steger, Keith Rothe, Jean Spiker, Margie Coffman. Kathleen Taylor, a patient in Grant Hospital, is needing type B-Positive blood. Interested donors may contact the hospital.

The Loyal Men and Women's Class of the Southwood Church of Christ will hold a covered dish supper on Tuesday, June 25, at 6:30 p.m. A business meeting will follow. The Fidelis Class of the church will have a 6 p.m. meeting Saturday, June 22. Hostesses will be Nell Hedenhouser and Margaret Spiker.

The YWCA Summer Tour for Thursday, June 27, will take the sightseers to the Buckeye Boys Ranch at Grove City. A home-cooked dinner at Rush and Opal's Party House will follow the tour. The $4.75 bus and dinner reservation must be paid by Friday, June 21. Complete information may be had by calling CA. 4-9121.

St. Francis School of Nursing, Circle 12, will meet at 8 tonight, at 1330 Gates - st, home of Mrs. Leo Dietlin.

The St. Paul's Luther League will hold an outing Sunday, June 23, at the Hocking Hills. The group will utilize the church school bus to make the trip. New officers for the coming season are Fred Weichers, president; Terry Emrich, vice-president; Diana Rausch, secretary, and Richard Reiner, treasurer.

Though most vacation days are carefree and unplanned, we imagine these youngsters have one day that's action-packed this week. That's what birthdays are for, you know: Marty Martin, Mathew Muetzel, Sharon Wilkinson, Susan Newlon, Beverly Roberts, Steven Bologh, William Morton, Billie Stutler, Ralph Conkel, Thomas Wells, David Crawford, David Ruddock, Diane Ellis, Abbigail Gillenwater, Andres Thomnson, Jamey Lenigar, Karl E. Groezinger, Vicki Lynn Thompson, Devonna Obert and Allen Bowers.

The Mission Circle of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will meet for a 6 p.m. potluck supper Tuesday, June 25, at the church.

The Washington Avenue EUB Church, losers in a contest, to the South High EUB, will be hosts at a picnic Saturday, June 22, at Southview Park at 4 p.m.

Saturday, June 22, will be an anniversary date in future years for three young couples, who have chosen that date for their marriages: Catherine Igel, 1719 E. Sycamore-st, will repeat her vows in Holy Rosary Church with A1/c Gerald Kehoe of Darby, Pa. Miss Igel is employed by the Ohio Bell Telephone Company. Kehoe is serving with the U.S. Air Force at Lockbourne Air Force Base.

An open church wedding at Livingston Methodist Church has been planned by Ruth Ann Carpenter, 2558 Nona-rd, and William Hamler, 391 E. Whittier-st, for their exchange of vows. Miss Carpenter is a South High graduate, while Hamler is a student at Columbus Business University.

Of interest to South High Classmates is the impending marriage of Betty Sue Edwards, 130 Obetz-rd, and Wilbur E. Stevenson, 1824 Penfield-rd, to be held in the Broad Street Christian Church. Miss Edwards attended college in Japan, while Stevenson attended Ohio State University.

More Flags On The Way; Place Your Order Today

For the second time since this newspaper offered a 50-star flag kit at a special, reduced rate, by public demand has extended the plan.

In time for the Fourth of July, a new shipment of beautiful 50-star flags will be on hand still at the same, low-price — for our readers.

Hundreds of these flags have already been ordered and delivered. The new supply means it's not too late to get your order in to your favorite Hartley Newspaper.

You receive not only the flag but also a six-foot wooden pole, top decoration halyard, window socket, book of flag etiquette and a one-year subscription to a Hartley Newspaper. The flag kit alone is valued at $5.98 and the usual price of the subscription is $3.

During this offer you receive both, not for the regular cost of $8.98, but for only $5, a savings of nearly $4.

Elsewhere in this paper you will find an advertisement telling you all about this special offer. Fill out the enclosed coupon and send it with your check or money order to Hartley Newspapers, 2465 W. Broad-st, rightaway. Your flag will be delivered immediately.

Be sure that "Old Glory" is flying in front of your house on the "Fourth." Order your flag today.

Army Pfc. Robert C. Sherwood, son of Mrs. Geraldine W. Sherwood, 4250 Colby-av, graduated from the 8th Infantry Division's Non-Commissioned Officer (NCO) Academy in Germany late in May.

The 21-year-old soldier, an electronics technician in the 529th Ordnance Company in Germany, entered the Army in August, 1961. He completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., and was last stationed at Camp Kilmer, N. J., and arrived overseas in October, 1962.

Sherwood is a graduate of South High School and attended Ohio State University. He was employed by the Wendt Briston Drugs before entering the Army.

South Side Gets Two 'No Parking' Areas, Stop Signs

The city Traffic Commission last week granted three requests on the South Side, creating two "no parking" zones and erecting stop signs on Oakwood-av at Jenkins-av.

Steven Haben, 1654 Oakwood-av, told the commission in a letter that the intersection subject to heavy traffic and an investigation showed that the traffic count, at peak hours, was 493 cars.

No parking will be established on S. High-st, from Barthman-av south to the first alley (286 feet), in front of Don's Drive-In Restaurant.

It was noted that two accidents have occured in the vicinity so far this year and that there is no parking on the east side of S. High-st in the same area.

The second no parkng restruction was established on Bruck-st, south of Hosack-st, to allow room for trucks to enter the Franklin Glue Co., 119 W. Chestnut-st, and a machine shop on the west side of Bruck.

The request was made by the glue company.

Be Prepared For Summer — Air Condition!

Suburban Heating Co. Has Enjoyed Very Rapid Growth

The rapid growth of Suburban Heating Co in the heating and air conditioning business in this area attests to the fact the firm has offered services that have been enjoyed by those they served.

Located at 1919 S. Sixth-st, Suburban Heating is distributor of American Furnace Co. products, which include heating and air conditioning equipment.

This manufacturing company has been in business since 1909 and is recognized as one of the most reliable of its kind in the country.

Suburban Heating is proud to be able to offer such outstanding lines as these and has recently expanded its facilities to more than 6,000 square feet, including a new warehouse, sheet and metal fabricating shop, offices and showroom.

Gene Severt, president of Suburban, states that air conditioning has been a very important part of their business success and at present the firm is enjoying a very fine growth.

The firm specializes in a complete air conditioning and heating package which is designed by factory trained personnel to meet the needs of the individual customer.

Any home can have air conditioning, he states, and they will welcome inquiries.

American Furnace units are adaptable to all types of fuel such as gas, oil, electric and manufactured gas.

Suburban Heating Co. also operates a complete plumbing service, specializing in remodeling and repairing for residential and light commercial.

The firm's trucks are radio-equipped and are on call 24 hours a day, anywhere in the Columbus and Franklin County area.

An invitation is extended by Severt to the public to visit their showrooms or call anytime relative to your heating and air conditioning needs.

Unique Gravity Cooling System Will Be Installed In New Tremont Medical Center

An airvec gravity air conditioning unit, combined with an Edwards Hydronic heating system, will be installed in the new Tremont Medical Building, according to S. Robert Davis, president and builder of the unit. The new center is under construction now at 3363 Tremont-rd, Upper Arlington, and will be completed ready for occupancy within the next four to five months, said Davis.

Airvec, developed and manufactured by Edwards Engineering Corp., offers many features and advantages for low cost air conditioning installations, according to T. J. Hughes, sales manager of Ohio Furnace Company. Airvec is a compact noiseless gravity cooling system that does not require an indoor fan and is distributed exclusively in this area by Ohio Furnace Co. The water chiller unit itself is completely packaged, which simplifies installation by the heating contractor.

The initial cost of an Airvec System is comparable to other central air conditioning systems. The operating cost is low, and maintenance is minimum because there are no fan bearings, no fan belts, no cooling towers, no air filters. The elimination of air filters alone, of course, can represent a sizeable savings to a commercial building owner.

Ohio Furnace Co. has been serving heating and cooling dealers since 1945, when it was located on N. Fourth-st. The company moved to 1003 Kinnear-rd in April, 1957, where 33,000 square feet of space carries a $250,000 inventory of heating and air conditioning equipment, accessories and supplies. They also have a modern service department which is available only to dealers. The wholesaler distributes over an area of 45 counties in Ohio, and has a warehouse and offices in Dayton.

In addition to Airvec, Ohio Furnace also distributes Westinghouse and International cooling units from two tons through 200 tons, for residential, commercial and industrial installations. L. G. Hickok, president, and D. H. Kinnan, vice-president, have 32 years of experience in the heating and air conditioning industry.

Experience And Facilities Provide Munkel Customers With Low-Cost Interior Comfort

With 50 years of service to the residents of Central Ohio, Munkel Heating and Cooling, Inc., 595 N. Fourth-st, at Goodale, has developed a background of experience to complete any type of heating and cooling job, whether it be residential, commercial or otherwise.

Munkel also stresses the fact that indoor comfort is only as good as the installation. They point out that customer satisfaction, economy of operation and low maintenance costs are closely related to the installation and application of the heating and/or cooling unit.

Munkel installations need not be expensive. Volume operation, modern equipment, experienced mechanics and supervisors combine to contribute to the fact that Munkel offers the finest quality at competitive prices and correct installation techniques provide the purchaser with low operating and maintenance costs. A Munkel installation is designed and installed to keep these costs down.

Experts have pointed out that comfort, in summer or winter, depends directly on the proper distribution of air through each outlet in the system. The installation of a proper system by Munkel allows the units to "breathe" easily, allowing the furnace and air conditioner to operate more efficiently. A properly installed system can operate slowly, quietly and with a minimum of electric power because high air pressure is not neccesary.

This, coupled with the custom design made to order for each job, combine to provide Munkel's customers with the finest heating and air conditioning systems available and at a reasonable cost, before, during and after installation.

The public is invited to visit the Munkel show rooms and metal-working department. An experienced interior comfort expert will gladly discuss any heating or air conditioning problems and make recommendations at no obligation.

FISHING TIP

How deep to fish? Skip the in-between water, advise fishing experts. If surface or shallow running lures don't pay off, shift to completely opposite equipment and techniques. Go to the bottom, and don't be satisfied until you can feel your lure or bait bounding along.

Humidity Level Drops By Using An Air Conditioner

To use a room air conditioner, you don't need to know how it works. But you should know what it does.

When the conditioner is turned on, a fan or blower system draws in the warm, moist room air. The air goes through a filter which removes dust, lint, and other contaminants. It next passes over cold surfaces which cool and dry it; then it is returned to the room.

A thermostat maintains the inside temperature at the desired level. And grilles — or air directors — on the front panel direct the flow of conditioned air so that it will circulate most efficiently without causing drafts. A room air conditioner is not merely a "cooler." Depending upon its capacity, it literally wrings out of the air from 1½ to more than 9 pints of water per hour. As a combination cooler and dehumidifier, it balances the elements of cool and dry air.

High humidity makes you extremely uncomfortable. You'd be especially aware of its effect on a hot day after a sudden rainfall. Even though the rain might have pulled the temperature down 15 or 20 degrees, the relative humidity would be high and you'd still feel hot and "clammy." This is because moisture-saturated air slows down the body's own evaporative-cooling action.

The Weather Bureau expresses the "outdoor" summer weather comfort factor as the Temperature-Humidity Index — or THI. Discomfort Index, the original term for it, is more descriptive because that's exactly what it is — a high THI means a high level of discomfort. Air conditioning, by controlling both temperature and humidity, establishes a relatively low "indoor" THI.

DON'T TRUST WORN TIRES

Driving on hot streets and highways during the warm summer months is especially hard on tires. Before planning any type of summer trip be sure to check the treads on your auto tires and replace them if you find excessive wear.

SPARE YOUR FAMILY

WITH YEAR-ROUND AIR CONDITIONING

by STEWART-WARNER

Lets your whole house breathe again!

A NEW WAY OF LIFE
Year-round air conditioning can bring you and your family an exciting new way of life. Comfort is the big thing of course. All areas of the home become livable and lovable. But, there are many other advantages.

NO HUMIDITY PROBLEMS
You'll never have irritated noses, throats and dry skin from thirsty indoor air. Winter drying of furniture and other household accessories will be drastically reduced. Damage from mildew and condensation in summer will be eliminated.

BETTER HEALTH
Cleaned, conditioned air not only reduces allergy and respiratory problems, but the whole family is healthier when they are not under the constant strain of discomfort. They eat better, too. The nurse's cap gets less wear.

MORE ENJOYABLE HOMEMAKING
There's no tired, dragged-out feeling from extreme heat, cold or stuffy kitchens. You'll live in a clean, vibrant atmosphere. And your family enjoy more what you do for them.

EASIER LIVING
If homes had respiratory ailments, as people do, it would be easier to diagnose cleaning and moisture problems that originate from poor heating and air conditioning.

CLIMATE CONTROL AT YOUR FINGERTIPS

At the flick of a finger or the turn of a dial, you can have just the climate you want.

And automatic controls perform other important tasks for you. They watch pressures and temperatures to make sure your system operates safely and efficiently and gives the results you want.

And here's a tip! The best way to insure maximum comfort, safety and economy from your system is to have a reputable name on all your controls as well as on your thermostat.

A LOOK AT THE RECORDS

Hot Weather Holds No Terror For Those Who Are Prepared

By RON BAELOW

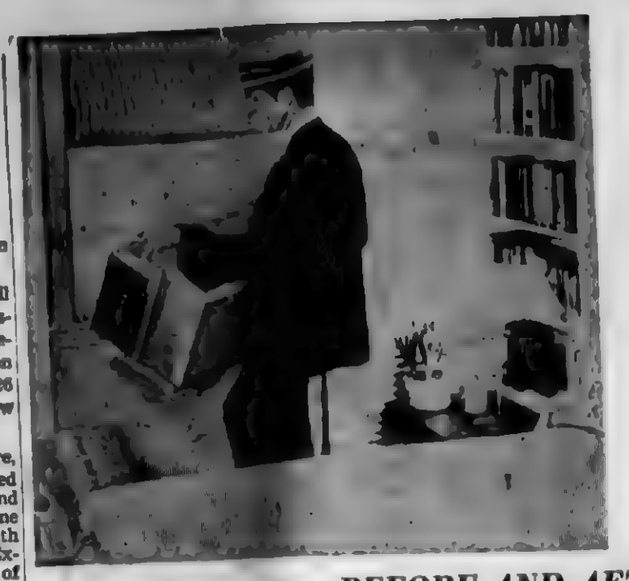
I don't know what kind of signs the old-timers look for when they say a cold winter is always followed by a hot summer, but I do know there have been a couple of days this month that might lead me to believe their theory.

Even though weatherman Joe Kremis won't make any long-term predictions, he did admit he had spent May 10 in his backyard garden. After about an hour in the blazing sun he decided to give it up in favor of a shade tree and some cool refreshment. Joe is the assistant chief meteorologist at the Port Columbus Weather Bureau and is a dandy man to know if you're planning a weekend out of doors.

And when it comes to the weather that has gone by Kremis is the man to talk to. He not only has a good memory but is armed with a multitude of record books which he gladly digs out and explains on a minute's notice.

The books reveal that this year we went through the coldest January since 1940, the coldest February since 1934, and the fourth wettest March on record. On the other hand we had the dryest May in 24 years and the temperature hit record lows on the first, second and 23rd.

On the books April's overall picture looked normal. A closer inspection, however, reveals a high of 82 degrees on the second, a low of only 26 degrees on the 10th and snow flurries on the 30th.



As everyone is well aware, the month of June arrived with mild temperatures and then presented us with some real scorchers on the ninth and 10th of the month. Extremes went from a high of 95 degrees on the 10th to a record low of 45 degrees on the 12th.

It all adds up to a pretty weird year so far, weatherwise, and the experts are still scratching their heads about what is to come.

The long-range forecast from the weather bureau sees above normal temperatures for the remainder of this month and the possibility of a hot summer to follow.

Weatherman Kremis, who is usually on the front lines when it comes to being blamed for strange happenings outside on weekends, say one of the bright spots in his life has been the fact that so far nobody has complained about the hot weather. He figures we went through such a cold winter that everyone is happy to get a chance to perspire a little for a change.

However, if the old-timers' theory holds water, he may be in for a lot of grief this summer if the early days of June are a sample of what's in store for Central Ohio. As for me, I've stocked up the refrigerator with popsicles and made a down payment on an air conditioner. As the old-timers say, "Better be safe than sorry," and I'm with the old-timers.

BEFORE AND AFTER AIR CONDITIONING

YOU ARRIVE HOME at 5 p.m. it's a hot and muggy evening. Under your arm you are carrying a new light-weight, do-it-yourself air conditioner just purchased for less than $150 and brought home in the car. You install it on the window sill, plug it into the wall socket and it begins to do its stuff. By 8:45 p.m. the air in your bedroom is cool, de-humidified and filtered. The third picture (not shown because it was too dark) was taken at 9 p.m. You have turned off the lights and are comfortably sleeping.

Enjoy Your Trip – Plan Ahead

Over 50 million Americans will take to the highways this summer on motor trips to the national parks, over the mountains, and to the shores and lakes to enjoy for the first time the pleasures of far off places.

Most of them will pack hundreds of miles and thousands of thrills into two short weeks. Some will return home relaxed, refreshed, and with renewed vigor. Others will experience an opposite effect. They will be tired, worn out, and in need of rest from their vacations.

Plan first for safety, of course. Your car should be mechanically sound before you start. Drive cautiously! You'll be reminded of this many times over by the widely publicized warnings of our traffic and safety councils.

But beyond these basic essentials are two other important ingredients for a successful vacation—rest and relaxation. Don't plan your motor trip on a schedule that requires days of grueling driving in order to meet reservations made in advance. Keep your plans flexible for easy-going days. Take occasional sidetrips or make unplanned stopovers.

Children Appreciate The Comfort Of Air Conditioning

Everybody loves a baby and every baby loves air conditioning. It's a proven fact that a comfortable baby is a happier, healthier baby.

Many families like the convenience and comfort individual units provide by supplying cooled filtered and dehumidified air where and when it's needed most. At the same time, zone control helps keep operating costs low.

For example, at bed time, room air conditioners can be turned on to help provide maximum sleeping comfort at an early hour for baby, and later when the parents retire. These rooms will be comfortably cool and refreshingly free of high humidity that often makes sleeping difficult.

Since windows are kept closed in an air-conditioned room, disturbing outdoor noises are blocked out. Baby falls asleep more quickly, and sleeps more restfully.

While the family sleeps, room air conditioners in other parts of the house can be turned to a lower setting or shut off completely.

Room air conditioners in living or family rooms can be regulated to provide cool comfort during summer parties. When guests are present, quality air conditioners can be adjusted to take care of the higher load, while cooling at normal levels is maintained by units in other rooms.

Where high humidity is a particular problem, such as basement recreation rooms, a room air conditioner is especially appreciated for its ability to remove moisture from the air.

Air Conditioning Research Provides Indoor Comfort

Is summer air conditioning ready for the home owner? Or is it still in the experimental stage — something to wait for until man reaches the Moon?

It's ready now, according to Arthur D. Bogen, president of Bogen Heating and Air Conditioning, 334 E. Livingston-av. Prices are within the reach of multitudes if not the masses, and your home can now be kept at the same comfort level during all four seasons.

Research in home air conditioning, for summer and winter, has been a continuous project of the National Warm Air Heating and Air Conditioning Association since 1932.

For more than 30 years the national association's staff men have probed the mysteries of heating and cooling in a specially designed test residence on the campus at the University of Illinois.

In this structure, known as Research Residence No. 1, many pioneering steps were taken to make home air conditioning practical and economical for the average home.

Cooling, humidity control and proper air circulation were given more intensified study in a smaller one-story post-war home, Research Residence No. 2, starting in 1952.

Cost of air conditioning operation varies with the usage of different families, but it seldom costs more to cool and condition air on a hot day than it does to keep the same home warm and properly humidified with winter air conditioning on a comparably cold day.

For instance, many people who are comfortable in their homes when it's 72 degrees indoors and zero outdoors also are comfortable when it is 82 indoors and 92 outdoors.

Humidity, Bogen said, has a lot to do with it, and increasing or decreasing indoor humidity to the comfort zone is a real part of today's air conditioning.

YEARNING FOR PEACE AND QUIET?

Southern Ohio Vacation Farms Come Up With New Wrinkle

By JANE ROBINSON

Does a week "down on the farm" appeal to you?

Nothing fancy, understand. Just a lot of fresh air, home-cooking, fishing and hunting, and peaceful nights slept to the tune of bullfrogs.

How often have you heard that you need a second vacation to rest up from the first?

Well, down in Pike county the Vacation Hills and Valleys Association has come up with a vacation idea that should do more to soothe a family of fettered nerves than a bucket of tranquilizers.

Farmers in the Southern Ohio county are opening up their homes and land to those who want to "get away from it all."

Accommodations vary from family to family, but those of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Picklesimer, owners of Green Top Farm at Beaver, give a pretty good idea of what it's all about.

They offer either a four-room cottage or a modern trailer as well as grounds for tents and camping trailers. When the dinner bell rings, you can traipse to the "big house" for country - style meals, or ignore it and use your own cooking facilities.

If you are athletic you can hike the hills. For the slightly less energetic, you can take to horseback, and for the persons who prefer to ride, there are Model A Tours in summertime, and horse - drawn sleigh expeditions in winter.

The farm ponds are well stocked, and the hunting is good.

Conventional recreation equipment such as basketball, volleyball and horseshoe courts, picnic tables and outdoor cooking facilities are at hand.

If you want to try out for the old thrill of a hayride, all you do is ask, and the "wishing well" with the old oaken bucket is always waiting.

At Miss Dixie Brunner's Pine Hill Farm at Stockdale, boats are available and being far from busy highways is ideal for children and pets to roam at large. You can rent a trailer, bring your own camping equipment, or she will furnish tent, Coleman burner, cots and air mattresses, gas lantern, tables and chairs.

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. McGuire, Rt. 1, Waverly, will even share their big vegetable garden with you, and let you pick, strawberries and apples in season. Mrs. McGuire loves children and will teach sewing and craft work.

The Black Angus farm of Hobart and Hazel McAllister at Rarden gives the freedom of the farm to guests, with one restriction, no one can harm the old bullfrogs which provide the bass melody for the summer evenings.

On the banks of Sunfish Creek, the Vacationland of Mr. and Mrs. Verlin K. Smith of Elm Grove offers superlative fishing with 12 and 15 pound muskies commonplace. For the Nimrod, raccoons, rabbits, squirrels, grouses, ducks and frogs abound.

John and Peggy Boggs of Waverly claim there are no whistles, no trains, no traffic and no neighbors at "Our Little House in the Woods." With cascading streams, natural springs, wild berries, cliffs and small animal dens, it is the epitome of rural quiet and solitude.

For those who are too inured to the ways of the urban world to take such rustic peace in too large a dose, only a few miles away are villages and public lakes, golf courses, drive-in movies, shopping centers and antique shops.

Though rates vary, no drastic strain is put on the usual family budget by one of these rural retreats, and you can go for a day, a weekend or the summer as inclination strikes.

If hustle, bustle and crowds are too much with you, why not give this new vacation idea a spin?

You can get any information you need by writing or calling the Association of the Pike County Agricultural Extension Service in the Federal Building at Waverly.

Good Reading Found In New Map-Guide

Best seller writers had better take note: New maps being issued are making for better reading than books.

A new map-guide published for the Northern Great Lakes Area is up to the minute in its ninth annual edition.

This free publication covering Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Ontario is far more than a map. But of prime interest to the motorist is that it is an excellent and practical highway map.

Produced by Rand McNally, it shows over 2000 changes in highways since last year. All the completed freeways and interstate highways are indicated as well as those still under construction.

The map is free and may be obtained by writing S. W. Lincoln, Secretary, Norgiac, Room 1420, 14 E. Jackson-bl, Chicago 4, Dept. L.

If planning to visit Wisconsin, there's "Wisconsin Welcomes You" brochure that is the best seen to date for information on that state. It's available free at the Wisconsin Vacation Center in Chicago at 205 N. Michigan-av.

If the cold north holds more interest, you might check out the new folder on Alaska, complete with a schedule of sailings on the new Alaska ferry from May through September, which is available free from the Alaska Travel Division, P.O. Box 2391, Juneau, Alaska.

Further information on "Let's Go," the entertaining and informative student guide to Europe, may be obtained from Harvard Student Agencies, Inc., 4 Holyoke-st, Cambridge 38, Mass. The price is $1.25 postpaid.

DOUBLE TAKE—You won't even have to stray off the main arteries this summer to get the impression that the guys are catching up with the gals in the shorts department. Even on the wide expanses of Broad-st, the young ladies are doing a "double take" when the male of the species strolls by in short pants.

Gals Losing Ground In Bare-Knee Race

Don't look now, but the season for hairy legs and bulging calf muscles is with us once again.

Wait a minute, bud. Back up a minute. Did you say hairy legs?

THAT, WE DID—and we are speaking of the male variety. The days of guffaws and whistles when Junior passed by with bare knees have now taken their places in the modern attic with the dusty hulo-hoops and Davy Crockett chappeaus.

Lazarus men's sportswear buyer Bill Hefner helped document a feeling that we've had that sales of men's knee-pants are nearing a "catching up" point in relation to the purchases of the gentler sex.

Despite the cool weather, sales have been high this spring, and Hefner looks for the biggest year ever in men's shorts sales.

ALTHOUGH IT'S doubtful if men will ever surpass the ladies in this department, the barrier has been soundly broken. Minorities have a strange way of becoming majorities, especially in the realm of style.

Preparation Is The Key To A Successful Picnic

Family outings can be more fun for everyone if you develop a sort of "picnic knack" by using some of these short-cuts.

Always take a jar of sudsy water along. It comes in mighty handy for everything from sponging off sticky fingers and dropped silverware to cleaning up spills in the car.

Table coverings can be as simple as a length of paper towels unrolled along each side of the picnic table or as festive as red bandana kerchiefs used individually as place mats and napkins. Four kerchiefs put together with flat-felled seams fit a card table perfectly. If you use a paper tablecloth, take along some paper tape to fasten down the corners instead of counting on pickle jars to fight the breeze. Terry cloth finger-tip towels make elegant napkins that don't need ironing.

If you don't have an efficient thermos for that iced tea, make it up as ice cubes and pack them in glass jars wrapped with newspapers. They should melt to chilled drinking temperature by the time you reach your destination.

Glass jars are great for toting vegetable sticks in water, too. Much nicer than the dried-out variety wrapped in waxed paper. A plastic bag full of washed tossed salad makings will keep fresh. Add tomatoes, seasonings, and dressing when you are ready to eat.

If there are children in your group, take along enough extra paper plates for them to sail through the air flying - saucer - style while they wait for lunch to be ready. Some mothers keep the aluminum divided trays from TV dinners for picnic use. Dessert for the young ones can be a small sandwich bag of surprises for each one, such as an apple, marshmallows, a cooky or two, and bubble gum.

The empty sacks are invaluable for collecting pretty leaves, acorns, and rocks they will want to take home as souvenirs, too. Always pack at least two large paper bags . . . one for garbage to be thrown away and the other for the dirty dishes you'll take home with you.

If your family's taste runs to soft drinks, try the canned variety with straws, instead of packing cups. An extra bottle opener kept in the glove compartment is a good idea for forgetful picnic packers.

Take along your old coffee-pot if you plan to cook out on your picnic. It's just right for warming baby's bottle, dousing the charcoal to make sure the fire's out, and, of course, for brewing that welcome cup of coffee at the end of the meal.

Wanted: Business Men Who'll Give Youth A Chance

A plea has been issued to large and small businesses in the Columbus area to give a chance to young men and women who are looking for summer and permanent jobs.

With schools out, time is heavy on the hands of hundreds of youngsters between the ages of 14 and 18, as well as some college students. When lack of funds and personnel forced the Sertoma Club, which has spearheaded the effort to place these young people to discontinue their program, the Ohio State Employment Service stepped in.

"It's just too important a project, to the teenager and to the community, to allow it to die on the vine," said Ralph Gabele, area manager, pointing out that employment is an essential blockade against delinquency.

Already more than 2000 young people have registered with the program, bringing with them a wide range of skills.

There are many youngsters who are anxious to mow lawns and baby sit. But these are also the younger boys and girls with few specific skills yet developed.

Many applicants lack only one thing—experience.

One unusual young woman who just graduated from high school, types well, takes shorthand and speaks and writes both German and Russian. Attractive and personable, she has done office work, some bookkeeping and even managed a retail fruit stand during one summer. Not planning to enter college, she certainly has valuable contributions to make to the labor market.

Another boy who will enter Journalism School at Ohio State University this fall has had extensive school newspaper editorial experience, is an outstanding English student and wants work this summer where he can utilize his skills.

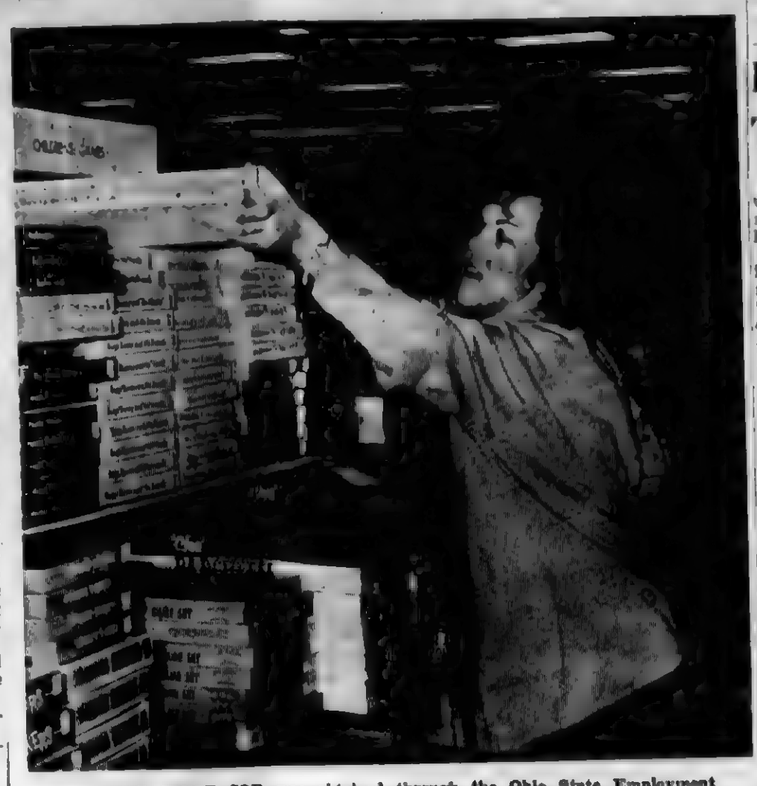
With the exception of downtown jobs, which are filled strictly on qualifications, an attempt is made to place the young teenager in the general area in which he lives, Gabele explained.

Tremendously pleased with the interest shown by these potential employes, Gabele says that now the success of the program rests entirely on the business men.

"If each man would spend only a few minutes considering where he could use just one young person on his staff, we can make this thing go," Joe Stoughton, service publicist, pointed out.

A recent letter to leaders of the city implored them to remember the employer who perhaps gave them their first chance, and in turn to give another "a break."

Stock boys, filing clerks, delivery boys, truck drivers, tvoists, switchboard operators, nurses aides, these are but a few of the jobs the employment service can fill instantly.



The recreational program of Columbus is a good one, but it can't take the place of jobs.

The opportunity to form dependable work habits and the maturity that comes with a sense of accomplishment will not only help mold our future citizens, but start to develop the skills business and industry need in the future.

"If you can help this program with a job, any job, no matter how small," Gabele stressed, "you'll be helping with a vital community effort."

All you need to do is call Youth Employment Service 228-2981.

How about doing it TODAY?

HER FIRST JOB was obtained through the Ohio State Employment Service on a part-time basis at Lazarus West Department Store while she was still a student at West High School. Now a graduate, Elizabeth Lord, 860 Salisbury-rd, is working into a full-time position in the store's toy department.

Pools Recommended For Therapy, Fun, Recreation

A Cleveland real estate man who lost his sight put in a residential swimming pool so he could keep fit and active.

A school for blind children in the same city has a swimming pool. Said a spokesman: "It's one form of vigorous exercise in which unsighted children can participate safely".

A California orthopedic specialist has counted some 125 exercises that can be done in water that can't be done, or are almost impossible, outside water.

Because the body is 22 times lighter in water than outside, he points out these exercises can be done with little physical effort, and that a person can operate in all planes—up and down, back and forth, and sideways.

As a consequence, exercises for heart patients can be started earlier. Such exercise, too, is ideal for patients after most general surgery, he says.

Thus swimming for therapy has taken on new dimensions in recent years.

For many years there have been therapeutic pools for persons handicapped by polio, accidents, arthritis, and various neurological disorders.

Veterans hospitals are using swimming as an aid in convalescence, including paraplegics in the program.

Most families, however, are content to get physical tone, relaxation and weight control from their private pools.

A national YMCA official has been quoted that "Most people would agree that swimming is the best all-around activity in which you can engage. It's good for all ages, both sexes, and has no disadvantages."

To which the N.S.P.I. adds the precaution: "If properly controlled."

Some medics consider infection the principal hazard, with most water pollution coming from the bathers themselves

The N.S.P.I. urges that when a pool is heavily used swimmers are required to shower before entering the water.

No one with a skin disease or other infection should be allowed to use the pool.

Finally, the water should be maintained in a clear, pure state through the proper operation of a recirculating filter, which will screen out all but a small percentage of organisms, and the use of chemicals to kill the rest.

Lex Mayers Lists Reasons For Success In Car Field

In the six short years since the opening of Lex Mayers Chevrolet, 2212 E. Main-st, Lex Mayers, owner and president, has built his dealership into one of the leading Chevrolet agencies in Central Ohio.

To what does Lex attribute this phenomenal success? The answer is based "simply on two things," according to Mayers.

1. Supermarket selling of cars has given the public large inventories of mechanically perfect cars in many models and styles. There's always a large inventory of new cars ready for immediate delivery.

Through this large volume selling power the customer benefits by setting the best possible deal with the security of a dealer big enough to back up his guarantees.

Lex insists that every car buyer be a satisfied customer. A large, modern service department is maintained to give quick, efficient, expert service whenever a car needs it.

2. Early in his career Lex Mayers realized that to have volume sales you must let the public know what you have to offer and create a desire to buy. This is the reason a major portion of his budget each year is allotted to advertising.

Hundreds of potential customers visit the new and used car lots at Lex Mayers' Chevrolet whenever there is a special promotion. They already know there is plenty of free fun and food in store for them, and they get the opportunity to see hundreds of cars, examine them and take advantage of special prices from a dealer who personally stands back of every car sold.

Thousands of people remember Lex's free ox roasts, barbecues and fish fries. Each year he brings TV fans many sporting events movies and other special programs. Lex personally does all his own commercials on these shows. His name is also familiar to radio listeners and newspaper readers through his many advertisements.

Through these many promotional and public interest projects, Lex has become as familiar to people as the mayor or governor. The success of Lex's formula is evident in the daily sales records and the number of customers who continue to return to Lex Mayers' Chevrolet time after time.

FAST SPUDS

Here's a recipe for a fast spud fry. Drain off liquid from a can of small white potatoes, and slice. Melt butter in frying pan, add sliced potatoes and onion salt or onion flakes. Cook over medium flame until browned.

Pools Increase With Autos

Peak years in automobile sales also have been outstanding in swimming pool construction.

And in 1963, both industries are pressing toward records.

The National Swimming Pool Institute credits the boom, which started late last year, to improved general economic conditions and the availability of more discretionary income.

A new construction high, surpassing the 70,000 of 1959 — the second best year to date — would boost the total of permanent pools well over the 500,000 mark.

There were 420,800 pools in the U.S. at the start of the year, nearly 300,000 of them with private homes. The total rose more than 200 per cent in the past five years.

Reasons for Spurt

Why this steadily increasing interest?

The N.S.P.I. suggests a number of reasons, among them:

- Swimming is our most popular activity next to driving and walking, according to the Outdoor Recreation Resources Review.
- Increased water sports activity and new emphasis on physical fitness.
- The National Safety Council's "Everyone Learn to Swim" program.
- The Amateur Athletic Union's age group competitive program.
- Other teaching programs that are bringing more people into swimming.
- Increasing pollution of former swimming waters.
- Improved pools, equipment, and services without any increase in costs.

ANTICIPATE FUTURE

The Columbus Auto Club reminds drivers that at this time of the year slow-moving farm equipment frequently is on the highway. This is one more reason for reducing your driving speed on hills and curves. The safe driver always anticipates what may be up ahead and reduces his speed accordingly.

★ TIPS FOR THE SINGLE GIRL ★

Win A Heart In The Summer

The adage "there's no time like the present" should take on even more meaning for single females — especially at this time of year when the roses are in bloom.

A poll of local young ladies showed that the summer is the best time of all to exercise certain Sadie Hawkins traits and set out to land your beau.

With all of nature working for you, chances are good you can twist him around your finger more thoroughly than the regal Miss who got Sir Walter Raleigh to spread his coat over a mud puddle.

All it takes is a little "moxie."

First of all, the spot check revealed, be sure to keep that smile on your sunburnt face. It'll prove to the man in your life that you're having fun and like to be with him.

This is, of course, a little hard on picnics when the sun makes you squint but keep a stiff upper cheek bone.

Speaking of the sun, our lady experts advise that you don't make too much use of sun-glasses on an outing — unless, of course, it's absolutely necessary. "Most males would rather stare into the baby blues than to see their own face reflected back from a polarized lens," one girl commented.

Secondly, be sure to look the part. In other words, don't wear, say, sneakers if you're going to a yacht club party. And, on the other hand, leave the high heels at home if your heading for a fishing spot.

"Dress is very important at all times," said a comely blond interviewee. "But it's never more essential than it is in the out-of-doors when there'll be other eyes glancing your way."

Since trickery is the sincerest form of victory, use it, say the girls.

Even if you've never seen a golf club before, pretend that you'd like nothing better than to spend a few hours hiking over the fairways — especially with him on hand to give lessons.

Sure, it's more logical for him to take your picture gracing his 120-foot yacht, but think how flattered he'd be if you turned the tables and pulled our your camera to focus on his Barrymore profile.

Providing your film supply holds out, you can probably kill nearly an hour with this activity. On second thought, you might not even need to buy film — just click the shutter while he smiles at you. Girls, anyway, are supposed to be forgetful when the occasion arises.

A few day later (if the male has any self-respect at all) he'll have to at least call you up to see how his portaits turned out. Just turn on the charm with something like, "Oh, what a silly-dilly I was. I forgot the film!"

You'll probably both have a good laugh over that one and it opens the gate for another session.

If you really want to get him hooked, though, leave the fishing poles and golf clubs and everything else at home. Just have Mom pack one of her old-fashioned picnic lunches and invite him. (The girls say this is socially acceptable.)

You can always rely on the fact that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach. And, with Mom's cooking as insurance, you can't miss.

TAKE FIRST AID KIT

No camper should be without a kit for minor emergencies, say the camping experts. Include a short candle, two needles, waxed threat, a small piece of heavy cloth for minor tent repairs, two dozen assorted nails and screws, side-cutting pliers, five feet of copper wire, darning cotton, and waterproof cement.

TAKE FIRE STARTER

Campers should make fire starters before their trip begins. One way to make quick starters is to roll up a newspaper, tie it at intervals, cut it apart between the ties, and dip the sections in melted paraffin. Empty waxed milk cartons are also good.

Considering the way some women drive, we'll agree their place is in the home.

Coate Brothers Enter Dwellings In 'Parade'

Bob Coate, Builders, Inc., made up of the brother team of Bob and Warren Coate, has built hundreds of fine homes throughout greater Columbus in the past eight years. Because of their close attention to every detail in home construction demand for a "Coate built" home has expanded steadily.

Over the past years their craftsmanship in new homes has found Bob and Warren busy in such areas of the city as: Kendale, Ridgewood Estates, Laurel Canyon, Pine Hills, Crestview Heights, Woodward Park, Old Orchard and Forest Park. Throughout any of these communities are found many Coate homes. Bob Coate, Builders, are not project builders, preferring to build to specific needs of clients.

The two Coate entries in "The Parade of Homes" are in the tradition of their other homes. They are moderately priced yet incorporate the finest of materials and design. Each home has all those features most wanted by today's home buyers.

Auto Expert Gives Tips For Saving Cash

Are you afraid of the man who runs the neighborhood gasoline station? — Ashamed to ask him about that funny noise in your automobile engine for fear he'll know how ignorant you are about your car?

Look him right in the eye and ask him anyway — that's the advice of James B. Lightburn, a professional expert on car engines and on service stations who says it's no sin for the layman (or laywoman) to know less about the workings of today's complex and high-powered car engines than Grandpa did about the plumbing in his "Tin Lizzy."

"The pioneer driver was, by necessity, a 'do-it-yourself' mechanic. In his day garages and service stations were few and far between and Detroit recognized the fact by including a kit of tools with every new car," said Lightburn, an executive of a manufacturer of automotive filters.

"Today's car engines are more dependable and expert service is available everywhere —thus the modern driver has less cause to need a craftsman's knowledge of his engine; and, besides, modern living keeps him too busy thinking about other things," the executive said.

But a minimum of knowledge is essential if the motorist wants to keep his operating costs low and his trade-in value high, so Lightburn offers these 10 tips on car care as a "must" for sensible car ownership:

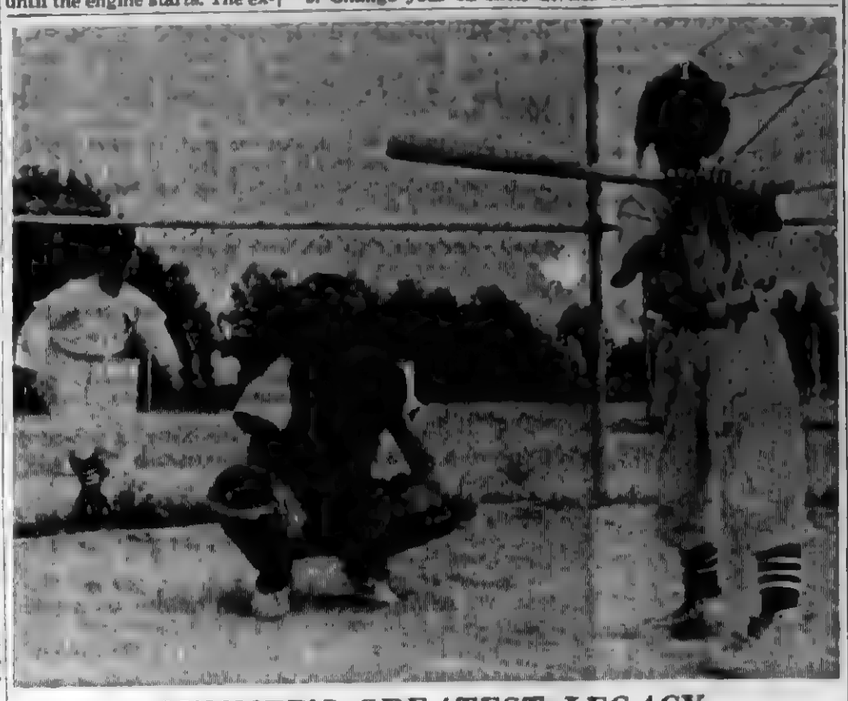
1. Don't "race" a cold engine. It was meant to operate at high temperatures and forcing it to work too hard when it's cold can cause serious damage.

2. Never let the gas tank get "almost empty." Water (condensation) forms in a nearly-empty tank and then mixes with the gasoline.

3. Add a lot of mileage to the life of your car — and put more mileage between the repair bills — by having your service station install a gasoline filter. It will keep impurities out of delicate carburetor mechanisms.

4. While the traffic light is red, give your engine a break by putting the automatic transmission into neutral — this saves strain on the transmission, too.

5. Add up to three more miles per gallon of gasoline by changing the air filter (it's inside that drum-like container atop the engine) every 10,000 miles of normal driving.



6. If your engine vibrates while you're standing still, the carburetor is probably out of whack and you are wasting gas. Ask the service station man to make the necessary adjustment.

7. On a cold night don't turn on your lights and radio until the engine starts. The extra strain can break your battery's back.

8. Change the oil and lubricate your car regularly, as required by your make of car and the way you drive it. Consult the service station man on this one.

9. Change your oil filter at least every 4,000 miles. It collects abrasive grit and the metal particles, carbon, condensation, and acids that are the "by-products" of engine operation. If not changed regularly, they could dump their load of harmful impurities back into the oil stream and make a job for the repairman.

10. If that little noise in the engine is a "ping!" try a tankful of premium gasoline. This should cure it and increase your power, to boot.

SUMMER'S GREATEST LEGACY

MORE THAN anything else, summer has become associated with "play ball" among the younger set who spend their school-free hours out on one of the country's many Little League diamonds. At right, batter Tom Rose, 9, of 4539 St. Ann-in, gets set to take a healthy cut at the pitcher's serving while ten-year-old Kenny Shoaf, 4516 St. Ana-in, performs backstop duties. Both youngsters are members of the Indians, a Minor League entry this summer in the Whitehall Boys Baseball Association.

Competitive Skiing Is Popular Sport

Water skiing, best known as a family recreation some five million Americans look forward to each spring, has another aspect — competitive skiing. This particular activity keeps some 5,000 skiers jumping from May to September.

Competitive skiing is organized by the American Water Ski Association, which sanctions over 100 tournaments during the season. At least two of them, the Masters Tournament, held at Callaway Gardens, Pine Mountain, Ga., in June and the National Championships in August, will be seen on network television this summer.

Skiers compete in men's, women's, senior men's, boys' and girls' divisions. There are three classes of competition: jumping, slalom and tricks, with the winners determined independently. Places in the overall standing are assigned according to each skier's performance in all three events.

In the slalom event, each contestant passes twice, in opposite directions, around eight buoys placed alternately on the right and left hand sides of the slalom course. Those skiers who make the run perfectly go through at increasing speeds, and later with shortened tow rope, until a winner emerges.

Jumpers are judged for distance jumped and for their form in the air and in landing. They are scored for the best of three tries.

In trick competition, the skier must pass twice through the course in a given time, completing as many and as intricate tricks as he can, chosen from an official selection which are graded by points according to difficulty. Highest point total determines the winner.

Simple Rules Can Be Employed In Case Of Accident Involving Autos

Vacation time is near. Soon millions of people will be driving about the country and the exposure to automobile accidents will increase.

Knowing and observing the traffic rules and regulations and driving defensively will minimize possibilities of being involved in an accident. However, what should a person do if, despite all precautions, he is involved in an accident?

At such times it is hard to keep your wits about you and know just what to do. Here are a few simple rules that every driver should commit to memory:

1. Stop! Failure to stop can result in serious criminal consequences.

2. Render Aid. If anyone is injured: (a) Render first aid and stop the bleeding if you are knowledgeable in this area, and are sure you can help the injured person — not cause further physical damage; (b) Call a doctor or an ambulance or both, and (c) Do not remove an injured person in any way that could possibly add to his injury.

3. Protect The Scene From Further Damage. You may be liable for damages to approaching drivers, unless they are properly warned. If the highway is obstructed at night, have someone turn his headlight beams on the wrecked vehicles.

4. Call an Officer. Policemen, highway patrolmen, sheriffs and their deputies are trained accident investigators whose testimony may be invaluable in establishing your civil claim for damages.

5. Gather Information — Write it down. Don't trust your memory. Don't guess — be specific. Measure skid marks. Step off distances. Be sure to obtain names and addresses of witnesses. Mark down the make, model and license number of all involved vehicle operators. You are required by law to exhibit your driver's license to the person or persons involved in the accident and to any police officer, if you are asked for it, and have it on your person. The other fellow must do the same.

6. Be Careful What You Say. Even if you feel you probably are to blame, it is best to make no admission. You may learn later that the other driver was equally at fault, or more so. Emotional comments can be misconstrued by others, or may be misquoted. Whatever you say, make it factual.

7. See Your Doctor if there is the slightest chance you may be injured. Serious injuries do not always result in immediate pain or bloodshed.

8. Consult Your Lawyer Immediately. The sooner your lawyer is brought into the matter, the better he can advise you and protect your rights. He can obtain statements from the witnesses while their memories are fresh, and do many other things to insure that the true facts are preserved. Get your lawyer's advice before giving any interviews or statements to investigators or adjusters for the other side.

9. Inform Your Insurance Company Properly. Failure to do so may void your policy.

10. Report the Accident to the Department of Highway Safety, 240 Parsons-av, Columbus 5, O. This is required by law if there is any injury, death or damage to the property of any person in excess of $100. This report must be completed even though the accident has been reported to, and investigated by an enforcement agency.

It is recommended that these forms be carried in every auto so, that in case of an accident, they can be filled out at the scene. An official accident report form may be procured from the police, sheriff's department, Highway Patrol or Ohio Department of Highway Safety.

Weekend Drives Offer Variety

A summer drive along the back roads three miles southeast of Newark will reveal the starting point of the old Ohio Canal which connected Lake Erie with the Ohio River. A monument marks the spot along Rt. 79.

There are nearly 1,000 miles of old canals to be seen in Ohio, and several weekend trips can be planned to enjoy the scenery and uncover the history surrounding the old waterways.

For instance, in the area of Newark works of the prehistoric Moundbuilders cover some three or four square miles. These earthworks, including circular patterns and effigy mounds, such as the famed Eagle Mound, are the most extensive and diversified of any of the 10,000 and more Moundbuilders' works in Ohio.

The Ohio State Historical Museum, on the Ohio State University Campus, has a fine collection of Moundbuilder artifacts and relics of this ancient civilization.

Nov. 15, 1899, the first newspaper published at sea was issued to all aboard the USS St. Paul by Guglielmo Marconi and two engineers. It was called "The Trans-Atlantic Times" and news came from the Isle of Wight.

Summer Is Theater Time

Even before summer was official Columbus theatres had launched a new season. Already three musicals and a comedy have found their way to the boards, and audiences anxious for summer entertainment have found their seats.

Whether it be in Nature's own air conditioning — a cool breeze fluttering the tent flaps — or through man's own cooling efforts, anyone can see a different play every other night for the coming two months, in comfort.

Three ambitious groups — Playhouse on the Green, Stadium Theatre, and the Kenley Players—have scheduled a total of 30 attractions. Most of the productions are musicals and comedies, light entertainment for calming taut nerves that the heat of summer brings to people who can't be outside to enjoy it.

For extra variety, there is also a smattering of drama.

And what better time is there than summer to get out to the theater. TV reruns, at best, are a mere sedative. Broadcasters know this is the season people get out and do things.

Below are the schedules. Look them over now and promise yourself you won't let the summer get by without seeing as many as possible.

PLAYHOUSE

June 24-29 — "Come Blow Your Horn," a comedy on the rebellion in the family of an artificial fruit magnate. Written by Neil Simon.

July 8-13 — "Complaisant Lover," a new twist to the eternal triangle in a comedy by Graham Greene.

July 15-20 — "Here Today" and gone tomorrow are the kind of people portrayed in the comedy by George Oppenheimer.

July 22-27 — "Sunday in New York," a comedy in which love and the best man carry the day. Written by Norman Krasna.

July 29-Aug. 3 — "Calculated Risk," a suspense drama by Joseph Hayes, author of "Desperate Hours."

Aug. 5-10 — "A Shot in the Dark," a French comedy about a very pretty girl. Adapted by Harry Kurnitz.

Aug. 12-17 — "Champagne Complex," concerning the effects of champagne on different people, by Leslie Stevens.

Aug. 19-31 — "Shanghai Gesture," in which a Chinese New Year sets the stage for vengeance in the grand manner. By William Colton.

STADIUM

June 18-22: "Harvey," the Pulitzer Prize comedy by Mary Chase about a 6'1½" rabbit and his friend, Elwood.

July 9-13 — "Children of Darkness," a high comedy about Newgate Prison inhabitants in 1725, by Edwin Justus Mayer.

July 16-20 — "The Chalk Garden," a play by Enid Bagnold about a houseful of fantastic people.

July 23-27 — "Inherit the Wind," a play by Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee based on the famous 1925 Scopes "Monkey" trial.

KENLEY

June 25 - July 1 — "Show Boat," starring Howard Keel.

July 2-8 — "Come Blow Your Horn," with Merv Griffin and William Bendix.

July 16-22 — "Song of Norway," starring Patricia Morison.

July 30-Aug. 5 — "Rain," with Edie Adams as Sadie Thompson.

Aug. 6-12 — "West Side Story," with original stars and Bobby Rydell.

Aug. 13-19 — "South Pacific," with Dorothy Collins in Rodgers and Hammerstein's classic romance.

NANCY REARDON will appear in the upcoming Playhouse on the Green production of "Come Blow Your Horn" (June 24-29). POG and Kenley Players both import name stars, while Stadium Theatre recruits its talent right from the Central Ohio area. The general idea, however, seems to be—see the stars under the stars.

4-H Members Have An Opportunity To Practice Horticulture At Home

Since the early 1900's, 4-H boys and girls have watched the miracle of growth and enjoyed the bounty of nature through their garden projects. Hundreds of young horticulturists in town and country are literally knee-deep caring for their gardens, lawns, shrubs and trees.

Tested seeds, proven methods and latest scientific information for growing healthy plants are at the disposal of 4-H Club members enrolled in the garden program, reports the Cooperative Extension Service.

Beginners in the 10-12 year group may start right off by doing simple scientific experiments in seed germination. They also collect and identify weeds and insects.

Soil testing, plant study and experimentation with plant varieties are undertaken by older groups. The senior members, usually ranging in age from 15 to 21, continue with scientific exploration and become skilled at judging and demonstration.

Garden produce contributes one of the basic foods to family meals, while ornamental gardening beautifies the home for the enjoyment of all. Many 4-H'ers report cash profits from the sale of vegetables and flowers at roadside stands and local markets.

By the end of this year it is expected that close to 8,000 boys and girls in all 50 states will earn their first county garden medal. One deserving member will be selected for the state award which is a free trip to the National 4-H Club Congress. Eight national winners will receive $500 college scholarships, an increase of $100 over last year.

Awards are arranged by the National 4-H Service Committee, Chicago, in cooperation with the Extension Service.

FOR GOOD PHOTOS

One accessory ever boater-photographer should own is a lens shade to keep the glare out of the camera eye, thus insuring sharper photographs. For those who like compactness, there are collapsibe lens shades to fit the skipper's pocket.

Enjoy Good Eating This Summer By Charcoal Cooking Your Meats

Remember the old Chinese fable of the man whose house caught fire and burned to the ground? As the story goes he found a pig in the remains and when he felt it, he burned his finger. It followed that the man popped his finger into his mouth to cool it, and found the taste of the cooled pig quite good. Thereafter, the not-too-resourceful man would build a house, place a pig inside, and burn the house down. As soon as the pig was charred the procedure was repeated.

Without placing too much faith in my recollection of the above account, it must be agreed that if a worthy pretext for so dangerous an experiment as setting houses on fire (especially in these days) could be assigned in favor of any culinary object, that pretext and excuse might be found in roast pig.

Rather than burning houses, why not try chips of wood for that wonderful outdoorsy flavor? Hickory, mahogany, oak, hard maple, mesquite and fruit woods such as apple and lemon, add that special something to meals that you can't get from the kitchen range.

To smoke-cook, you can use a charcoal fire in a barbecue with a hood or a lid that closes to make a smoker, a special smoke oven (Chinese type) or a smoke barrel.

Soak hickory chips in water or dampen hickory sawdust. Let charcoal fire burn down to low, even heat and add damp hickory or fruit woods. Place the food on a grill or spit and cover tightly. This is a slow process—you can't speed.

A tasty tip to remember is to brush liquid smoke or sprinkle smoke salt over the meat before cooking, or add it to the barbecue sauce.

The result can be a very tasty meal with all the flavor a well prepared outdoor meal can provide.

If Summertime Is Moving Time Prepare Yourself For The Worst

By FRANK RYAN

While the "good old summertime" is mainly thought of as a time for vacations, picnics and varied outdoor recreation, it is also a popular time of the year for the unpopular experience of moving.

The relocation from one residence to another with a minimum strain on the pocketbook and nervous system is possible if proper attention is paid to the important phase of "advance planning."

A move from one block to the next can cause something close to a nervous breakdown, while a 100-mile move can be accomplished with relative ease. The difference most often rests with whether you have looked over, or overlooked a number of important details.

If, for example, you are renting on a lease basis, you had better read the lease carefully before announcing your departure to the landlord. Most leases are specific regarding notification of intent to move. Unless you have arranged with the landlord for an exception to lease terms, it is advisable to plan your moving schedule consistent with lease terms.

If you are moving "into" a lease-rental agreement, read the terms carefully. You will be expected to live up to them. You can also expect that the landlord will meet his "lease" obligations.

A summertime move is particularly convenient where school children are concerned. It avoids uprooting the child in mid-term, and allows him time to acquaint himself with some of his new-neighborhood classmates. This can facilitate orientation for him in his new school.

But don't forget the little matter of registration, as far in advance as possible, in the new school, and notification of withdrawal from the present school. There is another important "registration" to take care of immediately upon moving — at the Board of Elections. If you are not currently registered, add this item to your list as a major responsibility.

Whether you are moving on a "do-it-yourself" basis, or turning the task over to the professionals, there are "advance planning" elements that can save time and money.

Time your moving so as to provide at least a couple of days overlap when you will have posession of both your present and future residence. This will allow you time to use the family car for moving most of the smaller items. Actual moving day can then be better organized for transport of bulky or heavy furniture and appliances.

Begin at least two weeks before moving date to pack and stack those items least likely to be used before you move. This is also a good time to toss out the mountain of junk you thought you "just might" be able to use some day. The "courageous" approach in this latter detail would be to have Mom clean out the garage, and Dad go through Mom's closet — with a guarantee of no questions asked.

Remember that moving day is an excellent time to have the smallfry visit "grandma." If she's not available, pick on a relative or friend at least a block from the moving scene.

When you have moved the final item into your new residence, stop by at the next door and introduce yourself to your new neighbors. Maybe they will invite you in for that much-needed cup of coffee.

Big Brother's Camp Now Open

Camp Oty'Okwa, a 526-acre camp for boys in the Hocking County State Park area, opened its 30th season of camping to all boys of the community June 14. Three one-week periods and two two-week periods are scheduled through Aug. 2.

This camp owned and operated by the Big Brother Association of Columbus, Inc., is being made available to all boys in the Central Ohio area between the ages of six and 17. Tuition is $26.50 for one week and $50 for two weeks.

This fee includes registration, transportation, camp counselling, food, lodging and insurance. There is no limit on the number of weeks a boy may attend. Boys are housed in groups of eight in Adirondack cabins, with a counselor for each group.

The camp director is assisted by selected college student counselors. Daily programs include swimming and life saving classes, camp crafts, overnight hikes, conservation, nature study and many other activities, including the use of donkeys as pack animals on overnight trips. Physical facilities include a dining hall, medical cabin, recreation building and a large modern swimming pool.

IN THE FINEST TRADITION of the circus, famed Ringling Bros. Barnum and Bailey Clown Lou Jacobs hams it up with showgirl Francesca Bishop. It's all part of another day when summer fun was anticipation of a seat in the Big Top with the stuffy smell of sawdust, the crispness of a barker's rasp and the sounds of a calliope. There may be a revival of interest with the Pollock Bros. Circus booked into Vets Memorial Nov. 27 through Dec. 1.

Summer Circus Fun Dies Here But May Return This Winter

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

To anyone who's ever sat under the big top on a hot Saturday afternoon, the plight of circuses in the Columbus area is as hard to digest as stale popcorn.

Needless to say, the number of circuses in operation today is fast dwindling. The few remaining shows — Pollock Bros., Cole Bros, Clyde Beatty and the granddaddy Ringling Bros., Barnum and Bailey — are seeking greener pastures to pitch their big tents than the Columbus area.

There are a number of reasons for this this, as was pointed out this week by local promoters and booking agents.

First, there's a lack of space suitable for putting on a circus here. Talented promoter Ben Cowall told how he used to book the Ringling Show at the old Red Bird Stadium on Mound-st, and lamented over the lack of interest.

"It just wouldn't work outside." Cowall said. "you'd try to get lost in the circus magic and all of a sudden a glance at the right field fence and the whole image would vanish."

Seemingly the most logical location for a summertime circus would be the Coliseum at the Ohio State Exposition Center. But, according to Bill Onslow in the Exposition office, the Shrine Circus holds a five-year contract on that site, which prohibits any other show from setting up shop there.

And even the Shrine Circus is not really a circus in the fines sense of the word. It doesn't have that certain traveling-road - show quality since it's usually various acts put together here for the benefit of dyed-in-the-sawdust circus lovers.

Cowall, in reminiscing about the old days of pink lemonade, snorting tigers and the curious smell of canvas, told of plans to bring the circus excitement back to the Capital City.

Alas, it won't be during the summer, but Cowall has booked the famed Pollock Bros. show into Veterans' Memorial from Wednesday, Nov. 27, through Sunday, Dec. 1. ("With half-price tickets for all kids," he says.)

Trying to capture circus thrills in the ultra-modern Vets auditorium may be a big task, but Ben thinks he can do it.

He's got a head start since the Pollock outfit is an authentic traveling road show with performers born into the circus world and credentials like these are what add to flavor.

Cowall visions clowns running up and down the aisles and is even bringing back the popcorn and peanut vendors who'll walk the far reaches of the auditorium selling their wares.

The 70x35-foot Vet stage will contain the customary three rings with calliope music piped in. It should be an interesting experiment here—and especially interesting since it'll be staged when snow should be covering the outside ground.

If nothing else, there are those who hope it'll revive a bit of Americana that has been lost too long.

Escape From Vehicle Under Water Possible If People Don't Panic

Lose your head and lose your life.

Every year about 480 persons in the country are drowned when trapped in cars submerged in water. Most of these deaths are unnecessary.

According to the Ohio State Patrol almost 100 percent of uninjured occupants of such vehicles could get out alive if they did not panic.

Extensive research has been made on escape techniques which anyone traveling this summer might well note.

Until recently, according to W. W. Middendorf of the Columbus Red Cross, the subject has been one entirely of conjecture and speculation.

In 1961, in cooperation with a graduate student of Indiana University who elected to write his thesis on this matter, the Michigan Police, the Michigan Health Highway Safety Council, the National Headquarters of the Red Cross and Scuba Divers conducted extensive tests to learn what happens when a car goes into water.

The incomplete study indicates that a pocket of air adequate for breathing will remain in the car long enough for the occupant to plan his escape.

Generally what must be done is to calmly allow the car to fill with water until inside pressure equals outside pressure and the doors may be easily opened.

The Ohio Patrol states that too many people spend their time frantically trying to open the doors ignoring the simple physical law of pressure and drown in the process.

Experiments showed that the weight of the engine will cause the car to descend vertically into the water regardless of its position at entry, and the windshield will be broken by the impact of the water.

As the water rushes in the air will be compressed into the rear of the car but in moments will reposition itself into the roof area of the car.

If the windows of the car are open, sometimes the car will come to rest in a wheels-up position which allows the air bubble to escape through the floor boards, lessening the chance for escape before drowning.

A small person may be able to float through a window before it is possible to open the doors, and the large rear window is made up of tempered glass which will disintegrate if given a sharp blow with a hammer or pointed instrument.

If the window is thus broken, the people in the car should wait until the water has stopped rushing in, as escape through the torrent is extremely difficult, and the air bubble is not affected by it.

Use of a safety belt is highly recommended as it will prevent the occupant from being tossed around during the accident and increases the chances of his remaining conscious.

However, it is suggested that once the car is motionless, that the passengers get into the back part of the car where most of the air will be trapped.

There is no hurry in leaving, as the air pocket will remain even with a wide-open door. Once ready to get out, one should take a deep breath and push for the surface. A conscious person can save an unconscious one by keeping the latter's head in the air pocket and then allowing him to float to the surface.

The State Highway Department notes that a spare tire makes an excellent life saver. Anyone witnessing others on the surface attempting to gain the shore can quickly throw a spare tire to the victims, as tests show that a tire with wheel will easily support four men.

Though Middendorf stressed that the results of the conclusions of the studies made are inconclusive at this time, all participating in the research agree completely that the life-saving secret is "Keep your head in the air pocket until the car is almost filled with water. KEEP YOUR SENSES AND DON'T PANIC."

Make Party Kabobs

Now that barbecue time lures us all outdoors here's a new kind of kabob, the "assemble-your-own" kind, to eat with the fingers. Most of the ingredients come from cans, so this is really a no-work barbecue — yet the combination is hearty and satisfying.

The secret is in the basting sauce, easily made by adding mustard, relish and mayonnaise to the convenient canned tomato sauce that blends them nobly together, without effort on your part. That good red sauce mingles the other flavors into one delectable barbecue medley.

Since the kabobs are planned to exactly fit hot dog rolls (you can measure them out in advance as well as prepare the sauce ahead of time), it's very easy to slip them from skewer to toasted roll. Serve with plenty of paper napkins, potato chips, and for dessert fresh fruit and cheese, thus leaving no clean-up after your feast. Too, this is an easy menu to prepare at the beach or park with a portable grill!

PARTY KABOBS

KABOBS:
- 6 wieners, each cut in thirds
- 1 (8-ounce) can whole onions
- 6 slices thick bacon cut crosswise in thirds
- 1 (8-ounce) can carrots

SAUCE:
- 2 (8-ounce) cans tomato sauce
- ¼ cup mayonnaise
- 2 tablespoons prepared hot mustard
- 2 tablespoons sweet pickle relish

Library Has Many Books On Summer Fun Activities

"Operation outdoor" will begin shortly for many families as they begin summer vacations of camping, outdoor recreation, and sightseeing.

Numerous books that will be of interest to camping and outdoor enthusiasts are available at the Columbus Public Libraries.

One of the most comprehensive new manuals on camping is Leonard Miracle and Maurice Decker's "Complete Book of Camping", which covers every phase of camping from planning the trip and selecting proper equipment to outdoor cooking and living off the land.

Two other excellent recent guides — William Merrill's "All About Camping" and John Ledlie's "Camping Skills for Trail Living" — also offer invaluable advice for both the sportsman and vacationer.

Other available manuals include "The Complete Book of Camping and the Outdoors" by Larry Koller; "Woodsmoke" by Jaeger Ellsworth; "Outdoor Encyclopedia" by Theodore Kesting; 101 Camping-out Ideas and Activities" by Bruno Knobel; "Decentralized Camping: a Handbook" by Lois Goodrich; "On Your Own in the Wilderness" by Townsend Whelen and "Camping Annual" by Sports Afield Camping Annual.

Family camping, which has grown by leaps and bounds, is covered in newly published "Better Homes and Gardens Family Camping," Doris Patterson's "Your Family Goes Camping" and "Sunset Ideas for Family Camping."

Tips on woodsmanship, water travels, and how to survive in the wilderness are given in "Wooderaft" by Bernard Mason and "Cache Lake County" by Rowland John.

Up-to-date information on campgrounds, state and national parks and recreation areas in the U.S. and Canada is given in "The Guide to Campsites" by Camping Family Inc. and "The Handbook of Auto Camping and Motorist's Guide to Public Campsites and Campgrounds" by George Wells.

Material is also plentiful on boats and boating, fishing, hunting, nature study and other related material.

21 Miles Of New Park Hiking Trails

Twenty-one miles of new hiking trails have been opened to parkgoers at five state parks, announces V. W. Flickinger, chief of the Ohio Division of Parks. There are 14 new trails available. "Although the trails are being used at present, several are not yet marked with signs and the three trails at Hueston Woods, Butler and Preble Counties, are in the 'roughed in' state," cautioned Flickinger.

Tallawanda Trail — Two miles; starts near the cabin area, contains some scenic lookouts over Lake Action, goes through forest and open fields.

Gallion Run Trail — Two and one-half miles; starts at the camping area and is circular in design; goes through a remote and little-seen section of the park.

Hueston Trail—Two miles; goes from the camping area to the noted Hueston Woods, a virgin stand of beech and maple trees; trail also traverses a pine planting.

Lake Hope State Park, Vinton County, is offering four in addition to the existing ones:

Old Hollow Trail — One and one-tenth miles; starts south of the bridge at the upper end of Lake Hope and lies east of SR 278; passes the historic Hope Furnace graveyard that was started in 1853; offers excellent scenery, goes through a rock shelter.

Rocky Bluff Trail — Two miles; starts at King Road just off of SR 278; is circular in design, features beautiful scenery, cliffs and rock shelters.

Habron Hollow Trail — Eight-tenths of a mile; goes through an interesting hardwood forest, is the finishing link from the camping area to Lake Hope.

Four new hiking ones have also been opened at Kiser State Park, Champaign County:

Lake View Trail — Five-tenths of a mile; begins back of the camping area and forms a loop, goes through a field of hawthorn trees; offers overlook of Kiser Lake.

Possum Hollow Trail—One and one-tenth miles; begins on the southeast side of the lake near a picnic area, goes up a hollow and returns on a ridge; many wild flowers are seen here at certain seasons.

At Tar Hollow State Park, Ross and Hocking Counties, one has been opened and another is under development. The new one is called Ross Hollow Trail. It is three and five-tenths miles and begins at a parking lot near the Class C camping area and ends on the other side of the campground. It is not steep because it generally follows the contour around hills, goes through hardwood forest and some pines.

Opened late last fall were two at Findley State Park, Lorain County, that circle Findley Lake. Named the Pine Tree Trail and Hickory Grove Trail, they total three miles.

[illegible] Killers Get The Paddle

Last week our editorial by Jenkin Lloyd Jones drew much comment.

Down at Cincinnati this past weekend I was reminded of the article when I read a story in the Enquirer about the three boys who killed a swan.

Their punishment? The judge instructed the parents to use two wooden paddles in the right places, fined the boys $25 and ordered them to work until they were able to pay for the swan. After the paddlings the boys shook hands with their dads and apologized.

Trio Files For School Board Slots

Three Columbus men got the jump on the Board of Education race this week by filing their petitions as candidates at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday (today).

The men are: John E. Nippert, industrialist, 1615 Berkeley-rd; Donald E. Calhoun, Jr., attorney, 216 W. Beechwold-blvd, and Paul R. Langdon, 75 Powhatan-av, eight year veteran of school board service and incumbent board president.

Together with a fourth man, Dr. William Logan, 431 Blenheim-pl, the group has taken similar stands on board policies and duties.

Two years ago he was named chairman of the local Statehouse Conference on Education. He has served on various committees for the Columbus Public School System, and has been active in PTA work at Marion-Franklin High School and was one of the founders of the Smith Road PTA.

Calhoun, a former South Sider and graduate of South High, maintains law offices on the North Side and was appointed last Jan. 2 to complete the term of Mrs. Ralph Davidson who resigned in December.

He is chairman of the citizens committee which last spring organized and held 138 local seminars throughout the city to air parent-school relationship views and discuss educational values.

The attorney said he was impressed by the present school administration which had "built another school system in 10 years," since enrollment has increased from 46,000 to 93,000 students in that time.

"I should like to be part of the continuing effort for quality development of the techniques and devices in the years just ahead for Columbus school programs," he stated.

Hilltopper Langdon has served on the board for nearly eight years and is in his second term as president of that body.

He has also been chairman of the finance committee, has been active in representing the local board and the Ohio School Boards' Association, to which he has been a delegate with education committees of the Ohio Legislature.

Langdon emphasized that "good business practices" must be applied when a school board spends millions of dollars each year.

In other activities, Langdon is currently president of the Columbus chapter, Ohio Society of Certified Public Accountants and has served in several positions with the Financial Executives Institute.

He has also served as vice-president of the Columbus chapter, National Office Management Association, division-

IS MISS SOUTH SIDE HERE?

CSSO To Meet With Scrap Men

There's a lot of junk on the agenda of the meeting scheduled at the South Side YMCA tonight at 7:30 p.m.

Mike Mileusnich, as president of the Council of South Side Organizations, has invited representatives of the 41 junk yards located in this part of Columbus to discuss the improvement and beautification of the South Side.

The area residents and the scrap metal dealers are getting together with an attitude of cooperation, according to Mileusnich. The South Siders accept the fact that the yards are legitimate firms, generally operating in conformation wih the law, while dealers admit the very nature of their businesses creates an eyesore.

The question is how to eliminate the eyesore without creating a hardship for the dealers.

Tony Lorraine, city inspector, pointed out one fact that the general public does not realize. A governing body cannot legislate against a business on aesthetic grounds.

Recent decisions in the Supreme Courts of several states have established this premise.

The ordinance of the City of Columbus regulating junk yards can only be effective to the extent of preventing hazards to public safety and health and the creation of danger of fire.

The law reads that unless a natural barrier such as a railroad track or stream of water forms a boundary for a junk yard, a seven-foot fence of uniform height which is "sound against a moving load" must separate the yard from property that is not zoned as heavy manufacturing.

George Hoermele, South Side councilman who wrote the original ordinance, though it was altered before passed by council, stated that "sound" is open to interpretation.

Currently in existence are fences ranging from strands of barbed wire to solid masonry, all of which come within the letter if not the intent of the law.

The consensus is that while the majority of dealers have done a fine job of self-government, a few are operating on the fringe of the law, and these few have created a bad name for the industry as a whole.

Mileusnich hopes that civic pride will be the spur that can rid the community of a situation that the public is "sick and tired of."

One approach that has proved successful in other cities is the planting of shrubs, trees and bushes along the fences to veil from view the "graveyards" of wrecked and junked automobiles that provide much of the scrap.

This move cannot be undertaken by a civic organization, however, without the cooperation of the yard owners, as it involves the use of their property.

Encouraging to the CSSO is the enthusiasm expressed by officials of the dealers' association toward meeting with the council tonight.

It remains to be seen what will be accomplished.

Dealers invited to attend include:

B. C. "Bill" Sitton

Sitton Joins Hartley Staff

An experienced newspaper man and former publisher of the Pasadena, Tex., Daily Citizen, B. C. "Bill" Sitton has joined the Hartley Newspapers organization in the capacity of administrative assistant to C. Carlton Hartley, publisher.

Sitton was at one time advertising manager of ten metropolitan weeklies in Texas and until recently was business manager of the Arizona Journal at Phoenix.

He is a graduate of the University of Texas, 36 years old and father of three children.

Confederate Jackpot Grows

There is $114 in "Confederate" cash awaiting the winner of the Hartley Newspapers' "Confederate Money" Contest Jackpot this week.

There were no winners last week, which means the entire total of $25 offered in last week's contest has been added to the jackpot.

Be sure and look for the "Confederate Money" story in this edition of your newspaper for rules and details of this contest. You could be $114 richer for the effort.

Lincoln Park Bids Opened

Preliminary study of the bids for the new Lincoln Park Recreation Center opened Monday morning indicated that the Wagenbrenner Construction Co. is the low bidder, according to Nick Barack, superintendent of the City Recreation Department.

As the contracts called for nine alternates, Barack explained, a definite appraisal of the bids could not be immediately made.

The Wagenbrenner bid was very close to the architect's original estimate of $400,000.

Although there is still a lot of red tape to be cut, Barack hopes that digging can begin by the middle of July and the building be ready for the fall program of 1964.

The circular aspect of the building, largest of its kind in Columbus, permits a unique feature—that of an indoor, four-lane, 110-yard track.

Other facilities of the building include a gymnasium with both boys' and girls' showers, locker and toilet facilities and a separate auditorium with adjoining kitchen. Meeting rooms, arts and crafts and ceramic areas also are included in the plans.

Glendenning Funeral Set

Service will be held at the Darfus Funeral Home Friday at 2 p.m. for Paul Glendenning, who died after his truck crashed into a tree near Cambridge, Tuesday.

Glendenning, who is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Glendenning of 855 E. Main-st, Groveport, was to marry Miss Barbara Bowen of Canal Winchester, Aug. 3. Their home at Mingo Estates had just been completed.

Rev. Arnold Click, retired minister, now of Chicago, will conduct the service. Rev. Click as the pastor of St. John's Evangelical Protestant Church on Mound-st, had baptized the young man and by chance is visiting in Columbus.

Glendenning was graduated from Groveport High School

THE FACT THAT a railroad track separates this Refugee-rd junk yard from the highway eliminates the need for a fence, according to the city ordinance which regulates such sites. The railroad track, however, does nothing whatsoever to shield from view the unsightly concentration of scrap.

German Village Tour Draws Thousands

Fetch Lauds Bill Scheurer

With a successful annual German Village Haus und Garten Tour behind them, the men and women who have worked for weeks to make it so had reason to relax and review this week.

Admitting to a few wrinkles that must be ironed out, Frank Fetch, president of the German Village Society, believes the changing of the tour to encompass eight sight-seeing hours did more for the success of the tour than any single factor. It eliminated long waiting lines, ticket holders being turned away, and the fatigue that comes from crowding too much into too little time.

His praise for the work of Bill Scheurer, the chairman of special events, and for the efforts of his wife, Jane Scheurer, was unlimited.

"He attended to every detail you can think of, from arranging for the shuttle buses to the printing of the tickets," Fetch said "and Jane almost single-handedly arranged for the two shifts of hostesses, drawing largely from her personal friends."

It is too early to accurately gauge the number of tickets sold, as each member of the society was sent tickets to sell, and unsold tickets are not yet in.

The president agreed, however, with another member, that it could be conservatively estimated that at least 3500 will be paid for.

Profits from the tour will be used to amortize the mortgage on the two-family restored dwelling on the property upon which the Village office stands.

Asked whether the Society had plans to further invest in village rental property, Fetch was emphatic in his denial, instead unveiling a dream of philanthropy and community improvement.

When the Society's indebtedness has been reduced, he hopes to see the establishment of a foundation fund that would be used to improve the homes of older residents

WHILE THE BAND PLAYED on, the gay natives of German Village rode through the streets, waving and bowing to the thousands of people who had come to admire and enjoy the Old World atmosphere. The clock was turned back and for a few hours only the tourists reminded one that it was not the gay nineties once again. The carnival spirit was dampened only slightly when a disgruntled shuttle bus driver decided it was time to go home, leaving his passengers parked in the middle of the street to await the next "trolley." See story on Page 6.

Don't Forget To Fly 'Old Glory' On The 4th

How long since you displayed the American flag on Independence Day?

Unfurling the flag and placing it in a conspicuous place has lately become a forgotten obligation for many persons who in time of need, would not hesitate to give their lives to protect the principles which it symbolizes.

It is easy to let the hustle and bustle of holiday planning and excitement of celebration make us forget what we are celebrating or why July Fourth has been set aside for special recognition.

Next week our nation will observe the 187th anniversary of the ratification of the Declaration of Independence by tht original 13 colonies.

This should indeed be a time for celebration, but it could also be an observance of the great event we are celebrating. What better way to mark this day than by proudly displaying "Old Glory."

If you have not yet joined in making your street an "Avenue of Flags," be sure to make plans now to add your flag to those of your neighbors.

Because of the many requests for the new 50-star flags being offered at a special rate by this newspaper, another supply has been purchased by Hartley Newspapers for Independence Day.

Included with the big 3x5 color-fast cotton flag is a six-foot wooden staff, halyard, top decoration, window socket and book on flag etiquette. This kit, which usually sells for $5.98, along with a one-year subscription to your favorite Hartley Newspaper, valued at $3, can

Kay Stewart, John Rawlings Wed In Double-Ring Ceremony May 11

MRS. JOHN A. RAWLINGS

Miss Kay A. Stewart and Mr. John A. Rawlings were united in marriage at a double-ring ceremony on May 11 at St. Matthew Evangelical Lutheran Church, Lockbourne.

Rev. E. William Bench officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Stewart, 5414 Parsons-av. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Rawlings of Fairmont, W. Va.

The bride wore a floor-length gown fashioned of Alencon lace over bridal taffeta with a fitted bodice accented by a portrait neckline trimmed with seed pearls. The long sleeves came to points over the hands and the circular skirt swept around to reveal a chapel train topped by a Dior bow.

Her veil of illusion was held by a jeweled crown and she carried a cascade of white carnations centered with an orchid corsage.

Miss Patti Stewart was her sister's maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Janet Dellinger and Mrs. Howard Knall.

The attendants wore dresses of nylon and net over taffeta, fashioned with bouffant skirts and lace bodices in spring shades of green, yellow and pink.

To complete their outfits they wore matching bow hats with circular veils and carried cascades of tinted mums and carnations.

Miss Diana Rawlings was flower girl and was dressed in white and yellow. She carried a nylon basket of rose petals.

Mr. Dale Rawlings served his brother as best man. Guests were seated by Mr. William Stewart, Mr. Howard McClelland and Mr. Jim Buckenberger.

The bride is a graduate of Hamilton Township High School and was employed by Continental Office Supply.

Mr. Rawlings was graduated from Ohio State University, College of Engineering, where he was a member of Theta Tau Fraternity. He is associated with Western Electric.

MEETING CHANGED

Daughters of the Nile will meet Wednesday, June 26, with a room luncheon and meeting at 1 p.m. The date had been changed because of Supreme Session.

Try Tasty Saffron Bread

Creativity in cooking often lies in new ways of serving, as well as in the use of a new ingredient or recipe. Young cooks can try out both methods by baking an unusual and delicious Saffron Bread, served along with a pretty Strawberry Bush — a luscious centerpiece!

STRAWBERRY BUSH

Wash large strawberries; leave hulls. Insert one end of toothpick into each berry through hull; insert other end of toothpick into large lemon or orange set in a small mug or glass. Cover lemon with berries and insert sprigs of mint between berries. (Use pineapple chunks or melon chunks, if desired.)

SAFFRON BREAD

Makes 1 large loaf

½ cup milk
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup (½ stick) margarine
½ cup warm water (105-115 degrees F.)
2 packages or cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
1/16 teaspoon saffron powder (or ½ teaspoon whole saffron dissolved in 1 tablespoon of hot water)
1 egg
3¼ cups unsifted flour (about)
½ cup raisins or currants
¼ cup diced candied mixed fruit

Scald milk; stir in sugar, salt and margarine. Cool to lukewarm. Measure warm water into large warm bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in the yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture, saffron, egg, and 1½ cups flour. Beat until smooth. Blend in raisins, candied mixed fruit and enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about one hour.

Punch dough down, let rise 30 minutes.

Punch down again and turn out onto lightly floured board; shape into a loaf and place in greased 9½x5½x3-inch loaf pan. Cover; let rise in warm place, from from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 30 minutes.

Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 40 minutes, or until done.

HOMEMAKERS CLASSES TO RESUME IN AUGUST

With the first series of homemaking classes at the Lincoln Park Family Living Center ending with a recognition evening Friday, advance registration is open for the second series beginning in August.

Mrs. Lois Sigler, program coordinator, presented the new schedule at the program Friday. On the last three Mondays of August and the following Mondays and Wednesdays through Oct. 2, classes in children's clothing will be held in the mornings from 9:30 to 11:30 and in making over clothing from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Beginner's sewing classes are scheduled during morning hours on Mondays and Wednesdays from Oct. 7 through Dec. 16. On Friday mornings from Oct. 4 to Dec. 13 a more advanced class entitled "Making Clothes With a Professional Look" will be offered.

Beginning Aug. 15 and continuing on Thursdays through Dec. 12, instruction will be given on the preparation of food meals with commodity foods in the mornings, and advice on being a gracious hostess presented during the afternoon session.

Earl Ross of the Columbus Metropolitan Housing Authority presented certificates to those participating in the new adult education program, who had attended at least 80 per cent of the classes.

These women included Mrs. Edna B. Anderson, Mrs. Hester Barber, Mrs. Adlean Berry, Mrs. Verilla Blue, Mrs. Ruby Cramer, Mrs. Calvin Fullen, Mrs. Delores Mayberry, Mrs. Betty Lou Pyle, Mrs. Katie Edwards, Mrs. Mary Taynor, Mrs. David Daisy Thompson, Mrs. Essie Wheelwright and Mrs. Patricia Williams.

Refreshments prepared by the students who had taken lessons in food preparations included banana and nut bread, cheese straws, dozen upon dozen of refrigerated, pressed and ball cookies with milk punch.

Mrs. Lavon McCollough, who had conducted the food classes, pointed out that the punch which children and adults enjoy is made merely from reconstituted milk, ice cream and any flavoring such as crushed peppermint sticks, molasses and instant coffee.

Narrated by Mrs. Alice Johnson, who is the sewing teacher, the fashion review, "I Made It Myself," in which the skillfully made garments modeled by their creators showed graphically how much could be learned even by the inexperienced in a very short time.

Miss Margaret McEnry, state supervisor of the Home Economic Education, spoke on the necessity for those responsible for the home and family to keep up-to-date in the field of home management.

The series of classes being offered is open to any resident of Franklin County who is interested in learning how to better fulfill the role of homemaker, Mrs. Sigler said, and urged anyone who wants to know more of the program to either see her at the Living Center, 1700 S. 20th-st or call her at 444-1941.

day, June 18, at Graumlich and Son Funeral Home. Interment was at Eastlawn Cemetery.

Former South Sde Minister Has Post At Convention Of Jehovah's Witnesses

A former South Side minister has been called to Milwaukee to help organize the first sessions of the 'Around-the-World International Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses for 1963."

Dean G. Bourne, former presiding minister of the South Unit, has been named by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of Brooklyn, N. Y., to supervise a special purchasing department for the convention, to be held June 30 through July 7 at the Milwaukee County Stadium.

Bourne and his wife, Dorothy, arrived in Milwaukee May 28 to begin preparing for the gathering of more than 50,000 persons from 48 states, including Alaska, Washington, D.C., and several other countries.

Mr. and Mrs. Bourne resided at 1265 Fairwood-av for more than six years until, in 1960, Bourne accepted an appointment as circuit supervisor of 20 congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in the Minneapolis, Minn., area.

Mrs. Bourne is the former Dorothy Brehmer, sister of John Brehmer, 710 Oakwood-av.

The Bournes met and married in November, 1947, while serving as missionaries in the Central American Republic of Honduras.

They returned to Columbus in 1953, where Bourne was appointed presiding minister for the South Unit, Jehovah's Witnesses.

Bourne is a native of Jump River, Wis. He was ordained in 1939, and has fulfilled ministerial assignments in Wisconsin, California, Oregon and Pennsylvania. He is a 1944 graduate of the Watchtower Bible School of Gilead in South Lansing, N.Y., where he received missionary training.

Adventists Plan $12 Million Medical Facility In Dayton

Seventh-day Adventists will open a $12 million medical center in Dayton before the end of 1963, to be known as the "Charles F. Kettering Memorial Hospital."

The hdspital is being constructed by the Kettering interests, and will then be given over to the denomination for ownership and operation.

The church is constructing a companion building, a $750,000 school of nursing, also expected to be completed before the end of 1963.

The hospital is the first step in a plan to make the Dayton area a well-known medical center and being brought into existence as a memorial to the late Charles F. Kettering, on whose estate the center is being constructed.

Eugene W. Kettering, son of the inventor and auto executive, said plans for the $12 million center call for the first unit to be a 304-bed general hospital, to be owned and operated by the Columbia Union Conference of the Seventh-day Adventist church.

In due time the proposed medical center will also include a school of nursing, a research center, a health museum and other projects of a medical nature.

The site of the new center is on a 32-acre tract of land which Kettering has deeded to the hospital corporation. In addition to 304 beds, the hospital will have extensive service, diagnostic, and therapuetic facilities.

Nearly two and one half years were spent in designing the building, which has one floor below ground and four floors above ground.

Patients' rooms feature an originally designed bedside unit which contains at the patient's fingertips, a telephone, controls for the electrical and intercom systems in the room, and provision for storage of the guest's personal effects.

The hospital is being financed by the Kettering interests, local and national contributions, and funds from the hospital corporation.

The $750,000 school of nursing building is being financed entirely by the Adventist denomination.

St. Paul's Set New Schedules

St. Paul United Church of Christ, 221 E. Gates-st, will begin its summer schedule of services Sunday, July 7. A unified service will be incorporated in which the whole church family will join in worship in the sanctuary at 8:30 a.m.

Graded lessons for all ages will follow the worship period and all will be dismissed at 10.

Nursery care will be provided for pre-schoolers.

The pastor, Donald W. Sickbert, will present a series of sermons on the Parables of Jesus and will lead the adults in a discussion of the prophets.

G. Kenneth Dotson is the Church Council president.

Baumann Family Stages Reunion

IT WAS A GAY TIME IN THE OLD CHURCH

More than 70 years ago a young German immigrant living in Columbus met a fraulein from the old country.

He wooed and won her and they established a home on the South Side at 1373 S. Fifth-st and raised their family.

Both Edward Baumann and his hausfrau have been dead since the 1940's, but you should see what they left behind.

Sunday, for the first time, a family reunion was held for the descendants of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Baumann.

They had nine daughters and sons who in turn married and raised 52 children. Many of these children are in their twenties and thirties, and it took the ample facilities of the Corpus Christi School grounds to find an area large enough to confire their 109 offspring.

It was a glorious mixture of first, second and kissing cousins that got together and determined to make it an annual event. Though the older generation well knew their own grandchildren, there were nephews and nieces galore that they had never seen.

And as one cousin observed to another, if another reunion would be held this fall, there'd be even more present, as the Baumanns do their share in populating the earth.

A carpenter when he came to this country, Great-grandfather Baumann became a contractor.

His descendants have all stuck to some branch of his trade with the exception of the oldest son, Albert, who admits to being a retired policeman.

"We are builders," proudly exclaimed one stalwart son, punning on his surname, which is German for "builder."

Not much for emigrating (the youngest son Paul still lives in the old family home), more than 90 per cent of all the descendants live in the south end of Columbus. In the Corpus Christi parish alone are 13 closely related Baumanns.

Not in the least a clannish family, the group had a ball when, under the chairmenship of Mrs. Jean Kaiser, 1371 Linwood-av, and Dick Baumann, 1336 Oakwood, they gathered at the school.

The gang was really there.

UNCLE AL holds the youngest of his great nephews attending the Baumann family reunion at Corpus Christi School Sunday. The 12-week-olod baby, Joseph Alfred, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baumann, 2664 Sonata-dr, and as his grandfather Alfred's 25 grandchild, wears his name.

The STRENGTH of a Nation...

At this time, our thoughts are turned to our nation and the war that was fought to bring freedom to our land. Pictured here is a monument to the leader of our people at that time. The people were willing to give their lives that we might be free from tyranny, and have the right to worship as we please. God was with us then as he was with the children of Israel when Moses led them from Egypt. Upon receiving their freedom they sang... "The Lord is my strength and song, and he is become my salvation: he is my God, and I will prepare him an habitation; my father's God, and I will exalt him." Exodus 15:2

Help keep our Nation strong by relying on the strength of the Lord. Attend Church Regularly.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH.... THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

LEGION WRAP-UP

G-C Paces Gold Loop; Whitehall Leads Blue

Grove City and Whitehall (Comrade Post 490) continued their individual drives toward American Legion pennants last week with victories in their respective divisions.

Both teams picked up their fifth consecutive wins in games Sunday as loop play reached the halfway mark.

GROVE CITY, the Gold League's top defensive club, showed plenty of batting punch Sunday with a 16-2 win over Worthington. The pace-setters pounded out 14 hits and turned the game into a rout with a seven-run fourth frame.

Earlier in the week, G-C won by forfeit over Hilliard, 7-0.

CAMP CHASE, whose only loss came at the hands of Grove City, stayed hot on the leaders' heels with a pair of victories, 5-0 over Hilliard and 17-1 over Scioto Post (DeSales).

IN THE ONLY other Gold loop game Sunday, Ray Simendinger held Scioto to three hits while his Columbus Post teammates pounded out 10 hits, good enough for a 12-0 win.

OVER IN THE Blue circuit, Comrade Post (Whitehall) charged to the top of the heap with three victories. Dick Gray was instrumental in all three wins, topping Scioto (St. Charles), 10-4, and Hartley, 6-5, and teaming with Joel Brandt to down Capital City, 5-1.

Whitehall broke up a 1-1 deadlock with a four-run fourth inning rally as Brandt and Gray combined on their three hitter over Capital City. Dean Ishida's grand-slam homer provided the impetus for the victory over Scioto. Murphy homered for the losers.

Sunday, Whitehall hopped off to a 6-0 lead over Hartley and then hung on as the losers charged back to within one run before Gray put on the brakes.

SOUTHWAY POST stayed in contention with a pair of wins. Bob White helped knock Franklin Post (Eastmoor) out of the top spot with a four-hit, 11-1 win. Southway found the pitching of Jerry Aggas and Doug Cromer to its liking and banged out 11 hits which included a homer by Herb Klopfer.

George Maurer picked up where White left off Sunday as he bested Groveport's (Franklin Post 2) Pat Mentel in a tight pitching duel, 1-0. Klopfer's double, only one of three hits off Mentel, cashed in the lone run in the third. Maurer allowed but two hits.

Southway chilled a Groveport threat in the sixth inning by pulling off a triple play.

GROVEPORT was more successful earlier in the week as Jim Fox and Jack Manley combined on a five-hitter to earn a narrow 6-5 margin over Hartley (Bexley Post). The winners pulled the game out of the fire with two tallies in the final frame.

Jack Diamond, who yielded seven hits but was backed by six errors afield, took the loss.

Scioto's Carr and Frank Lally combined on a three-hitter as St. Charles overcame a 4-1 deficit to chalk up a 7-4 win over Capital City Sunday in the Blue loop's only other game.

The winners scored three runs in the sixth to knot the count and then pulled ahead to stay with three more tallies in the final round.

Duquesne Takes Lead In Old Timer

Deibels came from behind Tuesday night to score an upset in the South Side Old Timers League. Trailing 7-6 in the top half of the eighth, Deibels scored nine runs in the bottom half of the ninth to down Bow Wow, 16-10.

Duquesne took over first place, staying on the victory trail, by defeating Arena, 13-4.

In other league play, Don's Inn blasted Schoenlings, 21-2, Planks doubled the score on Old Landmark 14-7, and Babberts blanked Blatz 9-0.

LEADING HITTERS were Bill Goodwin (Don's Inn), six for six; Don Carrilli (Deibels), five for five; Ray Ellis (Old Landmark) and Jerry Spires (Planks), four for four, and Jerry Greuter (Don's Inn), five for six.

Home run hitters of the night were Jake Potter and Ray Ellis, Old Landmark; Bill Groezinger and Ray McVay, Duquesne; Jerry Greuter, Ed Schaeffer and Don Murnane, Don's Inn, and Harold Duckworth and Don Moore of Bow Wow.

Jets Back In Town; Open 13-Game Stand

The Columbus Jets return to the Stadium Thursday evening to open their seventh home stand of the current season with four International League teams appearing here in a 13-game set.

The Jets open with Little Rock on Thursday and play four games with the Travelers with single games scheduled through Saturday and a doubleheader (1:30 p.m.) on tap for Sunday.

THE JACKSONVILLE Suns move in for a two-game set with single night games set for Monday and Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Atlanta's Crackers are next on the Jet schedule with the southern club playing a single game Wednesday evening before providing the Columbus club with its opposition in a big Fourth of July doubleheader, getting underway at 5 p.m.

Rochester closes out the current home stand with single games July 5 through 7—the final game a Sunday matinee, set for 2 p.m.

SPECIAL NIGHTS during the home stand will include Buckeye Stamp - Westside Neighborhood Council Night (July 2), Family Night (July 3) and the July 4th picnic and fireworks night.

On Family Night the ladies will be able to sit anywhere in the stadium but the box seats for 50 cents with men getting the same bargain for one dollar. Children, accompanied by an adult, will be admitted free. Fireworks will follow the game.

On the Fourth, stadium gates will open at 3:30 p.m. for those who want to eat in the picnic area before the first game (5 p.m.).

PLENTY OF picnic tables will be available in the right field bullpen area and free checking facilities will be available for those who wish to eat between games (45 minutes).

Who 'Killed' Scheffing: Management Or Labor?

Add the name of Robert Scheffing to the list of "strikeouts" in that hazy, crazy year-round game of manager shuffling.

It was Detroit GM Jim Campbell's turn to try the slight of hand last week and Campbell turned up Charley Dressen.

THE SCRIPT was the same. Only the names were changed. Scheffing took the ax graciously, whistling "just one of those things" while Campbell automatically repeated that old stock expression about "It's not the manager's fault, we just aren't winning ball games."

If Scheffing had any doubts about his standing with the Detroit organization, Campbell settled the issue several weeks ago with a vote of confidence—baseball's method of honing the blade.

In plain, simple American, Scheffing got the gate because Norm Cash and Rocky Colavito's collective BA is an unimpressive .226. How well Dressen can boost skidding averages will undoubtedly decide his term of office.

OF COURSE, Dressen's chances for success are infinitely better according to modern-day front office logic. After all, Charlie's been around — around Cincinnati, Brooklyn, Milwaukee and Washington.

The American League has taken up the slack this year after the senior circuit tired of the game after a major upheaval in '62. Only Milwaukee switched skippers in the NL but "new faces of '63" opened in Cleveland, Boston, KC and Washington this spring.

THE LONGEVITY of the managerial term has grown so short in recent years that it's no longer uncommon to change horses in midstream. The end result has been a large crop of understudies waiting in the wings for their brief stint on the stage.

There is a front office misconception that the only cure for field collapse is a change in managers. This is probably more responsible than anything else for the heavy traffic.

After all, what better way is there to quiet howling fans and coddle difficult ball players than to replace the middleman.

YOU CAN CHIDE Phil Wrigley about keeping the Cubs out of the ballpark after dark, but don't be so quick to shortchange his "manager of the week" plan. All Wrigley actually is doing is keeping a ready supply on hand.

Even more popular than the shuffling game is the guessing game. Who's next? Best bets are LA's Walter Alston and Baltimore's Billy Hitchcock. Alston has weathered some pretty severe storms in his career but the magic of the Coast is begining to show signs of wear and Walt can't afford another '62 encore.

Hitchcock is bailing the same kind of leaky boat Scheffing abandoned. Preseason polls had the Orioles rated as contenders and nothing proves more deadly than a betrayed press. If Baltimore falls flat, look for the walls to come tumbling down.

BUT A SORE - ARMED pitcher, nervous front office and unfilled rave notices are not the only culprits. Managers have helped to dig their own graves.

Scientific, progressive baseball has made practically all of the decisions automatic. Strokes of managerial genius are few and far between. Could be the day is coming when the major league manager will be obsolete with the bat boy assigned the job of changing lineups and waving to the bullpen.

But as for now, security is but a dream and everybody keeps his bags packed. Leo Durocher says that nice guys finish last. Today the yardstick of success has beeen greatly shortened with most managers content just to finish.

White Bass Continue As Angler's Delight

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Shooters and gun enthusiasts will be interested in a meeting of a new organization called the Citizen's Council for Promotion of Shooting Ranges. The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on Thursday at Shelter House No. 1, North American Recreation Park, on Hamilton-rd.

Aim of these gunners is to promote rifle and pistol shooting as year-round family sports, and to support public shooting ranges.

That same day is the statewide fish and game hearing where persons can attend and speak their piece about hunting and fishing regulations. Location is Hearing Room No. 2, State Departments Building. Starting time is 9 a.m. Sportsmen will come from all over the state, and area residents are fortunate in that it is easy for them to attend.

FISHING NEWS is still coming from Lake Erie. White Bass are rampaging, according to Elden Hales, party boat captain, who operates out of Catawba Marine. "It's like it was eight to 10 years ago," he exclaimed, "with terrific white bass catches every day. We are still picking up smallmouth bass by casting, so fishing prospects continue to be excellent."

About a month ago we recommended the white bass fishing in Lake Erie as something spectacular and special. It is difficult to describe to a fisherman who has never spent some time around the islands in June.

When you get a good day, and weather is always a problem everywhere, you can catch as many fish per hour as anywhere on this continent. The action is as fast as any fishing you can find in Florida or northern Saskatchewan and points in-between.

WHEN YOU FIND a school of white bass, everyone on the boat gets a fish on every cast. If one fish gets away, another grabs your lure. As a hooked fish nears the boat, there will often be two or three bass still chasing the spinner hanging out of his mouth. This is fishing excitement that is difficult to duplicate, and it's right in our own backyard, so to speak.

We are not saying that everyone who goes to the lake comes back loaded with white bass. Far from it. Two things are necessary for this prime fishing—a boat with the ability to get around the island area and good weather.

Lake Erie is big water, and to a novice it looks too big to fish. But if you have access to it, then try these locations: west reef off of North Bass Island, around the rattles at Rattlesnake Island, the shallow area between Ballast Island and South Bass Island, and the reef running from Sugar Island to Middle Bass Island.

WHEN THE fishing is really hot, you can catch them from the shore of nearly any of these islands. It has been this way for about the last 10 days, but may not continue. The fish seem to move northward as the season progresses, and casting from shore may be about over. They move in closer early in the morning and again in the evenings, and these would be the best times to fish if you are shore-bound.

Any kind of spinner will take them, and you should have several of the ABU or Shyster type. With fish racing each other to grab lures, it's no time to run out of baits.

Spin fishing is ideal for white bass—the tackle is light enough to make landing these fish a lot of fun, and it permits you to cast maximum distances. Accuracy is not important, just heave the lure out in the water. Leave the rest to the white bass.

GOLF ETIQUETTE - 2

A STEP IN THE WRONG DIRECTION

YOU MIGHT not step on your playing partner's golf ball on the green like this careless duffer is doing here, but the idea is to stay away from his line of putting altogether. One of the primary rules of green etiquette is to always walk around the area between the ball and hole. Putting the sometimes square ball into the round hole is difficult enough without additional complications provided by a thoughtless companion.

CLOSE CALLS BUT . . .

West, 'Hounds Remain Atop Summer Sections

West and Grove City remained undefeated and atop their respective sections of the High School Summer Baseball League Saturday but not without some timely, late-inning hitting.

The Cowboys, unbeaten in three doubleheaders now, beat down back-yard rival Ready, 10-2 and 6-4, but the hungry Silver Knights took the Broncos into extra innings before bowing in the nightcap.

GROVE CITY had a similar scare at the hands of upstart Grandview. The Greyhounds cruised in the nightcap, 6-1, but had to go one extra in the opener to eke out a narrow 7-6 win.

Arlington swept a pair from Johnstown, 10-8 and 10-2 but all other clubs split their twinbills. Hartley divided with St. Charles, South halved with Brookhaven and Watterson and Marysville exchanged victories.

West broke away from a narrow 3-2 edge in its opener with Ready, collecting seven runs in the fifth and sixth frames. Darrell Rohrer coasted to victory for the Cowboys on a two-hitter.

BUT IS WAS another story altogether in the nightcap as the Knights hopped on Broncace George 'no-hit' Shaffer for three second-inning tallies that gave Ready a 3-1 edge.

The margin stood up until West scored once in the sixth and again in the seventh to send the game into extra frames. Schaffer and Jack Compton battled through two scoreless innings before West picked up three in the tenth. Ready rallied in the bottom half of the inning but fell two runs shy.

Over in section two, Grandview hopped off to a 6-1 lead in the opener and Grove City spent the rest of the game catching up before pushing across the winning tally in the eighth.

BILL THOMAS and Tom Boos checked the Bobcats on four hits in the second game while G-C scored early to insure no encore of the opening game cliffhanger.

South gave Tirry Emrich all the batting support he needed with a four-run first inning as the Bulldogs toppled Brookhaven in their opener Saturday, 4-0 The losers managed but three bingles off Emrich.

Brookhaven's dormat offense came to life in the nightcap, however, as its batters whacked out 13 hits against two South hurlers for a 6-3 margin.

HARTLEY AND St. Charles battled to a standstill. The Hawks took the opener, 4-3, with all the scoring coming in the first two frames. Hawk reliefer Tom Foley cut off the Cards without score after they had knotted the count at 3-all in the opening inning.

Tht proverbial shoe was on the other foot in the nightcap, however, as St. Charles turned the tables for a 4-2 win.

Bob Begland, who hurled six innings of the opener and took the loss, came in in relief in the second game in the first frame and blanked the Hawks the rest of the way to pick up the win.

Begland provided his own offense, breaking a two-all tie in the fourth with a two-run single. Hartley's lone hit came on a one-bagger by Randy Rodich.

FUR, FIN, FEATHER COMPETE AT LOCAL PET SHOW

AT A RAKISH angle, Teeny, "the mutt" wears her wig, ready to enter the sectional pet show at Schiller Park. Owned by Chari Mason, 380 Deshler-av. Teeny was "dogged-up" to the teeth by Chari and her friend, Barbara Trott.

A BLUE RIBBON was the prized possession of Rhonda Wiggins, 415 Cochrans, after her big white rabbit won the first prize as the most unusual pet at the Heimandale show last Thursday.

Clowns will abound at City Hall tomorrow night at 7:30 when contestants from playgrounds all over the city compete for the blue, red and yellow ribbons to be given in six categories for boys and a like number for girls.

Three local television personalities and Johnny Jones and Ben Hayes, columnists for local daily papers, will judge which children are the cutest, saddest, happiest, funniest and most original. They will also determine the winner of a special award.

Training is at top pitch for the city track and field championships that are but two weeks away. Most softball and junior jet teams are ready for their competitive season.

Ten children claimed top prizes when the sectional pet show was held in Schiller Park last Friday night. Winners and their pets and categories included Carolyn Lane and her Siamese Bluepoint cat, prettiest; Greg Dorsey and his dwarf rabbit, most unusual; Fred Williams and his Collie, best groomed; Timmy Blackburn and his baby-clothed dog, best costumed and Robert Highfield with his dog, most obedient.

Schiller . . .

Junior Jet baseball has started with a bang this week at Schiller Park playground with 16 teams seeing action. Season schedules have been prepared and all teams will be playing twice a week. All players who have registered must obtain a schedule from the athletic director.

Joe Campbell is now organizing and training for the track and field championships and urges all boys and girls interested in trying out for the Junior Olmypics meet to sign up now.

A full schedule of softball games has been set up for boys and girls of all ages and registration is open.

Children who want to enter the clown contest at City Hall tomorrow should contact Vivian Lloyd at Schiller immediately.

Arts and crafts classes are being taught every day at 1:30 p.m. by Miss Pam Argus. Children wishing to enter this class can come to the arts and crafts room at the center any day Monday through Friday.

Fairwood . . .

Fairwood Playground's Junior and Intermediate Boys and Girls Softball teams began their season of competitive games.

Arts and crafts, held daily at 2 p.m. are attracting many participants.

Scioto Trail . . .

A successful Pet Show was held June 19 at Scioto Trail Playground. Winners were as follow:

Prettiest pet, Bryan Pappas; special award, Mary Ann Cornwell, first and Marie Lancaster, second.

Best costumed pet, Cindy Shope.

Most obedient pet, Kenny Kessler; special award, Kathy Harrelson, first; Patty Toliver, second, and Elizabeth Mehrle, third.

Best groomed pet, Linda Daines; special award, Donald Shope, first; Peggy Thompson, second.

Best performing pet: Danny McKown, special award and Vicki Sahr, first.

Most affectionate pet: Nancy Smith, first. —

Cutest pet: Pamela Fasone, special award; Mary Mulholland, first, Dean Hafey, second, and tied for third, Annette Toliver, Melvin Anderson, Don Anderson, Tony Anderson and Theresa Toliver.

Junior Leaders will meet every Friday at 12:45 p.m. Any boy or girl 10 years old or older who is interested in helping a Junior Leader should attend the next meeting. Diana Hughes is Junior Leader of the week.

Playground tournaments in tetherball, four-square and horseshoes are being held this week.

Monday, July 1, there will be a bike parade at 7 p.m. on the playground. Everyone is invited to decorate his bike and attend.

Family Play Day will be Friday, July 5. There will be games for the entire family and everyone is invited to pack a picnic supper and attend. Please see the playground bulletin board for more details.

Deshler . . .

A class in folk dancing has been started at Deshler. It meets at 3 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays.

During the past week the arts and crafts projects have included sit-upons, bead necklaces, potholders, animals and lanyards.

The past week has seen the organization of two Junior, one Intermediate and one Senior softball team. After several days of practice, hopes have risen for a possible championship team in the junior or intermediate league. Everyone is cordially invited to root the teams on to victory in the coming weeks.

Lincoln Park . . .

The Lincoln Park softball and Junior Jet baseball teams began league action this week.

The Junior Jet program, with competition limited to teams within the park, consists this year of two leagues, each having four teams.

Five teams are representing the park in the South Sectional Softball League. Team captains are Daryl Walker, junior boys team 1; Clarence Collins, junior boys team 2; Franklin Davis, intermediate boys, and Rosalee Drakeford, intermediate girls. The other team is in the junior girls league.

The park has been active this week with four-square, horseshoe, and tetherball tournaments. A clown contest was held Tuesday.

More than 80 youngsters took part in the physical fitness tests last week, and many are still trying to succeed. Twenty-two boys and four girls passed on their first try. Those passing the six-part test will receive certificates.

Robert Taylor received first prize in the playground Pet Show last week for exhibiting seven baby rabbits which he found earlier in the park.

Watkins . . .

This week the arts and crafts classes have been making lanyards, sit-upons and necklaces. Our sectional clown contest was held yesterday and everyone is now excitedly awaiting the city-wide contest.

The Junior Girls Softball team beat Karns 17-7 and Schiller 6-5 in practice games last week. League games are now in session.

The senior boys softball team beat Schiller 15-7. John Jackson allowed only five hits and hit a grandslam home run. Junior Jets started playing games this week.

Wimpy, a collie owned by Dina Loyola walked off with ribbons in the prettiest, most obedient, best groomed, the largest and the best performer category. Tippie, Chuck Johnson's dog and Judy Rife's cat also won three prizes each.

First prizes in each category were awarded as follow: the prettiest, Fearless; the most unusual, a tie between Yellowy and Orangy, chickens owned by Buddy and Vickie Showalter; the most obedient, Wimpy; the best groomed, Sharon Young's cat, Toni; the smallest, Pepper, the chihuahua owned by Marilyn Johnson; the largest, Diane Holden's German Shepherd, Tiki; the most affectionate, Pepper; the best performer, a dog named Blackie owned by Mark Beatty and the cutest, Sharon Young's cat, Tom.

Heimandale . . .

The four-square, horseshoe and tetherball tournaments begin this week at Heimandale. The Junior, Intermediate and Senior winners will compete in the sectional tournament next week.

Junior Jet League competition begins this week at Heimandale with four teams competing from Heimandale, one from Smith-rd, and one from Scioto Trail. Games will be played Monday, Wednesday and Friday, at 1:30 and 3:30 at Heimandale.

Heimandale's Junior Girls' Softball team played its first practice game with Deshler last Wednesday. The girls played an outstanding game considering it was the first time most of them had ever played a regular softball game. On Wednesday, the Intermediates played a good team from Karns in their first practice game. The girls' regular softball season will start this week.

Heimandale's pet show was held last Thursday with 21 pets entered. First, second and third prizes were given for different categories. First prize for the prettiest animal went to John Evans, while Rhonda Wiggins took the blue ribbon for the most unusual pet. First prize for the most obedient pet was captured by Kenny Webb while his brother, Victor won first with his well-groomed pet. Robert Caudille walked away with first prize for the cutest puppy. First prize for the smallest pet went to Nancy Willman with a gold fish. Allen Simmons won the blue ribbon for the largest pet.

Mohawk . . .

The playground began its four-square, horseshoe and tetherball tournaments this week.

Wednesday the clown contest was held.

Tomorrow, Friday, June 28, is City-wide Clown Contest, which will be held at City Hall.

Next week, Tuesday, July 2, the sectional tetherball and four-square tournaments will be held Wednesday. July 3 is the sectional horseshoe tournament.

Monday, July 1 through Friday, July 5, will be family week. There will be a special program each day for the parents, so, children bring your moms and dads with you.

July 1-5 the same children at Mohawk can go to day camp at Indian Village. Any child who would like to go and is age eight through 12 can sign up at the playground.

The times for the playground events will be posted.

Palsgrove . . .

Opening playground days were busy with registrations, and friendship renewals.

Playground leaders are Mrs. Nancy Hampton and Charles Lee.

Junior leaders include Glenda Young, Judy Leach, Patricia Powell, Mark Smith, Emmons Payne, and Marcia Foster.

Teen program assistants are Peggy Penn, Wyley Parks, Charles Wilson and Lynette Young. Life guards will be assigned next week.

Six softball teams are being organized, including Junior, Intermediate and Senior boys' and girls' teams. League games begin next Wednesday.

There will be a junior wiener roast on the playground Friday, June 28, at 6 p.m. Everyone should bring his own food.

The Mothers' Advisory Council will furnish a cool drink. Everyone 12 and under is welcome.

Races and games precede the wiener roast at 5:30 p.m.

"BROWNIE" THE DUCK simply hates dogs, according to his mistress Darlene Gartland, 351 Stewart. But he seemed to love the baby carriage which was his means of transportation at the pet show last week.

PERMITS SUSPENDED

The Liquor Control Commission has suspended the C-2 and D-5 permits of J. K. Enterprises, Inc., 1203-05 Parsons-av, from June 13 to Aug. 27. The suspension was for violation of laws regarding consumption of intoxicating liquor on the permit premises on Sunday and sale of intoxicating liquor on election day.

HOMES TO BE BULIT

A permit to build a two-story frame dwelling at 295-C Thurman-av, valued at $13,000, has been issued to Harry M. Lewis, 2630 Edgington-rd. Other permits have been issued for a two-story frame dwelling at 295-B and 295-C Thurman-av, both valued at $20,000.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our relatives, neighbors and many friends for their kindness, sympathy, cards and flowers, shown at the death of my beloved husband, and father, Thomas T. "Tommy" Petsef, June 1, 1963.

To a Gentleman Friend
Who rode the early morning bus
The riders were so few
He became a friend to all of us.
His manner was so pleasant,
His conversation light and bright
A person talking with him
Would have his day start off alright.

Mrs. Thomas T. Petsef, daughter, Marietta Ashworth, son, Peter Thomas Petsef, and three grandchildren.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Unfortunate Incident Puts Tuna On Trial

Fruits—Peaches, watermelons, bananas, cantaloupes

Vegetables—Greenhouse tomatoes, new potatoes, home grown lettuce, cabbage, beets, snap beans

Recently an unfortunate incident occurred in the tuna fish industry that has put this large food business on trial. Many consumers have dropped tuna from their shopping lists and the future of the industry is endangered. Is such precaution necessary for safety?

Mrs. Franks

Most people in this country enjoy the food they eat and have little doubt that it's wholesome. They are confident that the U.S. Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, along with five other consumer-protection laws, such as U.S. Department of Agriculture Meat Inspection, will insure that food are safe, pure, wholesome, and honestly and informatively labeled and packaged.

The Food and Drug Administration's jurisdiction, alone, covers about $110 billion worth of foods, drugs, cosmetics and hazardous household chemical aids marketed each year. In 1961, the FDA made 38,735 establishment inspections, collected 44,466 samples of products produced in the U.S. and 14,502 samples of imported products. They also made 1,038 seizures to remove illegal goods from the market and started 269 criminal prosecutions. These were only part of the many things done by FDA to insure that our food supply is safe.

Still, accidents will happen. In the case of tuna, the unfortunate incident occurred in Detroit, where a single can of tuna fish was found to be contaminated by Type E botulinus toxin. George P. Larrick, Commissioner of Food and Drugs, stated that this was the first botulism poisoning to come to FDA's attention in over 35 years, where canned foods commercially packed in the U.S. were concerned. Every precaution has been taken to insure that all tuna fish remaining on grocery shelves is safe.

Yet, tuna fish sales have dropped and a large industry is seriously endangered. A West Coast tuna packing company announced it was closing its doors and 800 employes would be out of work because of lack of tuna orders.

What can homemakers do? First of all, remember that the chances of getting unsafe food are very remote, but if you want to take additional precaution, Mr. Larrick urges all homemakers, as a matter of course, to smell any food—wheher prepard in the home or in a commercial plant—and to discard without tasting any which appear "off." The contents of any swelled or bulging can should never be accepted as suitable for use.

It's safe to say that eventually consumers will return to their normal buying habits, but the sooner they do, the smaller the harm that will be felt by those in the tuna industry.

ON STAFF

DENNIS B. BURCHAM has accepted a position on the staff of the South Side Branch YMCA as program director. Burcham is a June graduate of the University of Dayton, where he majored in physical education. As a boy he was a member of the Dayton YMCA, participated in Cub and Boy Scout programs, and has served as an assistant scoutmaster. He also served as a junior High Youth Fellowship director. Last year he served as counselor and director of athletic program at Dayton YMCA Camp Kern. He is single and a member of the American Baptist Church.

Make Legislators Pay City Tax, CIRC Asks

The Citizens' Industrial Research Committee of Reynoldsburg has called for a taxpayers' suit to force all state legislators to pay the Columbus city income tax.

In a letter to Columbus City Attorney John Young, the CIRC called attention to a section of the city tax law that includes "governmental bodies" in defining an "employer."

The letter charged that "special interest groups appear to be exempt, while others must abide by the law."

The CIRC declared that 99 per cent of the gross earnings of Reynoldsburg residents, is subject to the Columbus city income tax. Reynoldsburg, the group contends, cannot impose a city income tax on its residents without "double taxation," because Columbus does not allow a reciprocity.

Columbus officials, the group contends, are reluctant to attempt collection from state legislators out of fear of reprisal legislation.

One state senator, a group spokesman said, admitted he did not pay the Columbus income tax, that he was "never pressed" for it, "and is not about to be pressed for it."

"The city attorney's office is aware of one county official and several judges who will not pay this tax," the committee member said. "We are advised they will not attempt to collect the tax because of possible repercussions."

In the letter to Young, Mrs. Frank P. Jones said:

"We believe collection of taxes from the now-exempt legislators is in order. If this cannot be done legally, we await explanation."

Set Orientation At South Side 'Y'

The South Side Branch YMCA will hold a new member orientation program on Friday, June 28, at 7:30 p.m. All members are urged to be present. Guests of members and friends are welcome.

Color slides of the "Y" program will be shown as it relates to the objectives of the YMCA.

The object of the program is to inform the membership and other interested people about the YMCA. Program will be brief and the subject will be generalized.

Time will be given for questions from the floor. Youth members attending orientation meeting for the first time will receive a Y pin.

New ZIP Numbers Assigned

After July 1 Columbus and outlying post offices will join the nation in using the new ZIP numbers assigned. The ZIP (Zoning Improvement Plan) numbers, introduced to speed up the handling and delivery of mail, consist of three digits plus the resident's zone number.

As 432 has been assigned to Columbus and the center downtown Columbus is in zone 15, a letter addressed to the Capitol Building would use the Zip number, 43215. The five digits replace the use of a zone number and come after the name of the state.

As one postmaster pointed out, "The ZIP code is literally the last word in mail addressing."

Central Ohio numbers include:

Amlin, 43002; Blacklick, 43004; Buckeye Lake, 43008; Centerburg, 43011; Delaware, 43015; Dublin, 43017; Etna, 43018; Gahanna, 43020; Galena, 43021; Granville, 43023; Hebron, 43025; Hilliard, 43026; Johnstown, 43031.

During a long dry spell, a preacher asked his congregation to pray for rain. After the prayer, he said to them: "Oh, ye of small faith, we are all gathered here to pray for rain and not one of you has brought an umbrella!"

Profanity Is Educational?

"The Ox-Bow Incident," published in 1940, has become, in 1963, "The Whitehall Incident."

A controversy has developed over use of the book as assigned reading for 11th grade English classes at Whitehall-Yearling High School.

Objectors cite instances of profanity and blasphemy scattered throughout the book. The Whitehall Board of Education has ruled the book unobjectionable and will presumably continue the practice of class assignment, and sale through the school book store.

We have heard both sides of the question, and we have read the book.

We were able to give complete, quoted coverage to the school board's defense of the contested book. Our responsibility to give equally fair coverage to those who oppose the book as class assignment material is restricted.

It is discouraging to know that high school students can read (by assignment of teachers) language that we are forbidden by law and conscience to print in our newspapers.

We cannot spell out such words as "s.o.b.," "b.....d," and "wh..e." Furthermore, we would not choose to use such words. And we see no reason or justification for feeding such language to children through any school system.

The Whitehall School Board statement ascribes to the book a lesson dealing with morality. We cannot help wondering how much of the "moral" lesson is offset by the interjection of profanity and blasphemy.

The school board statement alluded to a recommended list of 3,000 books from which the protested book was chosen. Surely there must be a sufficient number of books to teach a similar or equally worthwhile lesson without the use of profanity and blasphemy. If not, the list should be re-evaluated.

The "Ox-Bow (or Whitehall) Incident" raises the question: Is profanity less profane when used in the name of education? Of course not! On the contrary, it is the more damaging because it gives a form of silent consent from a trusted source.

We have previously editorialized against feeding printed garbage to our children. It is no less offensive as a "side dish" to the main course.

An Editor's Outlook ... by Jenkin Lloyd Jones

Ten Pillars Of Wisdom Boost Freedom

It is a new idea — using a building as a major exposition for the purpose of going over to the offensive in the debate with creeping socialism. The estimated $2,100,000 which it will cost to lease the land, erect the building, fill it with exhibits and staff it during the fair's two-year life is being solicited frankly and openly from individuals and corporations who are sold on the advantage of a free market economy.

Jones

The building will stand in rebuttal to the expensive pavilions of socialist nations which can use their taxing power to create monuments to themselves.

Although the American Economic Foundation gave birth to the idea, persons from 40 states and 31 foreign countries will serve on its advisory council.

Among the 70 million persons who are expected to visit the fair during its two years it is estimated that 3.5 million will be foreigners. Some of these, it is hoped, will come away from the Hall of Free Enterprise with the realization that "people's capitalism" is different by a long shot from the grasping 19th century system of exploitation and cartels that Marxists like to pretend all modern free enterprise resembles.

The theme of the exhibit will be the Ten Pillars of Economic Wisdom. Here they are:

1. Nothing in our material world can come from nowhere, nor can it be free. Everything in our economic life has a source, a destination, and a cost that must be paid.

2. Government is never a source of goods. Everything that government gives to the people it must first take from the people.

3. The only valuable money that government has to spend is that money taxed or borrowed out of the people's earnings. When government decides to spend more money than it has thus received, that extra unearned money is created out of thin air, through the banks, and, when spent, takes on value only by reducing the value of all money, savings, and insurance.

4. In our modern exchange economy, all payroll and employment come from customers, and the only worthwhile job security is customer security. If there are no customers there can be no payroll and no jobs.

5. Customer security can be achieved by the worker only when the "boss" is allowed by the worker to do the things that win and hold customers. Job security, therefore, is a partnership problem that can be solved only by a spirit of understanding and cooperation.

6. Because wages are the principal cost of everything, widespread wage increases, without corresponding increases in production, simply increase the cost of everybody's living.

7. The greatest good for the greatest number means, in its material sense, the greatest goods for the greatest number which, in turn, means the greatest productivity per worker.

8. All productivity is based on three factors: (1) natural resources, whose form, place and condition are changed by the expenditure of (2) human energy (both muscular and mental), with the aid of (3) tools.

9. Tools are the only one of these three factors that man can increase, and tools come into being in a free society only when there is a reward for the contemporary self-denial that people must practice in order to channel part of their earnings away from purchases that produce immediate comfort and pleasure, and into new tools of production. Proper payment for the use of tools is essential to their creation.

10. The productivity of the tools — that is, the efficiency of the human energy applied in connection with their use — is highest in a competitive society in which economic decisions are made by millions of progress-seeking individuals, rather than in a state-planned society in which those decisions are made by a handful of all-powerful people, regardless of how well-meaning, unselfish, sincere and intelligent those people may be. The basic truth that people cannot divide more than they produce unless they steal or extort from someone else needs to be repeated in this age of pie-in-the-sky government promises.

Further, people need to be reminded that the human animal labors not for love of it but only if enticed by the carrot or goaded by the stick. Where the carrot of profit is removed, then the stick of punishment for failure to produce must be applied or general starvation is swift.

Primitive communism, such as that which prevails in China, has resorted to the stick in the most inhuman degree since the feudal tax gatherers of the Middle Ages went forth to flay the peasants.

More mature forms of communism, such as that of Russia, while continuing to whip recalcitrant workers with the stick of compulsion, have tried to reintroduce the carrot by reserving special bonuses and benefits for the better producers. This is a complete retreat from the Marxist theory of "From each according to his ability to each according to his need."

But even this half-way return to a system of individual rewards can't overcome the deadening snafu of centralized government planning.

In the face of these manifold failures of the Left it's time the forces of free enterprise stood up and crowed a little.

Jones' Delinquency Views Debated

To the Editor:

I read an editorial in the Eastern Review of June 20 by Jenkin Lloyd Jones about juvenile delinquency that really set my blood to boil. I feel rather strongly about the subject since I am a professional social worker and deal primarily with teenagers. Although at present my work is in a local East End Columbus agency, I will never forget the days of my graduate training in New York City nor the opportunity that it afforded me to work in a settlement house in the lower East Side of that city, an area that has one of the highest delinquency rates in the country.

The main error made by Mr. Jones and others of a like mind is that he attempts to give one answer to the problem of juvenile delinquency. This is simply impossible. A delinquent who comes from a good family background and one who comes from the slums with no family to speak of cannot be handled in the same way. Humiliation as a form of punishment suggested in the article is, generally speaking, a very poor method of treatment. It may, at best, be able to remove the symptom but will almost never correct the cause.

It is with this statement that I suppose I would be accused by Mr. Jones and others of being soft headed. Naturally there are such things as bad boys, incorrigibles; however, with a few psychopathic personalities excepted, most people are not born incorrigible but get that way somewhere along the way.

Mr. Jones in his article continues by stating that delinquency cannot be attributed to underprivileged children. Some can't and this is quite correct, but most can. Our cities are growing in size, and the inner city (today's polite word for slum) is producing a cancer on our society. The bulk of the residents of the inner city are members of minority groups. Teenagers who are Puerto Rican or Negro have the cards stacked against them before they start. The schools they go to are miserable and often staffed by the poorer teachers of the system. Jobs are impossible to find and those available are of the sweat shop variety. Finally, if a boy or girl can fight all these odds there is the final almost insurmountable obstacle — prejudice and discrimination. In his recent address to the nation, President Kennedy gave a very clear and concise picture of unequal opportunity as the Negro sees it in this country. In some of the big cities of the North, the social status of the Puerto Rican is even lower than that of the Negro. The prime social institution of our society, the family, tends to degenerate rapidly under these conditions. All too often we found that the only answer a teenager at our settlement house would get from his family if something happened would be a rather severe beating from his father, if there happened to be one.

There are many more conditions which I could describe but time and space do not permit. But what can be done about it? The beginnings of an answer it would seem to me to be a broad overall attack at the problem. First and foremost should be the prevention aspects of delinquency. Settlement houses, Boys' Clubs, social welfare agencies, church groups all have a role. To give a brief look at an approach, a settlement house will not try to break up a gang, but will rather try to divert it to more acceptable patterns of behavior, thereby helping the individuals in the group without stripping from them the protection and self assurance the gang offers and they need so badly.

Secondly, we must give more attention to our treatment agencies and welfare problems. Naturally our parole system frequently doesn't work. What kind of supervision and guidance can any parole officer give, no matter how well trained, if he has to carry a case load of between 250 and 300 per month? How well can a juvenile treatment agency function when, as is the case in Columbus, they have to sleep inmates on the floor because of overcrowding? What kind of a family environment can a man provide for his family if he is on relief and gets $25 a month for food and shelter per person?

Finally we must attempt as a nation to really provide equal opportunity for all. If a man has all the odds against him because either he is of the wrong race or religion, and/or doesn't have the necessary education and training to get a job, how long will human nature keep him trying without hope? The latter problem of skills will continue to get much worse as automation comes.

Nobody, not Mr. Jones, nor the social workers or other people in juvenile work have all the answers. There is certainly no pat answer, but one thing is certain. Studies throughout the country have shown time and again that dedicated professionals working under good conditions in some of the agencies and type of work I have described have managed to improve things considerably. We have much of the knowledge, but all too often, lack the funds and support that we must have.

Robert Sobolevitch

To the Editor:

Allow me to commend you and your good newspaper for publishing the excellent editorial by Jenkin L. Jones on juvenile delinquency.

I think Mr. Jones has something and he says it very well.

To the Editor:

I have been following with interest the editorials about juvenile delinquency appearing in the South Side Leader.

I do not know if Jenkin L. Jones is active in youth correction, but if not, he should be. The United States needs more people like him who can think the situation through and put some teeth into the solution.

Student Speaks Out

To The Editor:

Immorality and injustice was the basis of the Whitehall Board of Education's decision concerning the book, "The Ox-Bow Incident," to which Eugene Bednar objected.

The Eastern Review, dated June 20, reported that this book, which contains 11 profane passages, will be "recommended or assigned reading" for Whitehall juniors. This would deny the student the Christian right to remove himself "from all appearances of evil." That a school board would consider profane passages "unobjectionable" is immoral; that it would require students to think and to act under the same conviction is quite unjust. The board justified its decision by stating "the book is widely used." But profanity is also widely used and thus by Whitehall Board of Education's standards is justifiable.

The U. S. Supreme Court's decision denies religious training to the high school student. So the Board of Education's decision would require the reading of profane passages as a substitute.

Citizen: high school students, like myself, are going through that period of life in which character is being developed according to the influences on or about them. Forward-looking students want the right to choose to read those books which will help determine their spiritual outlook on life. Please don't allow authority to have full rein in molding their character or to have full power to force students to accept moral (really immoral) standards which they don't want to accept.

To the Board of Education: Give back to the high school student the God-given right to be God-like. Give back to their parents the right to show Christian concern for the cleanliness of their son's or daughter's mind.

Bob Weber,
Concerned senior of Whitehall Yearling

Frosting On The Cake

By "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

Digits, digits, digits, swarming around us like June bugs at sundown. The nice thing about the annual swarm of June bugs is that they rarely last more than two days.

The telephone company has gone slap-happy on digits. The post office, too. If this keeps up, it will get so that every private citizen has to carry a complete dossier around his neck on a stainles steel plate, hung with a silver chain.

Who in the world started this latest frith and froth about digits anyway? There used to be a time when any bright kid of six could tell anyone his name, address, home phone number, and his mama and daddy's name. He already has on his person in some kind of memo, what shots he has had, what his eye and ear rating is, and those few things in his diet that he is medically allergic to.

From now on any man or woman who has achieved something in life will have to be constantly fortified with so much statistical armor that stepping out on the street without it would be courting sudden death or arrest.

There used to be a time when postoffice clerks could read letters as well as numbers. Route men learned the names and correct addresses of every home on his route. Many of them still do, but now the whole job is to remember 16 numbers in a row. And if the numbers are not all there, back to the deadletter office goes tons of mail that some tax-ridden citizen has paid for.

Now, if one wishes to make a phone call or ask where people have moved he has to get all set in advance to take down the answer with some high priced computer and pay the extra electricity to run the darn thing. Ain't we got fun?

My address still is Box 8415, Columbus 1, O. And for a while longer, at least, my phone number is AX. 9-3355.

JUNE WEDDINGS

Memo to a bride and groom:

You are entering upon a great adventure—one of the greatest and most sublime in human experience. You have pledged your love and loyalty, each to the other, and have promised before God and man to be faithful "so long as you both shall live."

Now you are responsible adults. Upon your shoulders and those of your generations, soon or late, must fall the burdens which we of an older group in time will no longer be able to bear. Perhaps you will forgive us if, as we fear, we shall have given you a heritage less worthy than we found it.

It would be foolish for us to wish that you will never have any troubles, for that would be impossible. Instead, we hope you will have the strength to bear them when they come.

If the future ever seems fearful, remember, it comes only one day at a time. And may each new day bring you memories of happy ones gone by and anticipation of still happier ones yet to come. May you in health and prosperity see the risings and settings of 10 thousand suns, and then 10 thousand more.

At last, and upon a golden day, after half a 100 years have passed, may you remember that a long time before, you stood, young and strong, before a golden Cross. There your faces shown as the sunlight, and from your eyes came the jeweled starlight of the skies. Afterward, as your love grew more tender with the years, you shared your hopes, your joys, and your fears.

Just one word of advice . . . hold fast to your faith —faith in God, faith in each other, faith in the worth and dignity of your fellowman. For without it you can do nothing worth while. With it you can do, not all the things you would like to do, but all the things you need to do.

It says here . . .
Faith lightens the pathway of reason.

Commends Ryan

So far as I can recall, this is the first letter I have ever written to a newspaper in response to anything printed in that paper.

Your editorial, "One Man's Opinion . . . A White Man's Prayer" has moved me to take this action. I sincerely commend you for this article and the obviously sincere and heartfelt expressions therein. We are, indeed, in critical times in this country and your editorial hit the point exactly on the head.

I have taken the Hilltop Record for years and, as of today, I have a great deal more respect for the paper than before. . . .

I personally believe that service clubs should be leaders in our social problems and that the problem of the Negro in our country is one which we must take firmly in hand and move positively forward to solve. We need your help every bit as much as the community needs ours.

Guest Pulpit . . Where Is The Church? Always Close At Hand

Our Methodist Men meets once each month. At this meeting they set out a miniature church. It has a slot in the roof, and the men put into it the pennies they have saved during the month. At our last meeting, which was a picnic supper, one of the group laid some pennies on the table and another was heard to say, "Where is the church?"

Rev. Loy

My reaction to this question was that it is never very far away from us. If we are driving around our city or traveling through the country, we will not go far until we see a church. Whether Jewish, Roman Catholic, or Protestant they have a message for each of us.

Right now science and technology are riding high with the arts trailing behind. In our culture the emphasis is on things, power and comfort. It is so easy for us to be caught up in the great whirl of materialism — we try to find meaning to life by giving ourselves to the things we can see, feel and touch.

The next time you pass a church remember that at its best it is saying to you and to me that no civilization can continue, no matter how successful it is in creating material means for living, if it neglects the spiritual ends of life. We need to remember Jesus' words in Matthew 15:26 "For what is a man profited, if he gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?"

Whenever we see a church it should remind us that we cannot stake our lives on the impermanence of things, that our only hope is to predicate our lives on something that abides, that is imperishable and eternal. In our world where change and decay are sure, the church would remind us of a loving Heavenly Father revealed to us in Jesus Christ, who seeks our allegiance and commitment. It is only the changeless God of Jesus Christ that can bring stability and peace to our human spirits.

When you go to work in the morning, when you take that trip to the mountains, or to the seashore, or when you go to the grocery or take the children to school you will see a church — it is always nearby. Will we hear its message? "Come unto me all ye that are weary and heavy laden and I will give you rest."

PLANNING ANNUAL JULY FOURTH PICNIC

PLANS ARE DISCUSSED for the coming July Fourth Orphans Picnic by Mother Madeline of St. Vincent's Orphanage and Mrs. Joseph Recchie, 955 Vernon-rd, representing the companions of St. Vincent. Some of the children who will attend the day-long event at the orphanage, 1490 E. Main-st, are seen with them. Shaded picnic grounds are available free for those bringing their own lunches. A delicious chicken dinner (75 cents for children and $1.50 for adults) will be served from 3 to 8 p.m. The year's event features rides, games and entertainment. Prizes, including two automobiles and four portable TVs, will be awarded. A goal of $33,000, about one-half of the year's operational costs has been set for this 82nd annual picnic.

Jackpot Reaches $114 In 'Confederate' Cash

A big shot in the arm this week for the rapidly growing "Confederate Money" jackpot has pushed the cash awaiting a lucky winner past the $100 mark.

The failure of those receiving "Confederate" emblems in their newspapers last week to collect any of the waiting cash has increased this week's jackpot by the maximum amount of $25.

This means the readers who discovers this emblem in his copy of his Hartley Newspaper this week can collect $114 in "Confederate" cash if he is a paid subscriber.

Twenty emblems with the number "1" will be placed in 20 seperate copies of this week's publication of Hartley Newspapers. Each of these emblems can be redeemed for $1 in "Confederate" cash by any reader if the advertisement containing the emblem is mailed to Hartley Newspapers, 2465 W. Broad-st.

All emblems are stamped in a color other than black on an inside page, within an advertisement. Deadline for submitting an emblem to claim "Conferedate" money is noon on Monday following publication.

All "Confederate" money can be spent just like real cash at any place of business advertising in a Hartley Newspaper during the week the finder discovers the emblem in his paper.

The finder of the "5" emblem can claim $5 in "Confederate" money if he is not a paid subscriber. Any reader can claim $1 in "Confederate" cash for the "1" emblems.

This contest is not open to employes of Hartley Newspapers, including carriers, or members of their families.

Grand Opening Planned At Dick Klamfoth Honda Sales

A complete selection of Honda Motorcycles and accessories will be on display at the Grand Opening Celebration at the new location of Dick Klamfoth Honda Sales and Service, 1962 E. Main-st.

New enlarged facilities and equipment at the Honda dealership will provide motorcycle fans with the finest in service and selection and a large lot will provide plenty of space for free parking of cars and motorcycles.

To introduce the new home of Klamfoth Sales and Service a week-long celebration has been planned to get underway Saturday, June 29, and will continue through July 6.

Gifts for the whole family include an orchid for the ladies, ball-point pens for the men and balloons for the children. Everyone will receive a free soft drink.

Free prizes to be given away at the conclusion of the celebration include crash helmets, motorcycle accessories and models of the Honda Motorcycle.

Klamfoth's new location will also offer complete service on motorcycles, safety helmets and a selection of riding clothes. All parts and accessories for the Honda Motorcycle will be available at the new facilities.

The new set went on sale Jun: 1.

Franklin Plating Now Into Its 50th Year Of Operation

Custom plating and refinishing copper, nickel, chrome, silver, zinc, cadmium, tin and brass objects is the specialty of the Franklin Plating and Polishing Co., 630 S. Sixth-st.

Now in its 50th year of operation the firm is owned and operated by two brothers, Joe and Walter Zang. A sister of the Zang brothers, Mrs. Marie Richards, serves as the company bookkeeper.

Besides plating of larger objects the organization also puts black oxide on steel and finishes kitchen hardware. "About the only thing we don't work with is gold," said Joe Zang.

The process of plating and finishing an object involves several steps starting with the stripping of the old plating to the base metal. Repairs of the object are then made, if they are needed, and the fixture is then polished, plated and buffed.

A company spokesman said the amount of buffing depends upon the customer since some clients prefer a shiny finish while others specify a dull lustre.

In 1913 the family's father, Charles Zang, founded the company and passed the trade on to his children. The elder Zang, a native of Alsace-Lorraine, learned the trade as a boy of 14 and brought his knowledge with him to Columbus.

TWO YOUNG MEN play make-believe in the cab which Dr. Hartman of Peruna fame long ago used to drive his wife to the opera. The cab was parked in front of the German Village office when Phillip Klentz, 820 S. Fifth, and Steve Brown, right, 606 Huxley, "commandeered" the ancient vehicle.

Village—

who are financially unable to modernize or maintain their homes.

"For example," Fetch explained, "if the home of an elderly couple desperately needed plumbing repairs, foundation funds would be made available to them, with no repayment expected until the ultimate disposition of the property after their death."

Such long-range plans may seem like castles in the air now.

However, the remarkable restoration of German Village, only a few years ago a slum - breeding area, began with only a pocketful of dreams of a few dedicated individuals.

Sunday was proof that dreams do come true, if enough people have the same dream, and work tirelessly toward it.

WHERE THERE'S Germans, there's a tavern nearby, and all good taverns must have a bartender. Walter Lynch, owner of the Mohawk Grill, stood by his manager, Harlen Quick, beside the sidewalk cafe set up for the convenience of the tired and thirsty sightseers Sunday.

Jean Dixon Elected To Girls' Nation Post

Jean Dixon has been elected as one of the two delegates from Buckeye Girls' State to attend Girls' Nation in Washington, D.C., July 28-Aug. 3.

On the campus of the American University, she will participate with the two girls from each Girls' State across the nation in the program which functions similarly to the program which just ended at Capital University, but on a national rather than city, county and state level.

Jean was a candidate for governor last week and when defeated filled the important position of adjutant-general.

A cheerleader during the past four years, Jean was elected to the vice-presidency of National Honor Society this spring. Among her other school activities are her membership in Y-Teen and GAA. She played with the band as a freshman and sophomore. Next year she will complete her second year in the school choir.

Three Enter Junior Fair

Three area young people were among six Franklin County boys and girls who submitted anplications to exhibit in the Junior Division of this year's 110th Ohio State Fair, according to an announcement by Junior Fair Division Manager Ralph LaRue.

Joining hundreds of other youths from all parts of the state who will compete for top honors and valuable premiums in the Hobby Show are Janice M. Higgy, 2032 Indianola-av, and Doris and Jerry Oursler, 1295 City Park-av.

The 11-day exposition will open with Youth Day on Friday, Aug. 23, and continue through a "Salute to Industry" on Labor Day, Sept. 2.

Parents who have a flock of youngsters have an easy time counting their blessings.

The Gadabout

Priscilla LaRue Lenon

HI. 4-1051

Columbus friends of Gus and Dorothy Husse, 95 E. Deshler-av, read and listened to accounts of the recently concluded Pan-American sports events in Sao Paolo, Brazil, with these thoughts in mind: "Wonder if the Husses saw this?" or "Wonder if the Husses were present when this happened?"

For Gus, it was not exactly a pleasure trip, as he made the trip to coach the U.S. bicycle team. Dorothy was very glad that her good friend Myrtle Ward, 1239 Forest-st, decided to accompany her to the neighboring continent.

Since the experiences of the bicycle coach have already been aired, via press and T.V. We have elected to give an account of the two sightseers only.

Dorothy and Myrtle spent a day in New York City before flying to Brazil, experiencing a very rough air trip. They reported language difficulties in Brazil, since they spoke no Portuguese, and few Brazilians speak English.

They found they were ignorant of the currency value of Brazilian money and in the early days of their trip, while in Rio De Janeiro, tipped a porter, who thought they were heavy spenders when they gave him 20 cruzeiros. Imagine their consternation later, when they discovered that it takes 600 of these to equal one dollar.

While in the famous city, they were guests at the Victorian-style Palace Hotel, stopping place for visiting celebrities. Ginger Rogers was scheduled to arrive the day after their departure.

Myrtle and Dorothy enjoyed the ocean view from their balcony, which overlooked a Snake Walk made with mosaic tile, along the beach.

Arriving too late to buy anything, they made notes of things they wished to buy in the ocean-front shops, when able to do so. As the evening wore on, they thought the rolling of the surf changed in sound, and little wonder! A "resecca," or tidal wave, the first in 30 years, had deposited four feet of sand on the land, breaking windows and ruining merchandise in the stores.

The militia stood guard, to discourage looting.

Another memorable experience was viewing "Christ of Concorado," erected to promote peace in the world.

Mrs. Husse and Mrs. Ward were surprised to discover that a "middle class", the niche that most of us occupy in life, was practically nonexistent in Brazil. There is extreme wealth or extreme poverty, with only a very small strata of the middle income bracket to act as a buffer.

Fog delayed the Columbus women from arriving in Sao Paulo on schedule, and news of two crashes gave Gus some anxious moments while waiting for his wife and her companion.

Twenty-three American countries participated in the sports fest, with this country represented by 500 athletes. The stadium held 185,000 people, and was filled to capacity, but not necessarily by paying customers. The tickets had been lost, so the customers just rushed in, for free!

All announcements were in Portuguese, so the USA athletes went unsaluted by their fellow countrymen, notoriously mono-lingual. As a matter of fact, Dorothy stated that folks at home knew the results of the different events far more quickly than did U.S. spectators at the arena.

It did no good to buy newspapers since they were also all in Portuguese.

Even though the language ability of the USA teams was not too great, 100 gold medals returned to this country, nonetheless.

Pan-America Villa, home of the athletes while in Brazil, was built on a university campus and is now used as dormitories for the school.

The Husses spent one evening as the guests of a millionaire bicycle manufacturer, Senior Caloi. His sumptuous home is staffed with five servants and a gardener. Dorothy spent most of the evening in coaching Senior Caloi's sister-in-law in English. She was due to attend a radio-TV conference in New York City and desired some assistance with her English.

One meat dish the Columbusites ate that night was strange to them, for it was made with goat meat.

The sightseers also visited Santos, the Coffee port of the world, but decided against visiting there on May 1, as the Communists were planning a May-Day celebration.

They discovered the Brazilians prefer their export brew served in a demi-tasse, half-filled with sugar. They never quite got used to the liquid as used in its native land.

The Americans found our South American neighbors to be warm and friendly. Even when dining in restaurants, they would receive roses or wine, unexpectedly and were always the center of attention.

One night they were stranded for three hours outside the stadium, and had no idea which "omnibus" they should board. At the end of the three hours they saw a group of teenagers and tried to elicit information about reaching their hotel, the Excelsior. Finally, they remembered that a narby theater of the hotel was showing a movie starring Tony Curis. The mere menion of the Hollywood actor brought instant responce, amid delighted chattering of the Brazilian youth, and the women were able to return to a worried Gus Husse. Thanks to this episode the travellers met a native girl, Iris, who showed them the "real" Brazil, areas unseen by the usual tourist.

The Columbusites also met Father Miner, a former Studer-av resident, who with Father Burns, helps to run a mission in the city.

The city's economy is strained by improverished northerners streaming in, who make their living by begging. This influx of people causes hardships, naturally, when one considers the population is 4,500,000.

Sanitation and water are bad, and the visitors were warned against eating fresh fruits and vegetables. Dorothy, in spite of precautions, did not escape a case of ptomaine poisoning while away from the United States.

The fabulous Brazilia, new capital of the country, was also on the tourists, agenda. They were quite impressed by the modern architecture of the buildings, many of which are still unoccupied.

The South Siders enjoyed their return trip home, and found many more new experiences. Stopping at the Hilton Hotel in Trinidad, they entered the building from the top and went down, as the edifice fronts the sea and is built right against a mountain side.

They also saw the Amazon River in the jungle, and were glad to pass safely thru that phase of their journey. They were participants in the ceremony of the Equator Club, conducted for those who make their first trip across the mid-riff of the old planet. The remainder of the trip included Caracas, Venezuela, San Juan, Puerto Rico, thence to New York. And what was the first thing they did in New York? Head for the snack bar, to get a cup of coffee, North American style.

The installation of officers for chapter 206, women of the Moose, will be held, following the regular chapter meeting tonight, at 36 W. Sycamore-st. Officers are senior regent, Helen Sailor; junior regent, June Booher; chaplain, Mary Conn; treasurer, Mary Grove; recorder, Anna Anderson; junior graduate regent, Faun Johnson.

Installation committee includes Mary Winegar, chairman; Marilyn Young, installing officer; Julie Schneider, Installing Guide and Ann Regner, chaplain. Refreshments will be served after the ceremony.

An open church wedding in the Hilltop Church of God will unite Sandra Kaiser, 529 S. Oakley-av, and Woodrow G. Moore, 1678 S. Champion-av. The 2:30 p.m. ceremony will be held Saturday, June 29.

A year-older "Teen Age" will be achieved by this group within the week: Stephanie Bondi, Mary Lou Ellinger, Susie Short, Nancy Paulus, Jenny Dayton, Scott Snyder, Marsha Houston, Beverly Oursler, Terry Darst.

The wedding ceremonies of yesteryear bring anniversary celebrations for these residents: Earl and Sue Pennington; Mae and Virgie Dean; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leslein; Paul and Anna May White, Bob and Mary Franz; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hetenhouser, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Briggs, Kenny and Alta Yunker.

Our Deepest sympathy to the family of Forest Ball, who passed away unexpectedly last week.

The Hope Luther League will have a car wash Saturday, June 29, starting at 10 a.m. The youngsters plan to use their profits to attend the League Convention in Detroit in 1964. They guarantee a good job for $1, whitewalls $1.25.

Cub Scout Pack 84 will enjoy the facilities of the South Side "Y" Park Saturday, June 29. A spaghetti supper for the entire family is one of the many features of the outing. Those attending are reminded to bring paper plates, cups and silverware.

The Luther League of Emmanuel Lutheran Church has planned an afternoon of miniature golfing Sunday, June 30, to be followed by a wiener roast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Waller.

A repeat tour o fthe Kakiki is scheduled for the YWCA Saturday, July 6. The $1 reservation must be made by Tuesday, July 2.

The Boosters Class and the Washington-av EUB men will hold a picnic tonight, 6:30, at Southview Park. Families are invited to attend the outing, which will be held, rain or shine.

Sharon (Crary) Good is very ill in Grant Hospital.

Illegal Law Practice Filed Against Two Men

Paul Cotner, 1016½ Parsons-av, and Walter R. Baker, 143 N. James-rd, Gahanna, have been charged with the illegal practice of law.

Cotner, an insurance agent, is accused of giving legal advice and preparing estate documents. Baker allegedly drafted wills in which he had no direct interest and also gave legal advice.

The hearing is set for July 20.

Tommy Petsef's Death Re-Noted

Some old friends from the South Side failed to note the death of Thomas T. Petsef, who was killed in a traffic accident June 1, and are still asking for him, his widow said Tuesday.

Though the Petsef home is at 40 W. North Broadway, as a partner of the Victoria Grille, 543 S. High-st for the past 34 years, he was well-known on the South Side.

Beside Mrs. Petsef, with whom he celebrated a 34th wedding anniversary this past Mother's Day, he is survived by his son, Peter Thomas, and one daughter, Mrs. Marietta Ashworth; and three grandchildren.

After service at the Southwick Funeral Home interment was at Union Cemetery.

Two Injured In Knife Attack

Two South Side men were given treatment at Mercy Hospital last Wednesday night after they were attacked and stabbed by two youthful attackers as they walked along S. High-st near Frankfort-av.

Thomas Ross, 26, of 2935 Neil-av, and Donald Alexander, 26, of 3725 Olentangy-bl, were reportedly each stabbed in the back three times by one of the two attackers. Alexander's wallet containing credit cards and papers was taken during the fight.

Columbus police are continuing their search for the two attackers.

TO END COURSE

Army Pvt. Fred M. Christy, 24, son of Mrs. Mary E. Christy, 863 Heyl-av, is scheduled to complete advanced artillery training as a sound ranging crewman at the Artillery and Missile Center, Fort Sill, Okla., July 20.

Less Digits

In the age of digits it is refreshing to be told we will have two less numbers to dial come Sunday, July 14, when we want to make a direct long distance call You will dial "1" instead of "112".

Phil Gibbs, district commercial manager of Ohio Bell Telephone Co., states that dialing "1" eventually will become the nationwide method for initiating any long distance, station to station call for which a toll charge applies.

WARNING! VICIOUS DOGS PATROL HERE

And in the "hours of darkness" they roam.

But there is no ause for alarm, as these split-personalities are either confined or leashed at all times.

Yet it is rather terrifying to see the German Shepherds patroling the restricted areas of the base at night change from amiable and thoroughly "hammish" pets playing dead-dog and begging to snarling, lunging, blood-thirsty beasts

It takes no witches' brew from a seething cauldron to work the switch merely a change of collar.

While undergoing obedience training or traveling from one area to another, the dogs wear chain choker collars and are relatively mild-natured, striving only to please their handler. But the moment a heavy leather collar is substituted, the dogs know it's time to go to work and become alert, vicious sentries.

Used for night patrol because of their remarkable sense of smell, the canines have three duties: first, to detect the presence of a stranger; secondly, to alert the air policeman who is walking patrol with the dog, and finally to attack and hold if necessary.

The sentry dogs, all trained at Lackland AFB in Texas, have learned their lessons so well that once

EVEN THE HEAVILY-padded suit he wore did not save him from some discomfort, when Kennel Master S./Sgt. Donald Douglas lost his hand-grip deep in the sleeve, and the mighty jaws of the attacking dog settled on his wrist with vise-like strength. Though he's been through extensive training to earn his title of "Kennel Master," Douglas still maintains a healthy respect for the sentry dogs, knowing the least false move can bring a vicious bite.

Auction Set At Steelton Parking Lot

Though it's two months until the annual auction, the Southside Businessmen and Industrial Association are making plans for the Sept. 12 event.

The charity sale will be held on the new Steelton Merchants parking lot east of Parsons-av, which is tentatively scheduled for Grand Opening the same day.

Joe Ronson, chairman, has announced that Howard Sales, 757 Parsons-av, and Hoermle's Appliances, 1894 Parsons-av, will serve as pick-up stations and are ready for donations now. Anyone with items too large to carry can make arrangements for a truck to collect them by calling Ronson at HI. 3-1580 or the either of the two stores, 443-4613 and HI. 4-2195.

Auto Parts Yards May Pretty-Up

By JANE ROBINSON

If the good intentions of the "Auto Parts Dealers" on the South Side are carried out, the unsightly messes of what are commonly known as junk yards will ultimately be concealed from public view

When a handful of the 41 dealers of the area invited to discuss the situation with members of the Council of South Side Organizations showed up at a meeting Thursday night, there was not a halo askew

They agreed to a man that their businesses are not attractive, that they want to clean up the South Side, and though they will not accept financial aid, the advice of municipal and civic organizations is more than welcome.

Mike Mileusnich as president of CSSO asked for comments on the possibilities of a planting program of fast-growing trees, shrubs and multi-flora roses which would hide the yards from view.

The dealers were apparently agreeable, but a little skepticism was aroused as the precise "what's" and "when's" were skirted. One dealer in particular was reminded of promises made two years ago and as yet unfulfilled.

One council member, obviously irritated with violations of city ordinances regulating the operation of junk yards, commented that either the dealers would conform or they would be kicked clear out of the South Side.

However, Mileusnich stated that he was willing to take the men's word that they would cooperate.

"If you weren't sincere, you wouldn't be at this meeting," he said, stating his belief that an individual's natural pride in his business would provide the motivation for a general clean-up.

Wayne Chaney, city inspector, when asked about enforcement of present legislation, pointed out that when the industry as a whole is cooperative, there is little difficulty in dealing with the few who decline to go along.

An appeal was made by Paul Nino of the Council for several of the dealers to take the initiative in a program of beautification of their yards.

He referred to the effectiveness of the efforts of the few property owners in German

TRACY may be in trouble, but is blissfully unaware of it. As president of Tracy Auto Parts on Refugee-rd she, if much older than three, might be concerned that her daddy who manages the business has not received the renewal of his permit to operate. Asked what Tracy's duties consisted of, her father, Ed Meitzer replied, "She keeps up our morale."

GOOD AT ANY ADVERTISER'S

Look For 'Confederate Emblem: It's Worth $139

Now is the time to check the advertisements inside this paper. One of those ads might contain a small emblem worth $139 in Hartley Newspapers' "Confederate" cash.

That's the amount of the jackpot being offered in this week's "Confederate" Money Contest sponsored by this paper.

To win the jackpot you must first find the emblem which looks like this but printed in a color other than black. It will be found in only one of the more than 75,000 papers published by Hartley Newspapers this week. You must also be a paid subscriber to a Hartley Newspaper and you must bring the page containing the lucky "5" emblem to the Hartley Newspaper Office, 2465 W. Broad-st, before the deadline at noon next Monday.

If you are not a paid subscriber, the "5" emblem is still worth $5 in "Confederate" cash, which can be spent just like good ol' U.S. currency at any place of business advertising in a Hartley Newspaper.

Twenty newspapers published this week contain emblems like this placed in the white space of an advertisement on the inside pages. Like the "5" emblem, these too are printed in a color other than black.

By mailing or bringing the emblem into the Hartley Newspapers Office, you will receive $1 in Confederate" money. You need not be a paid subscriber to win $1 "Confederate."

There's gold in them pages and any paid subscriber is eligible to win the big money. Don't hesitate another second. Start looking for a winning emblem now. This paper could contain a bonanza in "Confederate" cash for you

Employes of Hartley Newspapers, including carriers, and their families are not eligible to participate in this contest.

SANDRA'S PROUD of the trophy she won as the most improved bowler of her league that she won this spring, but it's an even sweeter trophy she's aiming for the Fourth of July. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ballinger, 471 Kossuth-st, Sandra is seeking the title of Miss South Side in the CSSO-sponsored beauty contest.

Whoopee!! It's July 4th

The beauty contestants are preening, the baseball pitchers are in fine fettle, and the fireworks ready to go all for the big Fourth of July celebration in Southview Park sponsored by the CSSO

Festivities will begin at 1:30 Thursday afternoon with the Southway Post Color Guard on hand At 2 p.m Heart of Ohio Leaguers will play baseball, and at 2:30 the South Side Y, interchurch junior all-star softball game will begin.

The class A junior all-star game is scheduled for 1:30, with the intermediate all-stars playing at 6:30

Simultaneously a slow-pitch game, an archery exhibition and a bow-bird shoot will be presented.

Marion Franklin High School band at 7:15 will present a band concert before the judging of the contest for the title of "Miss South Side" at 8:15.

John Marshall, chairman of the beauty contest asks that all entrants meet at the sound truck at 7 p.m. sharp, and reminded that a one-piece bathing suit and high heels are a must. Dressing room facilities will be provided for the young ladies, so they may wear street clothes during the afternoon entertainment.

Spook Beckman, Mrs. Betty Daft of Hartley Newspapers and Helen Barrett of the Chez Helene will act as judges

Rev. Walter Peters of the Southern Methodist church will offer a prayer at 8:45 and a brief patriotic address will precede the fireworks which will begin at 9 p.m

Contributions from merchants and individuals towards the $600 spectacular display of rockets and ground tableaus are continuing to come in.

She Has A Lot Of Children

BUT DORRIS SYFERS KNOWS WHAT TO DO

By PRISCILLA LENNOX

An hour's conversation with Dorris Syfers, 798 E. Columbus-st, will give "proof-positive" that collecting antique dolls can be an enriching hobby.

It has led the Columbus General Depot employe into the fields of history, style, geography and materials. After seven years her collections, now approaching the 400 mark, overflows into every room of her spacious home, only the kitchen and bath off limits.

Mrs. Syfers is emphatic that though doll collecting can be made into an expensive hobby, this is not necessarily so. She explained that some of her collection were originally "basket cases" and her own satifaction has come with the creation of something from nothing.

The necessity of repairing the maimed, the fractured and the scalped has kindled her ambition to establish an antique doll hospital after her retirement.

In the lingo of the collector, settings for the dolls are not known as "doll houses" but as "miniature rooms." Mrs. Syfers' ingenuity has made these rooms a collector's delight. A tooth paste cap covered with velvet becomes a flower pot, a hat pin, a doorknob, and an insulin bottle, a toothpick and a scrap of wall paper, a lamp

Not all rooms are period, as Mrs. Sefer's most recent creation employs the current-ly p[illegible] "Ken and Barbie" m[illegible] Here Ken is m[illegible] while Bar-b[illegible] flows [illegible] made w[illegible] and plastic p[illegible] m[illegible] is used for [illegible] through the [illegible] perhaps the first "doll" came into being thousands of years ago when someone found a root or stone that looked like a human being.

Though she knows that some of her dolls date back before the Civil War, she has some reservations as to the authenticity of a cloth doll dated 1804. Such dolls with embroidered faces were made in the image of their mistresses by ladies of the French courts.

Among the unusual items of her collection is a Shoenhut made of wood and strung together with springs, a molded wax doll with eyes that open and close, and a 40-inch bisque. The smallest of her china-headed dolls in only finger length, while the tallest is 25 inches long.

She rues how few boy dolls she has found, explaining they are rare. She pointed out that in recent years, Howdy-Doody is practically the only male doll in the market.

Her husband Clarence has developed a parallel pastime of building and repairing miniature furniture, restoring doll buggies and collecting doll houses.

He especially values one of the latter, the handmade nails indicating it to be nearly a hundred years old and the "signature" houses, bearing the name of the craftsman.

Peter The Great of Russia, Marie Antointette, the Aztec Emperor Montezuma and Queen Victoria are among the historical collectors. It was once the custom for ladies of title to carry a doll wherever they went, and France at one time forbade the practice by law.

Magazines such as "Doll News," "Doll Talk" and "Toy Trader" are the trade bibles of the doll-fancier, while firms exist catering only to the collector, offering fabrics of by-gone days, for doll clothes or parts for the amputees.

The international hobby has spread in this country form New England down to the Eastern Shore, and new flourishes from coast to coast.

Mrs. Syfers is a member of the Ohio Valley Doll Collectors' Club, which is affiliated with the United Federation of Doll Clubs Mrs. Syfers has been absent but once in the last seven years when OVDCC members from Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana meet usually at the Golden Lamb in Lebanon. She hopes to go to Los Angeles in August, which will make her third national and is already at work on a miniature room for display in Cincinnati in 1964.

Through her hobby, Mrs. Syfers has developed another talent. She frequently shows her dolls to groups such as the "Firelands" club of Sandusky and Girl Scout groups. (She explained that "Firelands" is the name of the land in Ohio given to Connecticut residents burned out by the British

"LITTLE WOMEN" ARE GROUPED around Marmie in the miniature room bringing back in German bisque the ageless Alcott story of Jo, Meig, Amy and Beth. Part of the collection of Mrs. Dorris Syfers, they were authentically dressed in Civil War period costumes by Mrs. Jacob Rickets, 197 Obets-rd, who is also an antique doll collector.

Planned Parenthood Establishes Clinic

South Side Settlement House Offers Advice On Birth Control

Seeing its function as intended to assist in the total lives of the families seeking its aid, the South Side Settlement House permitted the Planned Parenthood Center to open a birth control clinic at the settlement house last year

In the cooperative effort between the center and the non-sectarian and inter-racial agency, birth control information and the means to practice it are made available to anyone who requests it.

"Since the number of dependents affects the entire family life," explained Mrs Fannie Eisenstein, director, "we feel there is more to our work than providing recreational facilities and instruction in homemaking."

Almost all of the 200 women who have sought such help during the clinic's first year of operation have given either economic or health reasons for their decision

"Chiefly they are fearful of jeopardizing the relative security of the children they already have," Mrs. Eisenstein added.

A worker from Planned Parenthood is at the settlment house from 10 to 12 every Monday morning, and will grant an interview without an appointment to any individual or group.

Certain selected cases are referred to the parent agency for participation in the research projects being carried on with oral contraceptive drugs, and medical appointments are made for those desiring diaphrams.

Though no pressure is put on anyone to practice birth control, the agency retains the right to suggest it to those seeking economic and social assistance.

The vaginal foam which the clinic dispenses is considered almost foolproof. One of the factors affecting its success, according to Mrs. Eisenstein, is that the initiative is taken by the mother, who is more directly concerned with unwanted pregnancy than the husband.

Couple Compose Wedding Prayer Sung At Southwood Ceremony

The bride composed the music and the bridegroom wrote the words for the wedding prayer, "Together," sung at the marriage service of Miss Priscilla Ann Dicke and Mr. Richard Roth.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Paul J. Lenox, 1411 S. Sixth-st, and Mr. Sylvanus Dicke, Ontawba Cliffs, O., and Mr. Roth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Roth, Jr., of Alexandria, O.

The ceremony took place June 1 at the Southwood Church of Christ, with Rev. Ellis Wesner officiating, and Rev. Charles Lee, assisting.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Donald Dicke, of Cleveland, chose a gown of silk organza over taffeta, featuring a chapel train, princess lines and hoop skirt. The scoop neckline, lace applique and bustle back were trimmed with iridescents and seed pearls. She wore elbow length gloves and pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Her waist-length veil of illusion was attached to a crown of seed pearls, and she carried a cascade of white roses with a center corsage of red roses.

Mrs. John Tope served as matron of honor, and Dorothy Sinclair, bridesmaid.

They wore nearly identical street-length dresses of medium blue silklore, featuring cowl necklines. Mrs. Tope's dress was a sheath style, while the bridesmaid's was fashioned with fullness in the skirt.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD ROTH

Mrs. Jack Alton, vocalist, sang the wedding prayer.

The new Mrs. Roth is a graduate of South High School and attended Cincinnati Bible Seminary for two years.

Mr. Roth is a graduate of Alexandria High School and attended Ohio Wesleyan University. He is currently a divinity student at Cincinnati Bible Seminary.

Hobbyists Begin Planning For Autumn Hobby Show

Mrs. Howard Bevis, wife of former president of Ohio State University, has been named co-chairman of the 15th annual Central Ohio Golden Age Hobby Show.

Mrs. A. L. Greenspun will serve as general chairman for the event.

The hobby show, co-sponsored by the Citizen-Journal and Columbus Recreation Department, will be held in the Gallery of Fine Arts, 480 E. Broad-st, Sept. 13, 14 and 15, and is open to all central Ohio residents 60 years of age or more who have hobbies or collections to exhibit.

Hobbies include needlework, woodwork, leatherwork, creative, writing, painting or any handmade article.

New Gray Ladies Needed To Fill Hospital Vacancies

Red Cross is seeking new volunteers to wear the uniform of the Gray Lady Service.

For years these ladies in gray have given services that have contributed to the comfort and recovery of the sick, the injured and the handicapped in hospitals and institutions.

Although some 200 women actively serve in this program many more are needed to meet new requests for Gray Ladies by hospitals not presently served and fill vacancies in hospitals and institutions that already have Gray Lady units.

Interested persons may call the Franklin County Chapter of the American Red Cross, 995 E. Broad-st, CL. 3-8511.

Soroptimist And Suburban Clubs Award Scholarships To Mrs. Mary Montebello And Mrs. Nicole K. Jeffers

MRS. MONTEBELLO

Soroptimist Club of Columbus has awarded its ninth $800 scholarship to Mrs. Mary Montebello, 1267 Pierce-av. This marks the second consecutive year that Mrs. Montebello has received the scholarship.

She is an elementary school principal and for the past three years has been a graduate assistant and PhD student at Ohio State University.

Any woman resident of Franklin County who has completed her undergraduate work may apply for the $800 scholarship award. The applicant may select any field of study and may attend any accredited school of her choice.

Other conditions of eligibility are high scholarship, financial need and her intention to contribute in service to her community as well as to her personal and professional advancement.

Application forms may be obtained by contacting a Soroptimist.

Suburban Women's Club, an affiliate of the Ohio and General Federation of Women's Clubs, has awarded a $400 nursing scholarship at Ohio State University School of Nursing to Mrs. Nicole Kessler Jeffers, 1413 King-av.

Mrs. Jeffers is a 1960 graduate of North High School.

This scholarship, based on character, financial need and grades, was one of the major educational aid projects of Suburban Women's Club for the 1962-63 club year.

The club received a $500 award for its educational aid projects in a national contest sponsored by the Shell Oil Co. and the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

It was open to any high school graduate in Franklin County who attends OSU School of Nursing.

MRS. N. K. JEFFERS

Discussions Begin July 9

Hilltopper To Be Featured As Clarinet Soloist, Sunday

Patti Crawshaw, 109 S. Burgess-av, will be featured this Sunday, July 7, as clarinet soloist in the Columbus Federation of Musicians concert to be held at 8 p.m. at Schiller Park.

Miss Crawshaw was concert mistress of the West High School band for two years. She will play a number written especially for her by her father, D. T. Crawshaw.

Crawshaw, who is center director at Schiller Recreation Center and supervisor of music for the Columbus Recreation Department, will conduct the concert.

Also featured on the program is Dorothy Wilson Kinsey, local pianist, who will play the George Gershwin "Rhapsody in Blue."

The program is a "pop concert" and will include such favorites as "Egmont Overture," "Emperor Waltz," "Jamaican Rhumba," and "Music Man" selections.

This free concert is made possible by the City Recreation Department and the recording and transcription fund of the Musicians Union.

A SOLID MASONRY wall has been constructed here which more than conforms with the letter of the ordinance concerning the fencing of city junk yards. It is an example of the efforts of a scrap dealer who voluntarily has helped to clean up the South Side.

Junkyard

Village who inspired others to follow suit in creating showplaces out of what had once been eyesores.

Representatives of Reliable Truck and Auto Parts and the Tracy Auto Parts pointed out that each firm has had problems involved in establishing its present location and that objectionable situations existing today will be done away with as time and money permit.

Raymond Goller, superintendent of building permits, made it clear that anyone violating the city code would rectify the situation immediately or lose his license.

Council members, though vitally interested in "making the South Side look like something," were practical enough to realize that men do not go into the auto parts and scrap business for their health, and are attempting to solve the problem without undue hardship on the dealers.

Conversely, the dealers in expressing their intentions to cooperate well know that the threat of further legislation and zoning hangs over their collective heads, and it is to their best interests to make whatever concessions are not impractical.

With a follow-up meeting scheduled in September, it appears that another step has been taken to keep "blight" from devouring the South Side.

LITTLE DOUBT EXISTS that this chain type fence setting apart a South Side business from the world is of uniform height and "sound," as the law requires. From an esthetic point of view, there is still much to be desired.

EFFECTIVELY SHIELDED from public view is the scrap yard behind this lattice fence along Corr-rd. Less expensive to construct than a concrete block wall, it is generally accepted by area residents as a satisfactory means of eliminating an eyesore.

Vicious Dog

The dogs can never again safely enter civilian life, and when no longer able to work are painlessly anesthetized.

After screening at Lackland the dogs, either donated or sold by their previous owners, undergo eight weeks of intensive training. Though other breeds are adaptable by intelligence and temperament, the Air Force accepts only German Shepherds as their coat will adjust to any climate, and they can be used in Alaska or Pacific jungles.

Once arriving at its assigned base, the dog has only one master, a hand-picked air policeman who is the only person whom the dog is taught to obey and love.

Kennel Master, S/Sgt. Donald Douglas, 921 Duke-rd, confirmed that the devotion between a sentry dog and his handler surpasses the usual affection of a household pet and his master.

It is a sad time when an airman's enlistment is over, and he knows that not only must he leave his dog behind, but assist in retraining the dog to reject him and accept another man as his personal god.

Working in shifts, the animals patrol each night for six hours, a task they look forward to, eagerly jumping in the truck that in true Air Force tradition allows them "to ride to work."

With their resident vet, excellent care and high protein diet, the dogs are usually able to stave off the occupational diseases of arthritis and weak legs until about ten years old.

Though dogs have been used for sentry duty since the time of Napoleon, the increasing demand has developed a need for more German Shepherds than the air Force can easily obtain.

Anyone who is interested in furnishing a dog to serve in the Air Force may write to the Animal Procurement Officer, PO Box 52, Lackland AFB, Tex.

Any German Shepherd between one and three years old, at least 26 inches tall at the shoulder and weighs 60 or more pounds, is eligible for testing.

At government expense arrangements can be made to ship the dog to Lackland for testing. Some "recruits" flunk-out, usually from lack of aggressiveness or failure to obey readily, and these dogs will be returned home if the owner wants them.

Why would an owner want to give up his pet?

Lt. Dewar stated that often dogs which have proved mean around children are offered, that a large dog such as these sometimes proves to be more care and expense than the owner contemplated, and others feel giving their dogs to the Air Force is an act of patriotism.

Announce Coming Movie Schedule For City Parks

Nature films have been scheduled to be shown out-of-doors each Tuesday night at Darby Creek Park; Wednesday nights at Blacklick Woods and Thursday nights at Blendon Woods Park.

All programs are scheduled to begin at dusk and benches are provided on a first come—first serve basis. Visitors may bring their own chairs and cushions.

The schedule for July is as follows:

July 9, 10 and 11. "Realm of the Wild." Big game animals and smaller animals in our national forests. "North Dakota, The Changing Picture," a story of North Dakota from its fat cattle to its lush wheat fields.

July 16, 17 and 18. "The Island Way," a trip along the southern coast of Finland. "Everglades; Gateway to Water Wilderness," a cruise into the mysterious Everglades.

July 23, 24 and 25. "Mobile, City of the Old South," the story of the Mardis Gras, Azalea Trail and Bellingrath Gardens. "Just For the Fun of It," a pictorial presentation of lakes in the South which have been created by the Army Corps of Engineers.

July 30, 31 and Aug. 1. "Pennsylvania Dutch Country," a tour of Lancaster County, Pa. "A Tree Is Born," story of how researchers produce hybrid pine trees.

Jerry Spears Co. Observes 35 Years Of Area Service

The Jerry Spears Co., 2693 ; Broad-st, is observing 35 ers of service to Columbus ea residents by calling at- ntion to four "firsts" which e organization has accom- lished at its modern Hilltop apel.

The company was the first the Hilltop area with ex- usive ambulance service, pleted with inhalator and r conditioning; the first on e Hilltop with elevator serv- e to casket and apparel dis- ays rooms and conference oom; the first on the Hilltop th a fully air-conditioned neral chapel and parlors d the first on the Hilltop offer a pre-arranged serv- e.

Both Jerry Spears, Sr., and rry Spears, Jr., have re- ated their long-honored policy to aid the family in making arrangements to suit preferences and price range, using no pressure; to provide pre-arranged service only when the family desires; to participate and give full support to all civic projects and activities which contribute to community betterment; to provide ambulance service as well as funeral direction; and to refrain from all commercial methods or policies which might be construed as pressure tactics.

Do You Know Your Sports?

(Fifth in a series)

Hand ball is recognized as the oldest of ball games. The game was originated in Ireland in the 10th century and came to this country in the 1880's with one of Erin's best players, Phil Casey.

Casey introduced the game at police and fire stations around Brooklyn and the game grew in popularity until it spread all across the United States.

THE GAME WAS played then as it is now — by simply slapping a rubber ball against a wall with either hand. There is no bat, no paddle, no racket —just the ball and the hand.

As of last year, 5,000,000 Americans were engaged in the sport which calls for a court which is 34x20 feet and includes a wall 16 feet high.

Today, it's uncommon to find a college, YMCA or athletic club which does not have facilities for hand ball. Only equipment necessary is the hard rubber ball (two inches in diameter, 23 ounces in weight) which costs $1. Expert players might purchase gloves, ranging in price from $2 to $5.

WOMEN ENGAGE in the sport but usually on a leisurely basis since the game demands a great deal of stamina and speed.

A game consists of 21 points which are scored in this manner: The server bounces the ball and then slaps it against the wall to bring it back across the prescribed line. The receiver must hit it back against the wall on the fly or first bounce. Players alternate returns until one fails to make a legal return.

The U.S. Hand Ball Association (4101 Dempster-st, Skokie, Ill.) has its major national championships Apr. 22 to 28 at Seattle, Wash.

REMOVING A RADIATOR, mechanic Sam Bircheen will completely check, repair and paint it before it is returned to the automobile. This service is now being featured at Franklin Auto Radiator, 20 W. Morrill-av, at a special reduced rate.

Low Price Offered Customers Who Check Radiators Early

"In order to avoid the fall and winter rush, now is a good time to have your car's radiator completely checked and reconditioned," advised Bill Stamper, owner and manager of Franklin Auto Radiator, 20 W. Morrill-av. "In fact," he added, "during the summer we are offering a complete radiator repair and reconditioning job for $15.75."

This special Franklin price includes the removal and replacement of the radiator, boiling it out, repairing and painting and replacement of any worn or broken hoses. This operation usually costs as much as $22.50.

Stamper, a native of Columbus, opened his shop two years ago at its present location after working for a radiator repair shop in Cleveland. He brought 20 years' experience with him.

Although the firm specializes in radiator work, trained personnel also take care of mechanical repairs and body work on automobiles. Free estimates on all work are available and each job is guaranteed. Wrecker service is also available.

A complete line of modern test equipment for automotive repairs is on hand at Franklin Auto Radiator and is operated by experienced mechanics.

A FRONT VIEW of one of the newly constructed apartments in the Greenbrier Apartment project on Eaton and Miner-avs shows the design of the southern colonial motif used throughout the development. White brick and stucco, accented by charcoal roofs and shutters was used to emphasize the attractive design by George Deffet and Associates who promoted the development.

Deffet Co. Finishes Construction On New Greenbrier Apartments

George Deffet, president of Deffet Real Estate, 3225 W. Broad-st, has announced the completion of work on the $250,000 Greenbrier apartment project on Eaton and Miner-av, west of the South Freeway.

The new project will offer apartments that are moderate in rent and especially attractive to persons working in the downtown area. The decor of the development is a southern colonial motif with gleaming white brick and stucco accented by charcoal roofs and shutters.

Other projects currently under construction include a $90,000 commercial building in Upper Arlington, residences located southwest in the $25,000 price range and apartments in the company's $600,000 Riverview complex of 66 units in North Columbus west of Olentangy River-rd, south of Riverside Methodist Hospital.

Land is currently under option in several other locations, including Dayton. Leases are also being acquired for a $500,000 three-story office building in Clintonville on N. High-st. Other land for apartment construction is currently in the engineering stages and the company has announced it is considering additional locations in the Franklin County area for residential home building.

AFTER LOOKING OVER the rich bottom land slated to be filled with debris by the wrecking company, S. G. Loewendick and Sons, an observer asked, "Why?" The owner of the property, Dr. Robert Kessler, could or would not give a straight answer, and the area residents are in the process of organizing against any possible threat to their property. The lady who states she rents the remodeled farm house directly from Dr. Kessler, though he denied this, suggested that the doctor perhaps wanted a level back yard. The mowing of 35 to 45 acres of lawn could undoubtedly be quite a challenge.

Seagrave Plant Purchased By Pennsylvania Company

A price in excess of $2.7 million was reportedly paid by the FWD Corp., subsidary of Mt. Clemens Industries, Inc., Bala Cynwyd, Pa., for the Seagrave Fire Engine Plant, 2000 S. High-st, according to an announcement Friday by a company spokesman.

The FWD Corp. will now be one of the nation's leading manufacturers of fire fighting equipment, according to Lou A. DePolis, president.

A spokesman also told reporters the newly acquired firm will continue to operate with the present management and use the same sales policies as in the past.

Y All-Stars Notch Win Over Ostrander Team

The South Side "Y" Inter-Church Junior All-Stars made their annual trip to Ostrander, Ohio and scored a victory over an All-Star team representing the churches of that area.

Players who made the trip were as follows: Tom Mulesano, John King, Eugene Epps, Tim O'Neill, Tony Martin, Paul Quickel, Hubert Moore, John Workmaster, Doug Davies, Bill Karns, Carl Faris, Kenny Tobias, Jim Christy and Dennis Leslein.

Bill McDonald and Clyde Parsley handled the coaching duties, while Charlie Coleman, Jr., served as an umpire and Dwight Brown was official scorer.

Land Fill Eyed With Suspicion

Residents of Courtwright-rd, near the old Salzgaber farm have kept the telephone lines to the court house busy this past week in seeking recourse from the land fill begun on what is now the Dr. Robert Kessler property.

Not satisfied with the answers they have received, the group planned to meet Monday night to discuss among themselves the situation and to consider obtaining an attorney to represent them, according to Howard Spence, one of the group.

Though the facts of the case are cloudy, a few angles are undisputed. Dr. Kessler has leased the property to S. G Loewendick and Sons, which is listed in the telephone directory classified section under "Wrecking, Building and Houses."

Dr. Kessler's farm consists of 66 acres, more than half of which is bottom land of the Walnut Creek. This land is approximately 18 feet lower than the plateau on which the remodeled farm house stands.

Dr. Kessler stated that he has no control while the land is under lease to Loewendick, but the lease specifies use of the property for landfill.

He further stated that the land is not under option and that he has no intentions of either selling or sub-dividing the property.

Visual inspection of the landfill revealed nothing except rubble customarily removed when a building is torn down, such as wiring, concrete blocks and bricks and used lumber.

Such debris in itself does not create a health hazard, according to information from the Board of Public Health.

Dr. Kessler, though asked several times, did not clarify whether the terms of the lease specify what materials can or cannot be used in the proposed landfill.

The county commissioners, it was reported, asked Loewendick to oil or wet down the road leading to the site, as the dust is a problem, and he agreed.

In discussing the situation Dr. Kessler stated that much of the background information that led him to make this use of the land is in the nature of "privileged communication" and cannot be made public.

Property values in the area range up to $30,000 and it was obvious that low-cost housing would be almost as objectionable to the neighbors as a garbage dump of which they voice a fear.

Asked about the deliberate destruction of good bottom land, Kessler indicated that top soil could be used to cover the fill after completion.

It is possible that the neighbors prematurely jumped to conclusions in deciding the lease is a threat to their properties.

Yet, Dr. Kessler gave no concrete reason for converting rich bottom land to a pile of rubbish, though he did indicate his thinking was long-range, with the ultimate good of the community his sole motivation.

One thing is certain, the Courtwright-rd residents have their collective eye on the situtation and intend to keep it there.

They are also fully aware that he Alum Creek-dr landfill and dump was closed as of July 1.

NEW CHAMP

CHARLES "RED" Wampler, Route 6, Lancaster, displays the 15 lb., 14 oz. channel catfish he caught recently at Jackson Lake (Lithopolis) to become the lake's new fishing "champion." Red took the fish after a 30-minute battle with a Mitchell 300 with an eight-pound test line on a soft craw. Former champ was Dave Smith of the Obets Hardware.

CHIEF NOT HORSIN'

CHIEF BOB FLESHER, a senior at Canal Winchester this fall, won't be satisfied with trinkets. The chief is after the big trophies at the 15th annual Mid-Western Horse Show and Rodeo, July 3 to 7, at the Ohio State Fairgrounds Coleslum. Bob, who works with his aunt and uncle, Charlie and Betty Ept of Valee Acres, Pickerington, has appeared in many shows, most frequently in the Appaloosa Costume Class, the specialty of the Valee Acres Farm. This is just one of the 156 classes being offered at the Mid-Western Horse Show and Rodeo. There are also divisions for Arabians, Morgans, Palominos, Quarter Horses, Western Horses and Ponies, Calf Roping, Cattle Cutting, Rodeo and Girls' Barrel Racing events. Performances will be held at 7:30 p.m. July 3-6, and 1:30 p.m. July 4, 6 and 7. Mid-Western show officials report that entries are coming in from at least half of the 50 states.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

July A Good Month For Food Shoppers

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits — Watermelons, cantaloupes, plums, bananas, peaches, lemons.

Other — Cheese, ice cream, frozen lemonade.

July might be called "Best Eating Month" of the year . . . that is, if you like that good 'ole homegrown flavor of vegetables and fruits. In addition, you can look forward to a good supply of shipped-in produce and plenty of beef, poultry and dairy foods.

Mrs. Franks

Roasting ears will start coming from nearby farms next week. The supply will be light at first and increase substantially by mid-July. You'll like the better quality of the early corn this year because many producers are growing new hybrids that eat much better than the early sweet corn of past seasons.

Harvest of field-grown tomatoes has started in southern Ohio and there will be a good supply of greenhouse tomatoes throughout July. Other salad vegetables will also be plentiful and of high quality, if good growing weather continues. If you are in the mood for cooked fresh-from-the-garden vegetables, there are lots of good snap beans, beets, cauliflower and squash, at lower prices.

Fresh fruits have had a hard time this season in Ohio. However, locally-grown black and red raspberries, currants and gooseberries are short season fruits you'll want to watch for during the next three weeks. At this writing, the prospects for these fruits look good. This is the time also for red sour cherries, but there will be fewer around than usual—about one-eighth of a crop in Ohio and a small crop throughout the country.

Shipped-in fruits in good supply are watermelons, cantaloupes, southern peaches, plums and western grapes. Fresh apricots and nectarines are other short season fruits to enjoy during July.

Meat prices are not expected to change much for the next several weeks. Despite good summertime demand, beef steaks from the loin and rib are expected to stay lower priced than last summer. You're likely to see low-priced specials on chuck roasts, rump roasts, and round steaks in the next few weeks. This may be a good time to replenish beef supplies for the freezer or locker. Forequarters are being offered by quantity meat suppliers at very reasonable prices.

In the poultry line, broiler supplies will be seasonally heavy during July; many turkeys will move from frozen storage at reasonable prices; egg prices may move a little higher on the grade A large as production drops off seasonally, and as more of the smaller and middle-sized eggs appear.

Park Concerts Set For Summer

Sunday evening concerts are being revived in city parks with much interest being shown, according to J. Richard Lawwill, superintendent of Parks and Forestry.

With the cooperation of the Civitan Clubs of Columbus, the following schedule has been set up for the Park of Roses, N. High-st, at 7:30 p.m. each evening.

July 14 — Buckeye Chapter Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Singing in America novice quartet contest.

July 28 — Columbus Chapter Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Singing in America concert.

Aug. 11—Columbus Maennerchor.

Aug. 18 — Buckeye Chapter Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Singing in America concert.

To end the season arrangements are now being made to have the Lockbourne Air Force Base band perform on Aug. 25 and the Eastern Star choral group on Sept. 8.

At Goodale Park, through the cooperation of the Near Northside Council, two concerts will be given.

July 14 — North High School Band.

July 28 — Whetstone High School Band.

Tentative plans call for the North American Band appearing at Franklin Park on Aug. 25 through the cooperation of the Franklin Park Advisory Council.

Sporting Propositions And Golfing Tranquility

Just about one month ago, this newspaper offered youngsters an opportunity to place free want-ads. This, we believe, was a step in the right direction towards improving conditions between the newspaper and its public.

Unfortunately, the helping hand is extended only to the kids. We were hoping that papers such as the Sporting News and slicks like Sports Illustrated might follow suit by offering the same kind of deal once a year to professional athletes and big time sports.

Since they have not responded,, we would like to provide this service for this countries' athletes who might have need of advertising:

EVERYTHING must go! Racy sports car, sport coat wardrobe, lightweight cue stick, assorted Mamie Van Doren pictures, Write B. Belinsky. Honolulu, Hawaii. (no stamps, please).

WANTED — AAU - NCAA mediator. Must be sober, patient, fair-minded and tolerant. Must replace (sick and) tired, old soldier. Write Olympic Relations Committee, Washington D.C.

THE WORD from Nick Barack at the City Recreation Dept. is that everything is still 'go' for the proposed Municipal Golf Course on N. Hamilton-rd.

Nick's 'board of inquiry,' which included a cross section of both local pro and amateur golfers, inspected the site last week and were of the opinion that interference caused by low-flying aircraft approaching Port Columbus would not be a major distraction to the peace-loving golfing public.

THE GROUP, which spent better than an hour strolling around the site during the heavy air traffic period, agreed that the flights were infrequent enough with engine rumbles confined to just a few seconds.

Next problem is deciding if the land tract of 135 acres (less 20 acres for a buffer area around landing signals which halve the course site) will be adequate for 18 holes, parking facilities and a club house.

Barack's next step will be a get - together with golf course designer Jack Kidwell, who has volunteered to study air photos of the site and figure if the course can be constructed inside the boundaries.

Muskies Run At Senaca; Bald Eagle Victimized?

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Word from Senaca Lake is that muskellunge are hitting. Nothing really big reported as yet, but anglers are taking quite a few smaller ones. The biggest muskie caught there so far is an 18½-pounder taken some time ago. Artificial lures trolled in the north end of the lake seem to be most productive.

Situated south of Cambridge in one of the most scenic areas of the state, Senaca is a popular fishing lake. Years ago, crappies went crazy there and someone took Lowell Thomas to fish for them. His day was such a huge success, he gave the lake national publicity. Crappie fishing was fairly good there this spring, but nothing like the old days.

A camping area is available, although it is not large and facilities do not appear to be up to state park standards. There are rental boats here, too.

ANOTHER FISHING excursion that might entice anglers from this area would be to Clark Lake. This area is several miles east of Springfield and is north of Route 40. The lake is small, and was built by the Division of Wildlife as a fishing impoundment.

Bass and bluegills are the prime species here, and with the arrival of hot weather they may be difficult to catch. Mornings and evenings would be the best times to try for them.

This is a family lake, with picnic tables, water pumps and toilets available. There is a gravel boat launching ramp.

HAVE YOU EVER been to Hargus Creek Lake? I'll wager you've never even heard of it, but it's nestled in A. W. Marion State Park, a few miles east of Circleville. For some reason the lake has never been really red-hot for fishing. It looks good—plenty of snags and cover for bass and bluegills. Rental boats are available if you want to try these waters, or there is a boat ramp if you want to take your own rig.

Hagus Creek also calls for a family outing, although there is no swimming beach. Because of this the park is usually uncrowded.

NATIONAL EMBLEM GOING, GOING . . .

IT WILL BE particularly ironic if our way of life in these United States will kill off our national emblem, the bald eagle

But that may be just what is happening.

According to the National Wildlife Federation, it has been estimated that fewer than one thousand bald eagles remain alive in the 48 mainland states. And within recent months no less than 45 of these magnificent birds, found dead or in the throes of death, have been sent for pesticide residue analysis to the Patuxent Wildlife Research Center.

All but one of these eagles contained DDT in their tissues, apparently obtained from eating poisoned fish which had eaten smallforms of aquatic life that contracted pesticides from the water. Four more dead eagles were in transit to Patuxent for analysis on June 6.

ACTIVE BALD eagle nests probably number less than 12 in Ohio, and in Michigan, biologists have located a total of 42 nests in the Upper Peninsula and only 14 in the Lower Peninsula this year. In the Chesapeake Bay area only 25 active nests—less than half of the 53 found last year—have been located.

That bald eagles are disappearing is a fact. No one is ready to point his finger at pesticides yet, but the evidence may be accumulating.

GOLF ETIQUETTE — 3

TAMING THE SAND TRAP

PROBABLY THE greatest curse to the golfer is the sand trap which sometimes seems almost impossible to escape. Here our hero fights a losing battle in his effort to reach a disappearing green. The moral or the story is not to hit into the trap but if you do, please be considerate of the next unfortunate. Just as it's good golfing etiquette to replace your fairway divots, it follows that you shouldn't leave the sand trap looking like some barren wasteland. Oh, incidentally—those pockets of sand aren't outdoor ashtrays or burial grounds for an embarrassing scorecard.

Whitehall, Grove City Eye Legion Pennants

Grove City and Comrade Post (Whitehall) picked up ground in the American Legion divisional baseball races during the week as G-C notched two more wins and Whitehall split a pair with second-place Southway Post.

Scott Anderson and John Warden continued their mound mastery over opponents as Anderson picked up a 5-2 win over Camp Chase and Warden stopped Scioto Post, 7-2, on a three-hitter Sunday for G-C's seventh straight victory.

The victory over Camp Chase was a key win as it dropped the losers two full games off the pace in the Gold running. G-C took a 2-0 lead in the second frame on singles by Ed Harris, Dave Beets, Ralph Reeves and Mel Williams.

Anderson, who pitched shutout ball for six innings, got relief from Warden in the seventh when Chase scored its only runs. Warden yielded two walks and a single but fanned Grossman to end the game.

EDDIE HARRIS' two singles topped the hitters but Eyer and Paul Frasure hit back-to-back triples to give the winners some insurance tallies in the seventh.

Over in the Blue Division, Whitehall suffered its first setback as Southway pulled out a 4-3 extra-inning win in the first half of a Sunday doubleheader.

Bob White, Bill Howard and George Maurer combined on a six-hitter to check the Rams, whose biggest hit came on Jim Pyles' homer.

MAURER KEPT Whitehall on the ropes in the nightcap, nursing a 1-0 margin through the first three frames. But Comrade tied the count in the fourth and then won it in the fifth with three big runs. Maurer yielded but three hits but wasn't as stingy in the run department as Whitehall's Joel Brandt and Bill Dildine, who split mound duties.

Brandt was the master earlier in the week as he pitched Comrade to an 8-1 decision over Eastmoor, scattering four hits.

Biggest advance in the Blue Division standings was made by the Scioto (St. Charles) club, which racked up three wins without defeat during the week.

TOM MURPHY and Carl Asmo proved to be the hottest ingredients to Scioto's surge. Asmo picked up two of the wins in relief, turning back Bexley Post Sunday, 10-4, and Capital City, 9-4, earlier. Asmo also spelled John Pettorini in Scioto's third win — 9-5 over Southway.

Murphy's bat was potent in in all three victories. Tom collected a homer against Southway and then pounded Capital City pitching for a triple, double and single in three plate appearances.

Bexley Post (Hartley) managed two wins in four tries during the week. Jack Diamond's three-hitter gave Bexley a 4-2 Blue loop win over Capital City but Whitehall and Scioto provided reversals.

DICK GRAY picked up the Whitehall win while Scott French homered for Bexley against Scioto. Scioto's Green also hit for the circuit.

Bexley Post overcame a seven-run first inning by Capital City to notch its other win, 15-10, in a slugfest. Steve Ortman homered for the winners.

Dave Williams' squeeze bunt provided Hilliard with a 6-5 extra inning win over Columbus Post in another Gold League game. Mike Ryan picked up the win on a two-hitter.

CAMP CHASE also took the measure of Columbus Post, downing the DeSales entry, 4-3, on Lyn Fitzer's six-hitter.

In other games, Groveport's Jim Fox and Southway's Maurer battled to a 3-3 mound deadlock in a game called after six due to darkness. Doug Cromer's two - hitter chilled the Cruisers Sunday as Eastmoor chalked up an 8-3 win.

PIT STOPS

By BILL GRAY

An afternoon downpour flooded the pit at the Columbus Motor Speedway, forcing the speedway officials to call off Sunday night's races, the first cancellation of the season.

This coming Thursday night, July 4, the Williamsrd raceway will run its "Firecracker Championship" races. The super-modified and the flying-stocks will put on the program, that will be highlighted with a 50-lap modified championship feature and a 35-lap stock championship feature.

Immediately following the races, there will be a big fireworks display.

LAST FRIDAY evening, Don Gregory who had won 13 straight events, had his win-streak snapped by Joe King, who beat him out in the first heat race.

Gregory had to settle for third in the first semi and was forced out of the feature with mechanical dificulties. He was trying for his fifth-straight feature win.

Thursday, in the speedway's game of "Total," there will be $200 in the jackpot, for the fan or fans who can pick the first five finishers, in order, in one of the feature races.

Time trials, for the championship races, will begin at 7 p.m. and the first race is set for 8.

DIAMOND MEMORIES – PART I

Rebounding Horsehide Helps First Franklin County Champs

(Editor's Note — Charles F. Coon of Groveport, played baseball for the first Franklin County League championship team in 1903. The first of his series on the national pastime on a local level at the turn of the century appears today).

By CHARLES F. COON

Superintendents Dietrich of Groveport and Gruver of Worthington, in addition to organizing high school oratorical contests, decided in the winter of 1902-03 to form a Franklin County Baseball League.

However, only Hilliard, Worthington, Westerville, Reynoldsburg, Canal Winchester and Groveport entered teams.

ONE OF THE most interesting games came when the schedule called for Groveport to meet Westerville on the Otterbein College field. The college friends of Westerville High crowded into the diamond to rattle Groveport.

Supt. Dietrich finally pulled out his watch and declared if the rooters did not leave the field in three minutes, he felt the game to Groveport. His order was respected but by this time the damage was done and Groveport lost.

Revenge came a week later when Westerville journeyed to Canal Winchester. Hilliard was ready to forfeit its game to Groveport but it was decided that the game be played with each team being allowed one outsider as a substitution.

GROVEPORT ROOTERS traveled to Canal Winchester for the Westerville game and, believe it or not, rooted for C-W, who won the game and set up a required playoff game between Groveport and Westerville on Memorial Day.

Since the game could not get underway until Memorial services were concluded, Westerville did not arrive until 3:30, traveling to Groveport by train on the Hocking Valley (now C & O).

The contest was moving along on a close basis until the seventh inning when Groveport relaxed or weakened. With only one out, Westerville filled the bases.

McILVAINE, WHO had transfered from Worthington to Westerville in mid-season and was the top batter on the field that day, came to bat.

He got hold of one of Coon's pitches and the ball sailed far over the head of the center fielder. It traveled into an apple orchard and m... head-on with the trunk ... a tree, rebounding through ... open board fence - directly ... ward the fielder!

Pandemonium broke loo... and in the midst of the ye... ing, the fielder threw the b... to third base. Fred G. B... who had been on second a... figured he had plenty of ti... to score, decided it might ... better to try for a return ... third.

HERE ARE the membe... of Groveport's 1903 chamb... ionship team:

Charles F. Coon, Groveport, pitcher (capt.); Harry Long, Columbus, third base; J. Chase Rarey, deceased, second base; Ernest G. Rarey, Los Angeles, Calif., center field; Vernon E. Wildermuth, Tempe, Ariz., short stop; Ora Morehart, deceased, 1st base; pitcher; Ernest S. Sallee, deceased, left field; Karl D. Shaw, Columbus, catcher; Vernon E. Lowry, deceased, right field.

Shaw, Lowry and Wildermuth were members of the '03 class and Ernest Rarey was a member of the '05 class with the remaining members of the team graduating in 1904.

A continuation of baseball stories for this year (1903), 1904 and 1905 will appear in a later edition.

Broncs, G-C Increase Summer Loop Leads

West and Grove City put more mileage between themselves and the runner-up teams in their respective divisions by sweeping doubleheaders in Saturday play of the High School Summer League.

The Cowboys trimmed second-place Arlington by identical 6-3 scores while the Greyhounds outslugged South twice, 11-7 and 6-3.

ALL OTHER area teams split twin bills. St. Charles halved with Brookhaven; Ready divided with Watterson and Hartley swapped victories with Grandview.

George Shaffer, Mickey Pless and Darrell Rohrer combined on a six-hitter in the opener while Mike Carney provided batting power with a home run for West.

John Goodin and Pless toed the mound in the nightcap, limiting the Golden Bears to a single hit while the Broncos slammed out 10 bingles.

G-C SLUGGED it out with South in the opener but a seven-run third frame proved too much for the Bulldogs. South hung on with a 4-3 deficit in the nightcap until the sixth when the 'Hounds picked up two runs to ice the win.

Bill Thomas and Tom Boos checked the South club on a single hit.

Pat Ellis went the distance to grant Ready a 6-4 verdict ever Watterson. The Siver Knights knotted the score in the fifth, 3-3, and then plated three markers in the seventh to rack up the win.

Watterson's five-run third settled the score in the nightcap, 6-2, as Ready managed but two hits.

TIM ROONEY stymied Brookhaven on a single hit as he paced St. Charles to a tight 2-1 decision in the Cards' opener Saturday. Brookhaven turned the tables on the Carolians in the nightcap, however, to score a 3-0 victory, despite Bob Begland's five-hitter.

Tom Foley's relief job plus a five run sixth-inning explosion gained Hartley a come-from-behind 10-8 win over Grandview after the Bobcats had taken the opener 10-3.

The Hawks, who could muster only four hits in the first game, found their punch in the nightcap, solving three Grandview hurlers for 14 hits.

IN THE LOOP'S weekday action, Linden toppled Franklin Heights, 5-1, and Whitehall blanked Hartley, 3-0.

Tom Bryant's seventh-inning single spoiled a no-hit effort by Linden's Bob Brewer, who fanned 13 Falcons while picking up the win.

Steve Ortman's single prevented Terry Tedder from accomplishing a like feat against Hartley. The Ram pitcher bested Scott French in a tight pitching duel, the latter permitting but five Whitehall hits.

Summer's For Skiing...

SOMEONE ONCE SAID, "Water skiing is as simple as rolling off a log." But he failed to explain how you get up on the log. There's no difficulty here, however, as this young trio of future ski stars breezes along the Scioto River with the greatest of ease. From left to right are: Lowell Grube, Judy Levitt and Greg Jones—three youngsters who know how to beat the summer heat. Here the three practice for the state tournament, scheduled for the Scioto site July 19-21.

AIRBOURNE IS the word for Lowell as he soars through space in perfect form after a run up the ramp jump. Lowell will be aiming for honors in the Boys' Division of the state tournament soon in the slalom, tricks and jumping events as well as the barefoot competition. He will advance to the Men's Division next season after reaching his seventeenth birthday.

IF YOU THINK just riding the waves on two pieces of wood is tough, try turning around in mid-air over a wave yet as Judy demonstrates in picture on the left. This wake jump is only one of several tricks Judy will perform at the state tournament as she tries for her expert rating. Only 15, Judy has advanced quickly and has only skied in competition for two years.

...And Trying A Jump

Frequent trips to the Scioto River in mid-March for groups equipped with boat and fishing pole aren't the least bit unusual.

But when the car trunk includes things like tow lines, life belts and water skis, it's an entirely different story. Folks motoring down Route 33 north of Hayden Run Bridge might have been doing a double take when they spotted three heads bobbing up and down in the water early this spring.

BUT THE EXPLANATION is simple enough. If good skiers are to become better skiers, practice time is valuable. And with the state tournament scheduled for mid-July, you can't afford to wait for those 90 degree temperatures.

Such was the case with Paul Grube, 385 S. Warren-av, and three young skiers whom he has high hopes of seeing rise to the top of skiing competition in the near future.

The eldest of the talented trio is Grube's 16-year-old son, Lowell, a senior at West High School. Lowell, who started his skiing at the tender age of eight years, is in his third year of competition and is the most promising of the Columbus Aqua Club's Boys' Division.

LOWELL HAS gained expert ratings in tricks, slalom and jumping and belongs to the American Water Skiing Association's two-minute Barefoot Club (skiing without skis).

As he is approaching his seventeenth birthday, Lowell will soon advance to the Men's Division; along with five other boys rated as the top upcoming competition skiers in the state.

As a warmup for his state tournament test, Lowell recently competed in the Wyoga Lake Ski Beavers Open, copping first-place honors in the slalom, a third in the jumps and a fourth in tricks.

Lowell, who exercises during the winter months to stay in shape for his skiing, practices up to five days a week with his father who operates the tow boat. When he's not on skis, he keeps his interest in the waterways by working part time for M. W. Rockenbaugh, Inc.

A TOUCH OF feminine grace is added to the trio by 15-year-old Judy Levitt, 150 Brehl-av — the young lady of the threesome. Judy, a sophomore at Central High, started her skiing four years ago and is in her second season of competition.

Judy already holds a first-class rating in tricks, slalom and jumping and has progressed to the point where she will try for her expert rating at the state tourney.

It's no coincidence that Judy is a top-rate skier. She comes by her talent honestly. Her father, Bob Levitt, can handle a pair of skis and sister, Linda, held the title of North American Champion in Mixed Doubles with partner Dave Finkel when she was competing.

Unlike Linda, Judy will stay with individual skiing and figures to become a member of the CASC team in the near future.

THE JUNIOR MEMBER of the trio is 14-year-old Greg Jones, who has been skiing for three years but only turned his interests to competition early this spring.

A ninth-grader at Marion-Franklin High School, Greg has advanced quickly and already holds second-class ratings in tricks and slalom. Paul Grube, who has been working with Greg throughout the spring, figures his first-class ratings are just a matter of time.

A matter of time might summarize the future of all three of Paul Grube's pupils. Skin-tingling tumbles and unintended mouthfuls of water lie ahead for Lowell, Judy and Greg. But they'll be coming back for more. That's the way it is when you're shooting for the top.

City Hosts State Ski Tourney, July 19-21

The city of Columbus will host the Ohio State Water Skiing Championships, July 19-21, under the sponsorship of the Columbus Aqua Ski Club.

The weekend tourney will take place on the Scioto River, north of Griggs Dam (off Route 33) at the Hayden Run Bridge.

THE TOURNAMENT will include three major events — slalom, jumping and trick skiing. There will be eight age divisions—men (17-34), women (over 17), boys and girls (13-16), senior men (over 35), senior women (over 30) and junior boys and girls (12 and under).

A total of 88 trophies will be up for grabs as individuals and teams from all over Ohio compete for honors. Trophies will be awarded for irst, second, third and overall in each event plus first through third place cups for the mixed doubles, first in barefoot and a team trophy.

Scoring, which is basically figured on form, allows a maximum of 1000 points for the winner of each event with other places receiving points in proportion to the winner's total.

IN TOURNEYS of this type there is no distinction made between professional and amateurs. The July competition will take on an added sidelight in that it will be the first time a state tourney will include competition in the junior boys' and girls' divisions.

Another first has been added to the July competition with the announcement that Bernadette Poole, one of the area's top women skiers, will serve as chief judge — the first time a woman has ever held that position in a state tourney.

The slalom course runs 315 yards in length by 25 yards in width. Between two entrance gates, the skier must negotiate an outside-in slalom pattern, remaining outside the six buoys for three runs with the speed increased two MPH on each run.

The ski jump, which is 14 feet by 24 feet, must be tackled five times with scoring based on both form and distance.

TRICKS CAN include a wide variety of efforts but the division is split into four basic groups — water surface turns, wake jump turns, ramp tricks and miscellaneous (back swan, back swan recovery, deep-water back start, etc.).

Tricks extend in difficulty from a simple 180 degree turn (30 pts., water surface turn, 2 skis) to the exacting somersault, worth 570 points if executed in good form off the ramp in mid-air with a single ski. Other tricks include toehold and stepover turns with points varying in relation to degree, classification (surface or wake) and number of skis.

All these efforts—slalom, jumping and tricks—will be on display July 19-21 at the State Tournament on the Scioto River. The Columbus Aqua Ski Club invites local residents to stop by and watch them go through their paces. Admission is free.

TAKING A SPILL? Not on your life. Greg is simply turning the corner on his run through the slalom course, churning through the water as his body leans almost parallel to the surface. The youngest of Paul Grube's skiing pupils at 14, Greg has learned quickly and first-class ski ratings are just around the corner if he progresses at the fast pace he has shown since he began competition skiing early this spring.

New City Tax Collection Query Is Aimed At State Legislators

In answer to persistent demands by the Citizens' Industrial Research Committee of Reynoldsburg, the Columbus City Income Tax Division will make a new attempt to put a tax bite on members of the Ohio General Assembly.

In questionnaires to be sent this week, legislators will be reminded that they are required by law to file city tax returns whether or not they actually owe taxes.

But the City of Columbus will be bucking more than the "no new or increased taxes" slogan of the present legislature. With the exception of Franklin County representatives and senators, legislators have almost unanimously refused to recognize the right of Columbus to tax their state-paid salaries.

"I did send out questionnaires two or three years ago," said City Auditor John H. Price. "We'll try it again and see what they say this time."

Price explained that many legislators answered the previous inquiry by claiming exemption from the tax.

The questionnaire was ordered by City Attorney John Young, who was asked to act in the matter by members of the CIRC. The Reynoldsburg group had charged that "special interest groups appear to be exempt (from tax payment) while others must abide by the law."

Young explained that it is doubtful if many legislators would actually have to pay any tax even of they filed. They are in a classification similar to "salesmen," and could deduct all expenses incurred while in Columbus.

Because legislators are presumably "on duty" 365 days each year, the annual $5,000 salary amounts to less than $14 per day, Young said. He further explained that the city can tax only that portion of the annual salary earned while the legislators are in Columbus, presumably only during sessions of the legislature.

Proof of presence of individual legislators in Columbus is further complicated by the fact that they are not required to attend sessions, Young said.

It is generally believed that legislators could show sufficient expenses for their Columbus visits to more than offset any amount due on the $14 daily salary.

"We don't think they owe us any money," Young said, "but we are going to remind them of their responsibility to file tax returns."

D. S. Swisher, chief of the city income tax division, echoed some of Young's sentiment by saying, "There are a number of problems involved."

Swisher said that "maybe a couple" of legislators outside the Columbus area are filing city tax returns. Those who do not file "are probably getting some kind of notice," he said.

James Hatfield, 413 Reinhard-av and James J. West of Buckeye Steel Castings Co., are members of the Citizens Screening Committee which determines the 1963 United Appeal goal of $3,998,106.

Hatfield, vice-president of Local 106, Glass Bottles Blowers (Union), represents organized labor and West is an industrial representative.

The goal — ($207,000 more than raised last year) — of the campaign to be held Oct. 7-24 was set after a month's study of the agency needs. Funds are earmarked for 65 health, family and child welfare and youth guidance agencies.

Set at $360,000 under the total requested by the agencies, the amount is believed by the committee to be balanced between the needs and the community climate.

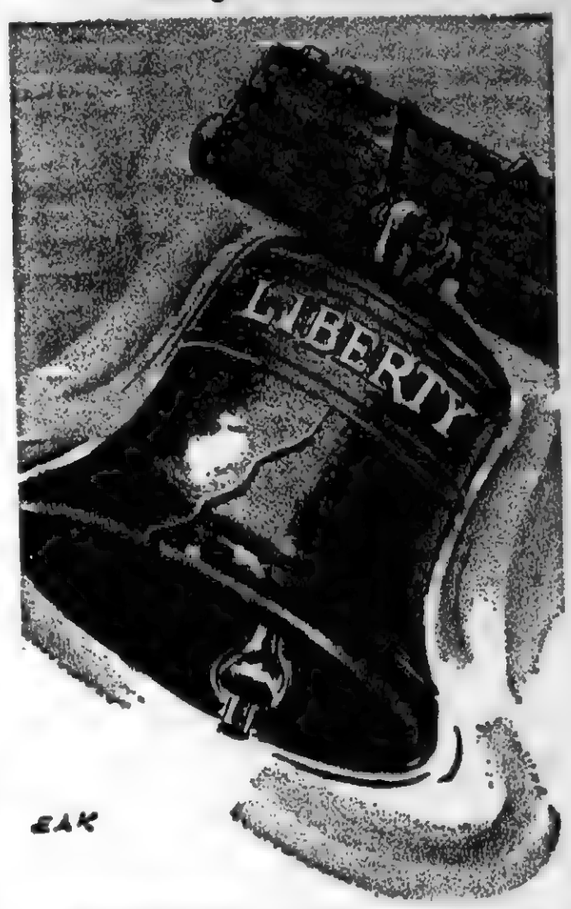
July 5 Important Day, Too

Independence Day can be a personally gratifying experience, or it can be just another holiday. It is a matter of individual choice.



July 4 will be a day of parades, picnics, brave words and fireworks. Across the nation we will exhibit our military muscle and will hail our great nation as the Free World leader.

But what about July 5 — and the days following until our next proud national birthday? These are the days that give body and substance to Independence Day.

The grand parades of pageantry and fun should serve as a symbolic reminder of the more solemn responsibility to join the parade to the voting booths each election day. The brave oratory is hollow if Mr. John Q. Citizen does not take his personal stand on issues of HIS community and HIS nation.

It has been said that "It is easier to act yourself into right thinking than to think yourself into right acting." The quality and frequency of our ACTION as citizens will determine the value of the "birthday present" we buy ourselves as a nation.

HBA At Work Early

You'll have to get up pretty early in the morning to get ahead of the Hilltop Business Association — at least on Thursdays.

A civic committee of the HBA, led by Jerry Spears, Jr., has met every Thursday for breakfast and brainstorming on matters of importance to the community.

The meetings have been faithfully attended and have proved beneficial in establishing guidelines for the entire organization. The extra measure of effort has not gone unnoticed by Columbus city officials.

A commendation is in order for the HBA and its "Dawn Patrol." May their influence continue to be felt early and often.

Happy Lawsuit, CDL

We see by the papers that Citizens for Decent Literature and Motion Pictures, Inc. (Chicago) celebrate its first birthday by being presented with a new suit. The happy birthday greeting was a lawsuit filed by a New York publishing and distributing firm.

The "new" suit, first of its kind to be directed against a private citizen group, charges that the firm was put out of business in the Chicago area.

We offer our congratulations on your first birthday. Here's hoping you "wear out" your first suit in a hurry, and outlive all other suits that may come your way.

Variety . . . by I. F. Howell

We say we live under a democracy. We don't. Our government is a representative, constitutional republic. It is another example of the misuse of words, or rather the change in this meaning.

The word democracy comes from the Greek demokratia, deriving from demos (people), and krateo (rule). So, regardless of how used, it means the power of the people applied directly or indirectly to regulate their affairs affecting each other.

Athens, 2500 years ago, was a village small enough for Plato and others of the Golden Age to meet in one place and make rules for the conduct of all. Women and slaves were excluded, so that left only a few to make decisions and formulate policy.

Here, the thing most comparable to Greek democracy was the New England meeting in colonial times. Excluded, too, were women and slaves, or rather indentured servants. Even free men had to own property, and for a time had to be church members in some places.

In our time, the only practical, possible way for the people to govern themselves is to select, as we do, a few to execute the mandates of the many. It makes little difference whether we say republic or democracy. It all comes out the same if we mean it in our frame of reference.

Democracy is temporary acceptance of lesser evils as a weapon to destroy the greater. Democracy is dealing with the here and now with the tools we have until we can get better ones. It means freedom.

It says here . . .

Our democratic freedom will live only so long as we assume the responsibility that is its twin. It must be both or neither.

STRICTLY FRESH

Fashionable pointed-toed shoes seem to prove one point: women can stand more pain than men.

It seems to take longer to get to the country from the city nowdays, probably because where the country used to be is called suburbs now.

Some say that the person who thinks he is better than average usually is of average intelligence and is average for saying so.

It's said about the average taxpayer: He's alive and kicking!

When you feel like criticizing the younger generation, just remember who raised them.

Frosting On The Cake

By "UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

Headaches, headaches — seems the only thing we hear about any more. And like the weather, everyone talks about 'em, but never does anything.

If all the tranquilizers and pepper-uppers were poured down the drain and everyone learned how to stop supporting the "two snakes in the Garden of Eden"—hurry and worry—the headache medicine people would all go broke.

As things are now, millions take a pep pill to get going in the morning, keep going on coffee and worse, then take a big "snifter" before dinner and eat too much of the wrong kind of food. They wind up the day taking a dope pill so they can get to sleep.

Add to all this folly a violent cathartic every other day, and then wonder why people have headaches. In most cases their trouble is not pathological at all. Migraine suffering is a symptom, not a disease.

So, what to do about it? Become a free mind and a free soul; liberate yourself from the "seven deadly sins." Slavery to things, instead of devotion to real sanity, is the genesis of multi-million fortunes acquired by the hucksters.

Learn how to "have a little visit" every day with that "Wise Old Man Upstairs" and you, too, can become your own dragon slayer.

Guest Pulpit . . Individual Actions Can Deter Communism

Will communism overcome us by 1970?

Whatever happens in this decade or in the future, we want to know that we are not responsible. What a terrible awakening, if communism should conquer our nation, that we have been as responsible as others for this horrible tragedy! Communism has already conquered one-third of the world. Do we have any responsibility for this horrible tragedy?

Rev. Lorenz

We can determine our responsibility by facing these words of our Lord Jesus Christ, "This people draw near Me with their mouth and honor Me with their lips, but their heart holds off and is far away from Me. Uselessly do they worship Me, for they teach as doctrines the commands of men." How are we worshipping the Lord? Do we have our hearts far away from the Lord when we pray? If so, we must share the responsibility for the spread of communism in the world.

Perhaps you have never been convinced that your heart is far away from the Lord. Are you easily provoked? Are you touchy, fretful or resentful? Are you conceited, arrogant, and inflated with pride? Put your heart into the test tube, the Sermon On the Mount, and you will know. Can you turn the other cheek, go the second mile, and love your enemies? If you cannot control your tongue, but swear and take His Name in vain, you are holding your heart away from Him. Jesus said, "What comes from the mouth, proceeds from the heart, and this defiles a man."

Read the Epistle of James, Ch. 4. Meditate on verse 8. In this manner you draw near to God, when you pray earnestly "Lord, what wilt Thou have me to do?" The Bible says, "Purify your heart, ye double minded." True worship demands complete obedience to the Will of God.

When you worship with your heart, you are determined to be obedient to the Will of God. You will soon discover that your whole life is being transformed through prayer. You are no longer touchy. You no longer take His Name in vain. Jesus said, "A good tree cannot bring forth corrupt fruit; nor can a bad tree bear excellent fruit."

You can fully know yourself by the things that come from your mouth. It is better to have the terrible awakening now that we must share the responsibility for the spread of communism, than to have it later when it might be too late. "Draw nigh to God, and He will draw nigh to you."

If you are not a Christian, put yourself in the right environment to learn about Jesus, and you will become a Christian. Now you can also help to keep communism from overcoming the world.

An Editor's Outlook . . . by Jenkin Lloyd Jones

College On The Cuff Plan Has Merit

Why should taxpayers, most of whom have not had the advantage of college education, continue to subsidize students in state-supported universities who have enrolled, generally for the frank purpose of earning more than the average citizen?

Jones

A few weeks ago, while wandering around the magnificent buildings on the University of Minnesota, I encountered a group of sign-carrying undergraduates urging everyone to turn out for a mass protest meeting because the legislature was threatening to raise tuition $30 a semester.

The Minnesota student who smokes spends about $50 a semester for cigarets.

The cost of tax-subsidized higher education is big and growing. Professors, who used to work for peanuts, now want money. Laboratories grow more complex. The era of expensive teaching aids is just beginning. College administrations are desperately seeking grants from the federal government, the foundations and private industry for scholarships, research and buildings.

In California, where in-state students at the tax-supported schools pay no tuition and only nominal fees, the cost of instruction alone, per student, is $700 a year. Add another $300 per student for the amortization of the physical plant. One thousand dollars worth of education for practically nothing.

Why don't the students who are getting these benefits pay their cost? The answers come easily. The student has no money. The parents may have little or none. The state needs educated people. Therefore, the state must help.

But California Assemblyman John L. E. "Bud" Collier of Los Angeles has come up with a perfectly sensible solution. Let the student take a loan from the state. Let him pay off the loan from the benefits he will realize from his college education.

Why not?

Mr. Collier's California Assembly Bill 1155 would provide that the actual cost of a student's instruction, based on the number and type of courses he is pursuing, be estimated by the state university system, and that the student sign notes to reimburse the state.

These notes would be insured, guaranteeing the state full payment of the unpaid balance in the event of the student's premature death. Payment would start a year after graduation at one per cent interest. They could be spread over 20 years.

By thus relieving the state of the heavy burden of college instruction costs, Collier argues, more money would be available to aid primary and secondary schools.

Assemblyman Collier's plan might be improved in detail. It should be argued that the one per cent interest charge wouldn't cover the life insurance, let alone creeping inflation, and that the figure should be more like five per cent. The beginning of repayment might be delayed as much as five years after graduation, and loans could be increased to provide board and room, too.

In short, every high school senior who could pass the college entrance requirements could be assured of an undergraduate and even a graduate education with full expenses, if necessary, borne by the state. But he'd have to pay it back.

Insurance companies have estimated that four years of college adds from $175,000 to $200,000 to lifetime earning power. Since people are now trained to buy houses, automobiles, furniture and even vacations on time, what's wrong with education on time? A degree on the easy payment plan would be the biggest bargain the student will enjoy.

There remains, of course, the matter of ordinary scholarships, granted by various organizations and industries to youngsters who show particular aptitudes. They are much more plentiful than most people realize. Hundreds of them go unapplied-for every year.

But a lot of the boys and girls who could do great things with a college education are late starters. They don't qualify for academic scholarships. Yet it is to the interest of us all that the skills and general knowledge of our young people be increased as much as possible.

You can't get a 100-watt light out of a 10-watt brain, but every 100-watt brain ought to have a chance to shine with 100 watts of current. We no longer need whitewings and hod-carriers, and we are about to phase out elevator operators and dish washers. Yet the electronic age finds us far short of technicians. Schools are crying for teachers. The supply of new doctors keeps falling farther behind the case loads. We need all the fast pitching arms we can develop.

But because the individual profits directly from his higher schooling, he should pay for it, just as he pays for a suit of clothes or a grand piano. He shouldn't shove the bill for his own enlightenment off on taxpaying cab drivers, waitresses and field hands who will never see the inside of a lecture room.

Let's get on with the tuition notes and the easy-payment plan. It makes sense. It's fair. And it would release many millions of dollars of college subsidies to help hard-pressed grade and high schools.

'Put Scenes Of Life In Words Of Life'

To The Editor:

Boy! Just for once I wish a newspaper editorial would follow its arguments through to its logical conclusion.

I am referring to the "Whitehall Ox-Bow Incident" which your newspapers evidently decided to take exception with and have trumpeted a Three Monkey Educational course: Hear No, See No, Speak No.

First of all, never have I known a word or phrase, such as you describe as "profane," that corroded a person's mind or caused a person to commit a wrongful act. To those who propound the opposite, I say it's the person who should be worried about, not the word.

To back up this statement, I refer you to the Supreme Court which contends that a word is not profane or obscene in and of itself; it must be taken into context with the entire offering.

Secondly, you ask, by "wondering, how much of the 'moral' lesson is offset by the interjection of profanity and blasphemy." (You ask, but end the sentence with a period, thereby inferring that it does.) The reason you must ask, of course, is that you cannot prove how much the moral lesson is offset, or even if it is. I say, "Nothing is," and challenge you to disprove it.

Thirdly, you lament that "it is discouraging to know that high school students can read (by assignment of teachers) . . . such language." Well, Shakespeare is usually assigned, and I'll bet you can find some duzys in his writings. Other writings that have been assigned from time to time in various courses include such authors as Balzac, Boccacio, Chaucer, Hemingway. The national newsweekly Time is assigned at least once in a high school student's life, and it doesn't pull any punches with words. Oh, yes. The dictionary. It is prescribed as a reference book in high schools and "those" words are included. I doubt if you would say that reference book editors have no conscience.

According to your argument, a Bible could not be assigned reading by Sunday School instructors because of "those" words. After all, paraphrasing your argument, I could state "Is profanity less profane when used in the name of religion?" And, I add: "Of course not! On the contrary, it is the more damaging because it gives a form of silent consent from a most trusted source."

For "those" words, such as "b——d" and "wh—e" are scattered throughout the Bible.

("Which brings up the point that you say newspapers by law and by conscience forbid you to use such language. But it doesn't stop newspapers from using "illegitimate son" or "house of ill repute" or "party girl" because, I suppose, they sound "nicer." Rubbish! It's one and the same idea being forwarded. Maybe it would be better to editorialize against so-called "naughty sounds.")

So, it appears to this reader, that though you listened to both sides and read the book, it didn't change your mind.

Whether or not a moral is involved, the scenes of life, the experiences of life, can only be expressed in the words of life.

Is History Repeating?

To the Editor:

Patterns of history do "repeat," and may be studied and considered the basis upon which presently applicable plans may be predicated.

The platform of 1860 contained a wise and presently valid statement — one which the Kennedy brothers and Americans generally, should heed NOW!

This "plank" appeared in the 1860 platform upon which Lincoln was elected: "The maintainance inviolate of the rights of the states, and especially the right of each state to order and control its own domestic institutions according to its own judgment exclusively, is essential to that balance of power on which the perfection and endurance of our political fabric depends; and we denounce the lawless invasion by armed forces of the soil of any state or territory, no matter under what pretext, as among the gravest of crimes."

The observations of a few writers who are students of American history seem in agreement as to a logical conclusion concerning the Civil War and its effect upon states' rights, i.e. the Civil War decided ONE issue—and this issue concerned the right of a state or several states to dissolve the Union.

Pleads For Crippled Man

Is it possible to help a deserving person through the means of your newspaper?

The man's name I have forgotten but he used to be a neighbor.

Everyone in the area of Schottenstein's Department Store would know him as he is today. I try to think back when he was able to work every day.

He is the man in the wheelchair who sits by the west entrance of Schottenstein's.

I saw him one morning coming down Third-st—he was as far as Town-st. A few mornings later he was as far as Sycamore—and always he is pushing that wheelchair by hand.

Isn't there something the neighbors in the South Side could do to help get a motor-equipped scooter or chair?

It's all I can do to keep from stopping and putting him in the car, but that would not solve his problem so I want to pull over to the curb and cry.

I think any one who has lived through the physical pain and operations he has needs a helping hand from others who are in good health.

Article 'Honest Analysis'

There have been many devious and evading articles written on the cause and effect of race consciousness in America, but the writer generally analyzes the other fellow.

The article written by Mr. Frank Ryan, June 19, is the most forthright and honest analysis of the situation that I have ever seen.

However, I believe he has made a slight error when he said that his tongue was controlled by his spiritual nature.

The spiritual nature dictates to the tongue that which is right and just. But mortal nature intercepts the message and makes the tongue say what is good for himself as a selfish earthly being.

By this I do not mean to take away the dignity and justice of Mr. Ryan's article.

This is not only a race struggle but it is a fight against any principle which could be used against any identifiable group, to weaken an otherwise strong country by dividing it into small groups working against one another.

I wish Mr. Ryan God speed in his writing and wish to thank the paper which sponsored such a timely article.

'Can't Excuse Delinquents'

Although I am still a teenager myself, I must say I completely agree with Jenkin L. Jones.

It may be true that most delinquents have some type of family situation or environment that they would rather not face, but the fact that they pick crime and injury to other human beings as the method is not excusable in my eyes.

I'm sure that there are a few cases in which a sympathetic word instead of a prison sentence would set a misguided youth straight, but in dealing with great social problems the few have always suffered for the good of the many and I believe this holds true for crime prevention also.

I was glad to hear some one speak out for the other side for once.

Many senior citizens are looking forward to the Golden Age Hobby Show, which will be held Sept. 12-14 at the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts at 480 E. Broad-st.

Some of the interesting facts from last year's show are that there were 302 exhibitors who displayed 700 items. This year there are over 100 possible categories to enter, with entries being divided into three classifications: 1. Needlecraft, 2. Arts and Crafts, 3. Arts. There are three grand prizes of $5 each and in each classification there will be a $3 blue ribbon. $2 red ribbon and $1 white ribbon.

Basis of judging will be:

A. Judging of handicraft exhibits is based on workmanship and beauty.

B. Judging of literature is based upon literary merit and interest of entry.

C. Judging of collections is based upon rarity, age, size of exhibit and interest of entry.

D. Judgment of amateur standing is to be determined by judges.

E. In the event that only one item is entered in a category, the lone exhibit will be judged solely on its own merit. Only if exceptional will a first prize be awarded; otherwise an honorable mention will be given

The items entered should be new ones made in the last year.

Working on the 1963 Golden Age Hobby Show are: General Chairman, Mrs. A. L. Greenspun, 347 S. Gould-av; co-chairman, Mrs. Howard Bevis, 1976 Northwest-blvd;

Fly Your Flag

Independence Day Is Opportunity To Salute American Way Of Life

In these times, when our nation is represented all over the globe in projects of keeping and protecting the peace of the world, it would seem especially fitting that we who enjoy the peace and freedom of the heartland of our great nation place extra emphasis on the celebration of Independence Day, July Fourth.

What better way to observe this important holiday than by displaying the American Flag in front of our homes and places of business? In this way we can join with servicemen, Peace Corps volunteers, foreign service officals and representatives of our government in displaying our patriotism and reaffirming our belief in the American way of life.

As a special offer, for a limited time only, Hartley Newspapers is making a beautiful 3x5 cotton flag available to its readers at a tremendous savings. The large colorfast flag, including a six-foot pole, top decoration, halyard, window socket and book on flag etiquette is usually priced at $5.98. During the time of this offer, the complete flag kit and a one-year subscription to your favorite Hartley Newspaper, valued at $3, is being sold for the combination price of only $5, a savings of nearly $4.

If already a subscriber, one year will be added to the termination date of your current subscription. Your beautiful new flag will be delivered immediately.

The flag pole comes in two sections, which means it can be taken apart and stored with the flag in the heavy cardboard container in which it is delivered. It will then be easily accessible for all patriotic holidays.

Be sure and join your neighbors in observing each patriotic occasion by displaying "Old Glory" in a prominent place. This will be your salute to the way of life we enjoy as members of a free American Society.

HungarianPicnic Set For Fourth

The William Penn Hungarian Club has announced plans to hold a Fourth of July Picnic at Schultz Park on Bixby-rd, just off of Groveport-pk.

The event, open to the public, begins at noon and features Hungarian foods, refreshments, free dancing to Hungarian and American music. There is no charge for admission to the grounds. Events are scheduled even in case of rain.

Information is available from Chairman Fred Bendetti at HI 3-4437.

Twirlers Compete In Festival

First annual Holiday Twirling Festival will be held Saturday, July 6 at Grandview High School gymnasium.

Twirlers from all parts of the country are expected to participate in the U.S. Twirling Association - sanctioned contest, sponsored by the Vicky Paige Dance and Twirling Studio. The contest is open to all. Two trophies will be awarded.

Vernon Feit, 92½ Avondale-av, is one of four Ohio experts chosen to judge. Spectators will be admitted free.

Rabies Vaccine Is Compulsary For All Dogs

The Boards of Health of Franklin County, the City of Columbus, Grandview Heights and Upper Arlington have compulsory rabies immunization regulations requiring that all dogs be vaccinated.

Franklin County has been under an indefinite period of rabies quarantine and the city began its rabies quarantine on Mar. 21 and has continued the quarantine through Sept. 21.

The quarantined dogs shall be confined to the premises of the owner or keeper, unless under leash or under the control of a responsible person. Over 130 quarantine violations have been filed against dog owners who permitted their dogs to be at large. Some of these were also charged with not having had their dogs vaccinated against rabies and registered for license. The Humane Society, will continue to rigidly enforce the rabies quarantine, the rabies vaccination regulations, and the state law requiring that all dogs be registered for license.

The bite of a rabid animal is fatal unless lengthy, painful treatment is begun immediately. But rabies can be controlled if all dog owners will see that their dogs are given rabies vaccination.

INDEPENDENCE DAY

187 years ago a new conception of freedom was proclaimed to the world . . . a new nation was born, dedicated to the proposition that "all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness."

As we proudly celebrate our nation's birthday, let us dedicate ourselves anew to the principles for which its founders pledged to each other their lives, Fortunes and sacred Honor.

A DAY'S CATCH

"WHAT'S A FELLER gonna do" in the good ole summertime? No problem, man. You just go fishing with your dad like Bobby Ryan did down at Greenlawn in the Scioto River. The eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Ryan, Lincoln Park, was quite proud of the four blue gills he caught on a stick and a pin.

Evangelist Returns To City To Preach At Gospel Meets

H. E. TAYLOR

Church of Christ, meeting at 2350 Sullivant-av, will hold a series of gospel meetings beginning Sunday, July 7, and continuing each evening through Sunday, July 14.

The Ultimate in Satisfaction

When we were children, the ultimate in satisfaction was an ice cream cone, a nickel's worth of candy, a handful of homemade cookies. But now that we are grown-up, God's spirit has shown us there are more important things in life than satisfying our appetites. There is a higher plane of living — that of loving and serving God and one's neighbor. God wants us to respond to His love by showing this same kind of love to others. The church is the place to center your mature living. Attend church this Sunday.

"When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child: but when I became a man, I put away childish things." I Cor. 13:11.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH — THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

The monthly euchre party of the Harmony Glee Club will be held Saturday evening, July 6, at 435 E. Kossuth-st. It is open to the public.

The YWCA summer tour for July 13 is rather unusual, with a visit planned to the Indian Lore Festival at Magnetic Springs. An evening pageant of Indian history and a dinner of pit-cooked meat are included in the evening's activities.

The $4.50 reservation cost includes the bus fare and pageant admission, but dinner is extra. Reservations must be made by July 8. Another YWCA trip has a July 9 reservation date, and will be held the weekend of July 19-21. The tourists will travel to the Stratford Festival in Canada for a weekend of music.

Mrs. Conrad Waichner, 803 Stewart-av, is convalescing in the home of her son, Henry, after a stay at St. Anthony's Hospital, and would be cheered by cards at this time. Henry's address is 917 E. 20th-av. Henry and his wife, Kathleen, were recently hosts to Kathleen's brother, Major Roger Dickey. Roger and Kathleen, both South High graduates, once lived on Whittier-st. Roger had been stationed in Omaha and is now based in Texas.

Children happy to share their birthday week with the nation, and hoping to continue the mutual celebration for many years to come are Timothy Carte, Vicky Carsey, Cheryl Egginger, Sylvia Scarberry, Gary Jones, Jeanie Harmon, Diana Hughes, Debra Kay, Mary Miller, Beverly Morton, Darrell Gammell, Jerry Milligan, Ardith Volt, Dayne Erwin, Carmel Eisel, Jerry Stitt and Andrew Fenerman.

Birthday-celebrating teenagers are Pam Knore, Judy Ward, Ray Speakmon, Jr., John Whitacre, Dana Donley, Abby Waldner, SuEllen Ross and Rita Marie White.

Anniversary congratulations to Ray and Roberta Shaffer, Barbara and Ronald Daily.

Lu and Willie Davis used their "camper" to good advantage this vacation season by touring the Sierra Mountains. Lu enjoyed catching trout in a mountain stream. Much of their vacation was spent at Lake Tahoe, shared by California and Nevada.

Tom Crawshaw will be the guest conductor of the Sunday, July 7 concert to be held at Schiller Park at 8 p.m.

Ruth Ann Harold will become the bride of Jon Kessler Saturday, July 6 at the Gates-Fourth Methodist Church, at 2 p.m. ceremony. Miss Harold is a resident of 236 Southwood-av, and is the daughter of Mrs. Philip Gowin. Jon, 174 E. Moler-st, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Kessler.

Local workers in the area EUB churches will be attending the 1963 Laboratory School at Westerville First EUB Church from July 7-12. Community members include Goldie Hughes and Tillie Hamilton.

Sharon (Crary) Good, in Grant Hospital, was some improved at our last report. Other hospital patients include Virginia Ray, Mercy; George Christy, Mercy and Carl Yates, Riverside.

Two classes of the Southwood Church of Christ will meet in July: the Fellowship, Friday, July 5, and the Young Christian Home Builders on Saturday, July 6.

Working at the Round Lake Camp last week were area residents Pam Knore, Marlene Esswein and Gloria Lusignolo.

A young teenager, Rita Saunders, would be cheered greatly by cards, as she is a patient in Mercy Hospital. Rita, 14, 441 E. Whittier-st, is in Rm. 200. Other ailing community residents are Elizabeth Honadel, Grant Hospital, Room 903; Carrie Hahn, Room 804, Grant; Flora Heiserman, Room 353, Mt. Carmel.

Belated 50th anniversary greetings to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shover, who reached that milestone in June.

The Young Married Fellowship Class of the Ohio Avenue EUB Church will swim at Gold Cliff Park and hold a potluck meal at Scioto Trail State Park Sunday, July 7. Carl Gerhardt will be in charge of the devotions.

Members of the Columbus Automobile Club are reminded that donations will be appreciated for the annual Orphans' Outing Tuesday, July 9, at the Columbus Zoo and Zoo Park. Alex Krumm is the treasurer of the Orphans' Committee. The picnic dates back to 1905.

June was a traveling month for Eleanor Tope, 1374 Molly Lane-rd. Eleanor, with husband, John, spent one week in Florida, then came home long enough to get ready to attend the Christian Endeavor convention in Washington, D.C., from June 29 to July 8.

Fair Sex Cycles, But Casually

By JANE ROBINSON

Sunday afternoon it appeared that all roads led not to Rome, but to the Ohio State Fairgrounds.

On all highways could be seen fleets of motorcycle enthusiasts heading for the Charity Newsies motorcycle races.

The rule of the day was a mixed-tandem arrangement with the fairer sex jauntily astride behind, though this order was sometimes reversed.

The difference in dress, which was fairly well standardized for each sex, brought a question to the mind:

Which is really the weaker sex?

While the boys wore heavy boots and trousers, their companions, to a girl, settled for sneakers, knee socks and bermudas.

Though goggles were necessary to protect the eyes of the stalwart males, sun glasses were good enough for the gals.

And while the lads looked to the preservation of their skulls with crash helmets, a wisp of net to hold their curls in place filled the bill for the lassies.

"Frailty, thy name is woman."

RESERVISTS CITE PAPERS

RECEIVING A CERTIFICATE from the Ohio Department of the Reserve Officers Association is Marcus T. Orr, Hartley Newspapers' managing editor. The award, presented on June 10 by Brig. Gen. Donald J. Campbell, Ohio ROA president, is in recognition of Hartley Newspapers' editorial support of reserve forces of all military branches in the Columbus area. Gen. Campbell is commander of the 302nd Troop Carrier Wing (Reserve), Clinton County AFB, Wilmington, which has openings for pilots and navigators who are lieutenants and captains. For details contact Air Force Reserve Major Fred Wright, BE. 1-5009.

Debate Heated On Project 33

It wasn't a fairly matched battle when the Rural Zoning Board held a public hearing Thursday on the zoning request of Project 33 Inc. for AR 8 8-18 classification for property on the southeast corner of Refugee-rd and Rt. 33.

That is — it was not fair if the number of combatants is a criterion by which to ascertain the odds.

Fifty persons with spokesmen such as Madison School executive Phillip K. Williams, Ellis Karch, perennial champion of the area property owners, and Rev. Harrison Gruenler of the Calvin Presbyterian Church were present to spiritedly protest the whole idea.

Against this formidable group stood Harrison Smith, attorney, representing the stockholders. The only ally he had, in the opinion of one observer, was common sense.

Project 33 owns 40 acres of land at this site, and is seeking approval to use approximately 10 acres of it for apartment buildings. Smith claims that his clients believe this a necessary move to provide a buffer area between the generally commercial atmosphere of the intersection and the high-standard homes planned for the balance of the property.

The proposed site abuts the parking lot of the new Calvin Presbyterian Church, and the property owners have taken the stand that no need exists for a buffer zone between a new and modern church and a residential area comparable to neighboring Marwick and Winchester Park.

The stockholders (Lowell Fletcher and Carl Joe Yearling number among them) disagree, and have arranged with Carl Freeman of Washington, D.C., to develop the land with a maximum of 180 apartments renting from $110 to $160 a month. Freeman, according to Mrs. Thelma Hardy, clerk of the zoning board, has won national awards for the excellence of such projects he has fathered in the East.

Among the facts Smith brought out in his case is that no rezoning is required for the inexpensive houses with a minimum of 500 square feet of floor space which the corporation would be forced to consider if AR8 8-18 zoning is refused.

Williams presented the view of the Madison School District, which bears the burden of educating the extra children coming into the district with new housing projects. He reiterated the board's stand that it should be the responsibility of the developer to cooperate financially in solving the problems of classroom space that the introduction of additional housing brings.

Karch again aired his premise that the homes of the people in the area represent their principal investment and that depreciation of their properties by undesirable use of nearby land would create a catastrophic hardship for them.

After listening to the arguments, Lawrence Dill of the zoning board made a motion to defer action for about 30 days. This time will permit the board to check into the type of financing planned.

Some ambiguity arose when a statement was made that, though the apartments would not come under government financing, they would be FHA backed.

Mrs. Hardy speculated that a recommendation would probably be handed down at the next zoning hearing, the latter part of July.

Organize Teams At South YMCA

In building up a summer program at YMCA, three softball teams, playing under the name of the South Side YMCA have been organized.

Miss Linda Linville is acting as a volunteer coach for girls of eight to 12. Dwight Brown, a player on the older boys team, and Rodney Phipps, who up until recently was playing for the San Francisco Giants' farm team, is coaching the older boys team (ages of 13-15) and working with Dwight Brown, a senior team member with the younger boys.

All South Side YMCA members are eligible to play if they are between eight and 15 years old.

Worst-Kept Secret of 1963

FIVE NEW MODEL HOMES NOW OPEN

...and we wanted it to be a surprise.

But almost every day since Section 6 sold out, we've had visitors asking about the new streets being put in, wondering when the models would be open, wanting to make reservations.

Seems that people who already live in Holly Hill (in Fritsche homes, of course) have been telling their friends. Some of the contractors have admitted spreading the good word. Even our sales manager dropped a hint. We realized some time ago that the secret was out So we hurried along with the new model homes and we're now officially open for business

If you've a mind to buy a new home in west Columbus, please visit Holly Hill today. We have only 83 lots available and, through no fault of ours, some people are already in line ahead of you.

Boys And Girls Aspin On Whirligig Of Summer Activity

With clown contests and tournaments in four square tetherball and horseshoe now behind them, city-supervised playgrounds are shifting their activities to family playdays this week and sectional track meets next week, with the track event for this area being held at South High School, Thursday, July 11, as a practice meet in preparation to the big all-city meet at OSU stadium in August.

Softball leagues are under way with approximately 75 games being played each week in this area and hundreds of Junior Jet Baseball games in session on Southside Playgrounds.

There is something for everyone to do each day on every playground. Reports from local playgrounds follow:

Ask Hilltop Van & Storage

When I move, how much will it cost to have all my packing done?
Free booklet answers questions about moving
Probably less than you think! Our packing charges are based on the number of containers times a specified rate per container. And don't forget, this charge includes not only the packing, but also the use of special containers and packing materials, and all the unpacking. Call today . . . let us give you a FREE packing estimate. Ask, too, for a free booklet, "How to Buy a Move," that gives the facts about moving services and charges.

Mohawk . . .

Mohawk's Senior softball team defeated Palsgrove 15 to 14, June 26.

The playground horseshoe and four square tournaments were held last week. Horseshoe winners were: junior boys, Ronald Blackburn; intermediate boys, Eugene Featherstone; intermediate girls, Linda Price; senior girls, Judy Price.

Day camp applications and information may be obtained from the playground teachers.

We urge you to take advantage of this opportunity to attend and benefit from the program.

Track practice has begun and the first meet will be held next week.

Palgrove . . .

Last Wednesday the Junior Boys' and Girls' Softball teams played the Fairwood teams at Franklin Park. The Palsgrove Junior Boys lost, 13 to 8, while the Palsgrove Junior Girls lost a very close contest, 9 to 7.

In the evening, the Palsgrove Senior Boys were edged out 15 to 14 by Mohawk. The Palsgrove team rallied in the last inning but fell one run short.

The Recreation Department's Traveling Zoo displayed a variety of animals from the United States, South America, Africa and Europe, Thursday.

Thursday the Girls' Intermediate Softball team played Hanford and lost 28 to 19. However, on Friday the Boys' Intermediate team won over Ohio 12 to 4.

Watkins . . .

First prize ribbons in the Clown Contest held at the playground went to Clarence Watkins, funniest; Jerry Lee Jackson, saddest; Willa Johns, most unusual and Linda Hanson, cutest.

As in previous weeks, there will be two arts and crafts classes, at 1 p.m. for children ages six to 10 years, and at 2:30 for those ages 10 and up. Changes will be posted on the bulletin.

The junior girls' softball team won its first league game against Deshler 11-10. Leading our team were Karen Graves, Sharon Brady, and Vicki Sutton with two home runs each. Thanks to Harry K. Brady who rewarded the team with pop and pretzels after the game.

The intermedite girls' softball team lost to Lincoln. Watkins was led by Sharon Warner with four hits and Debbie Adams with three.

The junior boys' gold softball team lost to Southeast Lions, however Butch Owens hit two home runs and a triple for Watkins.

The intermediate boys' softball team lost to Karns Black, though Marvin Mills was four-for-four and Ted Ayres hit two home runs and a triple. The senior boys' softball team defeated Courtwright. The team was led by John Turner, Wardell Poole, Ron George and Don Bess. Our weight-lifting program has been progressing. Novice James Brown snatched 202 pounds, and 120 pounds with one hand.

Anyone interested in drama please contact either Linda Schwab or Bob Reall. A drama festival will be presented in the near future.

Ohio Ave. . . .

Boys and girls who have won the four-square and tetherball tournaments at the playground will try for district tournament titles Monday and Tuesday at Poindexter Center.

The following playground champions will represent Ohio Avenue in four-square: Charles Tinsley and Tommy Sullens, juniors; Larry Marshall and Eddie Still, intermediates; Myron Ware and Norman Jones, seniors. Playground tetherball champions are Steve Cates, Patrice Brannon and Charlotte Byrd.

Francine Still, Terry Smith, Gail Smith, Calvin Parks, Carolyn Parks and Pamela Parks participated in and enjoyed the Clown Contest at City Hall.

Practice, practice, practice is the cry of the Intermediate Boys' softball team. After losing their first two games, the boys hope to stage a comeback this week.

Lincoln Park . . .

Champions were crowned in three sports last week as playground tournaments were conducted at Lincoln Park.

David Austin and Alfred Edwards defeated all opponents in their age groups and won the chance to compete in the sectional horseshoe tournament July 3 at Schiller Park.

The Daryl Bealer and Mike Sherman duo captured honors in the four-square tournament, while Debbie Mills, Bonnie Peace, and Ralph Walker won the tetherball championships.

Last Wednesday the park turned into a circus as the annual clown contest was held. Winners were Jeannie Smith, first; Cynthia Hilliard, second; Lura Suber, third.

Vincent Wilson pitched the first perfect game of the season last week in the Junior Jet hardball league, while three of the four softball teams won their first games in inter-park competition.

In the Junior Boys' League, Daryl Walker's team defeated Deshler, 6-5, and Clarence Collins' squad walloped Watkins, 15-0. The intermediate girls shellacked Watkins, 39-12, and the junior girls lost to Scioto Trail, 14-10.

Robert Taylor has been appointed coach of the intermediate girls team.

Southeast Lions

The senior boys' softball team of Southeast Lions playground defeated Deshler's Senior Boys' Softball team 12-9 Wednesday, June 26, 1963, at Deshler School.

Southeast Lions used a duo pitching combination of William Goodwin and Doug Carroll to scatter six Deshler hits. Carl "Bo" Lethan led the Southeast Lions hitting parade with four hits out of five times at bat.

The junior boys' softball team of Southeast Lions defeated Watkins Road Playground Thursday, June 27, at Lincoln Park. Southeast Lions was led by shortstop Craig, Western's fine defensive play and the hitting of third baseman James Lathan and catcher Ruben Peppers.

Karns . . .

The Junior Jet season is under way at Karns Playground with seven teams in the eight, nine, and ten-year-old league and five teams in the 10, 11, and 12 -year-old league.

Mr. Sickles and Mr. Woerner are coaching along with several high school boys. Kieth Bush, a senior at South High, is coaching a team for the third year and will be working for his third straight league championship.

Highlight of first week of play has been the home run hitting of Dave Rings, Don Caldwell, and Charles Knoeful and the steady pitching of Brad Hoffman.

Karns Playground is represented by seven boys' and five girls' softball teams. Inter - playground competition started this past week, and Karns' play featured the shutout pitching of Rick Anderson. The Senior Boys' powerful hitting drew the attention of their fans. Don Lanfear, Tom Rittenmier, Bill Foraker and Gary McCoy all hit round-trippers.

Heimandale . . .

The intermediate girls' team from Heimandale won over Karns June 24. Though the junior team lost to Karns the next day June 24, by two runs. The junior girls' team has a shortage of players. Girls from 8 - 12 interested in softball please see Ruth Ann Marriott.

The traveling zoo, with animals of interest to youngsters and adults alike, will visit Heimandale Wednesday, July 10 at 7 p.m.

Last week Heimandale completed its tournaments in foursquare, tetherball, and horseshoes. Allan Simmons won in boys' junior horseshoes, Charles Ellis won in intermediate boys' horseshoes, and Larry Raine took first place in senior boys' horseshoes.

Kenneth Mason was the winner in junior boys tetherball, and Jackie Tubbs won in junior girls' tetherball. The boy's team of Kenneth Mason and Allan Simmons and the girl's team of Jeanette Cain and Geri Hill won in junior Foursquare.

Schiller . . .

Track and field is highlighting next week's activities at Schiller Park Playground. Boys and girls interested in joining the Junior Olympics competition should contact Joe Campbell. Organization is also beginning this week to form volleyball teams in all age groups for the city tournament beginning a week from Monday.

Junior Jet baseball is going into full swing with 16 games per week for boys age eight through 12. A few places are still open on some teams and all those boys who have signed up are urged to come to their games. Season schedule is available at the playground office.

Schiller Park won its first junior boys' softball game 13 to 2 over the Southside YMCA. The intermediate boys lost to Scioto Trails 17-12 and the senior boys lost to Karns Playground 9-0. Eddie Van de Water, 13, was the winning pitcher against the YMCA.

An estimated 3000 spectators were present last week to see Jimmy Dodd and Janet Green, "Micky Mouse and Cinderella" TV personalities perform. Watch this column and the playground bulletin board for special events.

Arts and crafts classes are offered every afternoon at 1:30 and a special story time for smaller boys and girls on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 4 p.m. Starting next Thursday, movies will be shown for kids from six to 14 at 6:30 p.m. in the new gymnasium.

The new wading pool will soon be opened and ready for use by kids 12 years old and under.

Smith Road . . .

Tetherball champions at the playground are intermediate girls Candy Hackett; junior boyr, Mike Armstrong and intermediate boys, Ricky Schleppi.

Four square champions are junior boys, Craig Schleppi and Randy Reber; intermediate boys, Rick and Ken Schleppi.

Fairwood . . .

This week has found representatives from Fairwood Playground participating in playground and sectional four square and tetherball tournaments. Fairwood had entries in the playground and city-wide clown contests. The Junior Girls and Junior Boys have won their first softball games, July 4 the playground will be closed, but the remainder of the week activities will continue with special emphasis on the sectional drama contest which will be held July 19.

Deshler . . .

Jude Farley, Bill Ubbing and Barbara Burkey are attending Indian Village Day Camp.

At Deshler's clown contest the following clowns received ribbons: Debbie Chapman, happiest clown; Jenny Chapman, smallest clown; David Kumler, cutest clown; Karen Mallehan, saddest clown; Janet McKenna, funniest clown; Joey McKenna, most deceiving clown; Marilyn Scholl, most ladylike clown; and Keith Wears, most original clown.

The parents on Deshler's advisory council are Mr. and Mrs. John Berger, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Frey, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Moder, Jim Raver, and Mr. and Mrs. James Smith.

After the set show at Deshler the winners went to Schiller for the sectional pet show. Bill Sugory's dog was the largest entry, Jeff Uhlig's dog won second for obedience and Marvin Neubig's puppy won third place for the most affectionate.

The girls' softball teams have been organized and are beginning to play well together.

The Juniors, Intermediates and Seniors each have lost one league game.

The physical fitness testing has begun and will run throughout the summer. Those who achieve the standards set for their age groups will receive a physical fitness certificate.

Coming events include a volleyball tournament which will begin July 15. Anyone interested should sign up soon.

The four square, tetherball and horseshoe tournaments were held Thursday, June 27.

The four square winners in each age group were: boys, eight and under: Oliver Bates and Matt Schweitzer; nine through 12, Ron Enderle and Tom Neugebauger; 13-15, Ron Nincehelser and Frank Carone. The girls 9 through 12, Pam Bates and Sharon Caldwell; 13-15, Shirley Hamilton and Willy Lembro Poulos. These winners went to Hiemandale Monday, July 1. The playground winners in tetherball tournament include Oliver Bates, Chuck Abram and Debbie Stewart.

A sectional track meet will be held at South High July 11. The meet will be broken down into four categories with ages ranging from eight to 17.

The boys' softball league officially began this week with Deshler's first game, in which Deshler's Red team beat a valiant but out-gunned Karns team 17 to 14. The Deshler Gold junior softball team lost 6 to 5 against Lincoln.

The Junior Jet season opened June 24, with the Yankees pounding the Indians 20 to 6. Wilson Raver starred for the Yankees. He went four for five, hitting two home runs, a triple and a single. Mike Rowland also helped the cause with a home run and three singles in the National League the Mets turned on the gas in the last inning, and scored seven runs to beat the Redlegs 12 to 4.

On June 25 the White Sox beat the Angels 6 to 3. Mike Gibson had three hits for the winners. In the other game, the Giants bombed the Cardinals 15 to 8. Fine pitching by Richard Terry held the Cardinals to one run.

The Orioles were edged by the Tigers 9 to 6 in Tuesday night's action.

In the eight and nine-year-old league the Dodgers beat the Colts 18 to 8. Thursday night the Red Sox beat the Twins 8 to 4. The Pirates shut out the Braves 13 to 0. Outstanding pitching by Rick Stonerock helped the Pirates to an easy victory. He struck out nine men and he only faced 12 in three innings. The men who are helping with our Junior Jet program this year are John Berger, Larry Rosshirt, Dave Williams, Jim Smith, Don Plummer, Bill Moehl, Charles Gatto, Don Frantz, Charles Sherman, Jim Rover, Terry Campbell, John May, Jerry Meinrod, Jim Arrigo, Bill White and Don Anderson.

Game time is 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

In softball last week, Deshler's intermediate boys were edged by Karns 12 to 11. Tom Roberts added three hits to the campaign. Deshler's senior boys were beaten by the Southeast Lions 12 to 9.

A dance, with both records and a band for adults, teenagers and children will start at 8 p.m. and end at 10 p.m. Wednesday, July 3.

Scioto Trail . . .

The boys' intermediate softball team beat Schiller Park 17-12 in its first game of the season.

Newly elected co-captain Jeff Dodson was the winning pitcher. Butch Morgan won the honor of hitting the first home run for this year's team.

Remember our Family Play Day on Friday, July 5. Bring your own picnic supper and your whole family about 5:30 p.m.

Diana Hughes, pitcher for the junior girls softball team, led her team to a 14-10 win over Lincoln Park in its first league game. Linda Mulholland and "Mike" Downs each had three hits.

Miss Patricia Tatum judged the playground clown contest and chose the following winners:

during the Revolutionary war. See what is meant about learning history?)

The tiny, palm-size clowns she owns bring back vividly another bit of British history. They are the "blitz dolls" left in the coat pockets of English children during the times of the air raids of World War II. The frightened children had a familiar friend to cling to while waiting in the shelters for the "all-clear."

Her recently acquired portrait doll of Jackie Kennedy is highly treasured, as it is the work of one of the 13 nationally recognized doll artists.

Maidens of ancient Rome and Greece left their dolls at the alters of their goddesses shortly before marriage as proof that they had "set aside their childish things."

But doll-collecting today has grown up. Mrs. Syfers has utterly convinced this writer her hobby is engrossing to the collector and fascinating to the anyone who is privileged to see a fine collection, such as hers.

'Uncovered' Letter Reveals Sawvel Report Promised As 'Good Story'

By FRANK RYAN

A closely guarded "feather in the hat" letter from Findlay water rate consultant J. S. Sawvel was revealed Tuesday to Hartley Newspapers by C. Wayne Freeman, Columbus finance director.

Freeman was pressed for full contents of the letter following reports Sawvel had assured councilmen of the political "safeness" of proposed water rate hikes in his survey for which the city has paid $22,000.

In the letter to Freeman, Sawvel wrote that he is "convinced that the adoption of the proposed rates, together with the proper publicity, will enhance the political stature of the present (Westlake) administration and will be a 'feather in its hat.'"

The letter, dated June 12, 1962, was accompanied by a 15-point rationale for acceptance of the report findings and titled: "Reasons Why The Proposed Water Rates Should Be Adopted And The Water Freeze Lifted And That The Program Is Not A Political Question."

Freeman said the letter and "rationale" were accompanied by .. series of suggested news releases. In the letter to Freeman, Sawvel said of the proposed news releases: ". . . with proper publicity we are confident that the two newspapers, the public and others would look upon the proposed water system program most favorably as an achievement and accomplishment of the present administration."

"We have a good story to tell," Sawvel wrote. "It will be further noted," he continued, "that in all my rate studies I have never experienced a situation where water consumers considered their water bill as a tax nor where there was any apprehension by the political party in power towards making an increase in rates—even where rates have been increased by as much as 50 percent. We are confident that practically everyone considers his water bill as a utility bill the same as his electricity, gas and telephone bills."

The Sawvel letter indicated that consideration had been given to raising rates only for commercial and industrial users, with no increase for residential accounts. Under the heading "Residential Bills Must Be Increased," the Sawvel letter said:

"The question was raised at our last conference as to the possibility of increasing only commercial and industrial bills and eliminating the increase on residential users. I have given further consideration to this possibility and have reached definite conclusion and opinion that it would be highly inadvisable to contemplate such a program for the obvious reason that all other residential rates are tied in and limited by the Columbus rate. Further, it is highly undesirable to leave the largest group of consumers unaffected."

Freeze Is Discussed

Sawvel dealt with the controversial Columbus water "freeze" policy in listing the 15 reasons for adoption of his report. He reported:

"The lifting of the water freeze that has been in effect for many years (making it

SAFETY LANES ATTRACT THOUSANDS

Is A Life Worth 10 Minutes?

By JANE ROBINSON

There were stellar attractions everywhere you looked last weekend at the Western Electric safety exhibition in East Columbus.

Rescui-Anne and Mrs. Jean Bray of the Columbus Police were equally popular. The ONG and State Patrol whirlybirds drew about as much attention as the survival car. The antique cars caught the fancy of adults as the clowns and Canal Winchester fire engine did that of the children, and music from the Reynoldsburg Band and the Local Federation of Musicians filled the air.

But to the agents of Western Electric, who sponsored the event, the real stars of the performance were the hundreds of Franklin County motorists who brought their vehicles through the safety check lanes.

It was all part of the intensive program kicked off last month by MAPS and area law enforcement, safety and civic agencies to help diminish the annual summer highway slaughter.

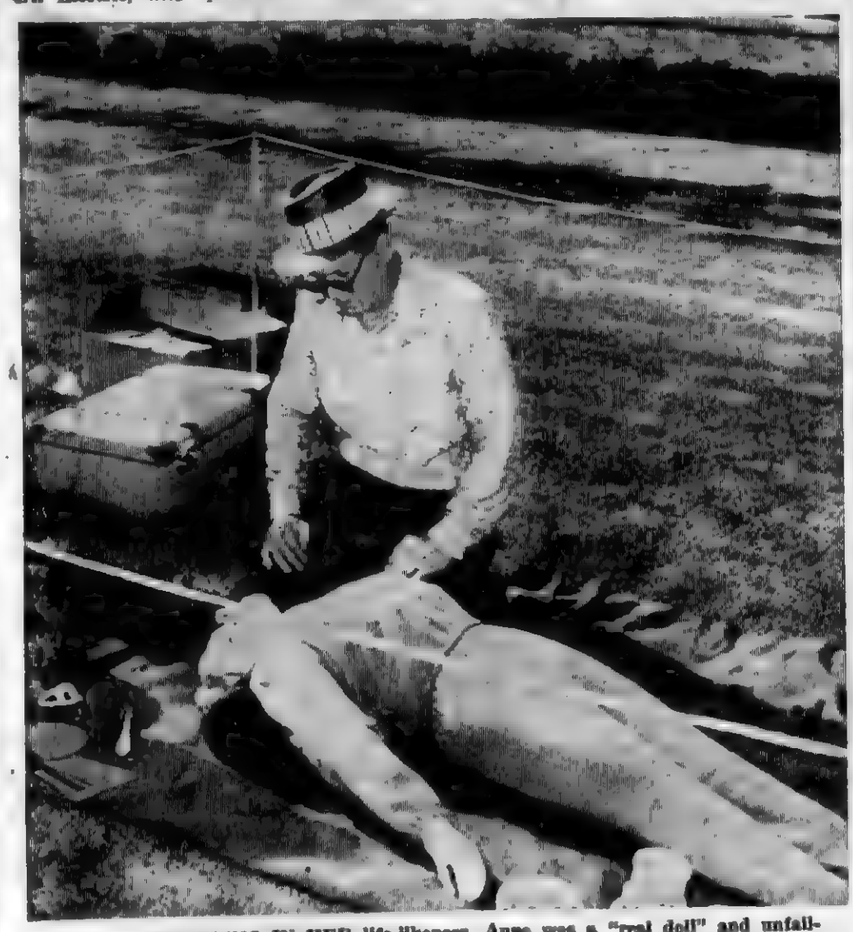
Today over a quarter of a million automobiles in Franklin County bear the insignia proclaiming that the car has been checked and found mechanically safe.

Particularly encouraging to the sponsoring agents of this all-out campaign has been the motorists who flunk the test (the 10 points include brakes, lights, tires, horns and mirrors) and come back within a matter of hours with garage receipts proving the defect has been corrected — not "sometime," but right now.

One nearby service station reported a land office business in tail light bulbs alone the first few hours the lane was opened.

F. W. Schrankler, company public relations man who coordinated the Western Electric contribution to public safety, pointed out that the expert eye of the trained checkers often spotted defects, such as a tire about ready to blow, that was unapparent to the owner.

Although the average age of the autos going through the lane was guessed at a couple of years old, the 1913 model, as all the antique cars, passed the test with flying colors.



Could your automobile do the same?

Statistics prove excessive speed the chief cause of accidents, making a speeding automobile a weapon of death.

However, at least a car that is mechanically sound is a guided missile over which the driver has some control and in which his chances for survival are increased.

Deputy Malcolm Coogan of STARTLING IN HER life-likeness, Anne was a "real doll" and unfailingly cooperative as the subject of the demonstration of mouth-to-mouth resuscitation at the safety display at Western Electric Co. Sunday. Earl Ericson, chairman of the works first aid program, kneels over the $300 Swedish import whose "lungs" inflate as a humans and whose weight and conformation duplicate that of a real-life subject.

$500 Goes To Triple S Camp Fund

The Links, the service group which supports the South Side Settlement House summer camping activities, recently received a gift of $500 toward the project.

The Charitable Foundation of the Young Business Men's Club presented 10 local organizaions with funds totaling $5,000 to be used as they see fit.

Other beneficiaries of the foundation are the Charity Newsies, Alfred L. Willison Children's Center, Central Community House, Gladden Community Center, American Cancer Society, Community Camp Building Fund, Women's Juvenile Service Board, the Elizabethan Guild for the Dominican Sisters of the Sick Poor, and the Columbus Symphony.

WHEN SHE placed the tiara of miniature carnations upon Judy Robinson's head, Linda Tapia stepped down as 1962 Miss South Side and Miss Robinson, right, began her reign. Miss Robinson, 35 Thurman-av, is a newcomer to the South Side, having recently moved to Columbus after graduation from Marietta High School. She plans to enter Ohio State University in September.

MISS SOUTH SIDE CROWN AWARDED TO NEWCOMER

When the field of contestants was taken down to six in the race for the title of Miss South Side in the CSSO-sponsored annual Fourth of July beauty contest, the judges still had a hard decision to make.

Only one lass from the South Side could wear the crown, and every girl looked like a queen.

Judith Robinson was crowned and in her court were Susie Berger, Mary Good, Ruth Ann Emerick, Joanne McGarvey and Patty Moeckel. Although some were necessarily losers, all girls beamed as they held the armful of roses presented to them.

The queen and her court will be the guests of the council at a luncheon at the Olentangy Inn and will appear on the radio program there of Helene Barrett of the Chez Helene School of Self-Improvement and Modeling. Miss Robinson received a $95 course of lessons at the Chez Helene.

John Marshall, chairman of the event, stated that the convertibles in which the girls were paraded to the judging stand were furnished through the courtesy of Bobb's Chevrolet and Whitacre Flowers.

Obviously pleased with the large crowd that came to enjoy the day-long holiday activities at Southwood Park, Marshall explained that although a final accounting has not been made, he was certain the CSSO had again put on a show that was a success financially as well as fun for South Side residents.

He emphasized the fireworks display was paid for through the generosity of South Side business men.

Businesses not previously reported that contributed to the 1963 celebration are:

St. Leo's Court of Foresters, Laff's Coffee Shop, Echo Market, Fornof and Son, Puritan Packing Co., Blue Bird Pie Co., Held Funeral Home, Josephenium Furniture, Heil and Scheiderer, Knabel Coal Co., Bob's Carry Out and Brown Steel Company.

Frank Neubeck Carry Out, Jackson's Service Station, Federal Glass Company, Reichert's Sohio, Piketon Bowling Co., Berger Meats, Cook and Son Funeral Home, K. and M. Carry Out, Super-Duper (Parsons-av), Ideal Sporting Goods, Swan Bowling Alley and Whitacre Florist.

International Club Makes Village Tour

A miniature Haus Und Garten Tour was held Monday afernoon when the Ladies of the International Club were guests of the German Village Society.

The group which was formed under the sponsorship of the YWCA 20 years ago is made up of ladies of all nationalities. The first chairman was Mrs. Leona Kessler, mother of Miss Rowena Kessler, present director of the Y's adult program.

After meeting at the patio of the Society office the group toured the immediate neighborhood and went through several homes that have been restored to their old world atmosphere.

The club had its birth during the war years when women from all over the world came here either as refugees or under strained circumstances and felt the need for the companionship of those with similar background.

Though largely social and educational in nature the group has done a great deal of service work, with its latest project the furnishing of a room in the new Y wing which will be dedicated to the founder, Mrs. Kessler.

Mrs. Walter Brown, 3030 Maryland-av, will soon retire as chairman when Mrs. W. C. Greets of Brice-rd, Reynoldsburg takes office.

Courtwright Residents Seek Legal Counsel

The first action of the Courtwright Community Association at its organizational meeting last week was to appoint a committee to recommend an attorney to represent the group.

More than 40 residents of Courtwright-rd, in the area between Refugee-rd and Rt. 33, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wray, 2950 Courtwright-rd, to form the association after becoming alarmed at the use of nearby farmland as a land fill.

The land in question is owned by Dr. Robert Kessler and leased by S. G. Lowendick and Sons, a wrecking company.

The bottom land of the farm is supposedly to be filled with "clean" debris from the removal of houses and businesses being torn down for highways and urban renewal.

However, the neighbors have taken a dim view of the proceedings and have approached the Rural Zoning Board, the county trustees and the Board of Health in an attempt to arrest the establishment of what they consider a "dump."

A meeting was set for Wednesday, July 10 to hear the reports of individuals and committees who were appoint-

Brand New Jackpot Begins In Hartley Newspaper Contest

It's gone again! The "Confederate" jackpot has been emptied, this time by an East Side family, and a new jackpot has been started.

Earl Spicer, 1302 Dellwood-av, came up with the winning "5" emblem last week and walked off with $139 in "Confederate" cash. This money can be spent, just like the real thing, at any place of business advertising in a Hartley Newspaper during the week the winner finds the lucky emblem.

The Spicer family has subscribed to a Hartley Newspaper for the past four years. According to Spicer, part of each week has been spent searching the pages of his paper for the winning emblem

South High Grads Wed In April 19 Ceremony

MRS. GEORGE ADAMS

Thurman Avenue Methodist Church, Thurman-av at Washington-av, was the setting Apr. 19, for the wedding of Miss Linda Lou Houser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Griffith F. Houser, 426 E. Stewart-av, and Mr. George Kenneth Adams, son of Mrs. Effie J. Adams, 403 E. Stewart-av.

Rev. William Loy officiated.

The bride chose for her wedding a white silk taffeta gown, with a scoop neckline trimmed with brocade flowers and long tapering sleeves. The chapel train featured a rose and two brocade panels. Her headniece consisted of a finger-tip veil attached to a crown of pearls.

She carried a white bridal Bible, topped with white fuell mums and centered with a purple-throated white orchid.

Mrs. Jeanette Roberts, matron of honor, wore a street-length dress of deep pink and carried a bouquet of light pink carnations.

Mrs. Dorotha Butcher and Miss Bonnie Landon, served as brides-matron and junior bridesmaid. They wore street-length dresses of light pink chiffon and carried bouquets of deep pink carnations.

Best man was Mr. Ted Landon and ushers were Mr. Arlie Adams, Mr. John Adams and Mr. Gary Mauller.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Adams are graduates of South High School. Mr. Adams is employed by the Rick Printing Co.

Labeled for PROTECTION

Some medicines may be taken internally; others are for external use only; therefore labels caution us as to their proper use. These precautions are for our own protection and good.

All things in life are not so clearly marked as to their proper use. The Bible is our source and guide, our label.

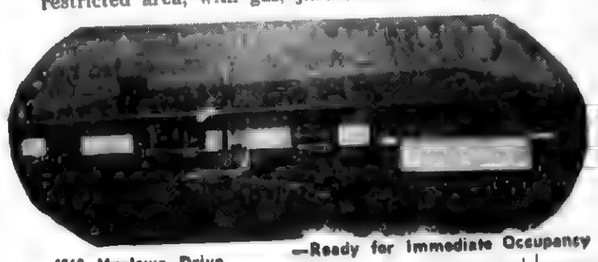
Psalm 119, 105

ATTEND CHURCH, STUDY GOD'S WORD

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH — THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE



The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and the demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Sectional Track Meets Highlight Playground Programs

Sectional track meets are being featured this week in the Columbus Recreation Department summer playground program. A practice meet will be held today by 27 playgrounds. Events for youngsters 13 years and under will be held at 1:15 p.m. and events for the 14-15 and 16-17 age groups will get underway at 5:45.

The Junior Boys at Deshler won the four-square and tetherball tournament last week; Deshler Intermediate Boys won the four-square, and the Senior Girls from Deshler won both. Schiller Park Junior Girls were first in tetherball, the Intermediate Girls from Watkins won the four-square while the Intermediate Boys from Watkins took the tetherball honors. The Senior Boys took both the four-square and tetherball tourneys. The Karns Intermediate Girls took the tetherball tournament.

Next week sectional tournament play will be in volleyball. Also, each playground will be busy preparing for the drama festivals, which will be held in several areas of each district. Locations will be announced later.

Reports from local playgrounds follow:

Southeast Lions

Southeast Lions Junior Boys' Softball team defeated Schiller's Junior Boys 7-6 on July 2. Craig Western, the team's shortstop, scored the winning run in the seventh inning on a double by pitcher Sherman Price.

The Senior Boys defeated Karns 9-4 last Wednesday. Again the team used the pitching duo of William Goodwin and Dave Carrol to scatter five of Karns' hits. Southeast Lions scored four runs in the second inning to jump to an early lead. Gaylord Hick's home run in the fourth inning with two men on was the spark for the final tallies.

Scioto Trails...

The Junior Girls' Softball team won its second game of the season. Diana Hughes led her team to a 16-10 win over Karns.

The Junior Boys' Gold team was forced to forfeit to Karns because of a lack of players.

The Intermediate Boys' Softball team was rained out of its game with Watkins. This Friday, July 12, the team plays Karns here at 1 p.m.

Anyone interested in volleyball should sign up immediately. Tournaments begin Monday, July 15.

Heimendale...

Track for girls eight to 18 started last week. They are practicing for competition in three events in their age division in the track meet at South High Thursday, July 11, and for the Junior Olympics.

Anyone interested in being in a play for the drama festival should come to the playground. Interested and alent has already been shown, and the leaders believe it will be a real dramatic production.

Karns...

The Junior Jets have drawn attention to Karns Playground with their sparkling play. Dan Zbororisky socked a homer over the right field fence to become the first player of this age level (eight and nine) to perform this feat in the last five years.

The Karns Junior Boys' Softball team came through with a 49-2 win. Kieth Brown and Jan Herrman pitched, and Dave Rings and Rod Parker provided big bats.

Patty Marshall and Carol Thomae pitched the Karns Heyls to their third straight Junior Girls' Softball win. Beverly Woerner has the most hits so far this season, and Debbie Tapia has scored the most runs.

The Intermediate Girls' Softball team brought home its first victory with an 8-7 win over Deshler. Marsha Stammler and Sandy Schmitt brought in two runs each.

READY FOR THE RACE

Deshler...

Junior Jet Cardinals beat the Braves 9-7 this week. Kevin Assman, Tommy Wells, Eddie Kane and Don Nichols all contributed two runs.

In other action, the Dodgers squeezed by the Pirates 12-11. Phil Gardner hit a home run for the winners. The Giants downed the Braves 11-3. Greg Semore had three hits for the winning Giants.

The Angels whipped the Red Sox 13-8. Charles Trott was the big hitter for the Angels, having two hits in three times at bat. The Indians slipped by the Orioles in a 5-3 battle.

The league-leading White Sox stretched their winning streak to three games by beating the Red Sox 10-3, with the help of pitcher Mike Gibson.

Deshler's Intermediate Boys' Softball team came through again to win its second game by beating Lincoln 12-9. John Wardlow and Jim Osbourne supplied the power; each had a triple and a single. The team's record now stands at 2-0.

This week craft classes have made key rings, lanyards, pot holders and jewelry boxes.

Smith Rd...

Tomorrow night the second bicycle rally will take place. The rallies are held every Friday at 6 p.m. for boys and girls of all ages. Everyone is invited to show his skills in maneuvering bicycles for fastest time.

The Family Night program on July 1 was a big success, even though it rained. The drama class presented "Peter Pan," after which everyone joined in playing games and folk dancing.

Watkins...

During the past week the arts and crafts classes have been making bracelets out of gimp, crepe paper bottles and note holders. Preparations have begun for the Lantern Parade to be held Friday, July 26.

Last week the Junior Girls' Softball team lost to Karns. The Junior Boys' Red Softball team lost to Lincoln Park. The Gold Junior Boys' Softball team lost to Karns White. The Junior Jets team one defeated team two, 14-7.

Next week six to nine-year-olds will make place mats, paper bag puppets, fish, construction paper animals and a mural in arts and crafts classes at 1 p.m. The 10-year-olds and up will make place mats, stick craft and do basketry in the classes at 2 p.m.

Lincoln Park...

Several boys and girls have been trying out for the track team. Ralph Gordon, Horace Walker, James Thompson and John McDonald have been assisting the leaders.

Lincoln's Intermediate Boys' team lost 11-9 to Deshler last week. The Junior Boys' Red team beat Deshler 21-4. Pete Wilson hit two home runs, and Vincent Wilson and Charles Johnson each contributed to the Red team cause.

Schiller...

More Junior Jet Baseball players are needed in the nine to 10-year-old group at Schiller Playground. Any boy interested should contact Ronold Kirkpatrick at the playground as soon as possible. Five more weeks remain for play.

Volleyball tournaments begin next week. Children of all ages are urged to sign up for play. Leader Vivian Lloyd is organizing the team now.

One of the most exciting and beautiful special events of the summer, the annual Lantern Parade, will be held in two weeks at Schiller Park. All children should start making plans now to enter the parade. Details may be obtained from Miss Pam Argus, the arts and crafts instructor at Schiller.

Fairwood...

Fairwood Playground has kept busy this week with preparations for the Drama Festival to be held July 19, the Sectional Track and Field Meet to be held July 11 at South High School, and the Volleyball Tournaments which begin the week of July 15.

Two Fairwood entrants in the Sectional Four-Square and Tetherball Tournaments won the championships. Sonja Finch, 725 Bulen-av, was Senior Girls' Tetherball champion, and Paul Hairston, 737 Bulen-av, and Ben Lauderdale, 630 Lilley, were Senior Boys' Four-Square champions.

Mohawk...

Mohawk had four representatives in the Sectional Four-Square Tournament. They were Lucille and Linda Price, Frankie Burton and Ronald Blackburn.

Tuesday, July 2, Jeffery Price, Ronald Blackburn, Linda and Lucille Price entered the Sectional Tetherball Tournament. Mohawk was defeated.

Wednesday, July 3, Kenneth Poe, Ronald Blackburn, Judy, Lucille, Linda and Tony Price played in the Sectional Horseshoe Tournament. Judy Price won the Senior Girls' championship and Lucille Price the Intermediate championship.

Arts and crafts are held daily from 1 to 3 p.m. for children ages six through 13. There will be a trial arts and crafts program for teenagers 13 through 18 two evenings a week. Watch the playground bulletin for days and time.

Thirteen boys and girls proved their physical fitness last Friday by hiking six miles to and from Franklin Park. They were Ronald Blackburn, Tryone Cathcart, Kenneth Poe, Burton Poe, Joe Clarke, Percy Clarke, David Price, Jeffery Price and Tony, Linda, Lucille and Judy Price.

Seven boys completed their physical fitness tests and will be awarded the AAU certificates. They are Jeffery, David and Tony Price, Kenneth and James Poe, Tyrone Cathcart and Ronald Blackburn.

There will be a track and field meet July 11 at South High School. Those interested in track should see Dale Tyler or Judy Wilcox.

The state of Kentucky required daily reading of the Bible in public schools in 1924.

Sawvel Rate Report Politically Motivated

The Sawvel Water Rate Study, promised as a "feather in the cap" of the Westlake Administration, may prove to be a political "bone in the throat."

Findlay consultant J. S. Sawvel defended his report during two public hearings. He stressed the right of the city to use an "ability to pay" formula in placing a top-heavy portion of the cost hike on industrial and commercial users.

Mayor Westlake indicated a preference for the Sawvel rates by declaring himself in favor of a lower rate for "pensioners and others in the low income bracket."

Perhaps the reasoning behind Sawvel's approach to the proposed rate structure would be more readily understood by the public if he had gone into details of a letter sent last summer to a Westlake Administration official.

The letter not only promised that adoption of the report recommendations would be a "feather in the cap" of the Westlake Administration, but went on to advise that all the administration had to do was tell the people and they would be glad to pay. Sawvel advised that adoption of the report would be a good move, politically.

As political strategy the Sawvel report may have some merit. Certainly there are more votes to be gained from residential water consumers than from the industrial-business population.

But the political strategists seemed to have overlooked one fact. The "man in the street" has learned through previous experience that he pays more in the long run for any financial break he gets at the expense of industry and commerce. Any added production or operating costs of business must necessarily be passed on to the consumer—and usually with a little extra charge to cover the cost of the added business investment.

Notwithstanding the political overtones, the report is open to question in several important areas.

For example, the city charter says that water rates "shall be fixed by ordinance of council . . . in an EQUITABLE manner and in such amount as will fully cover the COST OF SERVICE." (our emphasis.)

The Development Committee for Greater Columbus has challenged the Sawvel report because it doesn't include cost-of-service data. Sawvel brushed aside the suggestion with comments that costs of such a study would run from $200,000 to $300,000, and that recommendations would not be followed.

Left unanswered by the consultant and Mayor Westlake is the question of how equitable rates can be determined when the cost of service is unknown.

A less-discussed but equally disturbing aspect of the Sawvel report is the philosophy proposed for dealing with areas outside Columbus. The implied and expressed theory is that the city has the right to levy whatever charges it pleases to areas outside Columbus without thought to balance of cost and service.

Agreed that Columbus is the most logical central source of water supply. But evolution of an integrated water system for Franklin County, unhampered by imaginary boundary lines, calls for cooperation—and cooperation is a two-way street. (It was just a short time ago that the Westlake Administration was complaining of the potential dangers of monopoly in providing an open field for another utility. It seems that the "shoe on the other foot" theory comes into play here.)

There is one other point that the Westlake Administration would do well to consider before brushing aside recommendations of civic committees it seeks out for advice.

Committees such as the Development Committee for Greater Columbus are not on a trial basis. They have proved on numerous occasions that they stand ready to work for the betterment of the total community. They have contributed time, effort, knowledge and money.

Such committees cannot continue to function properly if they are afforded cooperation from local government ONLY when their findings coincide with the thinking of the political administration.

The Sawvel report is a case in point. It has been much too long delayed in its final presentation. It was brought forth in time, however, to serve as a "white charger" for Mayor Westlake's bid for re-election. The Sawvel report, as it now stands, is the message to the "little man" that he is getting "something for nothing—or close to nothing."

"Something for nothing" is as old as politics. It is the rigged wheel that just won't pay off the bettors.

"Feather" or "bone" — the Sawvel report has cost Columbus taxpayers $22,000. And to date it is a case of "nothing for something."

An Editor's Outlook . . . — by Jenkin Lloyd Jones

Worm's-Eye View Of War Is Different

By mid-day 100 years ago last Thursday the outcome of the American Civil War had been decided.

At noon on July 4, 1863 a drenching rain swept the green hills around Gettysburg, Pa. It washed the open mouths of Pickett's dead on the gentle slopes of Cemetery Ridge. It blanketed with a gray haze the view from the hastily-erected Union lookout towers. And then in muck and agony and disappointment the Army of Virginia began to move backward.

Jones

First, it was only the ambulances — jolting, springless wagons filled with moaning or screaming men who begged the drivers to leave them by the roadside. Then in the dripping dusk the columns crawled away—the first corps under Longstreet, the second under Ewell, the third under A. P. Hill.

And in the midst rode a pensive man with a white beard and an erect bearing, a man who had rarely moved this way before but who would taste retreat often now. The road to Cashtown and the fords of the Potomac was also the road to Appomattox. Robert E. Lee was going home.

The historians and the West Point professors and Ike Eisenhower and Winston Churchill and the battlefield guides and all the rest who have since become experts on Gettysburg can see it all now. With the omniscience of 100 years they say:

"If Ewell had pressed the attack on the first day — Good God! He still had four hours of daylight . . ."

"If Warren hadn't discovered the importance of Little Round Top in the nick of time . . ."

"If Lee hadn't ordered the frontal assault . . ."

"If Meade had pursued quickly and sealed the river crossings . . ."

It's all easy to say now. We have the bird's-eye view. We move the tin soldiers here and there on the sand table. We know how it was and how it could have been.

But the worm's-eye view was different. Tired men. Men with inadequate maps. Men who could only guess the strength of the smudged lines of gray and blue lying along the fence rails. Fragmentary news from the distant, waving signal flags. Garbled reports from the breathless couriers on their lathered horses. This is the way history is made.

At the moment the rain began falling on Gettysburg the sun was shining at Vicksburg, Miss. Just before noon Pemberton's army marched out of its fortifications, stacked its arms, and, while the Union bands joyfully played "Hail, Columbia," 31,600 Confederates surrendered themselves and the town.

With our bird's-eye view we understand the significance of Vicksburg. It was the double-whammy — the opening of the Mississippi, the divorcement of the West from the Confederacy. Because this happened at the very moment Lee began his retreat in Pennsylvania we call it a "turning point." It is easy to chart the turnings of the road from the eminence of time.

But on that Fourth of July there was little joy in the Sixth Wisconsin Battery. For on the day before, when the surrender negotiations were getting underway — well, let a 17-year-old private in the battery describe it in his diary.

> "After the flag had appeared on the left and the firing had ceased on both sides, and the men carelessly exposed themselves to miscreant — yes a brute in human form — took one life when under other circumstances he would have failed. Alvah B. Page, a gunner of the second piece, was shot in the left ear while sitting on the piece, instantly killing a noble life and one of the best shots in the battery. His last words were the hopeful ones 'I guess they are gone up.' He lived to sight the last gun fired at the enemy's stronghold. A siege gun was to be given him the very morning he was buried in a soldiers grave, 2 p.m."
> The diary-keeper was my grandfather.

In the great stream of history we can easily see how insignificant Gunner Page really was. He is one in the orderly ranks of crosses in the Vicksburg Military Cemetery. His comrades are all gone. The parents who mourned him, the brothers and sisters are gone, too.

The old casualty lists have lost the quality of flesh and blood. They have returned to the dust of names and numbers. We cannot understand the white-hot anger of the young artilleryman from Wisconsin whose day of victory 100 years ago was ruined by the passing of a name, the elimination of a blurred, grinning face in a tintype taken at Memphis.

We know there were miscreants on both sides . . . brutes and cowards and noblemen and heroes. From the altitude of a century we enjoy looking down on the old battlefields and playing the game of "might-have-been." But the hate of those distant hours seems strange and unreal.

Yet, in the worm's-eye view it made sense. These Johnnys (or Yanks) were to be killed, and it's hard to kill without the help of passion. So the stories of brutality and treachery passed around the campfires and in the heat of battle you ripped at the paper cartridges with your teeth and yelled as you jabbed and slashed with your bayonet. War is not a judicious thing. Let the unborn sit in judgment.

And 100 years later the unborn have. The family follows the guide around and the kids wear those silly little Union or Confederate caps and Pa tries to impress them by saying: "Now, if Pemberton had only joined Joe Johnston like he was supposed to . . .," or "If Longstreet hadn't sat on his behind for two hours before starting the barrage . . ."

And time is a wonderful thing.

'What's Done . . .'

To the Editor:

Recently, Whitehall Councilman Ray Shipley stated that he done things while on Council. For once I must agree with him.

He DONE loaded Whitehall with apartments, drive-ins, filling stations, etc.

He DONE started a trend that will make most streets in Whitehall a strip, comparable to the strip we have on Main-st at night. With all its neon signs it looks like Broadway in New York City.

He DONE started this strip on Yearling-rd by putting apartments, filling stations (one station has never been opened since it was built) and so forth.

He DONE started improving Maplewood-av so he can have another strip, and when Hamilton-rd is finished God help the people in that vicinity.

He DONE voted to repeal the one o'clock closing law (Feb. 20, 1962) for taverns and by so doing he done throwed the City of Whitehall open on Sunday morning for all the drinkers after adjoining communities have thrown them out.

'Danke . . . Danke!'

I want to take a minute to let you know how grateful the German Village Society is for the time and effort expended on the publicity for our Haus und Garten Tour.

The success of the tours has grown with years, and while much credit is due the members of the society who work very hard to make it interesting for the people who visit us, we know it could not be done without your wonderful help.

Anger, Well Controlled, Can Be Constructive

Matt. 21:12—Jesus went into the Temple of God and cast out all them that sold and bought in the temple, and overthrew the tables of the moneychangers, and the seats of them that sold doves.

Jesus traveled many miles in and around Jerusalem during his earthly ministry. It was the common people who mostly came to hear Him. He also learned any things from these people.

Rev Young

One of the things that caused Him much concern had to do with temple worship and sacrifice. Prices for the sacrifice animals were so high, many common people found when they arrived at the temple that they could not make a sacrifice. This had disturbed the native people for many years. Jesus also had heard of those who came from far away places who were being cheated and shortchanged as they changed their money for temple script. He had watched the activities in the outer court as men hawked their wares. He was very displeased at what He saw and heard.

The custom of sacrifice was not foreign to Jesus. Their religion had been carried on this way for many years, but when the temple became a money making machine for the high priest and the rest of the Sadducean clique, instead of a place of worship it was time for the Son of God to do something about it.

One day He entered the temple with anger in His eyes, seized a whip and drove the money changers out, saying to them as they departed, "My house shall be called a house of prayer; but you have made it a den of thieves."

This is not the only place where Jesus showed anger during his earthly ministry. Did His showing of anger on several occasions make Him less divine? I think not. I think we have so long overemphasized the fact that God is love, that we have forgotten; God also sits in judgment, where justice will be handed out and righteousness will prevail.

If Jesus used anger for the good of the Kingdom, can we as His people also use anger for the same cause? We have thought anger is all bad only because it is usually used as a vice and shows our immaturity. It usually rises out of pettiness or selfishness.

Did it ever enter our minds that God gave us this instinct for a purpose, and we are misusing it? Therefore we are sinning against ourselves, our fellowman and God.

We need to ask God to help us control our anger, so that we never generate more than we have the capacity to hold. When we use our anger, let us be sure that the size of the thing we use it on is big enough for us to spend ourselves on.

If the people who are called Christian in this world would use constructively the anger they can generate, and spiritually dedicate it, evil would cower before us. A little Godly Christian anger could smoke out a lot of crime. Many of the evils of our day thrive under our noses only because we keep still.

Jesus saw what was happening in the temple so He used what God gave Him and went into Action. Abraham Lincoln saw the slave woman auctioned off in New Orleans, something arose in his soul; and when the day came that he could do something about it, he did.

When will you and I, as the Church, allow something to arise in our souls that will send evil fleeing? This will never happen until we recover from our illness, known to Jesus as "lukewarmness."

Frosting On The Cake

By
"UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

Mr. I. F. Howell, my fellow columnist each week on your editorial page, has written a classic about June weddings.

That marvelous column of his gives me a natural opportunity to put in my two cents worth about this love business. Genuine love is much more than just "many wondrous things."

First of all, of course, is the honest and decent "love life" between two fine adults of opposite sex. Only within the last few years has it been possible for teeners to get sane and honest guidance from teachers who have attained that mental station in life where they are qualified.

Then there are many fine and inspiring "love affairs" of the mind and spirit between thousands of genuine students of life. These fall in the category of admiration and respect for other individuals of both sexes who are also people of taste and achievement. Ever since I was ten years of age I have been in love with marvelous women—teachers, great artists, successful writers. They are thoroughbreds in the art and science of full and compensating living.

No one who knows such women as Helen B. Paulsen, Carolyn McCartney, Viola Jordheim, Christine Carr Minor, Gay Zanola McClaren, Eleanor Sikes Peters, Dr. Margaret Mead, Dr. Irene Dunn, can become acquainted with such tremendous female personalities without becoming extremely fond of them.

Mrs. Ross and I just celebrated our own 48th anniversary, and as we look back together over the many marvelous things we have lived through together it makes sense to say we too have had our share of "frosting on the cake." Mr. Howell has said something vastly important. I hope thousands of this year's crop of brides and grooms will heed his wisdom. One thing they must do, and that is to leave each other's personality alone. Thousands of women are still "making a man over" for some other woman.

"Sorry, sir, but I'll have to consult my lawyer before I answer that question!"

SHAMROCK CLUB PLANS OUTING

COMMITTEEMEN get together to plan the Shamrock Club's 11th annual picnic and outing at Murphy's Picnic Grounds, Powell, O., July 14, from noon to 8 p.m. On the program are the Irish step dancers, composed of children of Shamrock members, who will give an exhibition of step dancing, jigs and reels. Miss Kay Lehman is the director. The Shamrock Choral Club will render Irish songs, both group and solo. Choral director is Pat Walsh. In addition, there will be door prizes, free refreshments, pony rides, horseshoe pitching and races. Pictured above, seated, are Thomas M. Hinton (left), general committee chairman, and Richard McDonald, games. Standing, left to right, are Michael Ginley, prizes; Denny Reynolds, pony rides, and Joseph M. Murphy, membership. The picnic and outing is for members and their families only. Those desiring membership should contact Joseph M. Murphy, 263-0190.

Be Prepared For Holidays; Order Your Flag Kit Now

The passing of Independence Day, 1963, has pointed up the fact that many local families either do not possess an American flag or did not bother to display it on their nation's birthday. In many cases only one or two homes prevented a neighborhood from presenting a complete "Avenue of Flags" on the Fourth of July.

Until the limited supply is gone, Hartley Newspapers will continue to offer a 50-star American flag kit and a one-year subscription to any of the seven Hartley Newspapers at a special reduced rate, in the hope that every home which did not display a flag will be able to do so in the future.

This kit contains not only a beautiful 3x5 colorfast cotton "Star Spangled Banner" but also a six-foot wooden staff, top piece, halyard, window socket and book on flag etiquette. This kit ordinarily sells for $5.98.

For the remainder of this offer, the flag kit and a one-year subscription to your favorite Hartley Newspaper valued at $3, are being offered for the special combination price of only $5. This is a savings of nearly $4.

Hartley Newspapers have already made several hundred of these flag kits available to local readers at this special, reduced rate. Only a few of the flags are left, and the offer is limited to the current supply.

If yours was one of the few homes in your neighborhood not displaying "Old Glory" on the Fourth, be sure to get your order in as quickly as possible. Mail your name, address, and specify the name of the Hartley Newspaper to which you wish to subscribe, to Hartley Newspapers, 2465 W. Broad-st, Columbus. Be sure to enclose your check or money order for this special combination price.

Dollar Day At Zoo Park

Dollar Day will be observed once again at Gooding's Amusement Park Saturday, July 13. For the purchase of a dollar ticket patrons may ride every ride in the park as many times as they like from noon until 10 p.m. According to Hal Elfort, general manager of the park. Located across from the Columbus Zoo, park rides include the Dodgem, Roller Coaster, Witch Castle and five ponies.

Patrons can use the free picnic grove, 17 acres of shady area, in case they bring a picnic lunch.

Dean Miller To Head New Morning Show On WLW-C

Network television star and native Ohioan Dean Miller has been signed by WLW-C, TV-4, to host its hour and a half studio audience - participation show each weekday from 9 to 10:30 a.m.

Miller, well known for his characterization of Matt Henshaw on "December Bride" and as the master of ceremonies on "Here's Hollywood," will include regulars Stan Robinson, Jeanne Cummins and the Al Waslon Quintet on the new "Dean Miller Show." The new program will hit the airways on Monday morning, July 29.

Features of the program will include interviews with personalities visiting in the Columbus area, interviews with authorities on local problems, contests for in-the-studio and at-home viewers, top prizes and two special attractions in which Miller will interview the wives of famous persons and people who work with well-known people.

Joining the cast of regulars will be a new female singer, 19-year-old Nancy Dawn, who has made many appearances on "Midwestern Hayride."

The format and on-the-air look of the new show will be the responsibility of producer, Edith Johnson, and director, Jim DeBoid.

Miller is a graduate of Ohio State University, a member of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity and won a letter at OSU in baseball. He worked as an announcer for WCOL following graduation.

He is the owner of Radio Station WLMJ in Jackson and has several business interests in the Cincinnati area. He is married to the former Idy Wagner of Sidney, O., and has one daughter. The Millers are expecting a second child in November.

Set Test For Peace Corps

A Peace Corps placement test has been scheduled for the Columbus area at 8:30 a.m. July 20 in room 204 of the Tonti Building, 34 N. High-st. The non-competitive test must be taken by anyone wishing to become a Peace Corps volunteer. This will be the last test given for persons hoping to enter training for a Peace Corps assignment in September or October.

Those selected for training will spend 10 to 12 weeks on a college campus or at a Peace Corps camp in Puerto Rico, studying the language, history and culture of their host country. Volunteers agree to spend two years in the Peace Corps, including training time. Minimum age is 18 and there is no upper age limit.

Kiwanis Nite Set July 17

All the Kiwanis clubs of Central Ohio have banded together to make this year's Kiwanis Night at Jet Stadium the best ever.

Kiwanis Night will be held Wednesday, July 17 at 8 p.m. when the Columbus Jets meet the Arkansas Travelers. To insure a good time for all members of the family, a fireworks display will follow the International League game.

GENERAL ADMISSION tickets are now on sale for $1.25. There are 6,000 tickets available. All profits will be used to help the youth of Central Ohio.

Tickets may be obtained from the Kiwanian neighbor in your area. For tickets contact: William J. Dawson, Jr., or L. B. Swinford (Hilltop); George F. Weber (West Side); Robert E. Horowitz or Dr. Charles Greiner (South Side); James M. Leonard or Jerry Hendricks (East Side); Eldon Berg or Fred Keeling (Reynoldsburg), or Bob Maxwell or Herbert C. New Scout Camp Open At Greenhills

Central Ohio Council, Boy Scouts of America, opened the newest Boy Scout camp in Ohio this past week when the first group of 249 Scouts and leaders moved into Greenhills Scout Reservation for the minimum six days and nights necessary to qualify for long-term camping experience.

This group, the first of over 1,000 Scouts and leaders who will attend during the summer season, came from Franklin and Fairfield counties.

The camp, which is being developed with funds raised in the recent capital development fund drive, is located four miles southeast of Logan. It contains 1,200 acres in the picturesque, rugged hills of Hocking County.

Scouts attending the camp live in tents and practice the patrol method, doing their own cooking and handling all the chores of outdoor living, on a "share the work" basis. Their scoutmaster or post advisor direct their program.

Program facilities include modern swimming pool, rifle and archery range, burro packing, a three and one-half acre lake for boating, canoeing and fishing, miles of nature trails and a modern axe and rope yard.

The summer season at Greenhills Scout Reservation runs through Aug. 3. The program, under 15 trained leaders, will allow Scouts to qualify for most of the 25 outdoor merit badges.

Mrs. America Will Visit Jamestown

According to a spokesman for the C. V. Perry Co., realtors, 40 W. Gay-st, Mrs. America, Marilyn Mitchell, will be the guest of honor for the Grand Opening Celebration of Jamestown, built by Regency Homes, Inc. Jamestown is a new community located on Karl-rd, east of Worthington.

The beautiful wearer of the Mrs. America crown will greet visitors to six brand new homes in the newly developed area Sunday, July 14, from 1 to 6 p.m.

Scheduled to arrive in Columbus Thursday night, Mrs. America will make several area personal appearances Friday and Saturday on behalf of Regency Homes.

The new area features split-levels, bi-levels and ranch designs in the six homes which will be open for inspection during the celebration. Each home contains a long list of most-wanted features, catering to a wide variety of home-buying tastes. Each model points up the slogan of the builder, Regency Homes: "Good Living For Your Best Years."

Sale of the new homes is being handled by the C. V. Perry Co.

What makes the tall corn grow
TALL?

Sunlight. Water. And fertilizer—modern fertilizer that is made using natural gas as a chemical raw material.

Through the fantastic new science of petrochemistry, chemical engineers break natural gas into its basic elements — carbon and hydrogen — then combine these with other elements in the manufacture of hundreds of modern products including plastics, fertilizers, and fibers for use in the home, on the farm, and in the factory.

Because gas is versatile and controllable, there is virtually no limit to its industrial adaptability. In the home, and industry alike, natural gas is truly the "ageless" fuel.

SUMMER LEAGUE

West, 'Hounds On Top; Playoff Set Saturday

West and Grove City will place perfect 10-0 marks on the line Saturday when the two divisional winners meet at G-C's Community Field (2 p.m.) for the Summer High School Baseball League championship.

The Cowboys rolled over Watterson twice Saturday, 11-5 and 8-5, to gain their title, hanking on early scoring in both games.

THE BRONCS jumped off to a 5-0 lead in the first game but the Eagles bounced back with that same amount of markers to gain a 5-5 tie after three frames.

George Shaffer took the mound in relief, however, to still the Watterson bats the rest of the way as West got busy for six more tallies.

The Cowboys sent all eight of their nightcap runs across the plate in the first three frames while Watterson did the same in two innings.

JOHN GOODIN recovered from a shaky start to blank the Eagles after the second inning. John Sines' three hits keyed West's 12-hit nightcap attack.

Grove City broke up a tight pitching duel between the Greyhounds' Tom Boos and Hartley's Scott French by pushing across a final-inning run for a 3-2 squeaker in the opener.

Boos allowed Hartley but two hits while French scattered six G-C bingles.

THE 'HOUNDS didn't fool around in the nightcap, however, hopping off to a 7-0 lead after three frames, enroute to a 10-1 verdict.

Bill Thomas cut the Hawks off with a single hit while Ron Burkett and Rich Murphy banged out back-to-back homers in the third to key a 12-hit offense.

Bishop Ready got route-going mound performances from Pat Ellis and Bob Helcher as the Silver Knights swept a doubleheader from Johnstown, 3-2 and 6-4.

ELLIS FLIPPED a three-hitter to settle the issue in the opener while Helcher coasted after Ready provided him with a six-run lead in the nightcap.

Terry Emrich spaced six hits in the opener while the Bulldogs scored all their runs in a big first inning. The Rebs used the same script in the nightcap, scoring five in the first while South's Selvage and Emrich limited the Cardinal sluggers to four bingles.

Duquesne Round King In Old Timer

Duquesne won over Bow Wow 6-4, to take the championship of the first round in the South Side Old Timers League. Don's Inn won over Babberts 11-10 in a close ball game. Schoenlings and Old Landmark played a high scoring game with Schoenlings winning 21-19. In other games, Blatz won over Deibels, 9-0 and Arena blanked Planks, 9-0.

Home run hitters were Ed Schaefer and Cliff Antes, Don's Inn; Bill Schmidt and Bill Evans, Bebberts.

Ed Schaefer of Don's Inn led in the hitting department with four for four at the plate. Following him was Ray Jander of Babbert's (four for five). Frank Howard, Bow Wow, Bob McGinnis, Duquesne; Yank Young, Don's Inn all hit three for four.

DUQUESNE BLASTED out 26 hits to defeat Blatz, 31-6. Herb Russell hit a home run in the last of the ninth to give Planks the edge over Schoenlings, 14-13. Bow Wow defeated Arena 5-2 and Babberts put down Old Landmark 11-5. Don's Inn bested Deibels, 13-5 in another game.

Chuck Raymond of Duquesne and Jerry Spires and Herb Russell of Planks each hit two home runs apiece. Other home run hitters were Dick Kelley, Snake Morlan, Planks; Leon Gurskey, Schoenlings; Bob Townsend and Dutch Zwilling, Old Landmark; Bob Harper, Bow Wow; John Crishbaum, Don's Inn; Jim Contosta, Blatz; and Ronnie Tatman, Bud Dorn, Jim Amburgey and Bill Davis all of Duquesne.

John Crishbaum of Don's was top hitter with three for three. Chuck Raymond, Duquense's Jerry Grueter, Don's and Herbie Wolfe of Babberts all went four for five at the plate.

A MOMENT OF TRUTH . . . .

. . . FOR SOME ANXIOUS DRIVERS

BUT FOR OTHERS . . . .

. . . A TRIP TO THE PITS

SUNDAY WAS Soap Box Derby Inspection Day of Grandview High School. With pounding hearts and anxious expression, competitors for Saturday's annual race took their cars through the weigh-in and careful, fine-tooth comb check of Jaycee officials. Hartley photographer Harley Groom catches the expressions of the Derby check with this strip of pictures. At top, Pat Sergio, 802 Mithoff-st, keeps his eyes on the scale as Bob Held checks out his total weight. Ralph Leesberg, 4090 Kina-st, anxiously watches officials check his car's brakes anad steering in the second picture. But everybody didn't breeze through the inspection. In third photo, John Kelly, 85 S. Gift-st, wears the mask of bad news as Jaycee official (right) details alterations John will have to make before receiving the race "OK." In bottom photo, John ponders the list of adjustments in the pit area. Officials added a happy note to John's momentary gloom by explaining that the corrections were minor and shouldn't keep him out of the Derby race.

All-Star Game Proves Yank Stars Only Human

By JACK WITTENMEIER

CLEVELAND, O. — That bit of baseball magic spelled Y-A-N-K-E-E-S lost a little luster here Tuesday at the 34th annual All-Star Game.

A partisan American League crowd, who had little more to cheer about after Hal Woodeshick and Don Drysdale put the silencer on their boys' bats, spent their vocal cords on AL skipper, Ralph Houk, and his pin-stripped underlings.

EVEN BEFORE Joe Pepitone fanned the first time, it was obvious that Houk was going to have to go a long way to do anything right.

The big surprise came, however, when the Yankees went from bad to worse instead of shutting their critic's mouth with the timely hit or the great stop afield.

Richardson ran into Versalles in a mixup at second and Pepitone elected to race Willie Mays to the bag while what proved to be the winning run scooted in from third.

IT WAS ROUGH enough for little Bobby to bang into one double play but with one out in the ninth and fans screaming for Norm Siebern (the AL's last pinch hitter), it seemed impossible for a repetition of history. The situation had "made for the Yankees" written all over it.

But it happened, proving, we guess, that the New York crew is just as human as anyone else.

But you can't blame the Yanks for the AL loss. Nellie Fox showed his age when the little White Sox infielder tried to beat Tommy Davis' peg from left field in what could have been a big first inning for the AL.

AND THE AMERICANS had NL hurlers on the ropes in most of the innings but only twice were they able to cash in with some scoring.

But it was still two-to-one for a Yankee "choke-up" among the paid admissions as the stadium crowd dispursed. And you can bet your last All-Star stub that that big first baseman in Boston will have a smile on his face twice as big as his batting average next time he crosses paths with Ralph Houk.

LEGION WRAP-UP

Comrade Post, G-C 9's Nab Division Title Ties

Grove City and Comrade Post (Whitehall) nailed down title ties in their respective American Legion divisions Sunday and need only one win in their remaining two games to secure berths in the district tournament next week.

Grove City, unbeaten in eight games now, had to scrap its way to a pennant share, downing upset-minded Columbus Post Sunday, 5-4.

WHITEHALL'S win came much easier as the Blue Division leaders enjoyed a forfeit win over Groveport.

Grove City hopped off to a 3-0 first-frame lead after two outs on consecutive singles by Dave Beets, Pat Mogan, Mel Williams and Bob Neely's two-bagger.

William's second hit of the day, a triple, scored Beets, who reached base on a Columbus Post bobble, as G-C took a 4-2 lead in the third

BUT POST bounced back with the tying runs in the fourth, forcing Grove City to pick up its winning tally in the bottom of the inning on a single by Paul Frasure, Dick Guthiel's sacrifice and Dan Thatcher's run-producing bingle.

George Fannin and Scott Anderson blanked Post the rest of the way and G-C had its title share. The winners picked up two exhibition game wins during the week, 13-2 over Mt. Sterling and 8-1 over Springfield.

Neely and Mogan were the batting stars, the former collecting a grand slam homer vs. Springfield, the latter batting in four runs with three hits, including a triple against Mt. Sterling.

ELSEWHERE, Scioto (St. Charles) Post kept dimming Blue loop hopes alive by defeating Eastmoor, 7-2, in extra innings. Ted Ellerbrock and Pete LaFramboise (single and triple, respectively) provided the punch as Scioto pushed across five big runs in the second extra frame.

John Pettorini picked up the win in relief. Scioto faces Comrade Post Sunday but needs outside help to gain a title tie as the Whitehall club holds a two-game lead.

Also in the Blue circuit, Southway Post exploded for seven runs in the fifth inning to pull away from Capital City, 10-0. Rick Coverdale's three-hit pitching held CC in check while Bob White provided Coverdale with all the offense he really needed with a home run.

GLEN BAIRD blanked DeSales on two hits but had to go two extra innings before his Hilliard mates could provide a 2-0 Gold League victory.

Gene Farington's three-hit mound work and a three-run home run blast by Don Clark were the big factors in Camp Chase's come-from-behind 10-4 win over Worthington.

Chase erased a possible mathematical elimination from the Gold title race, winning out a 4-1 Worthington lead with a seven-run fourth frame. The winners pounded out 16 hits.

JIM SMITH'S bloop single off Tom Cherubini proved to be the lone hit as Lyn Fitzer and Cherubini toppled Comrade Post for Chase, 5-1, in an exhibition tilt Thursday. Jim Workman's long home run was the winner's big hit.

Unless G-C and Comrade Post get nipped with upsets, the pair should meet in the district playoff Wednesday and Thursday (July 17-18) in a best-of-three series at Grandview. Game time is at 5 p.m.

If a third game is necessary, the two clubs will play the following Saturday at 1:30 p.m.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced Mar. 20, 1945, that American forces had invaded the island of Panay in the Central Philippines during World War II.

SOUTH Y ROUNDUP

St. John's Paces Juniors; Ohio EUB Tops Adult Loop

Hard rains just before game time Monday, and just before time for the first pitch on Tuesday, put a crimp in the South Side "Y" Inter-Church softball programs early last week, but thereafter there was plenty of interesting action.

WEDNESDAY JUNIORS— St. John United remained in the driver's seat by winning over Hope Lutheran. St. Paul United nosed out Southwood Church of Christ and the South Methodist nine pounded out its second straight victory by outclassing a fine St. Paul's Lutheran crew. Tom Rothwell, Carl Faris, Larry and Roger Milligan and Kurt Stanley led the hitters.

FOURTH OF JULY — Three games were played as part of the community's annual celebration at Southview. In the Class B Junior All Star game, the Wednesday nighters nosed out the Monday representatives in a real slugfest with Ralph and Mike Schleppi leading the attack for the winners. John King, with four for five, was picked as the outstanding player for the losers.

IN THE CLASS A game the Monday group evened up up matters with a 10-2 victory. Harry Keaton, Jr., and Don Watkins were the bright lights for the washday leaguers. Bob Vick's homer was the big blow for his team.

In the other game stars of the Intermediate Division put on a fine display of hitting as the Y's guys won over the Spitfires. Chester Ellis, Ralph Bressler and Larry Anderson sparkled.

ADULT SLOW PITCH — With a well balanced attack, Ohio Ave. EUB downed the previously undefeated St. Paul's Lutheran crew to take over the top rung in second round play.

Wilbur Haughn hit two homers and a single for the Saints while Al Schmidt, Davis and Morris hit best for the Ohio clan.

JIM DUERLER — went on a real hitting spree with three circuit clouts and a single in four attempts for Livingston Methodist, but his team lost to Southwood Church of Christ as the latter went on to pound out 28 hits and a win. Bill Sells, Bob Warner and Gordon Mills led the onslaught.

St. Paul defeated St. John in a United Church of Christ fray that also saw hits sprayed to all sections of Southview Field. John Schumacher and Laverack were the big guns for their respective teams.

Patience Prime Factor For Fishing Success

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

The sun was a fast-disappearing red ball in the West when the first white bass was caught and hauled aboard. There were four of us on the boat, anchored off North Bass Island, and we were all glad to see this fish. We all cast toward the shore where a school must be feeding, and suddenly all of us had a fish.

It had been a long day. Al Hare, Ellis Foster, Ron Carlson and I had left home at 4 a.m. on our trek to Lake Erie. And the white bass did not show themselves until an hour before dark.

BUT THAT hour of fast and furious fishing made the trip worthwhile. When we could no longer see, we put our rods away and returned to Put-in-Bay for the night, guided by the beam of the Perry Peace Monument.

Fishing was not slow — we caught eight kinds of fish on artificial lures. Our catch included smallmouth bass, sheepshead, two goldfish, a carp a walleye, a perch, rock bass. Now white bass were added to the list. It was a satisfying day of fishing, and we came in tired after hours spent in the sun.

There was a lesson to be learned that Saturday, and that is if you expect to catch fish you must keep fishing. West reef had been full of boats all day that kept milling around looking for white bass. Most of the anglers gave up and began casting for sheepshead, or fishing on the bottom for perch.

ALONG ABOUT 4 p.m. the parade back to the dock began, and we joined in. But the important thing is that we returned after eating to find exactly five boats on the reef, and while we reaped our silvery harvest there were only two other boats in sight.

Just about 99 per cent of the fishermen missed the good fishing, because they took their 9 to 5 work day into the outdoors with them. This time of year you must put in some overtime to get good fishing.

White bass schools have scattered, and are by no means as easy to find as they were two or three weeks ago. Some of the old "pros" who specialize in catching white bass, and who catch a hundred or more in an hour or so, have given it up for the year.

BUT YOU CAN find schools out in the lake through July and August, but you must look for them, and often they will leave after only a few minutes of fishing.

Our impression after two days of fishing was that the lake must be full of sheepshead. They provided fishing action almost the whole time we were out, and everyone hit an artificial.

Many of them hit near the surface of the water, grabbing the lure almost like a smallmouth. They do not leap or jump, but their battle is dogged as they bore towards the bottom.

MORE THAN one angler's day has been saved by these unsophisticated fish that take live bait or artificials.

Lake Erie is much cursed and discussed, and it's certainly true that a walleye is now a rare catch. But even so, the fishing potential that yet remains is almost astounding to a down-stater.

There are little bays, points and reefs all around the islands that seem to be overlooked by the fishing crowd, and they all offer adventure and fishing. An angler from this area would do well to try Lake Erie a time or two each year.

Ohio Termite Control Specializes In All Types of Pest Extermination

Ohio Termite Control, 168 Mithoff-st, has been engaged in pest control work on the South Side for 28-years.

The firm is owned and managed by Heinie Schmitt, who is assisted by Rudy Guthell. Both are exceptionally well-qualified to give advice in regard to pest control problems and give prompt and courteous attention to all calls.

This organization is a member of the National Pest Association and also a charter member of the Ohio Pest Control Operators' Association.

Ohio Termite Control specializes in the elimination of termites. These destructive insects are hard to spot unless you're an expert. They feed on timbers and woodwork often damaging houses considerably and expensively. Prompt attention will get rid of them but it is not true that your house will collapse immediately if you don't act now. Termites don't work that fast. Customers are advised to take their time and choose an operator carefully. Ohio Termite Control has always maintained its reputation with a great deal of pride. Only the best supplies are used whether it's chemicals, the latest scientific equipment or manpower.

Now is the ideal time of the year for the homeowner to have a termite inspection. "Today's Inspection Is Tomorrow's Protection." An inspection and free estimate can be arranged by calling HI. 4-1790. Fast service on real estate transactions is also a specialty of the firm.

There is no need to be pestered with roaches or water bugs either. A thorough cleanout can be obtained reasonably and with guaranteed results. Don't endanger your family's health by allowing disease carriers to live in your home. Ohio Termite Control can get rid of these loathsome pests for you on short notice.

Request Liquor Permit Transfer

The Ohio State Department of Liquor Control has received applications for transfer of liquor permits from two South Side establishments.

Transfer of a permit to sell high-powered beer and wine for carry out and to sell beer, wine or spirituous liquor by the glass until 2:30 a.m. as a night club, from Daler's, Inc., operators of the Dolphin, 312 Dering-av, to Piketon Bowling Corp., same address.

Transfer of a permit to sell 3.2 per cent beer for carry out and high-powered beer and wine for carry out from Robert and Helen Harper, operators of Harper's Grocery, 2448 S. High-st, to Lawrence Donaldson, operator of Donaldson's Grocery, 2148 S. High-st.

Both applications are currently being processed by the liquor board.

TO ALTER BUILDING

William VanFossen, 1681 Bryden-rd, has a permit to build an alteration to a brick building valued at $4,000.

'OVAL ELEGANCE'

OVAL-SHAPED DIAMONDS are displayed by Jack Kull, manager of Kull and Sons Jewelers, 20 S. High-st, as part of the large window display entitled "Oval Elegance." The unusual gems are being shown through Friday, July 12. Kull said the large collection is comprised of both mounted and unmounted stones varying in weight from one-fifth to two and five-eighths karats. It was created by the same diamond firm that cut the famous Yonker diamonds. Of particular interest are the many original and clever designs in engagement, wedding and special occasion rings.

PAUSING FOR A MOMENT in front of her collection of antique miniatures and glassware, LaDonna Hirsch, owner of LaDonna Hirsch Antiques, 2624 S. High-st, carefully adjusts one of the smaller items to fit into its place on the shelf. The shop features all types of antiques, while Mrs. Hirsch specializes in antique glass.

A Hobby Has Grown Into A Successful Antique Business For LaDonna Hirsch

What started as a hobby 14 years ago and grew into a full-time business has become a specialty with Mrs. LaDonna Hirsch, proprietor of LaDonna Hirsch Antiques, 2624 S. High-st.

Now offering a general line of antiques from glassware to furniture, the shop began as a slipper collection that grew to include milk glass and later all types of antiques.

Today there is an extra inflection in her voice when Mrs. Hirsch discusses her extensive collection of cut glass, Rhine wine glasses and milk glass. These would seem to be her specialty, and she readily admits that she reads every article she can find on the subject of glass and the patterns of a by-gone day.

She explains that many items, like milk glass and certain types of pressed glass, were very inexpensive when they were first manufactured, but today the cost of many of these pieces have multiplied dozens of times their original value. Mrs. Hirsch pointed out that the changing demand of the public has caused the prices of many scarce antiques to climb.

This, coupled with the fact that antique collecting is growing in popularity and that many persons decorating their homes in period furniture, are searching for early-American antiques, has caused the purchase of authentic antiques to become a sound investment.

Mrs. Hirsch and her husband, Leo, have attended many antique shows in the past several years and now make it a point to visit at least eight each year. During these shows they exchange ideas with other dealers, make purchases and offer items for sale. At most shows new friends and customers are met and in some cases lasting relationships with other dealers and customers are established.

When asked what her most popular item was, Mrs. Hirsch referred to the beautiful collection of colored glass that is neatly arranged in one corner of the shop. "Because of its eye appeal, its many uses and as conversation pieces, most customers, who are not collectors, like to start with some of these."

Browsers are invited to the shop, and since it is included as part of the Hirsch home, there is usually someone available to explain the many antiques available for sale and give the novice some tips about starting what could eventually become his own priceless collection.

Air Conditioning Makes Difference In Discomfort

People who are uncomfortable on many summer days should buy a relative humidity meter, according to Arthur D. Bogen, president of Bogen Heating and Air Conditioning, 334 E. Livingston-av. This device, according to Bogen, might make them feel a little better to know when their complaints are justified.

Such a meter, Bogen stated, frequently comes in combination with thermometer and barometer, decorative enough for a place in the living room. Or one can be purchased where room thermometers are sold, sometimes for as little as $1.

Armed with a humidity meter, the uncomfortable person can quickly determine whether or not it is the humidity level that is causing his discomfort. Research indicates, Bogen said, that many people will be uncomfortable if the humidity is 90 per cent and the temperature is higher than 71 degrees.

Following are other discomfort situations, drawn by the National Warm Air Heating and Air Conditioning Association from a U. S. Weather Bureau temperature-humidity index graph:

Relative humidity at 80 per cent and temperature over 72 degrees, relative humidity at 70 per cent and temperature over 73 degrees, relative humidity at 60 per cent and temperature over 74 degrees, relative humidity at 50 per cent and temperature over 75 degrees or relative humidity at 40 per cent and temperature over 77 degrees.

The drier the air, the hotter you can stand it, but even with a 20 per cent humidity, you're likely to be uncomfortable if the temperature climbs into the 80's.

In areas such as Columbus and Central Ohio, where humidity levels are high throughout the summer months, an economically operated all-electric complete home air conditioning unit is the best method of insuring a constant comfort level. In addition, these units remove dust, pollen and air-borne bacteria from the air to provide a cleaner and more healthful atmosphere, Bogen concluded.

Al Lipfert Celebrates Grand Opening Of Texaco Station

Alvin Lipfert

Alvin (A1) Lipfert, well-known Lockbourne Texaco dealer, has announced the opening of a new service station, the largest Texaco station of this type in the district, opposite the main gate of Lockbourne Air Force Base, at Alum Creek-rd and Rt. 665.

According to Lipfert, the new station will feature nine service bays and offer all types of automotive maintenance along with popular Texaco products.

Lipfert also is the owner of a Texaco bulk plant and is an authorized dealer for Firestone products.

The Grand Opening Celebration will get underway Monday, July 15, and continue through July 21. Free prizes for visitors and customers include two Dalmatian puppies, fire chief's hats for the children, lighter fluid and car lubrications. With each purchase a ticket will be presented to the customer entitling a child to a ride in a helicopter for $1. Helicopters will be present at the station each evening of the celebration from 4 to 7 p.m. to take the children for a ride over Columbus.

Lipfert, a resident of 1491 Rahmell-rd, has operated a service station in the same area for several years and is well known for his participation in civic affairs. Early in March he was named the Ousanding Southern Kiawanian for 1963 by the Kiwanis Club of Southern Columbus. Lipfert served as chairman of the club's license tag sale and the Key Club.

Marion Franklin Student Honored

Bruce Bell, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bell, 1325 Molerst, is one of 20 Ohio high school students taking a five-week program of Special Topics in Chemistry at Bowling Green University.

Selected for the course by the National Science Foundation, Bruce, who will be a senior at Marion Franklin, was elected to National Honor Society in his junior year and is president of the Art Club.

COMING TO McDONALD'S

LOCAL TELEVISION PERSONALITIES Cinderella and the Mechanical Man will meet at McDonald's Carryout Restaurant, 3643 S. High-st, at the Great Southern Shopping Center, Saturday, July 13, from 3 to 4 p.m., to help celebrate the sale of the billionth hamburger by the popular restaurant chain. Free prizes will be given to visitors. The McDonald "Blimp" flying in the sky will mark the place of the celebration.

Miami Valley Steam Threshers Plan For Fourteenth Annual Show

The Miami Valley Steam Threshers Association, Inc., a non-profit organization, will hold its 14th annual show Friday, July 26, through July 28 at Goshen Memorial Park, Mechanicsburg, O.

Features of the display and program include parades, antique displays, old-time threshing exhibitions, the sawing of wood and shingles, and a working flint mill. On Friday evening Stradling's Rodeo will present a two-hour program.

On Saturday morning exhibitions of the various steam machines at the show will be featured, followed by a parade of the engines led by the Mechanicsburg High School Band at 1:30 p.m. Saturday night's program includes a western horse show at 7 p.m. and a western square dance beginning at 8 p.m.

Sunday's activities will get underway with church services at 10 a.m., featuring music played on a steam calliope. The service will be conducted by Robert E. Price, Logansport, Ind., chaplain of the association.

Sunday afternoon highlights include the grand parade of engines starting at 1:30 p.m. and an antique auto parade at 2:30 p.m. Threshing and other activities will complete the show on Sunday afternoon.

Meals and refreshments will be served on the grounds. Admission charge to the grounds is 75 cents, with children under 14 admitted free.

TRANSFER SOUGHT

The Ohio Department of Liquor Control has received a transfer application for a D-5 permit from Trendo's Tavern, Inc., 1409 S. High-st, to Louis Rosh, at the same address. The night club permit is for the sale of beer, wine or spirituous liquor by-the-glass till 2:30 a.m.

since the contest started.

The winner said it was Friday before he started his weekly search. At first he didn't believe he had come up with the lucky insignia. "I called my wife and asked her if she had been writing in the newspaper as a joke," he said.

When convinced it was no joke and the brightly colored emblem in his newspaper was a jackpot winner, Spicer lost no time in bringing the lucky paper to the Hartley Newspaper office to claim his $139 in "Confederate" money.

Asked what he was planning to do with the jackpot cash, Spicer replied, "I'll turn the money over to my wife. She'll probably go on a shopping spree."

Other winners in last week's "Confederate" Money Contest each claimed $1 in Hartley Newspaper cash. They were Robert E. West, RFD 1, West Jefferson; Mrs. L. C. Andrews, 986 Bucknell-dr., Whitehall, and Lewis E. Wetzel, 68 W. Town-st, West Jefferson.

This means the new jackpot, which starts this week in all Hartley Newspapers, is worth $17 in "Confederate" money. All money not claimed in each week's contest will be added to this amount to establish the following week's jackpot.

Any reader can claim the $1 in "Confederate" prize money by simply mailing the advertisement containing the winning insignia to Hartley Newspapers, 3465 W. Broad-st.

Twenty of these insignias are placed in 20 separate newspapers each week and are always printed in color other than black. The "1" emblems are just like the one printed in this column.

The reader who finds the "5" emblem, like the one in this column, is eligible to win $5 in "Confederate" cash. However, if the finder is a paid subscriber and brings the entire paper containing the winning emblem to the Hartley Newspaper office, then he will win the entire amount of the current jackpot. Like the "1" emblems, the "5" is always printed in a color other than black.

All entries must be received by Hartley Newspapers not later than noon on Monday following publication of the paper. This contest is not open to employes of Hartley Newspapers, including carriers, or their families.

ed or volunteered to investigate the situations from several angles.

According to Mrs. Howard Spence, one of those present, there was unanimous feeling that the organization was necessary to protect the best interests of the community, and each person not only contributed an initial assessment of $5 but expressed his willingness to meet whatever additional funds would be needed to carry on the work of the group.

Officers elected are Francis Caldwell, president; Mrs. Rosina Wharton, secretary, and Herbert Bowman, treasurer.

Any person living in the area is urged to attend the meeting Wednesday at the Elmer Floyd home, 3610 Courtwright-rd.

Do You Know Your Sports?

(Sixth in a series)

Although it is just slightly over five years old, kart racing is the fastest growing of all sports — both nationally and internationally.

The first kart was constructed in 1956 by a California racing-car mechanic, who built a practically bare chassis with a bucket seat only inches off the ground. For locomotion, he borrowed a two-cycle motor from a lawn mower.

THE FIRST track was a supermarket parking lot where the kart's designer soon found that 30 mph in the midget racer seemed better than twice that speed.

Seven years later, better than 500,000 karts are today in operation with both boys and girls, men and women piloting the small speedsters.

Kart racing popularity has won favor in even royal circles with Jordan's King Hussein pacing his royal team to victory in 1962 over a British army team from Cyprus for the "Challenge Cup."

Karts range in cost from $100 to $600, with six firms manufacturing them across the nation.

The International Kart Federation (Covina, Calif.) sanctioned over 100 races in 1962 at fairs plus 170 regional, state and territorial title races, leading up to the Grand National Championships, held at Pueblo, Colo., on a track that costs over $100,000.

As proof of the sport's rampaging popularity, the entrants in the first Grand National (1959) barely reached 100. Nearly six times that many entries participated last year.

Although most of '62 champions called California their home, Ohio had one champ. Jim Charf, of Tipp City, took top honors in the A-bushing junior division.

Band Concert

The sixth band concert at Schiller Park will take place Sunday, July 14 at 8 p.m.

Randal Near, who heads the music department at South High School will conduct. The Recreation Department and the Columbus Federation of Musicians sponsor the free summer music.

Musical selections will be both classical and contemporary, featuring trumpeteers from Brookhaven High School.

the Sheriff's Department stressed that while John Doe usually has a healthy respect for a gun, far more persons are killed with an automobile than with weapons of war.

He added that highway destruction has become a seven billion dollar a year business, but it only takes a few minutes of one's time to have his car checked out, and often only a few dollars to have it repaired.

Pit Stops

Curt Kraft, of Columbus, fresh from his win on the 50-lap "Firecracker Championship" for super-modifieds last Thursday at the Columbus Motor Speedway, returned to the Williams-rd oval Sunday night, to make it two-straight.

Despite Kraft's win there were times that Bob Smith, also of Columbus, looked like he might get the checkered-flag himself, as he drove side-by-side with Kraft, for the final 10-laps. Smith was second, trailed by Al Smith, of Dayton, Urbana's Neal Sceva and Columbus' Don Townsend.

THE LATE MODEL headliner was won by Shad Wheeler in his '55 Ford, followed by Don Trees in a '58 Ford convertible and Bob Bower, driving a '60 Plymouth.

This Friday, the flying-stocks will take over for a full program of events and Sunday night, the super-modifieds and late-models will be back for a combined program, including a feature race in each division. Time trials, both nights, are at 7 p.m. with the first race set for 8 p.m.

In the raceway's game of "Total," there'll be $400 in cash, Friday night, waiting for the fan or fans to select the first five finishers, in order in the flying-stock feature.

ON SUNDAY evening, July 21, the Southside track will run its Mid-Season Championship for super-modifieds. There will also be late-model events on the program that will windup with a 50-lap championship feature for the modifieds.

possible for new water consumers to receive water service without subsidy on the part of the Columbus users) should in itself result in most favorable publicity and will be a credit to the existing administration. As in the case with the rates, the newspaper publicity would be prepared in advance and given to both papers."

Sawvel's advice on wording of proposed news releases was not followed, Freeman said, because "wording of the first news release was not what they wanted," Freeman identified "they" as himself, members of council's service committee and "the administration."

Freeman also explained that adoption of the Sawvel report would not constitute an actual lifting of the water "freeze," but would replace the present policy with a form of economic rather than actual freeze. (Proposed rates for areas outside Columbus call for a 50 percent increase in incorporated areas and 100 percent increase for unincorporated areas.)

Freeman said that Sawvel dealt with the area of politics in his communications to the finance director and councilmen because "there were fears expressed by certain people" over political consequences.

"I don't know if they were members of council's service committee, or other councilmen." Freeman said. He said he did not believe that the councilmen who asked that political aspects be considered were members of the service committee.

Priscilla LaRue Lenox
HI. 4-1051

This week's outstanding personality has been mentioned many times in this column, for she has been an energetic worker in many areas. In addition, she was invited to list her qualifications for "Who's Who." Characteristically, she declined, believing her accomplishments were not noteworthy.

Her many friends have probably already guessed that today's profile features Helen Denney.

As Helen Justus, she was a student at Southwood School, Roosevelt Junior High and South High School. While at South she met her future husband, Walter Denney, who was an athletic star at the Ann St. School.

Mrs. Denney became acquainted with the work of the YWCA while in high school, where she was a member of the Girl Reserves, now known as the Y-Teens. High school graduation found her working for the Sears Roebuck Co. Her executive qualities were evident even then, for she was the office manager when she left the company in 1940.

Her marriage took place in 1932. It is an amusing coincidence that her two daughters, Patti and Diane, helped to further the leap year theme by arriving in 1936 and 1940, respectively.

Upon the appearance of Diane, Helen retired from the business world to devote her time to her daughters and their interests. Thus she became active in PTA work. Her leadership talents were used to great advantage, as witness a partial list of the offices she held: unit president of Lincoln Park, Barrett Junior High and South High schools; district vice-president, president of the Columbus and Franklin County Council, secretary of the Ohio Congress PTA. She was honored with national and state honorary life memberships by the organization.

With two daughters, it was also natural that she become interested in the YWCA. She is currently second vice-president of that organization and chairman of the Public Relations Committee. In this latter capacity she is one of the co-editors of "The Chronicle", issued by the YWCA, a task shared by Florence Worrell, the executive director of the organization. Helen, a life member of the group, has also belonged to Beta Gamma Chi, Business Girls Club, and has served as chairman of the Teen-Age Committee.

She has served as a member of the Board of Directors on three different terms. She has worked on the YMCA - YWCA Development Fund and has represented the YWCA on the United Community Council.

Her church affiliation is with the South Methodist Church. Her church offices include church treasurer, a post she has held for seven years. This position makes her a member of Commission on Stewardship and Finance. She is a teacher of the 11th grade church school class, and assists her daughter Diane with the Girls' Softball team. She and her husband were counselors of the Methodist Youth Fellowship for nine years; as another indication of their interest in youth work. She is also student work secretary of the WSCS.

As if these activities were not enough, she is also active in the Ladies Auxiliary of the Southeast Lions Club. She served as first vice-president in charge of programs this year, and will serve as president in the 1963-1964 term of office. She also belongs to the South Side YMCA.

For relaxation, Walter and Helen bowl in a mixed league one night a week. Athletic Walter bowls in other leagues as well, in addition to golfing. The Denneys also love to travel, whether it's a short trip, long trip, by auto, plane or "whatever", to quote Helen. Helen admits she's not "gung - ho" all the way about camping. She enjoys the out-of-doors tremendously, but could do without sleeping on the ground in a sleeping bag.

The resident of 601 E. moler-st credits her husband with making it possible for her to pursue her many activities, with his encouragement and understanding. Walter, a foreman of the plating department at the Seagrave corporation, is justly proud of her.

Lest anyone think that all these accomplishments through the years have made elen a "stuffy' 'type person, we'll let you in on a secret. We heard that she has an excellent sense of mimicry, and does a very fine "Phyllis Diller."

Seriously, the community is very proud of Helen, and happy for every honor that comes her way. Helen didn't know this, but the outstanding personality idea was born when this columnist decided that folks such as she should receive community recognition for their labors. If this feature has community approval, the "thank-yous" belong to Helen.

The Schiller Park Golden Age Club will travel to Cedar Point for an outing on Tuesday, July 16. Members will meet at 8 a.m. at the center. Luncheon is each person's responsibility.

The uppermost thought in the minds of these youngsters this week is how to cram the most fun in their approaching natal day: Emmanuel Cheshir, Daniel Dear, Paul Jones, Donna Blakeman, Eve Eisel, Ruth Hennestofel, Sheila Rollins, Linda Wonderly, Charles Riley, Mike Richardson, Barbara Lenigar, Lillian Kukuloff, Regina Parker, Bonnie Wellman, Gary Malloy, John Vick, Robert Alan Gluffre, Patty May and Kevin Campbell. A new "teen" age will be celebrated by Steve Toth, Bill Warner, Ray Anderson, and Gene Clark.

The 3 F's Fellowship of Ohio Avenue EUB will hold an outing at Old Man's Cave on Sunday, July 14. Four church delegates at the Youth Convention held at Westerville, July 8-11, were Stanley Uffner, Linda Hiltbrunner, Sheila Morris and Jim Driggs. Mrs. Ed Bornshine who is the WSWS secretary to youth, heads the committee in charge of the attendance.

July 13 has special significance to two young couples, for on that day they will be participants in wedding ceremonies. Corrine Hall, 1185 Studer-av will become the bride of Thomas Hughes, 2727 Burnaby-dr. Veronica Wynd, a former Moler-st resident now of 793 College-av, will exchange her vows with Robert Cones, 2495 Bexley Park-rd, in the Bexley Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cordray recently attended a wedding in St. Louis.

Ronny Brown, son of Rev. and Mrs. Carl E. Brown of the Gates-Fourth Methodist Church, is now making his home in Washington, D.C. The Brown family were guests of honor at a church-wide tea and social hour not too long ago.

The Emmanuel Lutheran Brotherhood will hold an outing on Tuesday, July 16. The gathering has a 6:30 p.m. starting time. There will be no August meeting of the group.

Three Washington Avenue EUB Circles will meet tonight, July 11. Vada Circle has scheduled a 6:30 picnic at 700 Mithoff-st, home of Hazel Mitchell. Florence Circle will meet at the church at 7:30 p.m. Martha Circle will meet at 7:30 in the home of Marilyn Gordon, 1172 Stanhope-dr. The Ladies Bible Class will meet at 7:30 on Monday, July 15.

Well known to young South Side musicians is the Sunday, July 14 conductor of the Schiller concert, for the baton wielder is Randal Near, former South High bandmaster.

The annual picnic of the Southwood Church of Christ will be held Saturday, July 13, at the South Side "Y" Park.

Clarence Frank, 1386 Linwood-av, will have vivid memories of his half-completed 1963 European tour. The localite, who slipped on cobblestones in Denmark and broke his hip, found himself a hospital patient in Copenhagen. He was flown back home and now is hospitalized in room 119, Doctors Hospital. Other ailing folks include Harry Messer, who underwent surgery in Grant Hospital; Sharon Good, who successfully underwent neuro-surgery, also in Grant.

The historic "Hundred Days" of Napoleon began Mar. 20, 1815.

GLORIA McBRIDE, participating in the Miss Universe pageant now underway in Miami, will be gowned in a gold and silver brocade, floor-length sheath for the final competition.

Columbus Girl Eyes Miss Universe Crown In Pageant At Miami

By BETTY DAFT

Ohio, her fame for buckeyes and beauties already known nationally, is making a bid for world-wide recognition of her specialties this week.

This year's Miss America, a resident of Sandusky, has already proven that the country's most beautiful girls come from Ohio.

And Columbus' own Miss Gloria McBride is representing the state in the spectacular Miss Universe pageant, in progress through next Monday at Miami. Gloria lives with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Cummins, 1376 Stelzer-rd.

Miss McBride, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Margaret Barber, of Canal Winchester, left early Wednesday morning in a flurry of last-minute preparations.

Gloria wasn't officially notified until Monday that the original Miss Ohio, Andrea Getzlaff, of Solon, was disqualified because she would not be 18 when the contest started.

Gloria was first runner-up in the state contest held June 3 in Cleveland, trailing the winner, Andrea Getzlaff, by one point.

Miss Getzlaff had received a temporary restraining order preventing anyone else from representing Ohio in the contest. A phone call from Cleveland Monday notified Gloria that this was lifted and that she was eligible to enter the pageant as Miss Ohio.

With stars in her eyes and her feet barely skimming the ground, she was launched in a whirlwind of activity.

There was an exciting Monday afternoon session at her sponsoring store, The Fashion, which supplied her wardrobe, and an equally thrilling Tuesday morning at Gallo's for fittings on gowns made especially for her.

The 17 ensembles include four floor-length gowns and half a dozen short cocktail gowns of sequins, satins, brocades and floating chiffons, and an assortment of street clothes to carry her through the five-day affair.

"Miss USA" will be chosen from contestants representing every state in the union, and the winner will compete with beauties from 60 other countries for the crown of "Miss Universe."

Sharing in Gloria's elation is her mother and grandparents, who agree that "Even though she doesn't win or even place in the finalists, the experience is a marvelously happy one."

As Miss Ohio, Gloria would have an exciting year with a busy schedule for personal appearances.

Mrs. Cummins will not accompany her granddaughter to Miami, although she did go along on the Cleveland trip. "It's the plane," she confided. "I just don't care to fly. But they will keep in close touch by phone, and I will surely be watching television next Monday night."

She won't be alone. Most of Columbus will join the Cummins and Gloria's friends at the TV set next Monday evening.

Gloria was graduated from Groveport High School and is employed at White-Haines Optical Co. She is 21, and her measurements are 36-23-36.

French River Lyric

Count that day won
Whose low descending sun
Finds not one thing done!

Time for Reflection

Each time I come back to the French River I'm reminded how infinitesimal each of us really is. In terms of time the world has existed, we are somewhat like the ants that scurry across one of those age old rocks I sit upon.

Here giant pine trees, many times older than those who view their beauty, look down on quiet waters contained in a gorge that has been formed over centuries as the waters cut away one grain of sand at a time.

It is satisfying to believe that tomorrow and tomorrow into eternity God will preserve such beauty as a reminder to man of his short allotment of time on earth.

Questions of a Wee One While Fishing

Any Dad who has a seven-year-old wee one who claims she likes to fish has perhaps had the pleasure of answering such questions as these while patiently and hopefully awaiting a tug at his line:

"What's the secret of catching pickerel?"

"Will I own some land up here and come fishing here when I get big?"

"How long could a rock bass live in a bucket of water?"

"Will you play a game of canasta with me when we get back to the cottage?"

"Hey, Daddy, do fish have real good eyes? Are they the best-eyed animals in the world?"

"Can I keep that little pickerel for a pet?"

"Why don't we go to some other fishing hole?"

"You mind if I rest a while? I'm tired!"

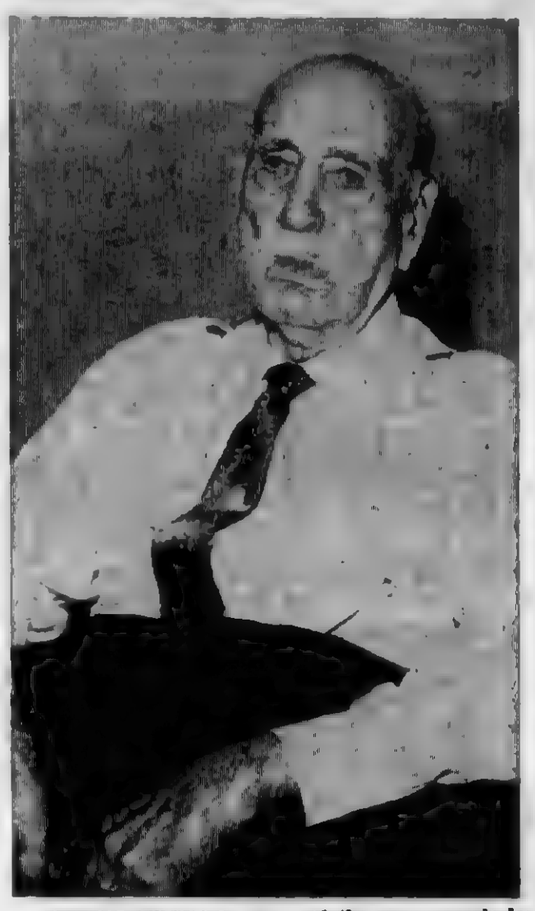
"Why don't they bite?"

A Good Show

Apparently undisturbed by our presence and with the knowledge that we are merely guests in their great outdoors, we are afforded a wide variety of entertainment by the rightful owners of this beauty.

From the first ray of morning sunlight a melody of pleasant notes fills the air like perpetual old-time music boxes.

The song sparrow, the Jenny wren, the yellow canaries come down to almost reaching distance as they proudly present their solo parts.



Round the corner of our island a mother mink and three playful wee ones filled with curiosity venture forth as though to remind us they want to share this serenity.

And a muskrat swims toward the island to see if he is missing anything while across the way Old Man Beaver drags a piece of fresh cut cedar to his new home — maybe for a cedar closet for his little lady.

Off shore a fish jumps as though to say, "Come and get me."

All through the day the show goes on. And the calm

LOSING COUNT long ago of the young people he has had as either elementary or Sunday School students, L. M. Cooper still recalls fondly the boys and girls he worked with for 73 years of his life.

PARADE OF BOYS IN 97-YEAR LIFE

When L. M. Cooper, 2506 E. Livingston-av, retired in 1928, he was only 62 years old, but already had 42 years of working with young people. From the time he was 20 he had taught school in Vinton county.

Coming to Ashville in 1928 to work for his oldest son, now deceased, he did not turn his back on a lifetime of teaching, but merely changed his field.

When his health finally forced him into complete retirement four year ago, he left behind him a parade of young men whom he had instructed in the EUB Sunday School classes for 35 years.

Recently the members of the first class he had begun at a time most men are through with public service met to honor the 97-year-old gentlemen who is now living with his son, L. M. Cooper, Jr.

Future generations will not forget the dignified old gentleman, now frail, but alert as ever. His portrait, painted by Rev. Francis Huber, who was once one of the hundreds of boys whose Christian education was furthered by the beloved teacher, hangs in the classroom, a gift in commemoration of the South Side gentleman who has actively guided youth for 73 years.

Two other sons, Kenneth and Aurice, live in Columbus, while his youngest son Lowell is an Ashville businessman.

Three Ask For Zoning Variances

Three South Side appeals for variances other than strict conformance with the Columbus Zoning Ordinance will be heard when the Board of Zoning Adjustments meets Friday, July 26, at 2 p.m.

Steelworkers Local Union 2342 is seeking permission to erect a union hall at 2184 Groveport-pk. This is a R-2 single family residential district.

In a like zoning area, Robert S. Nelson is asking for a variance which will allow the expansion of a non-conforming grocery store at 440 Hilock-rd.

The third case involves Robert M. Weber's appeal to violate the building setback line regulation in making an addition to a doctor's office at 1460 S. High-st. The area is a C-4 commercial district.

ConfederateCash Jackpot Growing

Increasing weekly, the jackpot in Hartley Newspapers' "Confederate" Money Contest has reached $39 after being emptied two weeks ago by an East Side family.

Winners of $1 in "Confederate" cash in last week's contest were Mrs. Emil J. Willeke, 4485 Madeline-dr; Mrs. Robert Williams, 1330 Frebis-av, and Margaret M. Leonardo, 249 Hinman-av.

To learn how you can participate in the contest and win "Confederate" money, which can be spent just like the real thing, read the details on the inside of this newspaper.

SOLD 15 TIMES!

Mrs. Fred Dauenhauer of 705 Kenwick-rd thinks she could do very well in the used bike business. She ran a two-line want ad in Hartley Newspapers. German Village Commission Establishes City Hall Office

By JANE ROBINSON

A new office was opened Monday on the second floor of City Hall.

Though it may raise a few evebrows, it represented the reward of a long struggle by those backing the controversial German Village Ordinance.

The new office houses the German Village Commission and is presided over by the working secretary, Mrs. Helen Bell, 1144 Parsons-av.

The function of the new set-up is to handle requests for architectual changes of buildings within the boundaries of the German Village.

These boundaries were set when the ordinance went into effect the latter part of May. The area now defined as German Village by this law includes 221.5 acres and has Pearl-st as its western edge. Blenkner-st and 15 foot alley south of Livingston form the eastern boundary, and Nursery-ln is on the southern line. Hodge, Lathrop, Brust, Grant and Jaeger-sts and Blackberry-all. run along the north.

In brief, the ordinance states that there shall be no exterior construction, remodeling, demolishing, alteration or change of buildings within the confines of the area without applying to the Commission for a "Certificate of Appropriateness."

Within one week after an application is received, the request will be either granted or denied. Walls, fences, awnings and color are a few of the matters that are subject to the commission's approval or disapproval.

An ordinance of this type is unique in Ohio, through similar laws have stood up in the supreme courts of other states.

Those opposing the statute have taken the stand that a law which dedicates what a property owner can or cannot do with his real estate is an enfringement of civil liberty.

Frank Fetch who is president of German Village Society, Inc. (which is not directly connected with the commission formed by the city) declared the ordinance will lead to an "orderly and interesting" development of the Village, rather than turn it into a "hodgepodge."

He also feels it is to the economic advantage of the entire community to have the area restored in a controlled manner.

"With an architect on the commission," he added, property owners can avail themselves of architectural advice that many would be personally unable to afford.

Under the chairmanship of William Scheurer, members serving (they are appointed by the mayor) are Helen Wagner, secretary, Fred Gockenbach, Jr., Fred Kaiser, and Arnall Connell.

The law was given teeth

THE CIRCULAR SHAPE of the largest recreation center in Columbus, the one at Lincoln Park for which ground was broken Wednesday, allows the incorporation of a four-lane, 110-yard track. Designed by the architectural firm, Wright and Gilfillen, the structure will be built by Waggenbrenner Construction Co., which holds the general contract.

$400,000 RECREATION CENTER BEGUN

Lincoln Park Sod Broken

When ground was broken Tuesday afternoon for the $400,000 Lincoln Recreation Center it brought the promise of more creative and wholesome use of leisure time for South Siders, according to N. J. Barack, city recreation superintendent, when he spoke at the ceremonies.

The center was designed, he pointed out, to provide facilities not only for children and adults, but "for our senior citizens."

A dream of the recreation department and South Side civic leaders for years, the center plans have met with delay, red tape, disputes and confusion over priorities.

But when the first spade of dirt was lifted the past was forgotten and it looked like smooth sailing from this day on.

Many of those present emphasized the value of a center, such as the one under way, to the community as a whole.

Located in the southeast part of Lincoln Park at Woodrow-av and Ann-st, it is expected to draw heavily from the extreme southern section of the area, as the needs of those living further north are met by Schiller Park.

In addition to city officials, including the mayor and council, the recreation committee and representatives of Columbus Metropolitan Housing Authority, representatives from the architectural firm and the general contractors, were present. Mike Mileusnich, president of the Council of South Side Organizations, which has backed the project since its infancy, was also on hand to see it get started.

Rev. Donald Sigburt of St. Paul's United Church of Christ gave the invocation and Rev. Thomas Moore of the Free Will Baptist Church was invited to present the benediction.

New Civic Association Petitions City Council

Deeply concerned over the lack of a planned recreational program members of the Marion Franklin Area Civic Association have presented a petition to Columbus City Council asking for immediate action to rectify the matter.

Presented by councilman William Hoermle, the petition signed by almost 500 residents was referred to the Service Committee. The association was later told it would be sent to the Recreation Department for further consideration.

Referring to the often quoted theory that idle time and unused energy are seeds of juvenile delinquency, the petitioners state that they feel the time to retard the growth of such a situation is now, with the establishment of a center designed for year-round activities for all age groups.

The Marion-Franklin area extends south from Refugee-rd to Williams-rd, and from Alum Creek west to Lockbourne-rd.

The petition further stated that although the churches and schools provide the opportunity for mental and moral development, the parents are concerned with the physical development of the children as well.

A survey was taken by the association to determine the type of activities the area residents want.

The group feels that both an indoor and outdoor swimming pool are necessary, as well as a picnic area, baseball diamonds, tennis courts and a playground equipped with swings, sliding boards, sandboxes and a wading pool.

Among the indoor athletic facilities they seek are a gymnasium, exercise room, handball court, a steam room and boxing equipment.

They also listed among their needs rooms for meetings, and handicrafts and a projector room.

Rev. William Talley, III, was elected president when the civic group was formed a couple of months ago.

Schiller Park Plans Concert

The seventh band concert of the season will be conducted at Schiller Park, Sunday, July 21, at 8 p.m. by Dr. Charles L. Spohn, associate professor of music at Ohio State University.

He is also director of the military band at the university, associate director of the marching and concert bands and has been a tympanist with the Columbus Symphony Orchestra since 1951.

There is no admission charge to attend the concert.

Lives Risked Daily

By JANE ROBINSON

Tragedy is brewing down on Lockbourne-rd at the site of the Walnut Creek bridge.

This is the conclusion of Hamilton Police Chief Frank Bonner, of representatives of the State Board of Health, of people living in the neighborhood, and of many motorists who have observed the traffic conditions.

But there is only speculation as to exactly how the tragedy will strike.

Will a boy dive from the bridge into the murky waters below and break his back or neck, or will he strike a floating log and suffer a fractured skull?

Will one or more cars be

Max Borst At Helm Of Southeast Lions

Max A. Borst got a fast introduction to one of many jobs that will be his as new president of the Southeast Lions Club last Thursday.

Joined by Mike Mileusnich and Richard Poenisch, he spent the day inspecting the hundreds of boys playing Junior Jet baseball in South Side playground this summer.

The young athletes were all sporting new T-shirts designating each team and the sponsoring Lions club. The outfits were completed with baseball caps, also a gift of the civic club.

Carl Snedeker, Ernie Barta and Walter Denny are the new first, second and third vice-presidents who just took office. Other new officers include Frank Zimpler, secretary; William Cook Jr., treasurer; William Cook, Sr., secretary and Howard Storch, assistant treasurer.

Serving on the board of directors for the coming years are Dave Wod, Richar Poenich, Robert Alspach and Oscar Weichers.

TAKING THE GAVEL from retiring president Jim Wagner, left, the new president, Max A. Borst, assumed the chair of the Southeast Lions Club last week. George Loudermilk, right, also a past president, was the installing officer at the ceremonies. Borst moved up from vice-president.

MOMENTS BEFORE HER mother arrived on the scene, the young lady was hanging on the outside of the bridge across Big Walnut Creek on Lockbourne-rd in a swimming suit. Apparently spotting the family car from a distance, she managed to change clothes before her irate parent arrived, but wasn't able to make her get-away from the forbidden swimming hole. Her progress up the bank was accelerated by the strap her mother had brought along for the purpose of emphasizing that the Big Walnut was strictly "off-limits."

Pamela Sue Quickel, Kenneth Klopfer Are Joined In Candlelight Ceremony

MRS. KENNETH D. KLOPFER

'St. Paul's Lutheran Church was the scene of a candlelight wedding Apr. 26 when Miss Pamela Sue Quickel became the bride of Kenneth D. Klopfer.

Rev. John O. Lang read the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Evelyn Quickel, 1189 Berkeley, and Mr. John B. Quickel, Columbus. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emery Klopfer, 1088 S. Champion-av.

The bride chose for her wedding a full length gown of silk organza over taffeta designed with princess lines. A crown of rhinestones and pearls held her fingertip veil of illusion and she carried a white prayer book, topped with white roses.

Mrs. Robert Spidell, the bride's sister, served as matron of honor. She wore a yellow cotton sateen sheath with an overlay of yellow embossed silk organza. The bridesmaids were Miss Patty Jo Welker and Miss Mary Heery who wore turquoise dresses identical to that of the matron of honor.

Junior bridesmaids were Miss Janet Kay Klopfer, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Jann Spidell, the bride's niece, who wore full orchid silk organza dresses trimmed with orchid velvet. All wore circular veils and carried bouquets of carnations matching their attire.

Mr. Herbert Klopfer, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Mr. Craig Kays; Mr. Edward Klopfer, uncle of the bridegroom; Mr. John N. Quickel, brother of the bride, and Mr. Robert Spidell, brother-in-law of the bride.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Klopfer are graduates of South High School. The bride attended Ohio State University and is presently employed at Ohio Bell Telephone Co., traffic department.

Mr. Klopfer attended Capital University Conservatory of Music and plans to attend Ohio State University College of Music, this fall. He is presently associated with the Civil Defense Supply Center.

The couple went to Arizona for their honeymoon and are residing at 1118 Ellsworth. They plan to make Phoenix, Ariz., their residence in June, 1964, where Mr. Klopfer plans to complete his college training.

Miss George, Mr. Dover Wed At Hoge Memorial

MR. AND MRS. JAMES H. DOVER

Miss Mary Lou George and Mr. James Harry Dover were united in marriage at Hoge Memorial Presbyterian Church on May 18. Rev. Calvin Didier and Rev. Ralph Martin performed the 7:30 p.m. ceremony.

The bride's mother is Mrs. Michael George of 685 Belvidere-av. Mr. Dover is the son of Mrs. Harry O. Dover, 512 Jackson-st.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of chantilly lace and nylon tulle with a lace bodice and bouffant skirt accented with layers of tulle.

Pearls trimmed the matching lace head piece which held her fingertip veil of English illusion. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis with a cascade of falling ivy.

Mrs. Jenny Kourie was her sister's matron of honor. She wore a honey beige floor-length silk linen sleeveless sheath, with a high scoop neckline and cummerbund effect. The tunic style skirt was accented at the back waistline with two small bows. She carried tangerine carnations with a cascade of falling ivy.

The bride's other sister, Mrs. Louise Karam, was attendant. She wore a matching dress of gold and carried tangerine carnations with ivy.

Best man was Mr. Wilbur L. Dover, brother of the bridegroom. Guests were seated by Mr. Jerry Dover, brother of the bridegroom, and Mr. John Dober.

A reception was held at the church.

The new Mrs. Dover was graduated from West High School and is employed by the State Teachers Retirement System. Her husband is a graduate of South High School and is associated with the Columbus Dispatch.

Following a wedding trip through New York, the couple is residing at 1542 Northwest-blvd.

Amateurs To Participate In National Bridge Tourney

Bridge players can be in competition with the experts Saturday, July 27, at the Seneca Hotel, when the American Contract Bridge League holds its national tournament.

Most of the country's top players will be in Los Angeles, but because all hands in the tournament will be the same, area participants can actually compete against the masters.

The tournament will be held at the same time in cities across the country, with 26 boards of duplicate being scheduled. In Columbus the starting time will be at 2 p.m.

The American Contract Bridge League selects two organizations to benefit from its charity tournaments. This year, the event will benefit the American Cancer Society and the United Cerebral Palsy.

Further information may be obtained by calling the tournament chairman, Mrs. Richard Chubb, AM. 3-0906.

Women's Auxiliary Sets Euchre Party

Lives—

involved in a fatal accident in an attempt to avoid striking the kids, from kindergarten to high school age, who congregate on the narrow bridge and race across the highway with nary a glance to oncoming traffic?

Will the water-born bacteria in the sewage-contaminated water be the agent of death?

Or will the tricky Walnut Creek with its walk-offs and underwater wire entanglements simply claim one more drowning victim?

No one has a crystal ball that will answer these questions, but common sense dictates those who are swimming at this site are gambling not only with their own lives, but with the lives of others.

The only question that can be answered is, "How can the situation be corrected before it is too late?"

Chief Bonner is patrolling the area regularly to keep the highway and bridge clear, but states that his warnings are effective only while he is actually present.

He is at this time attempting to get an open affidavit from the owner of the land adjacent to the creek to allow on-the-spot arrest of those trespassing on the land.

It is not against state law to swim in open streams. However, the State Board of Health issued the following statement Tuesday through John E. Richards, engineer in charge of Sewage and Industrial Wastes Unit of the Division of Sanitary Engineers:

"As a department we do not approve of swimming in any unsupervised area.

"The quality of water in that area of Big Walnut Creek is not recommended for swimming as a number of sewage treatment plant effluent discharges empty upstream into either Big Walnut or its tributaries.

"Such effluent is not sterilized and always contains considerable bacteria.

"The danger of typhoid and eye, throat and ear infections is very real and the finger has been pointed to such water as a harbor of infectious hepatitis. Also, the polio virus has been isolated from contaminated water."

Howard Reynolds, assistant county health commissioner, pointed out that tetanus is also among the 85 water-born diseases and that the muddiness of the waters here would make recovery of a downing victim extremely difficult.

Mrs. Frank Peters, whose husband leases the bottom land by the "swimming hole," stated that their crops have been ruined year after year by the hordes tramping through and by the parked automobiles.

Prosecution of minors who are the major offenders (although adults are also misusing the area) is difficult as the law is made to protect the under-age.

However, in the opinion of many, it is about time the public was protected from irresponsible youth.

Worley Baughman, teacher at Hamilton High, recently told Mrs. Peters that as he drove over the bridge after a late meeting a boy swung in front of his car from the overhead girders of the bridge.

The problem of keeping the teenagers and little children away from the danger spot is primarily the responsibility of the parents.

Chief Bonner believes that many parents are totally unaware that this is the place where their children are swimming and if the matter is brought to their attention they can and will bring it to a stop.

There are several public pools in the immediate area, clean and well supervised.

WHY NOT USE THEM?

Spectator—

stillness of the late night presents the most beautiful scene of the show as the huge bright moon focuses the spotlight for the whippoorwill's rendition that goes on till dawn.

Surely man has not lived or learned until he has relaxed and reflected upon these scenes and these performances. Here is a lesson: God surely meant that man should strive for peaceful living.

PERCHED ON the wall by the bridge approach, a little boy who claimed his parents knew where he was looked over the spot where young and old swim, heedless of dangers of contaminated water and wire entanglements. As the picture was snapped one boy called to another, "Watch out, or you'll cut your foot half off, like I did."

Child Killed In Traffic Accident

The death of eight-year-old Kenneth Sterling Jones, 1339 E. Kossuth-st, as the result of an auto accident Sunday night brought the city's traffic fatalities for the year to 27 deaths.

Police reports stated the youth was riding his bicycle north of Shady Lane-rd and ran into the side of a car being driven east on Livingston-av by Boivin Minor, 52, of Pickerington.

The Jones youth died of head and internal injuries. A passenger on the rear of the bicycle, Joseph Roberts, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Roberts, 1745 Burlington-av, suffered only minor injuries.

Kenneth is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Jones; a brother, Duncan, and a sister, Karen. He also leaves his grandparents and great-grandparents.

Service was to be conducted today, Thursday, at Mohawk, W. Va., with interment at Mohawk Cemetery. Local arrangements by the O. R. Woodyard Funeral Home.

An Editor's Outlook . . . by Jenkin Lloyd Jones

The Great Bomb Illusion Still Lives

One of the most pernicious illusions abroad in the world today is the fond hope that if nations will give up testing atomic weapons the threat of an atomic holocaust will vanish.

We can close Pandora's box, but the pests are already out.

Jones

Furthermore, where do the ban-the-tests pickets get the idea that it would be good for humanity if the devilish art of atomic bomb-making were stopped at its present point of development?

For what we have now are dirty bombs. They suck up vast amounts of ground debris into a highly radioactive fireball and then distribute strontium 90 dust along a downwind path. We have heard talk about dirtier bombs — bombs with cobalt or gold cases that will produce even deadlier fallout. So a lot of people have the idea that testing is being conducted with the sole idea of producing bombs that leave more dangerous after-effects.

This isn't necessarily true. From a purely military point of view, clean bombs — that is, bombs with a big wallop but with minimum radiation, could be more valuable. Dirty bombs have heightened terror value, but they invite retaliation. Neither side could profit from an unbreathable atmosphere, and generals breathe, too.

As in World War II, where both sides withheld the use of excellent gases and some rudimentary bacterial weapons, the next war may find both sides limiting their choice of weapons in their own self-interest.

But it would be a mistake to assume that this limitation would extend to all atomic weapons. If anyone can develop a clean atomic bomb it would be a marvelously cheap and efficient killer. And three U.S. administrations have tried to make it plain that if we face the choice between loosing atomic war and watching Russia's vast land armies crunch through to the Channel with conventional weapons we will choose the former.

Atomic war on any scale is a grim prospect. Too bad the bomb works. Too bad that Energy does equal Mass times the squared speed of light. Too bad Einstein and Madame Curie were born.

But this is an age in which those who want survival with liberty are going to have to be tough-minded. We are going to have to contemplate with calmness and courage pretty horrible possibilities.

We have the easy alternative of survival without liberty. If America and the Western nations disbanded their armies and handed all their atomic weapons over to Khrushchev there'd be no war and those of us who survived the firing squads could settle down to life under a Soviet world government.

But the delusion that there must be some happy middle ground between atomic preparedness and complete surrender continues to afflict the Miss Nancys who gather in Trafalgar Square, parade round Holy Loch, and wave banners in front of the White House. "Ban the bomb!" "End the tests!" "Call a conference!"

There persists the quaint belief that the Communists are arming only because they fear our arms, that we must allay their suspicions much as FDR tried to allay the "suspicions" of Stalin at the disastrous Yalta pow-wow.

Let's end the "misunderstanding," wail the wailers. If the Russians won't agree to seven inspection stations for underground blasts let's agree to three, and if they don't want three let's agree to one or none.

Of course, there's no misunderstanding. What we are getting is the Pavlov dog treatment. The Russian scientist, Pavlov, discovered that you could break a dog down mentally by alternately giving it a promise of food and then disappointing it. That is why Khrushchev tries to keep building hopes for disarmament and then wrecking them and then building them again. And we accommodate him by sending, at the insistence of the frightened, teams of negotiators to sit down to endless Panmunjoms.

We've got a new Panmunjom going now. And last month President Kennedy stated hopefully that world peace will be achieved by "a gradual evolution of human institutions and effective agreements which are in the interests of all concerned."

More talk. More one-way concessions?

Communists speak to Communists with considerable frankness. Perhaps someone should remind Mr. Kennedy of Khrushchev's statement in Tirana, Albania, in May, 1959: "We do not negotiate on the basis of 'give and take.' We have nothing whatsoever to give. We will not make any concessions because our proposals do not form the basis of a barter deal."

We ought to quit dispatching futile emissaries to face the familiar and bitter choice of frustration or surrender. Instead, we should send Mr. K a simple note in non-diplomatic language:

"Look, Buster, we think tests in the atmosphere aren't even for the birds. We'll quit them if you will, but one more trick like the last time and we won't make this offer again. As to underground tests, we'll have them as often as we like and you are welcome to yours. If you ever want a moratorium on them send us a letter telling us how many monitors you'll allow and if we're interested we'll write you back."

"UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

More and more doctors are finding out all over again that applied psychology is a large part of their professional success.

These wiser and more balanced members of the profession, regardless of what school of thought they were graduated from, become eclectic practitioners, which means that if it is in all the books and works, fine. If it is in all of the "orthodox books" and doesn't work, out with it. If it is in no book and works, thank God someone had brains enough and dedication enough to find it out.

To me, my private physician is a saint, whom I would trust with my life. Ditto my dentist, osteopath, minister, because all of them "take an interest in me" every time I have need to go to their private offices.

Modern surgery is nothing less than a miracle. Almost total immunization against unfriendly invading organisms is another miracle. Marvelous advances in psychosomatic medicine and physical therapy are being achieved all over the country and most parts of the world.

Infinite patience, proven professional research, knowledge, dedication — these are the master keys of this progress.

ANCIENT HERITAGE

It was the age of the citizen-sovereigns of the heavens and of the brave and beautiful of earth. Then the greater and lesser gods cast favoring eyes upon the earthly race of the valiant living and bestowed their immortal accolades upon the heroic dead.

The place was Greece; the time, the centuries of the Golden Age before the Christian era. All this is recalled by the recent death at 95 of Edith Hamilton, this century's greatest authority, as this observer and others believe, about ancient Greece.

But, we may well ask, what do the legends and myths and poetry of 25 to 30 centuries ago mean to us who live now under the dark shadows of this fearful nuclear age? The answer calls for a very brief review of history.

Homer, individual or collective legend, lived and wrote the Illiad and Odyssey in the ninth century B.C. They are perhaps the world's greatest collection of folk tales and legends about the gods of the heavens and the great heroes of earth. They are also great poetry. Few modern stories are more interesting, too, as entertainment.

The fifth century B.C. was the age of Plato and the other great philosophers. Then and there the seeds of modern democracy were born. Later centuries passed while they lay dormant, but they lived in race memory to appear two or three centuries ago in a new concept of freedom.

That freedom, even yet, is not entirely secure and will yet be a costly thing. Christianity is the chief spiritual element in the modern idea of freedom. The Greek intellectual tradition is its supplementing implementation.

It says here . . .

Mind and spirit add strength, each to the other.

Sunday Laws Still In Force

What excuse can there now be to further delay full enforcement of state laws governing Sunday operation of businesses?

The Ohio General Assembly officially killed pending legislation on the subject when that body adjourned last Friday. It is safe to assume that legislators were not overly-pressured by the public for a relaxation of present Sunday closing laws.

As a matter of fact, the voters had their say on the matter last November when the so-called Lawson Amendment was on the ballot. The amendment, primarily aimed at making it possible for food stores to operate on Sunday, was defeated by a margin of 422,641 votes.

For months prior to the November decision of the voters there prevailed a general local attitude toward soft-pedaling by both law enforcement agencies and the courts. The excuse then was that the voters would decide the issue.

There was a new excuse used after the November vote against relaxing Sunday closing laws. Lack of enforcement of the law and punishment for violators was withheld pending a hope that state legislators would take local government off the hook. The legislature tossed the issue "back home."

During all this time, local officials representing the law and the courts have followed a course varying from total disregard to only token application of the law.

We have stated on numerous occasions our position against any change in the present law that could lead to operation of all businesses on a seven-day basis.

We recognize that there are those who argue with sincere conviction that the present Sunday closing laws are inadequate and/or outdated. Decisions in this area rest with our state legislators, or in changing our laws by constitutional amendment.

An attempt to change the Ohio Constitution in the Sunday closing area has failed. The legislature has NOT changed the law. And there is no law that reserves to local law enforcement officials and local courts the right to decide if any given state law should be ignored.

We respect the right of anyone to challenge a law. But there is an undeniable responsibility to abide by the law while it exists.

We have said it before, and here it is again for the record: The best interests of the public can be served by our law enforcement officials taking proper recognition of the law and then having a proper backing of the courts in such matters.

Remove the Door—Remove Death

Save A Life!

The screw driver isn't often thought of as a life saving device, but it can be just that if used to remove the door from an abandoned refrigerator.

Three of every four victims of abandoned refrigerators are from three to six years old. Warnings will not outweigh the temptation to play or hide in one of the potential death-traps.

Both state and local laws have been enacted covering abandoned air-tight boxes of all types. Under state statutes, anyone who knowingly abandons such a device without rendering it harmless is subject to a fine up to $200.

A Columbus ordinance covering abandoned refrigerators and ice boxes, enacted in 1954, carries a violation penalty up to 90 days in jail and fines up to $300, or both.

If you are abandoning a refrigerator or ice box, be certain it is rendered harmless. If you see an unsafe, abandoned refrigerator on property other than your own, notify the property owner or the local police.

Don't contribute to a story of children who die because of adult carelessness.

How D'ya Figure It?

The Kennedy Administration advocates a two-fold program of cutting taxes and increasing federal expenditures. This makes about as much sense as asking your employer to cut your salary so you can buy a more expensive home.

Day For Grandparents

Mother's Day and Father's Day are fine, but how about a "day" for grandparents. We propose that a Sunday during the most dependable part of summer be set aside. On the appointed day, all "children" with children would hire a qualified babysitter to tend the kids while they spend a quiet day with Mom and Dad.

Stores Should Fly Flags

To the Editor:

I have two American flags and I use them.

I wish the business people on Broad-st would do the same — not a flag in sight. I gave (a local auto agency) a flag because one of their men said they did not have one, but it was not put up, not even inside.

My son is in the Air Force in Spain, my son-in-law (also in the Air Force) will go to Japan in September. I am a descendant of two grandfathers who were in the Civil War, had six uncles in the Spanish-American War, and many relatives in World War I and II.

So you can see why I feel this way about our flag.

Ad Service Satisfies

To The Editor:

We wish to thank you for the excellent coverage regarding the business which we are now engaged in and that which we propose. We also wish to compliment the Classified Advertising Dept. for a fine job on our three column ad this past week.

A special thanks to your very game photographer, Harley Groom, who veritably leaped a fence in order to take the picture of horses and our buildings at the rental site. Our Greenbrier Apartment location is a bit difficult to find for people who are not completely familiar with that particular neighborhood, therefore we were especially gratified by the results of our advertising over the Fourth of July.

Repulsed By Book

To the Editor:

I can't understand why adults today are pushing teenagers into reading trash. These are the same adults who scream delinquency at us.

I am referring to the Whitehall School Board's voting to make "Ox Bow Incident" a required book. This book contains 11 parts that aren't fit reading.

This is the reason for the way youth acts. What can you expect? This is what we are being taught in our public schools.

We want the right to read good books. We want the right to select our own material.

This is America.

Here's the Answer

Guest Pulpit . . .
Reach Out To God For More Meaningful Life

The Apostle James wrote in his general epistle, (Ch. 4; vs. 8) "Draw near to God and He will draw near to you." This is practical counsel.

In these troublesome days many people ignore this Scriptural directive. We deplore present-day conditions. We get concerned about things. We become victim of trying situations. Circumstances crowd in upon us and take control. Illness plagues the body and emotions disturb the mind. Trouble is no uncommon messenger and when it strikes we succumb without a struggle. In all these experiences of life, we easily fall prey to self-pity. We get self-centered and attempt to solve our difficulties on our own.

Rev. Wilson

I read with interest this unusual commentary so characteristic of people:

"We mutter and sputter,
We fume and we spurt;
We mumble and grumble,
Our feelings get hurt.
We can't understand things,
Our vision grows dim;
When all that we need
Is a moment with Him."

What shall we do? James offers the answer. Turn to God. Reach out to Him. Allow His love, mercy and grace to nurture the soul.

"Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on Thee; because he trusteth in Thee. Trust ye the Lord forever: For in the Lord Jehovah is everlasting strength." This was the Prophet Isaiah's advice to the Hebrew people. When they took it to heart they found reaching out to God was a most rewarding experience. This is pertinent for our day.

It is said that Milton, who wrote "Paradise Lost," never appreciated poetry until he was blind. Some of Fanny Crosby's best work as a songwriter could possibly be traced to her blindness. In these days of uncertainty, when we never know what crisis will strike overnight, what shall we do? Reach out to God. Let Him lead the way. Keep remembering Jesus said, "I am the way, the truth and the life."

Reach out to God in daily spiritual meditation. In such devotions there must first be faith in the reality of God and His Spirit with us. It must be that creative life from which our whole being springs, the very substance of our nature, the indwelling Spirit of the living God.

Reach out to God with a quiet mind and body. Keep well in mind that our very nature was intended to express God's nature. We are made to worship God and that means to continually respond to Him.

Reach out to God with a receptive heart. When one meditates on God with an intense effort, His name is written on the pages of our heart, never to be erased. When the thought and motives of the heart dwell on peace and goodwill, our feelings become so absorbed in love that we never know fear or hatred.

Reach out to God in hopeful anticipation. We contemplate God, and allow the Spirit of God to do the rest. There is conclusive evidence when people reach out to God, the Divine One meets them and touches them before they make contact. There is security and complete satisfaction in such an experience.

David's determination, as recorded in Psalm 73:28, is stimulating. "It is good for me to draw near to God." As we today arrive at this same decision; as we reach out to God, life will be more meaningful.

Billy Graham Production Is This Week

"Mr. Texas," known as the first Christian western produced by Billy Graham and starring Red Harper and Cindy Walker, and "Symphony Of Life," starring Dale Evans, wife of Roy Rogers, will be the films shown by the Free Christian Drive-In Theater, Saturday and Sunday nights, July 20 and 21.

The drive-in is located just south of 1900 W. Mound-st. Film time is 8:15 p.m.

Jimmy Rea, director of the drive-in stated, that as in the past, each child 15 years or under will receive free pop as well as balloons.

The church having the largest number present will receive a large Sallman painting of Christ, Saturday night, and a free painting will be given to the adult who brings the most people on Saturday and Sunday nights.

WALNUT HILL

Daily Vacation Bible School will close with a program in the church Friday evening. All parents and friends are invited to attend.

Don't forget the Sunday evening service at 7:30 in the Obetz Methodist Church on July 21. Rev. Frazer of the Grove City Methodist Church will be the speaker.

Sunday School picnic is at the "Y Park" Tuesday, July 23, at 6:30 p.m. Hot and cold drinks are furnished, but each family is to bring its own table service for the pot-luck supper.

Remember the Methodist Men's meeting, July 25 at 8 p.m. There will be a program and refreshments. Plan to attend.

Hazel Hann and Mrs. Stella Peters attended the funeral of Mrs. Dora Fitz at Monon, Ind.

Corinne Lennon was a Tuesday night guest of the R. J. Clabaugh family.

The MYF enjoyed a cookout at the home of Barbara Clabaugh Sunday evening. They are making plans for their approaching lawn fete.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fishburn and family, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Warner, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Forshey and Mr. and Mrs. Theo Anderson enjoyed a picnic at the Lancaster Camp Grounds.

CAUGHT WITH THE GOODS and hoping for more are B. B. "Red" Huffman and George Courtright as they unload furniture to stored in the Community Hall prior to the auction to be held Thursday, July 25.

Annual Auction Set July 25

The Methodist men's group of Lilly Chapel Charge, Methodist Church, will sponsor its fourth annual auction, Thursday, July 25, 7:30 p.m., at the Georgesville Community Hall. Housewares, furniture and machinery will be included in this general auction.

The men will be canvassing the community for the next two weeks for unused and unwanted articles. Anyone having such items is asked to call TR. 9-8007, TR. 9-8752 or TR. 8-8357 for pick up.

This is the men's major project for raising money for their activities during the year, including sending youths to camp, supporting a student in India and sponsoring a recognition dinner for all church school teachers.

Officers are: Roger Keye, president; William Brad Wilson, vice-president; George Courtright, secretary-treasurer; B. B. Huffman, devotions chairman and A. C. Scott, program chairman.

Auctioneers will be Lakie Watts and Roger E. Wilson.

Vacation School Starts July 22

Vacation Bible School at Reformation Lutheran Church, 1355 Hamilton-rd, will be held from Monday through Friday for two weeks beginning July 22.

Sessions will be from 9 to 11:30 a.m. with classes for children from four to 12 years of age.

A nominal registration fee will be charged to help cover the cost of materials.

Mrs. William F. Prentice, 1305 Huntly-dr and Mrs. Maynard Flora, 4553 Errington-rd, are in charge.

Attend First Conference

Five adult leaders from this area are planning to attend the annual Muskingum conference for Presbyterian young people at the Muskingum College campus.

Attending the initial conference are Rev. Richard Wallarab, Grove City; Miss Dorothy Binau, Mrs. Isabel Binau, Mrs. Barbara Sapio and Miss Ruth Griffin, Columbus; Rev. Gordon Skadra and Miss Ruth Steel, London.

The anticipated attendance of 375 young people will set an all-time record for participation on the part of senior high school youth, representing churches of the Columbus, Steubenville, Muskingum and Scioto Presbyteries.

The program includes Bible study, with five courses in Christian life and beliefs. Leadership training covers such fields as recreation, singing and dramatics.

March 21, 1621, Gov. Carver of the Plymouth Colony made the first treaty ever negotiated with the Indians—one of the most successful in American history. The pact remained in force for more than 54 years, during which there were no Indian disturbances in S.E. Mass.

The Austrians defeated the French in the Battle of Verona Mar. 28, 1799.

Music Appreciation

I am not a musician, but as I write this I think back and realize how my taste in music has changed. Early in life, it took only the simplest childhood jingles to please me, then in school I was trained and taught to appreciate more intricate music. All through life I feel that my knowledge of . . . and appreciation for music has grown and matured.

Through study and help from others, I have also grown as a Christian and have a better appreciation of my Lord.

My knowledge of, and love for God increases with each church worship service . . . This way of life and worship, I would recommend to anyone. Won't you try it . . . Start by attending church this Sunday.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH . . . THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

Business Club Sponsors A Retarded Children's Camp

The Columbus Chapter of the American Business Club (AMBUCS) has completed plans for the sponsorship of a three-week summer camp program for retarded and cerebral palsied children from the Franklin County area at Camp St. Rita, east of Groveport.

This is the first year that a special camp of this type has been sponsored by the local business club.

The Columbus chapter of the organization was chartered Sept. 8, 1962, and since that time has sponsored various projects to attain their goal of helping handicapped children. The group, made up of local business and professional men, now has a membership of 50 men in the Columbus area.

The national project of the American Business Clubs is the awarding of scholarships to deserving young men and women who wish to complete their studies in the field of therapy for the cerebral palsied.

The AMBUCS are now the leading civic organization in this field. In the past five years the organization has awarded over a quarter of a million dollars in scholarships to deserving students in the field of physical therapy for children.

Some Items Not Wanted By Goodwill

With costs of handling and storage rising, Goodwill Industries has announced a list of items which the agency cannot accept.

In addition to paper and magazines which the Fire Department considers a hazard, the list includes gas refrigerators, glass jars, heavy overstuffed furniture, home canned food, hot water tanks, ladders, appliances without motors, pianos, scrap metal and wooden ice boxes.

Rev. George Morey Evans, executive director, expressed his regret at this change of policy, saying he hoped friends of Goodwill Industries will understand the move was a necessary one and will continue to call when they have usable items that can be repaired or cleaned.

More Than $300 Given To 'Confederate' Cash Winners

Within the past several months readers and subscribers of Hartley Newspapers have won more than $300 in "Confederate" cash that can be spent just like real money at any place of business advertising in a Hartley paper.

Any reader in eligible to participate in the contest and any subscriber can win the jackpot by finding the correct "Confederate" emblem in their newspaper.

Each week 20 copies of the more than 74,000 newspapers printed by Hartley Newspapers contain a "1" emblem, similiar to the one printed in this column. It is always hand stamped within an advertisement on the inside pages in a color other than black. By sending the advertisement containing the emblem to Hartley Newspapers, 2465 W. Broad-st, any reader can win $1 in "Confederate" money.

To be eligible to win the jackpot, which is $39 in "Confederate" money this week the reader must be a paid subscriber to a Hartley Newspaper and find a 5' emblem similiar to the one printed in this column. Only one "5" emblem is placed in an entire publication during a given week. It, too, is always printed in a color other than black.

If not a paid subscriber the "5" emblem can be redeemed for $5 in "Confederate" money. To collect the winnings due on a "5" emblem, the reader must bring the entire paper containing the emblem to the Hartley Newspaper office in person.

All "Confederate" money will be accepted just like cash by any merchant advertising in a Hartley Newspaper.

This contest is not open to employes of Hartley Newspapers, including paper carriers, or members of their families.

THE CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION OF GROVE CITY, OHIO
Announces Open Competitive Examinations for the Position of PATROLMAN
Division of Police
Department of Public Safety
Starting Salary $4,600.00 per year

Examinations will consist of written exam and an oral evaluation. A passing score must be received on both parts of the examination. These examinations are open to male U.S. citizens who have the qualifications listed in this announcement. The eligible list established from this examination will be used to fill a current Patrolman vacancy, and will be used to fill future vacancies as limited by rules and statute.

Application blanks may be secured from the Secretary's Office at the Municipal Building in Grove City, or by writing to this Civil Service Commission. All applications for this examination must be received by the Grove City Civil Service Commission not later than July 26, 1963. A notice will be sent to each qualified applicant admitting him to the exact place of examination scheduled on July 30, 1963.

Those applicants who wish to receive additional credit for active military service must file their certificate of service and honorable discharge with the completed application along with a stamped, self-addressed envelope. A passing grade must be obtained on the examination before the additional credit is given.

Each applicant who successfully passes the written examination will be expected to have a physical examination given by a physician designated by this Civil Service Commission. This physical examination will be required of applicants at the time their name is certified to the appointing authority. Cost of this physical must be borne by the applicant.

The qualifications required for this examination are as follows: Height — at least 5'7" tall; Weight — at least 135 pounds; Age — over 21 but under 31 years of age; Education — high school graduate; Residence — an Ohio resident. Any person appointed from this eligible list must become a resident of Franklin County within six months following appointment.

Date of Examination: July 30, 1963 (7:30 P.M.).

Place of Examination: Qualified applicants will be notified of the building in Grove City in which the examination will be held.

Last date for receiving applications: July 26, 1963.

Survey Shows Increase In Flags Displayed On Patriotic Days

An independent survey by Capitol City Chapter No. 3 of the Disabled American Veterans has indicated "a definite increase in the display of American flags this past Memorial Day, and July 4."

This increase, 25 per cent over last year in the homes of Hartley Newspaper subscribers, has been attributed to the campaign conducted by this paper, according to the organization's adjutant, Robert A. Scott.

This unsolicited report from this DAV chapter has been gratifying to the Hartley Newspapers, which has participated in the campaign to place a flag in every home on patriotic holidays. In promoting the program this paper has made available, at cost, a beautiful 3x5, colorfast, cotton, 50-star American flag. Since the campaign started the original supply has been replenished twice.

Now only a few of these several hundred flags remain for our readers. When these are gone the offer will not be be renewed.

During the remainder of this offer the flag kit, containing the flag, six-foot pole, halyard, top decoration, window socket and book on flag etiquette, and a one-year subscription to a Hartley Newspaper are priced at only $5. Usually the flag kit would sell for $5.98 and the cost of your subscription would be $3 for a total cost of $8.98. This special offer makes both available at a savings of nearly $4.

If you have not already purchased your flag and displayed it for patriotic occasions, you are urged to take advantage of this offer. A 25 per cent increase in flags on display is a good beginning, but should not be the end.

Send your name, address and check or money order for $5 to Hartley Newspapers, 2465 W. Broad-st. Be sure to request your new flag and specify to which paper you are subscribing. If already a subscriber, one year will be added to your present subscription.

Checklist Offered

A safety checklist for the aging and handicapped (and their families) is being offered by the Franklin County Society for Crippled Children.

By answering the "yes or no" questions, the society hopes that potential accident hazards will be recognized and eliminated. Copies are available by writing to the society, P.O. Box 2118, Columbus, Ohio, or by calling 253-5523.

Technician School Open To All Who Qualify For Course

Applications for the new Columbus Area Technician School, scheduled to open Sept. 30, now total 100, according to Clinton E. Tatsch, director.

The new program, sponsored by the Columbus Board of Education in cooperation with Columbus area industries, will train technicians for the fields of electronics technology, business data processing and mechanical technology.

Ninety students, 30 in each of the three training areas, will be accepted by the school, Tatsch said. So far, applicants for the school have come 75 per cent from the Columbus area and the rest from other towns and cities.

"We are pleased at the interest which students are showing in our school," Tatsch commented. He added that persons still wishing to be accepted into the first classes in the technician school should have their applications in before July 30.

Applications for the technician school can be obtained from the office at 245 W. Broad-st, or by calling 221-3766.

Standards for the school require that an applicant must be a high school graduate, have had a year of algebra and pass a test which is administered by the Board of Education.

Tuition for the two-year program is $90 per quarter for Columbus school district residents and $100 per quarter for all others.

An important aspect of the Columbus Area Technician School is that the curriculum was designed by Columbus businessmen and educators. The close cooperation by the businessmen and educators will assure graduates of the technician school "little difficulty in securing good positions," according to school officials.

The advisory committee for the technician school includes representatives from Battelle Memorial Institute, Thompson Ramo Wooldridge, Inc., Bell Telephone Laboratories, Inc., Columbus Chamber of Commerce, Columbus Industrial Association, Industrial Nucleonics Corp., Midland-Ross Corp., and Jeffrey Manufacturing Co.

Michael Orosz On Naval Reserve Goodwill Cruise

Michael Orosz, interior communications electrician first class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Orosz, 1775 S. Eighth-st recently served aboard the destroyer USS Hunt on a 29-day cruise to Spain labeled "Operation Handshake."

The reserve assignment on the goodwill cruise was unique as Navy Reserves normally undergo two weeks active duty training instead of four.

If a success, the experimental goodwill cruise will establish a precedent for future Reserve cruises.

Earl Smigelski Finishes Course

Earl A. Smigelski, storekeeper seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony A. Smigelski 148 Thurman-av, was recently graduated from Storekeeper school at Newport, R.I.

The 12-week course covers the Navy supply system, filing procedures, correspondence, and other clerical duties. Students learned to assist Navy supply officers in the varied duties of supplying ships and shore stations of the Navy.

Completes Course

Airman 3/C Donald R. Fogle has completed an Air Force technical training course for weapons mechanics at Lowry AFB, Colo. The airman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Fogle of 266 Benfield.

ATTENDS ADDRESS

Marine Pfc. Edward T. Minshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Minshall of 493 Basswood-rd, was among the Marine Corps and Navy personnel who attended the address given June 6 by President John F. Kennedy during his visit to the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif.

CONSTRUCTION PERMIT

Eugene E. Ewing, 1848 Eldorn-dr, has a permit to build a two-car frame garage valued at $1,200.

Whitehall's Troop 373 Hikes The Tarhe Trail, Called One Of Scouting's Most Grinding Tests

By BOB KIEBEL

"The palms of your hand will thicken,
The skin of your cheek will tan,
You'll go ragged and weary and swarthy,
But you'll walk like a man!"

As poet Hamlin Garland wrote, Whitehall's Boy Scout Troop 373, led by Scoutmaster Vernon H. Boetcher, passed the trail requirement of the rugged Chief Tarhe Trail, each boy "walking like a man."

Called by many as one of the most grinding tests in the scouting program, the trail has lured scout troops from all over Ohio and surrounding states as well in a constant challenge to youth.

Beginning and ending at Camp Ki-Y-Ro, located approximately five miles southwest of Lancaster, the boys of Troop 373 followed the 13.1 miles in the footsteps of the Wyandot Indian Chief, Tarhe. Each group took about six hours to make the hike along the trail marked with signs showing the side view of an Indian's head, with his nose pointing in the direction of the trail.

At some points the trail follows two famous Ohio Indian trails, the Coshocton Trail, which starts at Chillicothe and goes through Lancaster to Coshocton, and the Standing Stone Trail, which begins at Portsmouth, leads through the caves in Hocking County and on to Lancaster, and ends at the foot of Mt. Pleasant, the "standing stone," where it meets the Coshocton Trail.

For their effort each scout and leader won the right to wear the Trail Medal. This medal has a yellow and green ribbon and attached is a bronze Indian head inscribed "Tarhe."

The history of Chief Tarhe plays an important part in the history of Ohio. Tarhe, "the Crane," as he was called by the British, was chief of Tarhetown, the Indian village which was located on the north bank of the Hocking River, in the southern part of what is now the city of Lancaster.

In 1790, Tarhetown contained about 100 wigwams and about 500 Wyandot Indians. They were living there when the first white scouts came up from Marietta, but nothing is known, about how long they occupied the Hocking Valley before that time.

On the warpath, the Wyandots were said to be a savage and bloodthirsty people. They frequently attacked the white settlements along the Ohio river, and it was said that probably no other tribe, even those west of the mountains, surpassed the Wyandots in the murder and devastation they wreaked along the Pennsylvania and Virginia frontiers. So far as is know, after the Greenville Treaty, no white person was ever murdered by an Indian within the borders of what is now Fairfield County.

Chief Tarhe is said to have been a "noble" Indian: tall and powerful, tops in physical strength and endurance. He was called terrible in war, but just and faithful in peace.

Tarhe ruled the Wyandot confederacy of seven tribes until his death in 1818. A great funeral was held at his home, near Upper Sandusky. Many great chiefs attended, from many tribes, and a council was held for several days. The most notable chiefs present were Blue Jacket, Tody, Killbuck, Cornstalk, White-Eyes, and Little Turtle. Among the tribes represented were the Delawares, the Mohawks, the Ottawas, the Senecas, and the Shawnees, as well as his own tribe, the Wyandots.

CLIMBING SOME OF THE RUGGED TERRAIN of Camp Ki-Y-Ro, are from left, Scouts Jeffery Clark, Robert Kiebel, Jr., Tom and Dennis Emptage. All are members of Troop 373.

AIR GUARD AT LAFB

Groveport Mission Home To St. Vincentian Brothers

Today charity is a far-flung and highly organized effort to give aid wherever the need may lie.

It is difficult to realize that the seeds of our modern hospitals, orphanages, welfare agencies and asylums were planted by one individual, St. Vincent de Paul.

When the French peasant boy was ordained in 1600, Europe was a land of the very rich and the very poor. In Paris alone were 80,000 professional beggars who enjoyed the largesse of the wealthy, but the poor went unnoticed and without care.

PIRATES and potentates, beggars and bishops, foundlings and lepers, cardinals and kings — all were woven into the life of St. Vincent de Paul.

Before his death 60 years later, he had founded hospitals, homes for unwed mothers, refuges for the mentally ill, "soup kitchens" for the starving, employment agencies for the destitute able to work, and a band of priests known as the Vincentian Fathers.

Three centuries later this religious family fathered by St. Vincent, known as the brother of the Congregation of the Mission, are perpetuating the work of God begun so long ago.

At the St. Vincent Mission in Groveport live seven priests of this order, in poverty, obedience and chastity and with the fourth vow of stability which binds them to the works of the congregation for life.

St. Vincent's efforts were actually three-fold — charity, training priests, and exercise of missions.

The little group south of Columbus, headed by Father Francis Hinton, C.M., largely devote their lives to the last of these. They hold retreats and missions throughout the Midwest to inspire and instruct the laity toward the better use of their lives.

As Superior of the House, Father Hinton is confined to the area and he serves as pastor of St. Mary's Church, and Father Paul J. Husking, C.M., is the chaplain to the County Home and the Ben Franklin Hospital. Fathers John Henry, Timothy Shanahan, John Cody, Vincent Lawler and Thomas Corrigan of the Congregation of the Mission are the true "missionaries."

When one contemplates the orphanages, the hospitals, the seminars, the universities (St. John in New York is a St. Vincentian institution) of the St. Vincent's brothers and their sister order, the "Daughters of Charity," it is obvious that the 16th century priest is not "dead and forgotten."

After him have come an army of clergy (though without his hair shirts and self scourging) who dedicate their lives to the example set by St. Vincent de Paul.

Asked by the queen of France what the aging priest would have accomplished to feel that he had led a fruitful life, St. Vincent replied, very simply, "More."

This attitude earned for him the title of "The Father of Charity" and for those carrying out his work through the centuries, the respect of all nationalities, races and creeds.

AGAINST THE stately pines stands the shrine of Christ of the Bleeding Heart on the mission grounds. Equally lovely is a replica of the Grotto of Lourdes, the original of which stands near the birthplace of St. Vincent in France.

SILHOUETTED AGAINST THE MISSION, Father Francis Hinton, C.M., watches a bird, one of many taking sanctuary in the trees surrounding St. Vincent's Mission. The fathers living there are willing hosts to the children who come to wander through the beautifully landscaped grounds, unquestionably the show-spot of Groveport. Mighty oaks, weeping willows, slender poplars, gay holly and the traditional mulberry are but a few of the plantings. An entire grove of black walnut stands to the left of the picture, a forest only a stone's throw from the village.

IN THE CENTER of the circular drive before the massive doors of the mission is the statue of St. Vincent de Paul, the sociologist priest who was canonized.

PATTERNED AFTER the Spanish missions of the West, St. Vincent's, which was built in 1932, is a home of both beauty and grandeur, an anachronism among the surrounding nearby "ranch-styles."

Traffic Commission Okays Stop Signs, Discusses Light

At the regular meeting of the Traffic and Transportation Commission of the City of Columbus, July 2, four measures affecting the South Side were passed and one was taken under consideration.

A recommendation by Chief Engineer John L. Gallagher that three streets under development, lying east of Lockbourne-rd, Weirton-rd, Nunway-rd and Pamella-dr, be made stop streets at Watkins-rd was passed unanimously by the commission.

Gallagher also recommended that Behm-rd and Strack-rd both be made stop streets at Williams-rd and that Evergreen-rd, Burley-dr and Jonathan-dr be made stop streets at Fairwood-av. Both motions were approved by the commission.

A fourth recommendation by Gallagher that Thorndale-av, Markham-rd, Hillgate-rd and Lee Ellen-rd be made stop streets at Southgate-av was also unanimously passed by the commission.

Assistant Safety Director John W. Clark reported that Councilman Hoermle had requested an interview in the interest of procuring a traffic signal at the intersection of Parsons-av and Dering-av. Gallagher stated that the intersection was already under consideration for the signal.

Robert Wheeler Now Active As Underwater Archeologist

A previous "Outstanding Personality" in this series was Lew Wheeler Jr. and as we noted then, another member of the family deserved recognition for work well done. Today's honoree is Robert Wheeler, better known as "Rod" to most of his Columbus friends. Rod resided at 2822 S. High-st while attending the local schools, which included South High School and OSU. He was greatly interested in dramatics while in the Ann-st school, and had the male lead role in a senior class production, "Smiling Through." This interest was still apparent in later years when he appeared in "The 17th Star," a play which commemorated the 150th anniversary of Ohio's statehood and was staged during the 1953 Ohio State Fair.

Rod enrolled at Ohio State University as a history major, with plans to be a history teacher. A siege of scarlet fever and quinsy at this period of his life caused concern about his health. Overcoming this obstacle to his plans, he proceeded once again with his college career. There were depression years, so he helped pay his way by running a bread truck in the summertime. He also worked for the Historical Society at OSU, under Mr. Zepp, and continued there as a field representative, following his graduation in 1936.

While visiting Lew in 1934 in Minnesota, Rod met his wife-to-be, Ardis, whom he married in 1939. The war years found him in the camouflage department in Tunis, Algeria. He resumed his career at the Ohio State Historical Society until 1957, when he received an offer from the Minnesota Historical Society to become its assistant director, which he accepted.

Robert, or Rod, is particularly interested in underwater archeology and explores the waterways of Minnesota at every opportunity. He discovered settlers' artifacts and jewelry at the bottom of a waterfall in one such exploration.

Early this spring he was the chairman of a conference on underwater archeology held at St. Paul. Featured speakers included M. L. Peterson, head curator of the department of armed forces history at the Smithsonian Institution, George F. Bass, of the University of Pennsylvania, who reported on excavating a Byzantine shipwreck, and Anders Franzen of Stockholm, who searched for and raised the "Vasa," a 17th century Swedish warship, which had been underseas 333 years. Franzen was a guest in the Wheeler home while attending the conference.

Wheeler's time is also spent in giving talks and conducting tours in addition to his research.

Ardis and Rod have two children, Kristi, 15, and Jon, 12. The foursome manage to spend some time each summer at Kjostad Lake, near Buyck. Mrs. Wheeler, though from Minneapolis, is an OSU graduate and was a secretary in the office of Keith Tyler. She now teaches a seventh grade class in St. Paul.

This summer Rod plans to go to Philadelphia harbor, where he will go down with a diver to see what historic articles can be discovered in the waters of the City of Brotherly Love.

Only one member of the family of C. L. Wheeler Sr. still remains in Columbus, and that is Mildred Leist, 191 Alcott-rd, whom we mentioned in the article about Lew. Another sister, Leota Merion, lives in Cleveland. The senior Wheelers are also residents of Minnesota and have been for several years. And, food for thought, most of this family's migration came about because Lew Wheeler Sr. bought five acres of land, sight unseen, for $150 in 1932!

Teen-agers with birthdays include Patti Hampton, Larry Milligan, Pam Wolford and Donna Riley.

Birthdays for the age group who are a bit more reluctant to acknowledge them will be celebrated by Alberta Blackburn, Martha Fillinger, Dona Hampton, Frances Jividen, Essie Buller, Edna Albrecht, Karl Naumoff, Goldie Gordon, Dorothy Fornof, Tony Maiberger, Bill Paulus, Norma Jack and Elizabeth Honadel.

Anniversary wishes are appropriate for Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. John Rathburn, Walt and Edna (Baughman) Smith, who celebrate an anniversary on July 20, are no longer Columbus residents. The minister and his family are now residents of Fredericktown, O., in the Waterford Church. Well-wishers may address them at Rt. 3, Fredericktown.

Columbus friends are happy to welcome back the Keeling family, who now make their home at 1277 Wilson-av, since moving from Zanesville.

Our sympathy is extended to Frances Jividen, who lost a nephew by drowning recently. The young relative had resided in Alabama.

Peggy Tabor, 69 E. Markison-av, had the sad experience of losing her mother and being unable to attend the final services. The mother, Helen Jeff, was a native of England. Our sympathy also goes to Kate Williams, who lost her mother last week.

Ed and Helen Ikehorn, with teen-agers Peggy and Phil, are once again at their favorite spot of Fontana Village, N. Car. The South Siders made friends with a Georgia family there about three years ago, and the two families have held reunions at the resort every year since. The party drove to the top of Clingman's Dome, a high peak of the Smokies, when a downpour met them. No pictures were taken, but the clouds surrounding them gave them a thrill a minute while driving. The senior Ikehorns were later able to explore Fontana Lake by boat and found the scenery quite beautiful.

Cub Scout Pack 84 has planned an all-day outing for Sunday, July 21, at the WRFD picnic grounds. Families are to bring their own food for the day. Activities available at the grounds include badminton, volleyball, horseshoes, playground equipment, shuffleboard and baseball. Admission is 25 cents for adults, 15 cents for children.

Wedding congratulations to Sharon and Kenneth Taylor, recently married. Mrs. Taylor was formerly Sharon Weaver.

The Mothers Club of Southwood Church of Christ will meet for a picnic Saturday, July 20, at 4:30 p.m. Mrs. Jack Smith will be the hostess.

Back home from a Canadian vacation are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Henry and son. Bill and Dorothy Wells, 1319 Studer-av, spent two weeks in Florida visiting Carl and Mary Anderson, Dorothy's sister. Walter and Margaret Steffons, 3162 Lee Ellen-pl, are making a "grand circuit" in their summer jaunts. They journeyed to Michigan for the first part of their vacation, returned home and the next day started for Florida. The Kirby family, 561 Reinhard-av, planned a ferry boat ride into Canada. Ruth and Jim Wagner, of the South Side "Y," will soon be due home after a trip to Colorado, where Jim attended a meeting.

The Lenox family thought the July 4 holiday an appropriate time to visit Philadelphia, Pa., with all its historic landmarks of the founding of this nation. A one-day trip was also made into nearby New York City, where the foursome took advantage of the three-hour boat trip around the metropolis.

Rev. R. G. Perkins, of Livingston Methodist, is now home after attending a meeting at Lakeside.

The Luther Leaguers of Hope Lutheran Church will attend the 8 a.m. service Sunday, July 21, before leaving for Old Man's Cave. A reception for new members of Hope will also be an event of July 21. An informal coffee hour will be held following the 10:30 a.m. service to welcome the newcomers. Judy Smith, Sue Weber and Rick May, of Hope, are among the youths who are attending the Leadership Training School at Capital University.

The WCTU of Washington Avenue EUB Church was to meet today (Thursday) at noon, at the church.

The Schiller Park concert band will be conducted by Charles Spohn at the 8 p.m. offering on Sunday, July 21.

The Belles and Beaux of St. Mary's are sponsoring a "Hootenanney" Friday, July 19, 8 p.m., at the church. The Van Guards and Folk Singers will entertain. The public is invited. The annual homecoming of the parish will be an event of Aug. 16 and 17. The awarding of a Galaxie "500" hardtop will climax the two days' activities at 11 p.m. Saturday.

This Is IMPACT!

When a community reads that its schools are better, or worse, than average — that's IMPACT!

When a town learns its police department is corrupt, or incorruptible — that's IMPACT!

When a suburb learns it is to have a new industry or a new recreational center or a new municipal building, or it isn't — that's IMPACT!

When you want to keep up with integration in Birmingham, developments in the Far East, and Rocky's wedding in New York, the Big City Dailies provide the answer.

But if you're interested in what's happening on Main street, in village elections, and in the schools, you'll read about it in your local paper and nowhere else — that's IMPACT!

Just imagine the IMPACT if you didn't have a local suburban paper. Who would attend the Village Theatre productions, subscribe to the Boy Scout fund drive, or know when to — and when not to — sprinkle the lawn?

And when Kiwanis sold its peanuts, the Lions aided the blind, and the Little League was holding a Pancake Day, how would you know where to go to help out — that's IMPACT!

We recognize our obligation — to our readers, our community, our churches and schools, our advertisers — to maintain the impact of good journalism, outstanding effort and a desire to serve.

We appreciate your plaudits, the responsibility you have cast upon us, and reaffirm our pledge to do what's right for our community.

DIAMOND MEMORIES—PART II

East 9 Tops In Early 1900's; South Winner In Snowstorm

(Second in a Series)
By CHARLES F. COON

In the early 1900's East High School was recognized as having the top baseball team in Columbus. B. F. Dildine, a merchant and former player and student of the game, was manager of Groveport High.

Dildine informed East High that Groveport would not play East's second team (even though it was thought that that team would probably beat us).

ON EAST'S FIRST team that year were Janton at first base, Justice at shortstop and Billy Purtell (later quite well-known in pro baseball) at third. The pitcher was Rink Barrington (later a star at OSU) and the catcher was Thurman, grandson of the "Old Roman," a U.S. Senator from Ohio.

When Groveport came to bat in the first inning, Chase Rarey, the leadoff man (and only lefthanded batter on the team), hit the first ball pitched into deep right field and into the orchard mentioned in the Westerville game.

The early offense rattled East slightly but that run was about all Groveport got the rest of the game. However, Groveport started a rally midway through the game. Out went Rink and in came Justice.

JUSTICE HAD about the widest and sweeping curve seen in those days, so the rally was nipped in the bud.

In another game that year (1903), Groveport played South High. Weilbacher, the South pitcher, hailed from the storage and transfer firm on the South Side.

The game turned out to be a tight pitcher's duel, 1-1, until the ninth when South pushed across the winning run. The two teams met again the following year in the early spring with practically the same lineups.

ON SATURDAY afternoon (all high school games were played then on Saturday instead of Friday), the weather became miserable but the game was played despite the adverse weather conditions.

One snow squall followed another and at times the outfielders became almost undiscernible. This time, there was no pitchers' duel as South High won in a romp.

South Grid Physicals Given

All South High School football candidates who have not yet had their physical examination may contact Dr. Beryl Oser, 933 S. High-st.

Examinations will be given during regular office hours and no appointment is necessary. The doctor will be leaving on vacation, July 29 so physicals must be completed by that time.

Physical exam cards may be obtained by candidates from the school secretary at South High.

Comrade vs. Paschall For State Legion Slot

Whitehall (Comrade Post 490) or Grove City (Paschall Post 164) will be the district representative to the state American Legion tournament in Athens, July 29 to Aug. 4.

The two clubs, winners in the Blue and Gold Divisions, respectively, battled in the first game of a playoff series last night at Grandview but press deadlines prevented coverage.

BOTH TEAMS will play again this evening at 5 on the Grandview field with the third game (if necessary) set for Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the same site.

Whitehall wrapped up its share of the playoff spot with a 3-2 win over Capital City last Wednesday. Joel Brandt flipped a two-hitter at Capital but needed a two-run rally in the sixth frame, capped by a C-C error, to pick up the win.

Dean Ishida scored the winning run Sunday against Scioto Post (St. Charles) when he scored on a passed ball to give Whitehall a 3-2 extra-inning win.

THE LOSERS, who managed five hits off Terry Tedder, led twice, 1-0 and 2-1 but two walks, a single and the passed ball gave Whitehall its 11th win in 12 tries.

Scioto finished in the Blue's runner-up spot despite the loss.

GROVE CITY'S playoff date came a little bit easier as the Gold leaders battered Hilliard, 12-0, Wednesday and handcuffed Worthington, 7-2, Sunday.

Jon Warden silenced the Hilliard batsmen with a two-hitter while Pleasant View teammate Pat Mogan drilled a triple and single, good enough for three RBIs.

Scott Anderson took over the pitching chores Sunday and stopped Worthington on two hits while fanning 11 batsmen. Robin Eyer drove in two runs with a pair of singles while Mel Williams and Dave Beets each collected a two-bagger.

WORTHINGTON bobbles got G-C started each inning it tuned up the scoreboard. An error and singles by Paul Frasure, Pat Mogan and Eddie Harris (two RBIs) provided three markers in the sixth that salted away the win — G-C's 10th in as many tries.

In other Gold League games, Camp Chase, the unseated district champion, finished up with a pair of wins, 16-1, over DeSales and 11-1, over Hilliard.

Jim Workman's five RBIs was the highlight of the former win while Tom Cherubini's three-hitter sparked the latter victory. Chase collected a total of 27 hits in the two games.

OVER IN THE Blue loop, a pair of pitching duels highlighted action in the other two contests. Doug Cromer bested George Maurer as Franklin Post (Eastmoor) blanked Southway Post, 3-0, on Cromer's one-hitter.

Maurer allowed only five hits but Cromer was the master, fanning 11 and walking but one.

Bexley Post (Hartley) used a "charged-up battery" to slip by Groveport, 2-1. Pitcher Jack Diamond limited the Cruisers to four hits while catcher Steve Ortman drove home both runs with a fifth-inning double.

Bobby Williams, who gave Hartley but three hits, took the loss.

Don's Hands Dukes Loss In Old Timer

Don's Inn, led by Jerry Grueter and Walt Hoffman with a home run apiece, defeated previously unbeaten Duquesne, 10-9, Tuesday in the South Side Old Timers League. Planks downed Babberts 8-4 and Bow Wow blasted the Blatz Club 23-3. Deibels bested Old Landmark 9-4 and Arena won over Schoenlings 18-13.

Tony Yoli of Bow Wow led the home run hitters with two round trippers. Other home run hitters were Bob Harper, Don Moore and Bob Shaner, Bow Wow; Chuck Raymond, Duquesne; Ray Beery, Herb Russel, Planks Cafe; Frank Ivan, Bill Schmidt, Babberts; Bob Townsend, Dutch Zwilling, Old Landmark; Bill Morin, Arena; Woody Knox, Schoenlings.

TED RECTOR of Arena and Don Moore of Bow Wow hit five for five at the plate.

Baseball Future Here To Be Fans' Decision

How badly does Columbus want baseball?

That's the question Jet General Manager Harold Cooper would like to have answered in the next few weeks. Those vacant seats in the stadium are no longer a joke. The preservation of big-time baseball in this community is quickly approaching its biggest crisis since 1954, when the St. Louis chain packed up and trotted off to Omaha.

"WE'RE NOT going with our hat in our hand and we're not looking for gimmicks. We've come to a time when we just have to face the issue," Cooper said last week.

With attendance down better than 40,000 compared to a like number of home games two years ago, the issue is in doubt.

"You can't create something to force people to come to the ball park," Cooper continued. "It's not like a major league set-up where you can hold onto a colorful ball player for four or five years."

SINCE THE purpose of the minor leagues is to develop major league talent, the winning pitcher and the big hitter aren't likely to stay around long. Anyone who would wish to deny them a crack at the big show isn't much of a real baseball fan.

"I still believe baseball has a place in Columbus," Cooper said. "When or if we lose it, I think people will realize it's left quite a hole in the community."

The biggest question for the local fan to answer is: "Is the Jets IL standing directly proportional to a desire to get out to the ball park?"

Too many people have labeled Columbus fandom as a "ride the winner's bandwagon alone" type. This, we believe, is unfair. It's not a good reputation to have tagged on such an avid sporting community as we have in the Columbus area.

AS COOPER points out, International League fans are getting a sneak preview of tomorrow's major leaguers today. But sparse crowds on evenings geared to baseball have left Cooper at a loss.

The Jet general manager is quick to point the finger of low attendance at himself. But the self-accusation tag just doesn't seem to fit well on a man who was highly instrumental in saving baseball here nine years ago.

Cooper has been criticized for the Jets' work toward the Youth Foundation (unique in baseball) and the TV blackout, which is not unique in cities housing minor league ball clubs.

THE JETS ARE currently wrapping up their eighth home stand. After a five-day road trip, they will return to the stadium for a nine-game stand. Following that, only two more home stands remain.

Cooper and the Jet management do not plan to plead with fans to keep minor league baseball in Columbus. Whether International League baseball opens here next April or not has been laid squarely in the laps of fans who will or will not fill the empty seats between now and late next month.

The survival of baseball here has been taken out of the hands of the trustees, directors and management. The decision to sink or swim is up to the fan.

IF YOU DON'T care, then by all means stay home. But if you would like to continue to enjoy minor league baseball in your community, game time is still 8 p.m.

Fishing Doldrums Here; Try Mornings, Evenings

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Hoover Reservoir is giving up its piscatorial treasures to those anglers living nearby apparently, and is only tantalizing fishermen in this area.

Carl Schott, reporting from Paul's Marine Supply, says that fishing has been rather slow in recent days with the exception of individual catches.

LAURIS BENNETT, Galena, caught a large channel catfish on a soft craw about a week ago. The fish weighed 12 pounds, nine ounces, and was 30 inches in length.

Mrs. Homer Blumlien, Westerville, checked in with a three-pound, two-ounce walleye, caught on a nightcrawler harness.

"What few walleyes that are being caught are falling for live bait," said Schott. "Nightcrawlers are the most popular bait right now, since artificials are not producing."

IF THE WALLEYES are on strike, the bass are offering a little fishing fun for those who know how to catch them. Fishing the stumps and water edges has been paying off for some anglers. They use artificials and wade out from the bank for the most part. Night fishing for catfish is also a possibility.

With a streak of honest-to-goodness hot weather behind us, fishing is reaching its doldrums stage. Reports from Buckeye and Madison lakes have not been encouraging within the week. From now until cool weather, the fish will be taken by anglers who fish hard and who know what they are doing. Going out early in the mornings, in the evenings and at night will be the rule for most successful fishermen.

Fishing slows down in streams and farm ponds too, although a pond with light fishing pressure is a good bet all summer long. Here, where the fish are a might unsophisticated, a worm on a hook will nearly always take a mess of bluegills. A bass or two may also fall for the humble offering.

BLUEGILLS ARE still hitting surface flies when they're in the mood, but worms are more sure-fire. This is the time to take it easy while you recapture the joys of sitting with a cane pole and watching a bouncing bobber. If you ever reminisce about days past, this is a way to return for a couple of hours.

PAT SERGIO

Wins Derby Pat Sergio

With his black "Screenlite Special" streaking across the finish line just inches ahead of the runner-up, Pat Sergio, 802 E. Mithoff-st, won the 1963 Columbus Soap Box Derby Saturday and earned the right to shoot for the National title at Akron, Aug. 3.

Eleven-year-old Pat, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Sergio, outdistanced runnerup Jim Humphreys, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Humphreys, 395 Granville-st, Gahanna.

SERGIO, besides winning a plaque and other prizes, took home a $500. savings bond and an all-expense paid ticket to Akron for his pacesetting spin down the 850-ft. Grandview Hill.

The winner of the National Derby will receive a $7500. college scholarship.

GOLF ETIQUETTE—4

WHO'S GOT THE RIGHT-OF-WAY?

THERE'S A right-of-way policy on the golf course just like on the highways. The quickest way to display your lack of golf etiquette knowledge is to tramp up to play a hook or slice in an adjoining fairway while other golfers are ready to tee off or play their shot. Although this pair of delayed golfers display little more than disgust at our hero's interference, others aren't so patient and might not wait. It makes good golfing sense to "stop, look and listen" before playing that errant tee shot.

Do You Know Your Sports?

(Seventh in a series)

For some people, trying not to roll off a log is easy. The sport of log rolling goes back as far as 1840 when betting lumberjacks, moving on log drives from the New England States to the Northwest, tried their skills of balance on the slippery timber.

Birling, as the sport is properly titled, provides competition for two men on a tree trunk, 13 feet long by 14 to 20 inches thick.

EACH TRIES to throw the other off balance by spinning the log, stopping it suddenly and then reversing the roll. The sport is uniquely American—the first National Championships held in 1898. Last year, over 10,000 spectators watched the competition.

Log rollers wear spiked boots to control the spin, twist and pitch of the timber. The primary rule of the game is to never take your eyes off your opponent's feet.

Matches are conducted on a two-out-of-three or elimination basis. The first man ducked above the waist or who crosses a six-inch center band on the log is the loser.

THE LONGEST recorded battle went on three hours and 15 minutes in 1900 before a fall was scored. Today's competitors include some men employed as log rollers, although the majority are young athletes who train for the sport.

The National Championships will be held for the third straight year at the Historyland Logging Camp at Hayward, Wis., July 26 to 28.

PIT STOPS

By BILL GRAY

Rain Sunday night halted the races at Columbus Motor Speedway in the second lap of the Super-Modifieds Consi. Five events, however, were run off before the rains came.

Super-Modified event winners for the evening were: Don Townsend, Larry Bruce and Bob Smith who was declared the winner after nine laps of the semi.

THE LATE models ran off two events. The winners were Bob Bower and Keith Weaver.

Friday night at the Southside oval, Quentin Collison not only set a new record of 18.01 seconds, during the flying stock time trials, but also snared the feature, his first of the year. Don Gregory took second place.

Other race winners Friday night were: Sonny Pencil, Bill Powell and L. T. Cornett.

THIS FRIDAY night, the flying stocks will be back for a full program topped with a 25-lap feature. There'll be $500 in the "Total" game jackpot.

On Sunday night, The Columbus Motor Speedway will have the Mid-Season Championship races, for the super-modifieds drivers of Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky. Thrown in will be some late model events along with flying stock events. There will be a 50-lap feature for the modifieds.

Both Friday and Sunday night time trials begin at 7 and races at 8.

Christy's No-Hitter Paces Y All-Stars To 6-2 Victory

With Jim Christy pitching a no-hitter, the South Side YMCA Junior Church League All-Stars sailed to a 6-2 victory over a fine fielding Sullivant Gardens nine last Saturday afternoon on the loser's home grounds.

John Workmaster, Tim O'Neill and Christy were the big guns in the hit department for the YMCA team.

OTHER MEMBERS of the All-Stars were: Marty Komives, Dennis Leslein, Bill Karns, Dan Endicott, John King, D. T. Meszaros, Harry Keaton, Gary West and Paul Quickle. The two teams are scheduled for a return engagement at Southwood Field Saturday at 2 p.m.

Bill McDonald and Harry Keaton, Sr., served as coaches for the All-Stars, while John Emmelton umpired and Dwight Brown handled the scorekeeping chores.

Last week stars of the YMCA Inter-Church Softball Leagues included:

BUSINESS REVIEW

Choral Group To Perform

In their first appearance since the international competition at Toronto early in July, Columbus' 75-man chorus of "Singing Buckeyes" will sing at First Community Village, 1800 Riverside-dr, next Sunday, July 21, at 6:30 p.m.

The "Singing Buckeyes" are district champs for the four-state Johnny Appleseed district of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America.

The chorus's appearance at the Village is part of their program of public service and the Village's summer program of Sunday entertainment open to villagers, their friends and neighbors in the area at no charge.

Harris Opticians Changing Offices

After 28-years in the same location, Harris Opticians, 106 E. Broad, has announced it is moving to new quarters at 199 E. Broad-st.

This move was made necessary, according to Gill Harris, because the building the company is now occupying is to be torn down to make way for a new building project. Change of location is expected to be completed by Aug. 1.

Harris stated the new offices will be larger, and plans call for private individual fitting rooms and the most modern of equipment. The new location is now in the process of being remodeled in preparation for the move.

Harris Opticians was founded in 1890 in the Neil House, and has been closed only one business day since then, stated Gill Harris. This was when his grandfather, founder of the firm, died.

Since that time, the optical center has been operated by members of the family and today is headed by Nick, Joe and Gill Harris, along with other qualified eye specialists.

The firm specializes in eye examinations, fitting of glasses and contact lenses and the preparation of prescriptions for glasses.

HANDLE WITH CARE is the motto that should hang over the work bench of Carl Petroski, 605 S. Waverly, putting the finishing touches on a large mirror which was brought into Dave's Glass Shop, 492 E. Main-st, with one of the corners chipped off. Petroski cut off the bad side of the mirror, smoothed the edges and drilled a new hole to attach it to a wall.

Tedious Work Of Glass Cutting Specialty Of Dave's Glass Shop

According to Carl Petroski, it takes about a week to learn how to cut a piece of glass properly, and can take from five to 10 years to learn the trick of cutting designs and circles.

Carl speaks with the authority of a man who has handled many types of tricky cuts of the fragile material during his five years with Dave's Glass Shop, 492 E. Main-st.

The shop supplies and processes just about every type of glass imaginable, everything from plate, window and auto glass to mirrors pass through the doors of the well-known store for repair and replacement.

According to Petroski, the most difficult jobs to perform are repairing glass for television sets, and replacing glass in showcases. "Most of our work," he added, "comes from insurance claims, and we have been called upon to replace everything from a store front to a basement window."

Petroski said that he seldom broke a piece of glass while cutting it, but sometimes the installation, if not done properly, would cause a large piece to shatter.

The store was opened by owner, Dave Butcher, 14 years ago at 697 E. Main-st, but moved to its new location about one year ago when the first building was marked to be torn down to make room for the new freeway.

The new shop allows room for autos to be driven inside for replacement of broken windows, and provides the firm with plenty of free parking space in the rear of the building for customers.

Free estimates are available and servicemen are on call for home or store repair service as well as for pick-up and delivery.

SEAMAN PROMOTED

Robert L. Hartley, engineman third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hartley of 780 E. Kossuth-st, was recently promoted to his present rate while serving aboard the experimental research vessel, USS Rockville, operating out of Washington, D.C.

His promotion was the result of passing the Navy-wide competitive examination conducted in February.

A graduate of South High School, Hartley entered the Navy in June, 1960.

Name Waber P. R. Director

Thomas V. Waber, 920 Euclaire-av, has been named director of public relations at the Children's Hospital of Columbus, it was announced by Robert M. Porter, administrator.

Waber has had more than 25 years' experience in broadcasting news and public affairs in the Midwest.

Assisting him will be Mrs. Margaret Paul, 3047 Mountview-rd in charge of informational materials and editor of "Pediascript," the hospital publication. Mrs. Nina Addison, 3043 Mt. Holyoke-rd, will also serve the department as director of patient relations and volunteer services.

Dollar Federal Dividends Are Up

The largest dividend in its 56-year history has been distributed by Dollar Federal Savings and Loan Association.

More than $856,000 was paid out to depositors at the close of the first half, according to Harold C. Gockenbach, Jr., president.

Gockenbach said the record dividend reflected the growth of Dollar Federal. He pointed out that the semi-annual dividend in 1956 was $234,000, which means that in seven years Dollar Federal has increased payments to depositors by approximately 360 per cent.

Gockenbach said the anticipated dividend rate for the last half of the year is four per cent compounded semi-annually. All funds deposited by the 10th of the month receive credit from the first of the month.

Dollar Federal has offices at Gay and High-sts, Rome-Hilliard-rd, Olentangy River-rd and W. Third-av.

PERMIT ISSUED

Frank B. Allen, 528 Stambaugh-av, has a permit to alter a frame and concrete block house. Construction is valued at $1,500.

John Harlan was sworn in as an associate justice of the U. S. Supreme Court Mar. 28, 1955.

"Inherit The Wind" Coming To Stadium

A court room drama based upon an actual trial that set all America buzzing in the 1920's, will be given at OSU's Stadium Theatre for five performances beginning Tuesday, July 23. This is "Inherit The Wind," the long-run Broadway success dramatizing the Scopes "monkey trial" that drew world attention in 1925 to the little town of Dayton, Tenn.

Current at OSU's Stadium Theatre through Saturday, July 20, is the comedy "The Chalk Garden." Tickets for both plays are now on sale at the theatre's Gate 10 Drive-In Box Office from noon to 9:30 p.m. every day except Sunday. Phone reservations may be made by calling CY. 3-2295 during these hours.

Dr. J. P. Maynard announced his invention of adhesive and medicated plaster Mar. 27, 1848.

LET'S EXPLORE OHIO

Here is where the Canal Era in Ohio started just one hundred and thirty-eight years ago, some three miles southeast of Newark on Rt. 79, where this monument and the stone work of a lock stand beside the highway.

Governor DeWitt Clinton of New York, father of the Erie Canal, turned the first spadeful of earth on the Ohio Canal at this point July 4, 1825.

In the next few years, the Ohio Canal connected Lake Erie at Cleveland with the Ohio River at Portsmouth.

Licking County more than tripled in population between 1820 and 1840 when the Ohio Canal provided economical water transportation between inland Ohio and distant markets for farm crops and industrial products.

Motorists today can enjoy many back-road trips along the 1000 miles of Ohio's old canals.

At Newark, works of the prehistoric Moundbuilders cover some three or four square miles. These earthworks, including circular patterns and effigy mounds, such as the famed Eagle Mound, are the most extensive and diversified of any of the 10,000 and more Moundbuilders' works in Ohio. The Ohio State Historical Society Museum on Ohio State University's campus at Columbus, has a fine collection of Moundbuilder artifacts and relics of this ancient civilization.

BUCKLE UP!

Seat belts can save at least 5000 lives a year—reduce serious injuries by 1/3

Isn't it time to heed this advice from The National Safety Council? Isn't it time to protect your loved ones and yourself by installing seat belts in your car?

Seat belts are life belts. Without a seat belt, when your car stops suddenly in a collision or emergency, you keep going with tremendous force. Into dash, windshield, window, or back of front seat. But with a seat belt, you "stay put" . . . with a vital Margin of Safety between you and serious injury.

Don't wait. Install seat belts now —and use them always. You'll drive with a new peace of mind.

Buckle up for safety with seat belts!

PLAYGROUNDS

Palsgrove . . .

"The Littlest Month" a short semi-original play will be presented by 14 boys and girls on Friday, July 19 at Main-st School auditorium at 2 p.m., as part of the annual drama festival.

Butterfly lanterns will be displayed at one of the annual lantern parades by our children. The lanterns are under construction and will all follow the same theme. Children in the neighborhood are urged to come to the arts and crafts sessions daily at 1:30 p.m. during the lantern making period.

Coming soon is the "Miss Palsgrove Contest," open to area girls eight to 12 years of age only.

Mohawk . . .

The Mohawk Playground Boys' Softball team is still undefeated. They defeated Hanford's team last Friday night.

Thursday the children will begin work on lanterns for the lantern parade.

On Aug. 1 Mohawk will hold a talent show. Anyone interested should sign up at the playground.

Tuesday, July 23, the Traveling Zoo will come to Mohawk at 4:30 p.m.

Fairwood . . .

Friday, July 19, at 7 p.m. the Fairwood Players will join Deshler and Karns at Deshler School for the annual Drama Festival. Fairwood's play will be "Sleeping Beauty."

Fairwood will participate in the Sectional Lantern Parade on Friday, July 26.

The Playground is happy to have an excellent record of sports events this past week. The Junior Boys' Softball team beat Palsgrove 7-3. Willis Prysock, Ben Lauderdale and Paul Hairston each made a home run in that game. The Intermediate Boys also won their softball game against Palsgrove 25-15. Thomas Paxton and Thomas Finch each made home runs, with Philip Dunbar making two.

Ohio Avenue . . .

Highlights of Ohio Avenue playground this week included the hitting of Charles Gilton, who had 11 hits in 13 trips to the plate for the Junior Boys, and the Junior Boys' team won two more games.

The Traveling Zoo returns to the playground Thursday, July 25, at 4:30 p.m.

Children from Ohio Avenue will participate in the Drama Festival at Schiller Recreation Center on Friday, July 19, at 7 p.m. "Nuts for a Silly Squirrel" is the title of the play to be given.

Plans are being made for a Checker Contest. The name of the young man who has challenged teenagers and adults will be printed in this column next week.

Heimendale . . .

All boys and girls 18 and under interested in the track meet at Ohio State on Aug. 3 may obtain entry blanks at Heimendale playground.

The Junior Jet season is nearing the half-way point. Team Two is in first place and Team Three and Scioto trail in second place. Steve Six of Team Two pitched a masterful game on July 10 against Scioto Trail. He struck out 11 men in a row and did not allow a runner past first base.

Men or older boys are needed as coaches or umpires for Junior Jet games. All interested parties please contact Walter Grelle at the playground.

Lincoln Park . .

Lincoln Park's "stars of the stage" are completing rehearsals today for their skit in the Drama Festival Friday evening at Schiller Park. The cast which will act out a mock wedding, features Janet Angus and LeRoy Suber as bride and groom.

Bridesmaids are Joanne Angus, Nancy Hughes, Nancy Smith, Elaine Smith and Rosie Lewis. Flower girls are Lura Suber and Debbie Shirley.

The actors will wear costumes which they made this week at the park.

Lincoln's softball teams stayed on the winning track last week by sweeping all four games. The Junior Girls bested Heimandale, 17-5, and Karns, 30-21, to raise their record to 2-1. Home run heroines were Barbara Hughes, Bleaker Moses, Loretta McCamey and Darlene Smith.

Barry Ferguson hit a home run to help the Intermediate Boys edge Karns 10-8. Their record is now 1-1.

The Gold Junior Boys' team, captained last week by Nate Taylor defeated Karns 15-14 to move within two games of the League B. championship. Butch Gordon's home run proved to be the winning margin.

The Red Junior Boys under Captain Clarence Collins, was idle last week. Collins' squad also needs only two wins to capture the League A crown.

Smith Road . . .

Last week the Girls' Softball team lost a tight game to Deshler by one point. The Boys' Softball team beat Southeast Lions 17-7.

On Monday nights Smith Road will have roller skating rallies, similar to bicycle rallies. All age groups are invited to participate.

The bicycle rallies so far have been a big success. Kathy Sullivan won the first one on July 5 with a time of 1:53. Mark Wiess won the second rally with a time of 2:07.

Watkins . . .

Watkins Junior Girls' Softball Team beat Schiller 19-13. Linda Calhoun led the Watkins team with four hits, four runs and no strikeouts. They made seven spectacular runs in the second inning and six in the fifth inning before being put out. The team would like to thank Harry K. Brady, who treated both the winning and the losing teams to popsicles.

The Junior Boys' Red team defeated Karns 19-18. Five home runs were hit over the Karns right field fence. Three of these were by Otis Ross and one each by Allen Dixon and Jay Brown. Allen Dixon's home run over that fence was the first ever for a right handed batter in Karns Park.

FUNNY BUSINESS

"It makes them nervous to be watched while they're working!"

Additional Income

We are ready to train men to sell on a part-time basis, and offer a future that includes owning your own business. Begin by earning over $100 a month for a few hours' work. Consider these advantages:

- You are always your own boss
- Your wife can help without leaving the house
- You earn high income as you are trained
- You get profitable repeat business
- You can sell almost any hour of the day

If you are free a few hours each week, and are interested in developing your own business, please write Box 537, Columbus 16, Ohio, for a confidential interview.

FOOD MARKETS THIS WEEK

Food Is Plentiful Despite Low Rainfall

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Vegetables—sweet corn, potatoes, (Eastern Pungos) cabbage, celery, green beans.
Fruits—peaches, melons, grapes, bananas, lemons.
Meat and Poultry—fryers, forequarter cuts of beef, ground beef, small turkeys, medium eggs
Other Foods—canned tuna, cheese, ice cream, frozen lemonade.

Dry weather for many weeks has made it hard for individual farmers in the area, but there won't be any real shortage of food supplies, say market men.

There are good supplies of produce right now, and locally grown vegetables increase each week. The home-grown sweet corn is excellent. It comes to market hydrocooled and iced to keep quality fresh. Cabbage and green beans are more plentiful this week and prices lower. Green peppers and summer squash are good.

Mrs. Franks

Cauliflower, head lettuce and tomatoes are in-between seasons and relatively high priced, although field grown tomato supplies will increase rapidly from now, reaching a peak in August. For the present, the small greenhouse tomatoes seem to be the best buy.

LOCAL APPLES ARRIVE

Ohio apples came in last week, mostly Transparent and Lodi—and a few Williams Red—the varieties noted for making delicious sauce. The early summer apple crop is reported to be short, so prices will likely stay higher than they were last summer.

Peach harvest in several southern states is at a peak, prices have dropped and quality is better. When you find shipped-in peaches this year that you like, this may be the best time to buy for freezing, for there will be very few local peaches. Red Havens are the best liked for freezing since they do not turn dark during preparation and hold flavor in storage.

Demand for other small fruits, coupled with heavy imports, are holding unusually low prices on bananas. Blueberries are quite likely at their lowest price for the year, so you may want to get your freezer supply. Many of the nectarines, Santa Rosa plums and seedless grapes that we see are exceptional quality for the season.

POULTRY ITEMS LOWER PRICED

Chicken eating season is here for those interested in economical meat. Broiler replacements in May were about five per cent larger than a year ago, so retail volume for July will be above last year as well as seasonally large. You can expect broilers to be featured at attractive prices for the remainder of the summer.

The egg market dropped rather sharply at wholesale last week and retail prices are reflecting some of the decline. Supplies of medium eggs are heavier now, making them the best egg buy in many stores.

Other protein foods to use for economy are frozen fish, canned tuna and the variety meats, such as liver, heart, tongue, and sweet breads. Increased livestock slaughter in recent months caused large supplies of these variety meats on the market at this time.

To Present 'The Eclipse'

It will happen in your own front yard, but according to the experts you will be better off if you watch it on television. That is the way to eliminate possible damage to the eyes by the intensive light that will be given off by the sun during the eclipse Saturday, July 20.

Television station WLW-C will have experts from Ohio State University and the Columbus Weather Bureau along with Stan Robinson to discuss and explain this phenomenon as a specially prepared camera scans the sky from 4:30 to 5 p.m.

This program will not only give the viewer a novel and safe way of observing this eclipse but also provide him with interesting and valuable information at the same time.

TRANSFER REQUESTED

Peter C. Yuszka Tat's Market, 611 Miller-av, has filed a transfer application with the Ohio Department of Liquor Control to move a C-2 permit to 3655 E. Livingston-av. The permit is for the sale of high-powered beer and wine for carry out.

BUILDING ADDITION

Bob Carter, 3536 S. Champion-av, has a permit to build a frame bath addition. Construction is valued at $1,500.

16 CAPTANS READY TO GO

WITH BRAND NEW T-shirts and baseball caps furnished by the Southeast Lions the Junior Jet team members taking part in the South Side playgrounds summer baseball program, the captains and co-captains at Karnes are a sharp looking crew. In the back, from left are Keith Brown, John Dethloff, Jim Lyons, Eddie Harper, Don Caldwell, Charlie Miller and Dave Rings. In the middle row are Mark Schmitt, Steve Hoffman, Gary Peck, Dave Curtis and Don Foraker. Kneeling are Mark Warner, Mark Roahon, Mickey Rings and Marty Schmitt.

Important this week are the tennis tournament, the sectional volleyball tournament at Schiller today and the three drama festivals tomorrow evening at 7:30 p.m.

Fairwood, Karns and Deshler will perform at Deshler; Livingston, Ohio-av, Mohawk, Schiller and Lincoln at Schiller; and Watkins, Smith-rd, Heimandale, Scioto Trail, Southeast Lions and Watkins will appear at Watkins.

Each playground will appear in an original skit or playlet which has been created on the playground. The public is invited.

Following are the playground reports for this week:

Karns . . .

The highlight of Karns' Junior Jet season came Friday, July 13, when the Southeast Lions presented twelve teams and 180 youngsters with baseball shirts and caps.

American League team emblems were given to the five teams in the ten, eleven and twelve-year-old league. Team No. one will be the Indians; Team No. two, the Red Sox; Team No. three, the Twins; Team No. four, the White Sox, and Team No. five the Yankees.

The eight, nine, and ten-year-olds will play under the names of National League teams. Team A will be the Braves; Team B, the Cardinals; Team C, the Dodgers; Team D, the Giants; Team E, the Phillies; Team F, the Pirates and Team G, the Reds.

Play was fast and furious in both leagues with a pitching duel between Jim Lyons and Dave Rings. Rings struck out 15 and allowed but one hit. Lyons whiffed 13. Earlier in the week Kieth Brown set down 15 on strikes. Also, the fielding of Jerry Bryant and the hitting of Dave Obertung were noteworthy.

Karns Playground is now holding tryouts and practices for their short production, "Melissa Comes To Whodunkit." The play will be presented Friday, July 19, 6:30 p.m., at Deshler Playground. Everyone is invited to attend.

Schiller . . .

"Creeping, crawling creatures" is the theme on which this year's Lantern Parade is being planned for the children of Schiller Park Playground. Miss Pam Argus, the arts and crafts instructor at Schiller, is working to make this the biggest and most beautiful Lantern Parade ever held. All children who would like to enter the parade are urged to come to the arts and crafts sessions which are held every day from 1:30 to 3:30.

"Schiller Gymnasts Go Circus," a three-ring performance to be given by the state championship gymnastic team, will be a feature performance of the South Side Drama Festival tomorrow night on the Schiller bandstand. Also on display will be young artists on the trampoline and trampolett, mat tumbling, pitch and toss and balance acts. The public is invited to attend.

The Senior Boys' Softball team lost a thriller in the last inning to a strong Southeast Lions team 12-5, Sam Schneider, the Schiller speedball pitcher, was the victim of a last inning seven-run rally by the Lions.

In Junior Jet Baseball, a tight race is developing in the American League with the Red Sox and Angels tied for first going into this week's action. The eighth place team in the league is only two games behind the league leaders. The Red Sox are led by Pitcher Elmer Hay, catcher Mark Holt, and a line-up of heavy hitters. The Angels are a well-balanced team featuring Stan Harding, Mel Voll, Dave Sanders, Billy Scanlon, Dave and Pat Skaggs. The Orioles with pitcher Jim Turner and the Athletics with last year's leading hitter Johnnie Schlecht are close behind.

The National League, with all eight and nine-year-old players, is dominated by the Dodgers and Giants, each with undefeated records. Pitchers Joe Dawson of the Giants and Pat Turner of the Dodgers are headed for a showdown battle when they meet this week.

The tennis tournament begins on Monday and is open to all players through 18 years of age. Sign up now with Joe Campbell or Vivian Lloyd.

Deshler . . .

So far this summer 25 boys and girls have passed their physical fitness test and will receive their certificates.

Anyone who has not taken the test should ask a playground leader.

There will be a Sectional Drama Festival here on Friday, July 19, at 6:30 p.m. Fairwood, Karns and Deshler playgrounds will perform 10-minute skits. Everyone is invited and a large attendance would be appreciated. Much work and planning has gone into the program.

All the boys and girls enjoyed the visit of the Traveling Zoo on July 10.

Craft classes are busy preparing for the lantern parade, which will be at Schiller on July 26. They have also made lanyards, bracelets, pot-holders and spatter paint pictures.

Some of the Deshler boys and girls are practicing hard for the tennis tournament. This will start on Monday, July 22.

In Junior Jet action this week the Dodgers downed the Giants 7 - 5. Jim Iacaboni hit a home run and two singles to help the Dodgers to their victory.

The Pirates beat the Colts 8-3. The first place White Sox held on to their lead by squeezing by the Tigers 13-11. Mike Gibson was the hero when he hit a three run homer run in the last inning to give the White Sox the victory. Jim McGrady and Peter Wein hit home runs for the losers.

The second place Orioles got nine runs to overpower the Twins four runs. The Cardinals beat the powerful Mets 12 - 8. The Redlegs beat the Pirates 8-6. The Tigers whipped the Red Sox 13 - 6 on home runs by Petee Wein, Jim McGrady, Gary Sarthet and Steven Blackwell. The hard-hitting Dodgers downed the Braves 12-2. Oliver Bates was a big hitter for the Dodgers. Later in the week the second place Indians squeezed by the first place White Sox 8 - 7. The Orioles clobbered the Angels 11 - 1.

The Colts outlasted the Cardinals 18-11 behind fine hitting by Fred Walker and Scott Rosshirt. The Redlegs beat the league leading Dodgers 14-5. Bobby Knox hit two triples and a single for the Reds.

Mets went seven innings to beat the hard fighting Giants 8-7. The Tigers got eight runs to squeeze by the Yankees 8-7 in extra innings.

Scioto . . .

The Junior Girls' Softball team beat Deshler 20-1. Diana Hughes was again the winning pitcher. Linda Mulholland, Patty Workman and Diana Hughes scored the most hits in the ball game. The Intermediate Boys' Softball team tied Watkins 14-14. Jeff Dodson drove in Gene DeBolt with a home run in the third inning to add spark to the team. The Junior Boys' Softball Golds team was beaten by Heimandale 13-12. Gregg Childers did a fine job of pitching.

All boys and girls are reminded to pick up registration blanks from the playground if they wish to participate in the Junior Olympics, which will be held Saturday, Aug. 3, at Ohio State University.

The boys and girls have been working hard on their lanterns for the Lantern Parade, July 19.

Vicki Sayer has been selected Junior Leader of the Week by the committee.

Quotable Quote: Fishing is a chance to wash one's soul with pure air, with the rush of the brook, or with the shimmer of the sun on the blue water." — Herbert Hoover.

Soul Wash Day

Today was one of those soul washing days for me — two hours alone in a boat in a back channel of the French River, with a minnow-baited hook dangling over the side into some 20 feet of cold water, blue skies and sunshine overhead—cool breezes caused the water to ripple against the rocks, adding a note to the symphony of pleasant sounds from a wide variety of birds along the shore line.

Nature Has Strange Ways

The ways of nature are no different in Ohio than in Northern Ontario.

Back home during strawberry time a little brown bird had made her nest in the thickest part of the patch and we watched her progress up until two eggs had hatched. Then one day I happened along just as a big Blue Jay was dive bombing the area.

I ran to the house to get a small gun, thinking I would merely scare him away. I was too slow and the marauder picked up one of the baby birds. Later that evening we heard a commotion set up by the mother bird and by the time we reached the garden the second bird had been stolen. Next morning the one unhatched egg was gone.

But, with renewed determination, mother and father set about the building of another nest, this time in a nearby raspberry bush. Again three little eggs were laid and again two babies were hatched. While we were picking berries one day old man Blue Jay appeared on the scene and was so brazen as to start his dive bombing with two of us right in the patch as wit-

SPECIAL SECTION TODAY

More people than ever before are enjoying the pride and responsibility of home ownership. Home investment money has become much more plentiful and more young people making plans to buy a house.

Today many home builders and financial institutions now are making it as easy to purchase a home as to rent one, and the future of the building industry looks bright.

In this edition of your Hartley Newspapers you will find two special sections—18 full pages—of ideas, tips and opportunities dedicated to the family who presently owns or is planning to buy their property.

This special edition is printed by a new process designed to give the reader the ultimate in readability and picture detail.

Read it, pass it on to your friends, save it as a handy reference. It's yours, along with best wishes for a happy home from Hartley Newspapers and the many advertisers who made it possible.

DO YOU ENJOY MUD?

TAKE A WADE AT SCHILLER PARK

By JANE ROBINSON

When the City Recreation Commission opened the new wading pool at Schiller Recreation Center this summer, South Side kids let out a collective cheer.

And they are cheering yet.

Most children take to water like ducks (at least as long as it isn't hot or soapy), and the hundreds of South Siders crowding into it day after day indicate the money could not have been better spent if the goal of the Recreation Department was to provide a lot of fun for a lot of people.

No public pool is readily available to boys and girls in the Schiller area, as the only nearby facility is by membership, and these memberships are restricted in number.

But any casual observer can see there is a fly in the ointment, or rather, mud in someone's eye.

In spite of the fact that the pool is filled fresh in the morning, emptied in the afternoon and refilled with clean water, Schiller Park wading pool is a mess.

Soon after the water is changed it takes on a dark brown hue, and anyone playing in it needs a bath afterward.

The mud transported by the pool has created a real problem.

Several of the more fastidious have made no bones about

Play Instead Of Work Planned For Southside

The work of the South Side Cooperative association has won the admiration of the friends and neighbors of its members this spring.

And according to Mrs. Fannie Eisenstein of the South Side Settlement the clean up jobs they have done of blocks at a time has given them a lot of satisfaction.

But it is high time they lay down their paint brushes, mops and brooms and just have an evening of all play and no work.

With this in mind, a community entertainment is planned this Friday from 7 to 9 a.m. It is entertainment for the community, put on by people of the community, and everyone is invited, Mrs. Eisenstein explained.

A platform has been erected behind the Clair Methodist Church and the alley will be roped off.

All kinds of local talent will be present.

Artie Williams, the barber, will play his accordion, and Charles Cook will be there with his saxaphone.

The ballet from St. Stephens will perform, and the choirs of all the local churches will sing. Among the fine soloists present will be Barbara White and Gary Scarver.

Mrs. Eisenstein is urging the people from the area to come on over — she feels that the work that has been done deserves an evening of pure relaxation.

There's nothing to pay — everything is free

City Councilmen Honor Hoermle

Columbus City Councilman William P. Hoermle was commended by fellow councilmen during Monday night's session for having served more than 20 years as a member of the Selective Service Board.

Appointed as a Board member in Oct. 1940, Hoermle has been Board Chairman since Oct. 1948. The Council commendation followed a recent presentation of a service award to Hoermle by Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey.

Frank Rd. Plans Go Nowhere Fast

No one seriously denies that money talks.

The expenditure of $25,000 by Columbus City Council for a preliminary engineering report on the Frank-Refugee-rds project certainly should be sure-fire evidence that the four-lane divided highway is in the offing.

But when this report was made public last winter, hopes arose for immediate action on the east-west traffic artery.

South Siders for years have felt the need of a cross-town thoroughfare in this area, as none exists north of Rt. 665, which is recognized as too far south to fulfill the need.

But progress has come to a dead stop.

It is not a financial problem that has caused the stand still.

With 25 per cent of the city income tax available for capital improvements, the estimated 8.7 million dollars, which would be the city's share of the improvement, is "only a drop in the bucket," according to Councilman William Fornof.

Franklin County costs are estimated at $967,000 of the $9,688,000 total, with only 0.19 mile of the 4.33-mile project falling outside the city.

Currently the proposed road is listed in the city's five-year capital improvement plan.

* * *

This means that the project can get underway this year or in 1968.

While area residents fret and council drags its feet, the bottleneck at S. High-st and Frank-rd, which dead-ends there from the east, continues, and cross-town traffic from the Interstate 71 interchange at Rt. 104 crawls along. The new facility is designed for a speed of 60 miles an hour.

Before this highway improvement can begin to take shape, the plans must be removed from the five-year category and money appropriated for the initial step, that of acquiring right-of-ways.

One of the factors that can lead council to this point is

That's the amount of "Confederate" cash available this week in the Hartley Newspapers' contest which can be won by any paid subscriber.

Twenty "Confederate" ones are also up for grabs this week, along with a five, which can be won by any reader if he follows a few simple rules.

To find the rules and names of last week's winners be sure and look for the "Confederate" Contest story in this edition of your paper. The few minutes it takes could make you a profit of $63 in "Confederate" cash that can be spent just like the real thing at any place of business advertising in your Hartley Newspaper.

No Gain Seen For W. Fornof

Publicity was given last winter to the fact that the plan favored by the reporting engineers veered from the present route of Frank-rd at a point just east of the Scioto Lake area.

It then proceeds toward the south, avoiding the present High-Frank intersection, and crossing under High at Fornof-rd.

An alternate plan was included in the report which called for the new highway to more closely follow the present Frank-rd, with the proposed High-st interchange at the present intersection.

The course of either plan would be identical east from a point between Fifth and Sixth-sts.

The preferred plan, known as Plan One is 0.6 of a mile longer and Councilman William Fornof believes that certain news coverage concerning the proposed route was designed to personally embarass him.

The route of Plan One on Fornof-rd passes near his home, his greenhouses and other property that he owns.

He has taken the stand that it was implied that as a council member he could use his influence to bring the road past his property with hopes of personal gain.

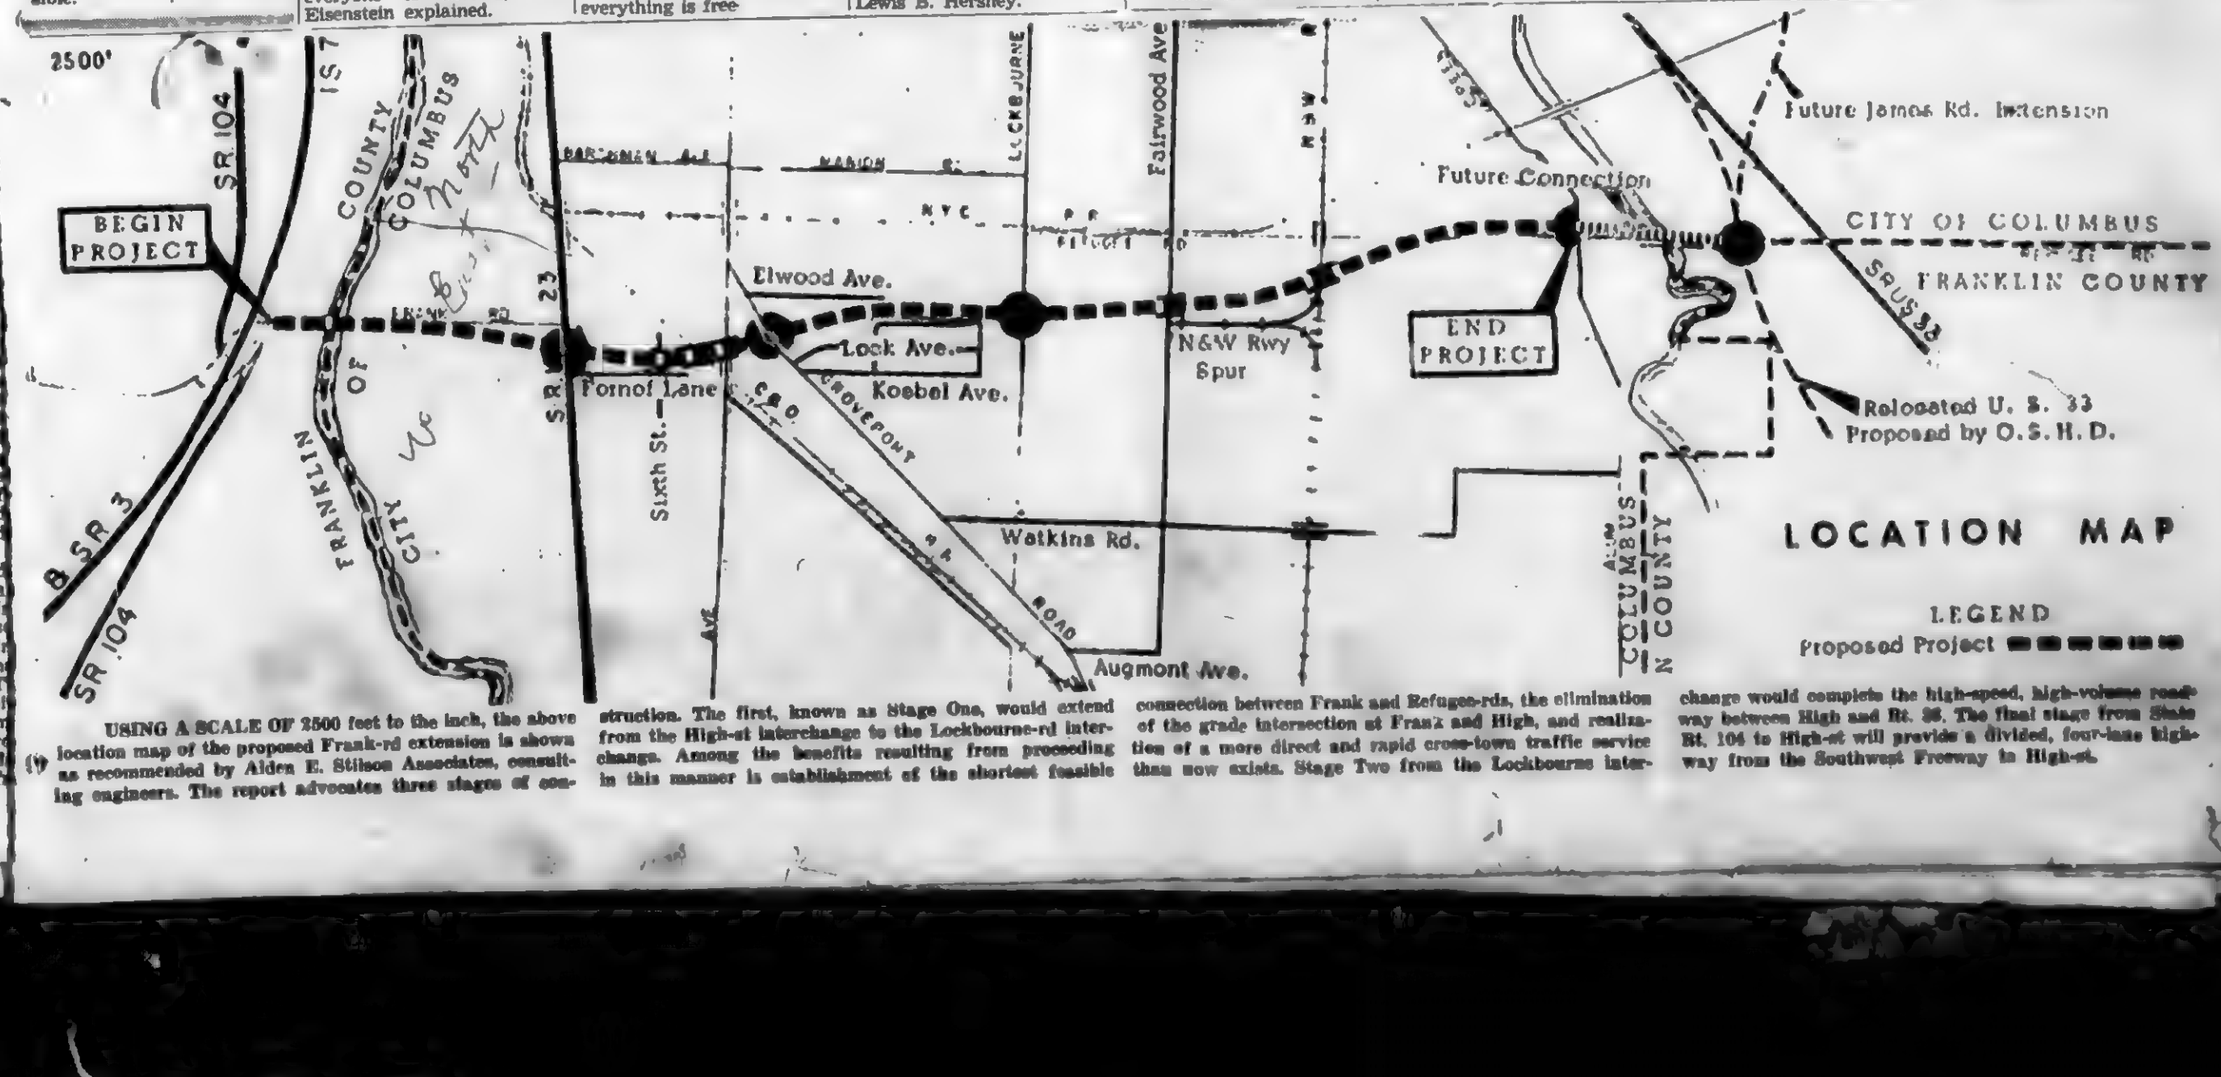
Directly contrary to the erroneous reporting given at that time, among the advantages of Plan One is that $187,000 less cost is estimated by its adoption

The reporter compared the $5,307,000 cost of Stage One of Plan Two from the High-st interchange to the Lockbourne-rd interchange with $9,688,000, which is the estimated cost of the entire project under Plan One.

The project is divided into three segments. The comparable cost of Stage One, which goes from the High-st interchange to the Lockbourne-rd interchange, is $5,120,000, or $187,000 less than Plan Two, as stated above.

Three other advantages to Plan One were set forth in the engineering study.

These included better traffic service at High-st than any interchange feasible with Plan Two, a more satisfactory separation of reverse curvature and a much better expressway alignment between the controls at High-st and the C&O RR crossing.



Except at the west end of

SHE HIKED TO VICTORY

SELECTED TEEN QUEEN of the National Campers and Hikers Association, Dianna Cary, senior at South High this fall, will represented Ohio at the fourth annual convention in Alexandria City, Ala. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Cary, 1377 Kelton-av, Dianna has been in the marching band for three years, and will be a majorette next fall for the second year. Pictured with her are Peggy Rankin of Illinois and Nan Marie Horen of Louisiana. More than 3,000 adult hikers and campers attended the three-day session, accompanied by their families. As Mrs. Cary explained, "Camping and hiking are family activities."

USING A SCALE OF 2500 feet to the inch, the above location map of the proposed Frank-rd extension is shown as recommended by Alden E. Stilson Associates, consulting engineers. The report advocates three stages of construction. The first, known as Stage One, would extend from the High-st interchange to the Lockbourne-rd interchange. Among the benefits resulting from proceeding in this manner is establishment of the shortest feasible connection between Frank and Refugee-rds, the elimination of the grade intersection at Frank and High, and realization of a more direct and rapid cross-town traffic service than now exists. Stage Two from the Lockbourne interchange would complete the high-speed, high-volume roadway between High and Rt. 33. The final stage from State Rt. 104 to High-st will provide a divided, four-lane highway from the Southwest Freeway to High-st.

Drama In Playground Spotlight This Week

Palsgrove and Fairwood playgrounds tied for first place team honors with 91 points each in the Columbus Recreation Department's annual sectional track and field meet at South High School track July 11.

16 CAPTANS READY TO GO

WITH BRAND NEW T-shirts and baseball caps furnished by the Southeast Lions the Junior Jet team members taking part in the South Side playgrounds summer baseball program, the captains and co-captains at Karnes are a sharp looking crew. In the back, from left are Keith Brown, John Dethloff, Jim Lyons, Eddie Harper, Don Caldwell, Charlie Miller and Dave Rings. In the middle row are Mark Schmitt, Steve Hoffman, Gary Peck, Dave Curtis and Don Foraker. Kneeling are Mark Warner, Mark Roshon, Mickey Rings and Marty Schmitt.

Important this week are the tennis tournament, the sectional volleyball tournament at Schiller today and the three drama festivals tomorrow evening at 7:30 p.m.

Fairwood, Karns and Deshler will perform at Deshler; Livingston, Ohio-av, Mohawk, Schiller and Lincoln at Schiller; and Watkins, Smith-rd, Heimandale, Scioto Trail, Southeast Lions and Watkins will appear at Watkins.

Each playground will appear in an original skit or playlet which has been created on the playground. The public is invited.

Following are the playground reports for this week:

Karns . . .

The highlight of Karns' Junior Jet season came Friday, July 13, when the Southeast Lions presented twelve teams and 180 youngsters with baseball shirts and caps.

American League team emblems were given to the five teams in the ten, eleven and twelve-year-old league. Team No. one will be the Indians; Team No. two, the Red Sox; Team No. three, the Twins; Team No. four, the White Sox, and Team No. five the Yankees.

The eight, nine, and ten-year-olds will play under the names of National League teams. Team A will be the Braves; Team B, the Cardinals; Team C, the Dodgers; Team D, the Giants; Team E, the Phillies; Team F, the Pirates and Team G, the Reds.

Play was fast and furious in both leagues with a pitching duel between Jim Lyons and Dave Rings. Rings struck out 15 and allowed but one hit. Lyons whiffed 13. Earlier in the week Kieth Brown set down 15 on strikes. Also, the fielding of Jerry Bryant and the hitting of Dave Obertung were noteworthy.

Karns Playground is now holding tryouts and practices for their short production, "Melissa Comes To Whodunkit." The play will be presented Friday, July 19, 6:30 p.m., at Deshler Playground. Everyone is invited to attend.

Schiller . . .

"Creeping, crawling creatures" is the theme on which this year's Lantern Parade is being planned for the children of Schiller Park Playground. Miss Pam Argus, the arts and crafts instructor at Schiller, is working to make this the biggest and most beautiful Lantern Parade ever held. All children who would like to enter the parade are urged to come to the arts and crafts sessions which are held every day from 1:30 to 3:30.

"Schiller Gymnasts Go Circus," a three-ring performance to be given by the state championship gymnastic team, will be a feature performance of the South Side Drama Festival tomorrow night on the Schiller bandstand. Also on display will be young artists on the trampoline and trampolett, mat tumbling, pitch and toss and balance acts. The public is invited to attend.

The Senior Boys' Softball team lost a thriller in the last inning to a strong Southeast Lions team 12-5. Sam Schneider, the Schiller speedball pitcher, was the victim of a last inning seven-run rally by the Lions.

In Junior Jet Baseball, a tight race is developing in the American League with the Red Sox and Angels tied for first going into this week's action. The eighth place team in the league is only two games behind the league leaders. The Red Sox are led by Pitcher Elmer Hay, catcher Mark Holt, and a line-up of heavy hitters. The Angels are a well-balanced team featuring Stan Harding, Mel Voll, Dave Sanders, Billy Scanlon, Dave and Pat Skaggs. The Orioles with pitcher Jim Turner and the Athletics with last year's leading hitter Johnnie Schlecht are close behind.

The National League, with all eight and nine-year-old players, is dominated by the Dodgers and Giants, each with undefeated records. Pitchers Joe Dawson of the Giants and Pat Turner of the Dodgers are headed for a showdown battle when they meet this week.

The tennis tournament begins on Monday and is open to all players through 18 years of age. Sign up now with Joe Campbell or Vivian Lloyd.

Deshler . . .

So far this summer 25 boys and girls have passed their physical fitness test and will receive their certificates.

Anyone who has not taken the test should ask a playground leader.

There will be a Sectional Drama Festival here on Friday, July 19, at 6:30 p.m. Fairwood, Karns and Deshler playgrounds will perform 10-minute skits. Everyone is invited and a large attendance would be appreciated. Much work and planning has gone into the program.

All the boys and girls enjoyed the visit of the Traveling Zoo on July 10.

Craft classes are busy preparing for the lantern parade, which will be at Schiller on July 26. They have also made lanyards, bracelets, pot-holders and spatter paint pictures.

Some of the Deshler boys and girls are practicing hard for the tennis tournament. This will start on Monday, July 22.

In Junior Jet action this week the Dodgers downed the Giants 7 - 5. Jim Iacaboni hit a home run and two singles to help the Dodgers to their victory.

The Pirates beat the Colts 8-3. The first place White Sox held on to their lead by squeezing by the Tigers 13-11. Mike Gibson was the hero when he hit a three run home run in the last inning to give the White Sox the victory. Jim McGrady and Peter Wein hit home runs for the losers.

The second place Orioles got nine runs to overpower the Twins four runs. The Cardinals beat the powerful Mets 12 - 8. The Redlegs beat the Pirates 8-6. The Tigers whipped the Red Sox 13 - 6 on home runs by Petee Wein, Jim McGrady, Gary Sarthet and Steven Blackwell. The hard-hitting Dodgers downed the Braves 12-2. Oliver Bates was a big hitter for the Dodgers. Later in the week the second place Indians squeezed by the first place White Sox 8 - 7. The Orioles clobbered the Angels 11 - 1.

The Colts outlasted the Cardinals 18-11 behind fine hitting by Fred Walker and Scott Rosshirt. The Redlegs beat the league leading Dodgers 14-5. Bobby Knox hit two triples and a single for the Reds.

Mets went seven innings to beat the hard fighting Giants 8-7. The Tigers got eight runs to squeeze by the Yankees 8-7 in extra innings.

Scioto . . .

The Junior Girls' Softball team beat Deshler 20-1. Diana Hughes was again the winning pitcher. Linda Mulholland, Patty Workman and Diana Hughes scored the most hits in the ball game. The Intermediate Boys' Softball team tied Watkins 14-14. Jeff Dodson drove in Gene DeBolt with a home run in the third inning to add spark to the team. The Junior Boys' Softball Golds team was beaten by Heimandale 13-12. Gregg Childers did a fine job of pitching.

All boys and girls are reminded to pick up registration blanks from the playground if they wish to participate in the Junior Olympics, which will be held Saturday, Aug. 3, at Ohio State University.

The boys and girls have been working hard on their lanterns for the Lantern Parade, July 19.

Vicki Sayer has been selected Junior Leader of the Week by the committee.

Quotable Quote: Fishing is a chance to wash one's soul with pure air, with the rush of the brook, or with the shimmer of the sun on the blue water." — Herbert Hoover.

Soul Wash Day

Today was one of those soul washing days for me — two hours alone in a boat in a back channel of the French River, with a minnow-baited hook dangling over the side into some 20 feet of cold water, blue skies and sunshine overhead—cool breezes caused the water to ripple against the rocks, adding a note to the symphony of pleasant sounds from a wide variety of birds along the shore line.

Nature Has Strange Ways

The ways of nature are no different in Ohio than in Northern Ontario.

Back home during strawberry time a little brown bird had made her nest in the thickest part of the patch and we watched her progress up until two eggs had hatched. Then one day I happened along just as a big Blue Jay was dive bombing the area.

I ran to the house to get a small gun, thinking I would merely scare him away. I was too slow and the marauder picked up one of the baby birds. Later that evening we heard a commotion set up by the mother bird and by the time we reached the garden the second bird had been stolen. Next morning the one unhatched egg was gone.

But, with renewed determination, mother and father set about the building of another nest, this time in a nearby raspberry bush. Again three little eggs were laid and again two babies were hatched. While we were picking berries one day old man Blue Jay appeared on the scene and was so brazen as to start his dive bombing with two of us right in the patch as wit-

DO YOU ENJOY MUD?

TAKE A WADE AT SCHILLER PARK

By JANE ROBINSON

When the City Recreation Commission opened the new wading pool at Schiller Recreation Center this summer, South Side kids let out a collective cheer.

And they are cheering yet.

Most children take to water like ducks (at least as long as it isn't hot or soapy), and the hundreds of South Siders crowding into it day after day indicate the money could not have been better spent if the goal of the Recreation Department was to provide a lot of fun for a lot of people.

No public pool is readily available to boys and girls in the Schiller area, as the only nearby facility is by membership, and these memberships are restricted in number.

But any casual observer can see there is a fly in the ointment, or rather, mud in someone's eye.

In spite of the fact that the pool is filled fresh in the morning, emptied in the afternoon and refilled with clean water, Schiller Park wading pool is a mess.

Soon after the water is changed it takes on a dark brown hue, and anyone playing in it needs a bath afterward.

The mud tr[illegible]pson[illegible] the pool has created a real problem.

Frank Rd. Plans Go Nowhere Fast

No one seriously denies that money talks.

The expenditure of $25,000 by Columbus City Council for a preliminary engineering report on the Frank-Refugee-rds project certainly should be sure-fire evidence that the four-lane divided highway is in the offing.

But when this report was made public last winter, hopes arose for immediate action on the east-west traffic artery.

South Siders for years have felt the need of a cross-town thoroughfare in this area, as none exists north of Rt. 665, which is recognized as too far south to fulfill the need.

But progress has come to a dead stop.

It is not a financial problem that has caused the stand still.

With 25 per cent of the city income tax available for capital improvements, the estimated 8.7 million dollars, which would be the city's share of the improvement, is "only a drop in the bucket," according to Councilman William Fornof.

Franklin County costs are estimated at $967,000 of the $9,688,000 total, with only 0.19 mile of the 4.33-mile project falling outside the city.

Currently the proposed road is listed in the city's five-year capital improvement plan.

* * *

This means that the project can get underway this year or in 1968.

While area residents fret and council drags its feet, the bottleneck at S. High-st and Frank-rd, which dead-ends there from the east, continues, and cross-town traffic from the Interstate 71 interchange at Rt. 104 crawls along. The new facility is designed for a speed of 60 miles an hour.

Before this highway improvement can begin to take shape, the plans must be removed from the five-year category and money appropriated for the initial step, that of acquiring right-of-ways.

One of the factors that can lead council to this point is

$63

That's the amount of "Confederate" cash available this week in the Hartley Newspapers' contest which can be won by any paid subscriber.

Twenty "Confederate" ones are also up for grabs this week, along with a five, which can be won by any reader if he follows a few simple rules.

To find the rules and names of last week's winners be sure and look for the "Confederate" Contest story in this edition of your paper. The few minutes it takes could make you a profit of $63 in "Confederate" cash that can be spent just like the real thing at any place of business advertising in your Hartley Newspaper.

No Gain Seen For W. Fornof

Publicity was given last winter to the fact that the plan favored by the reporting engineers veered from the present route of Frank-rd at a point just east of the Scioto Lake area.

It then proceeds toward the south, avoiding the present High-Frank intersection, and crossing under High at Fornof-rd.

An alternate plan was included in the report which called for the new highway to more closely follow the present Frank-rd, with the proposed High-st interchange at the present intersection.

The course of either plan would be identical east from a point between Fifth and Sixth-sts.

The preferred plan, known as Plan One is 0.6 of a mile longer and Councilman William Fornof believes that certain news coverage concerning the proposed route was designed to personally embarass him.

The route of Plan One on Fornof-rd passes near his home, his greenhouses and other property that he owns.

He has taken the stand that it was implied that as a council member he could use his influence to bring the road past his property with hopes of personal gain.

Directly contrary to the erroneous reporting given at that time, among the advantages of Plan One is that $187,000 less cost is estimated by its adoption

The reporter compared the $5,307,000 cost of Stage One of Plan Two from the High-st interchange to the Lockbourne-rd interchange with $9,688,000, which is the estimated cost of the entire project under Plan One.

The project is divided into three segments. The comparable cost of Stage One, which goes from the High-st interchange to the Lockbourne-rd interchange, is $5,120,000, or $187,000 less than Plan Two, as stated above.

Three other advantages to Plan One were set forth in the engineering study.

These included better traffic service at High-st than any interchange feasible with Plan Two, a more satisfactory separation of reverse curvature and a much better expressway alignment between the controls at High-st and the C&O RR crossing.

SPECIAL SECTION TODAY

More people than ever before are enjoying the pride and responsibility of home ownership. Home investment money has become much more plentiful and more young people making plans to buy a house.

Today many home builders and financial institutions now are making it as easy to purchase a home as to rent one, and the future of the building industry looks bright.

In this edition of your Hartley Newspapers you will find two special sections—18 full pages—of ideas, tips and opportunities dedicated to the family who presently owns or is planning to buy their property.

This special edition is printed by a new process designed to give the reader the ultimate in readability and picture detail.

Read it, pass it on to your friends, save it as a handy reference. It's yours, along with best wishes for a happy home from Hartley Newspapers and the many advertisers who made it possible.

Play Instead Of Work Planned For Southside

The work of the South Side Cooperative association has won the admiration of the friends and neighbors of its members this spring.

And according to Mrs. Fannie Eisenstein of the South Side Settlement the clean up jobs they have done of blocks at a time has given them a lot of satisfaction.

But it is high time they lay down their paint brushes, mops and brooms and just have an evening of all play and no work.

With this in mind, a community entertainment is planned this Friday from 7 to 9 a.m. It is entertainment for the community, put on by people of the community, and everyone is invited, Mrs. Eisenstein explained.

A platform has been erected behind the Clair Methodist Church and the alley will be roped off.

All kinds of local talent will be present.

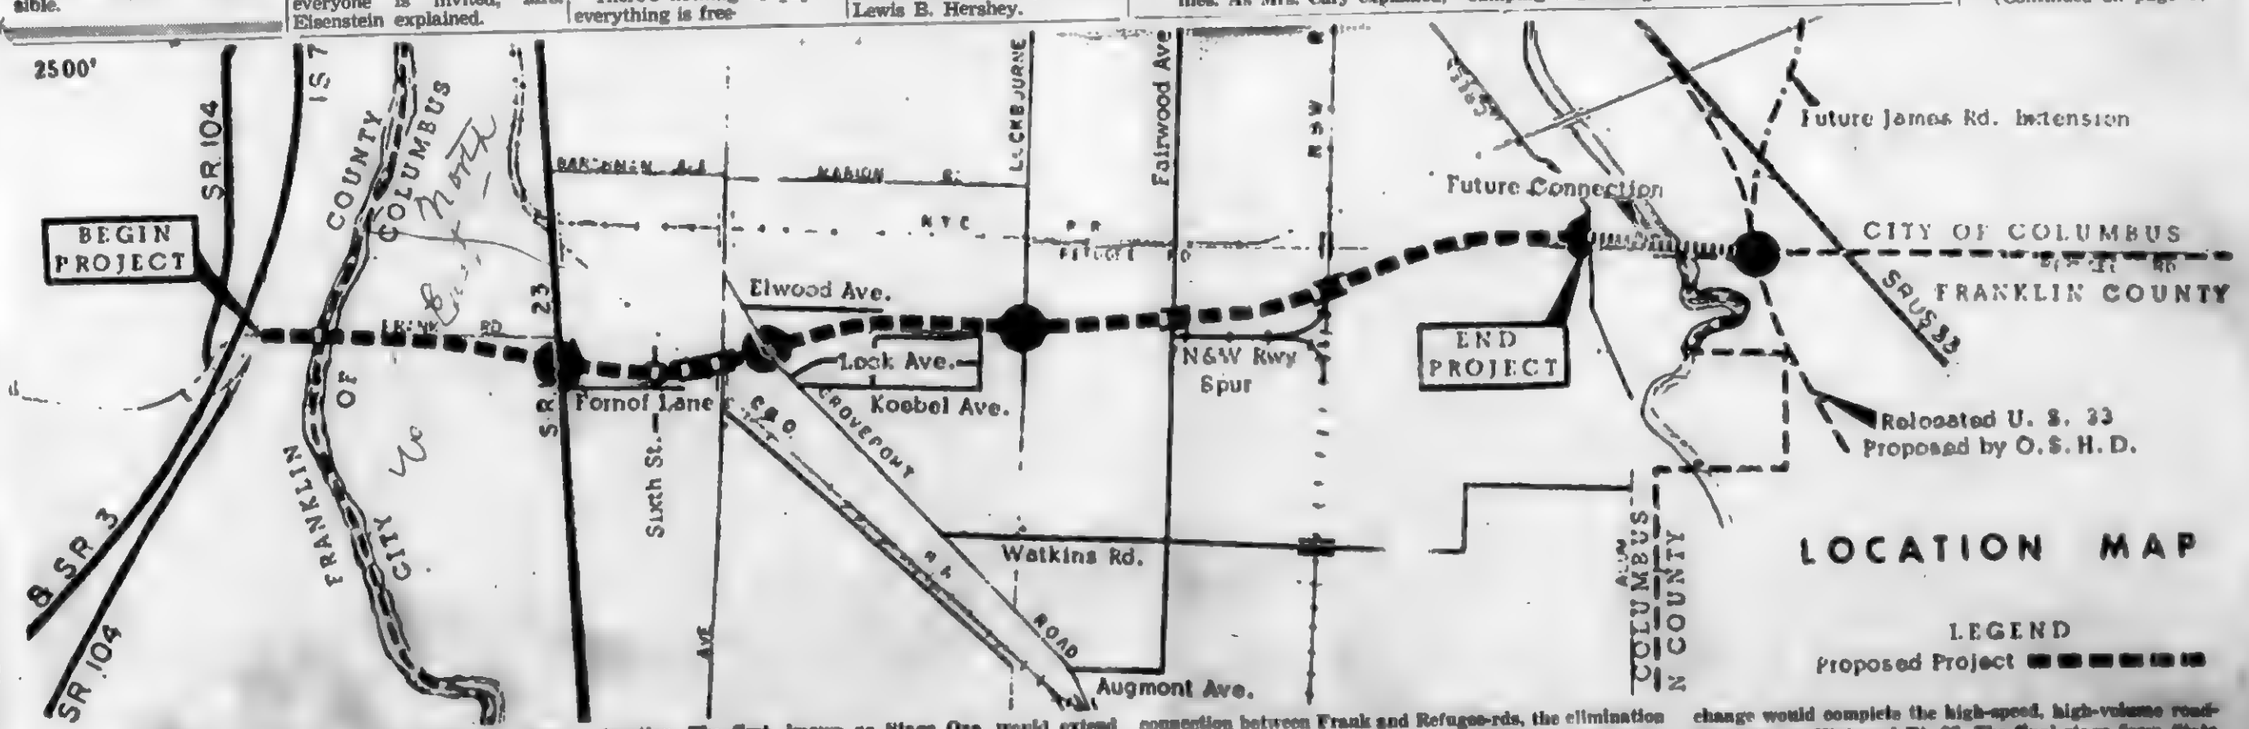
Artie Williams, the barber, will play his accordion, and Charles Cook will be there with his saxaphone.

The ballet from St. Stephens will perform, and the choirs of all the local churches will sing. Among the fine soloists present will be Barbara White and Gary Scarver.

Mrs. Eisenstein is urging the people from the area to come on over — she feels that the work that has been done deserves an evening of pure relaxation.

There's nothing to pay — everything is free.

City Councilmen Honor Hoermle



Columbus City Councilman William P. Hoermle was commended by fellow councilmen during Monday night's session for having served more than 20 years as a member of the Selective Service Board.

Appointed as a Board member in Oct. 1940, Hoermle has been Board Chairman since Oct. 1948. The Council commendation followed a recent presentation of a service award to Hoermle by Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey.

SHE HIKED TO VICTORY

SELECTED TEEN QUEEN of the National Campers and Hikers Association, Dianna Cary, senior at South High this fall, well represented Ohio at the fourth annual convention in Alexandria City, Ala. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Cary, 1377 Kelton-av, Dianna has been in the marching band for three years, and will be a majorette next fall for the second year. Pictured with her are Peggy Rankin of Illinois and Nan Marie Horen of Louisiana. More than 3,000 adult hikers and campers attended the three-day session, accompanied by their families. As Mrs. Cary explained, "Camping and hiking are family activities."

USING A SCALE OF 2500 feet to the inch, the above location map of the proposed Frank-rd extension is shown as recommended by Alden E. Stilson Associates, consulting engineers. The report advocates three stages of construction. The first, known as Stage One, would extend from the High-st interchange to the Lockbourne-rd interchange. Among the benefits resulting from proceeding in this manner is establishment of the shortest feasible connection between Frank and Refugee-rds, the elimination of the grade intersection at Frank and High, and realization of a more direct and rapid cross-town traffic service than now exists. Stage Two from the Lockbourne interchange would complete the high-speed, high-volume roadway between High and Rt. 33. The final stage from State Rt. 104 to High-st will provide a divided, four-lane highway from the Southwest Freeway to High-st.

Canal Winchester Man and Oregon Girl Will Exchange Marriage Vows Aug. 24

MISS DEANNA BOGGS

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Boggs, Medford, Ore., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Deanna Louise, to Mr. Thomas Gates Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren J. Moore of Canal Winchester.

The wedding will take place Aug. 24, at the United Brethren Church in Canal Winchester.

University Students Repeat Nuptials July 6, At Canal Winchester Church

Canal Winchester Methodist Church was the scene of the ceremony that united Miss Cheryl Tedrow, daughter of Mrs. John Francis Tedrow, Canal Winchester and the late Mr. Tedrow, and Mr. Gerald Michael Galloway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren C. Galloway, 80 S. Algonquin-av.

Rev. Victor Schroeder read the July 6 vows.

Mr. Don Paul McCauley, brother-in-law of the bride, escorted her to the altar. The bride chose for her wedding a gown of taffeta peau and Alencon lace over taffeta, designed with a molded bodice and a bouffant skirt ending in a chapel train.

Her matching pillbox was draped with a bouffant veil of illusion. Her bouquet consisted of white roses accented with salal leaves and baby' breath.

Mrs. Dan Paul McCauley, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Miss Eve Fernengel, Miss Carolyn Wright, Mrs. Loren C. Galloway, Jr., and Miss Jaye Slaughter, served as bridesmaids. They wore summer yellow satapeau sheath dresses with full overskirts and carried bouquets of yellow and white dasies.

Mr. Loren C. Galloway, Jr., served as best man. Ushers were: Mr. Garv Fullerton, Mr. William Fornshell, Mr. Fred Bollerer and Mr. Russ Fogle.

A reception was held at the church following the ceremony.

The new Mrs. Galloway attended Ohio University, where she was affiliated with Pi Beta Phi Sorority, and Ohio State University. She is employed by F. and R. Lazarus Co.

Mr. Galloway was graduated from Ohio University, where he was a member of Beta Theta Pi Fraternity.

He is continuing his studies at Ohio State Uniuversity in the College of Education.

The couple is residing at 62 E. Woodruff-av.

MRS. GERALD M. GALLOWAY

Cancer Films Will Provide Public With Enlightenment

American Cancer Society announced that it is accepting film showing and speaker engagements from clubs and organizations for the 1963 fall season.

The film showings are part of the American Cancer Society's life saving cancer prevention program through public education.

Dr. Wesley Furste, unit public education committee member stated, "We can cure an estimated one-half of the cancers by finding them soon enough and by doing for them what we already know how to do. If someone invented a drug that would cure half the present cases of cancer the excitement would be beyond belief. We have such a thing. It is communication. A vital part of this communication is these life saving film showings."

The non-technical films are designed to be completely understandable by the general public. Almost all of them are in full color to enhance audience interest in their message. There is no cost to the club or organization for the film showings.

When an audience is expected to exceed 40 persons the society will make every effort to have a physician on hand to answer any questions that the members may pose. Most of the films are of about 15 minutes duration.

Reservations can be made by contacting the Franklin County Unit of the American Cancer Society, 2300 W Mound-st, 276-5134.

BOARD MEMBER RESIGNS POST

Mrs. Chester Jones, 1282 Woodnell-av, submitted her resignation as a board member at the July 17 board of directors meeting of the League of Women Voters.

In keeping with the league's policy that board members do not seek or hold public office during their term, Mrs. Jones leaves her position as bulletin editor to run for election to the Columbus Board of Education in November.

She had formerly served as chairman of the local league's recent sudy of higher education of Ohio.

Eternal Vigil...

Salt air, the beating of heavy waves, and rains... these are just a few of the elements that a ship must face constantly. With all of these things, it is little wonder that the crew must be alert, looking for rust and other damage. New paint to protect the ship must be applied regularly.

An individual faces many things in this world, that would rust and corrupt his life, therefore it is good to begin each week with a renewing of spirit, that can be obtained only through worship in the Lord's house.

Recreation Is Vital Thing

Summer recreation programs in Columbus and surrounding communities serve a much higher purpose than the term "recreation" would imply.

A statement of objectives from the Columbus Recreation Department defines its program as an effort "to provide wholesome opportunities for creative use of one's leisure time, for socializing experiences, for the development of good recreational habits and attitudes, and for the learning of skills which will carry across the entire life span."

The emphasis on sports is aimed at developing physical fitness, "which will prove to be one of the most important assets of the individual and society."

The Columbus program includes 81 supervised playgrounds, 15 year-round recreation centers, 37 tennis courts, 23 baseball and 92 softball diamonds, Raymond Memorial Golf Course, Indian Village Camp, and Maryland Park Swimming Pool. Program leadership is provided by university-trained staff members.

Advancement of the 1963 Columbus recreation program includes: Construction of the year-round recreation center at Westgate Park; hard-surfacing of tennis courts at Franklin and Westgate parks; completion of plans for a year-round recreation center in Lincoln Park and North Linden area; and acquisition of land for a new recreation center on the far East Side of the city. Many other improvements and modernizations will be accomplished.

Similar recreation programs are provided by most communities in the Greater Columbus area.

The importance of healthy, progressive recreation programs for all communities cannot be minimized. These programs serve as the "ounce of prevention" for an untold number of youngsters who might otherwise become the victims of too much free time without constructive guidance.

Those who have chosen to work in the field of recreation have compiled an enviable record of faithfulness to one of the highest public trusts — the development of young bodies and minds.

Success of area recreation programs, however, is due in no small part to a general public attitude of interest, participation and appreciation. Our hats are off to the professionals and volunteers in recreation activities, and to the public at large for a job being done well.

Home Ownership Creates Stability

Considering the general healthy condition of the nation's economy, and particularly that of Central Ohio, it would appear from a money standpoint that now is an ideal time to pick out a home.

The purchase of a home is, for the vast majority, the greatest single investment in a lifetime. But the rewards of home ownership far outweigh the material factors involved.

We can readily associate with home ownership such terms as stability, maturity, roots, security and achievement. It is true that these attributes are not necessarily inherent with ownership of a home, nor unattainable by those who rent. But, generally speaking, the home owner is the backbone of the community.

He represents a direct source of revenue through local government taxation. His potential for permanency within the community makes for a sharper awareness of neighborhood and community needs.

In short, the home owner, by virtue of his direct material investment, is more likely to participate in the task of advancing enlightened social progress and responsible government. And, he will find the task more rewarding than arduous.

The climate for home ownership is excellent. A survey of local finance institutions shows that home buyers in 1963 will have a plentiful supply of features available to them at moderate rates.

Today's editions of Hartley Newspapers include two "Homes of Tomorrow" sections. Local developers and builders have been active in the past several months in the featuring of a wide array of designs and arrangements in new homes of every price range to suit every family's needs. Many of these are advertised and shown in today's special sections.

We are in an unprecedented era of availability and variety in the area of labor savers and general home comforts. These features, available in new homes and through remodeling programs, come at a cost greatly reduced from costs when the items first made their appearance on the market.

Home location is less a problem than it was in the past. New communities have opened up. Some of them are along the line of the genuine "suburbia" in outlying areas, possibly near your present neighbors.

Home builders for the most part have endeavored to anticipate family needs such as accessibility to shops, schools, churches, transportation and recreational facilities.

Home ownership is an achievement with many beneficial side effects. An employer equates home ownership with maturity and permanence. The community looks to the home owner for stability and progress.

But home ownership reserves to the immediate family the greatest beneficial effects. It is security to the wife and mother, pride of accomplishment for the husband and father, and a solid foundation for preparing children (by example) to meet the more important responsibilities of life.

No greater satisfaction can come to a family than in the knowledge that "This is our Home."

"Don't Just Sit There—Participate!"

Guest Pulpit . . .
Family, Not Laws, Will Set Course For Youth

Family worship is the strongest weapon against indifference among juveniles toward God and their responsibilities to their fellow men.

In this age of expediency, many would rather see a good example than be one. In a competitive world, setting a good example is not always convenient or advantageous. Thus, bad examples flourish. Rudeness is excused as haste. Lying and hypocrisy are masqueraded as diplomacy. Tough talk proves manhood and as for cheating at school, well, "everybody does it."

Mr. Crites

Deteriorating morals have been described under the heading of a psychological safety valve, and there is a lack of emphasis placed upon Christian principles. It has been said, "You may not be totally worthless — you could serve as a bad example."

The purpose for setting a good example is for others to copy. Dr. Angelo Patri, in his book "How to Help Your Child Grow Up," said: "Parents have to discipline themselves, make good models, set good patterns for children. You cannot teach religion to a child unless you possess it in your mind and soul and practice it while you live out your days.

"If you have not kept faith with your religion, it is idle for you to send your child for religious instruction. What you are, he knows; what you do, he registers as his pattern. Would you lead your children in the love of God? Love Him and do His will and they will go along with you. What you would be, express in your daily example."

Family worship is more than taking your children to church—or worse, sending them. It is a matter of each family member understanding and appreciating a proper relationship with God and how it can be maintained.

Good discipline is teaching a child what is expected of him. Children need a clear-cut, unconfused picture of the rules you expect them to keep. It is necessary that these rules have a strong foundation, such as the Bible.

Stronger laws and tougher enforcement are not the answer to juvenile delinquency. Delinquency is the result of the breakdown in morals among adults. Look at the changing views the world has adopted on moral values.

Strong discipline, based on mutual love and respect, harmonizes with the Bible where it states in Proverbs 22:6: "Train up a boy according to the way for him; even when he grows old he will not turn aside from it."

Frosting On The Cake

By
"UNCLE DOC" ROSS — U.S.A.

In memoriam to a great lady who left this life three years ago this month at age 94: Our nationally known and most beloved Mother Anna Andrus, who joined our faculty at Capitol College in the fall of 1946 when she was 80.

This gifted and brilliant musical artist was born a queen. She remained a queen in mind and spirit until the last day of her life. For 10 years she taught piano for us and made her last concert tour all over Ohio at age 82, filling 46 engagements in 54 days on the road. She was the life of the party after every concert appearance.

Once, shortly after the start of this final tour, a car door banged her ankle badly. She never missed a performance—just got some local physician to tape it up and the next night she was on stage and with no limp and no pain. They just don't make 'em like that any more."

Twice a year for 10 years, she played all the accompaniments for our student recitals, and afterwards, sat like the artist she was in her big queen's chair, presented to her by the late "Uncle Fred" Hertel, back in 1947.

I shall remember for the rest of my life the last recital in March, 1956. She was losing her sight, but still could memorize any piece instantly after hearing it once and played it with never a wrong note.

When one has known such a great person as I did, and knew that she loved me like a son, that association is really "frosting on the cake." She was witty, patient, gracious.

Such great souls never die; they just go on to some greater and everlasting glory.

Crushed By Bike Theft

To the Editor:

It was only a bicycle. But it was his first bicycle. He is 12 years old. He worked, saved, denied himself many pleasures in order to buy his very own bicycle.

But the bicycle is gone now. When he awoke this morning it was gone. His new bicycle had been stolen. It was a real beauty — black, lightweight, three-speed shift.

The thief picked it up, lock and all. "Why would anyone want MY bike?" he asked, bravely trying to hold back the tears.

I tried to reason with him that some people steal bikes in front of a minister's house the same as other people's. He wanted to disbelieve but the evidence was too great. His prized bicycle was gone.

"I wish people wouldn't steal bicycles," he said. "Yes, that would be fine," I said.

If you know someone who "found" a bicycle, why not try to persuade him to take it back to its owner. It would make a boy mighty happy.

Boosts Little Leagues

To the Editor:

Kindly permit me to suggest an addition to the sports section of your newspaper.

Little League baseball teams in the West area should be included in your news. Much enthusiasm and good sportsmanship can be stressed, and the lesson of racial equality can be well served through this kind of news. The children (and parents) participating in these games will find even greater interest in doing their best as the news of their exploits become public.

We all know the devil finds plenty of mischief for idle hands, so let's help our young children to find interest in good sportsmanship — instead of forming gangs bent on deviltry.

Thank you for the West Side News. You have many interesting editorials which make sense, and I enjoy reading them.

Mrs. B. M. Thompson
70 N. Central-av

Ed. Note — We make every effort to obtain news of the many Little Leagues in areas covered by our seven newspapers. The organizations are complex, however, and we must depend on cooperative parents and officials to supply us with the news before sports deadlines on Monday.

An Editor's Outlook . . . by Jenkin Lloyd Jones

Fast Bucks 'Fever' Could Poison Us

A couple of weeks ago Life magazine told the story of the Montgomery, Ala., man who had $43,000 dropped in his lap through a bank error. The citizen, whose real balance was $342, took the $43,000 in cash, disappeared for an afternoon, and when harrassed bankers and police caught up with him blandly announced that he couldn't remember what he had done with the money.

Jones

So far this was amusing. But much less amusing was the decision of the Alabama Court of Appeals which turned the windfall-receiver loose on the grounds that there was no evidence he intended to commit a crime. If this decision holds, heaven help all businesses with non-infallible electronic check writers.

Life captioned the story "Boo-boo at the Bank," and it showed a picture of the happy citizen emerging from jail with a smirk. "He has become," said Life, "a sort of folk hero in Montgomery."

Well, perhaps that's the big trouble. For no boo-boo by a bank can compare to the boo-boo committed by a people who lose their sense of smell. And the jolly jape of the citizen in Montgomery smells.

A little over a year ago a handy-man in Los Angeles came across a bundle of negotiable bonds worth many thousands. He called the police, turned in his find, and pocketed a modest reward.

Nice little story? Worthy of a bit of applause? That's what YOU think. His phone rang for days with calls from angry Angelenos: "You stupid square—," "You idotic creep—."

Personal bankruptcies in America rose from 28,331 in 1952 to 135,125 in 1962. Was business worse? Were people poorer? On the contrary. But a lot of them discovered a gimmick. If you were in the deep the smart thing was to go in way over your head. Stretch your credit to the limit. Buy four or five thousand bucks worth of stuff in a hurry. Then get yourself declared bankrupt and laugh at the suckers who trusted you.

If we have a lot of citizens trying to weasel out of their solemn promises and their just obligations, maybe they are only imitating Uncle. While the U.S. Government urges citizens both as a patriotic duty and a wise investment to purchase U.S. Savings Bonds, it persists in inflationary debt accumulations that will cheapen the value of the dollar. Uncle Sam took in good dollars and paid out half-baloney dollars, and now he is taking in half-baloney dollars and will pay out, unless present policies are changed, all-baloney dollars.

This is legal, just as the coup of the gentleman in Montgomery has been declared legal. And it is just about as honest.

It is true that America never passed through what might be termed a "Golden Age of Honesty." Many of our Revolutionary heroes were outrageous land speculators. We went through the Indian-cheating era and the Civil War supply-swindles and the watered railroad stocks and the patent medicine hoaxes, and there may have been more crooked congressmen and more purchasable state legislators 80 years ago than you can find now.

But we hadn't lost our sense of smell. There were always plenty of people trying to throw the rascals out, even though they wound up just voting new rascals in. The preachers thundered and the editorialists moralized, and gradually the girls quit rapping on the Front-st windows and the soothing syrup manufacturers had to take out the poisonous opiates and land swindling became risky and packers were forced to quit hiding rotten meat in spiced sausages. The capacity for righteous indignation kept our seething society on the rails in spite of feverish wealth-seeking by a largely-immigrant population pouring into empty lands.

It would be a gross error to underrate the innate honesty of the American people today. A nation of cheats couldn't support a credit-card civilization. The sly and the devious don't produce the proper climate for charge accounts and money-back guarantees.

For, morals aside, America has discovered what many of the eastern and Latin nations have yet to learn, and that is that crooked business is poor business. The light-hearted cheating in the caravanserai and the caveat emptor of the South American market place invoke the demons of low volume, distrust and poor living. If you want a roaring economy, you've got to hold the swindlers down.

That's why nothing was done for America by the geese who thought Al Capone was a celebrity, or by the Hollywood luminaries who like to get themselves photographed with known gangsters, or by the loyal disc jockey fans who rally to their payola-laden heroes, or by those labor leaders, made ruthless by raw power, who protect the racketeers within their ranks.

To survive, this country needs to keep alight the fires of righteous indignation. Our self-preservation demands that we applaud the squares and raise hell with the sly and the slick. More dangerous than Khrushchev's frown was the grin of the gentleman in Montgomery who bounded happily out of jail into the arms of his admirers.

MEN OF PRAYER

Some fly the skies, some sail the seas,
Some probe earth's rocks and soil,
But most of all, men walk the earth
And share its common toil.
With heart and hand and mind and soul,
In shop and desk and field,
They labor in a common cause
To reap earth's gracious yield.
And yet, a few illumined souls,
Earth's saints by special grace,
By never-ending, humble prayer,
Have seen God's mirrored face.
They share a vision of an earth
To Heaven reconciled,
And men, like angels, timelessly
Redeemed and undefiled.

Most of us, by necessity, some by choice, are busy doing the things that have to be done, an almost infinite variety of tasks. There are more specialized occupations than ever before. More time and effort must be spent by the young to gain the knowledge and skills they will need to find their places and opportunities in a society more complex and competitive than ever before. They have little time left for learning and thinking about things beyond the immediate necessities.

Yet, there are a few, as always, who have a vision of things beyond the necessary routines that most of us must follow. Sometimes, perhaps too often, we are inclined to think of them as impractical, visionary dreamers. But are they? Think about it.

It says here. . . .

A whole person needs food for body, mind and spirit.

New Apple Crop Estimates Point To Decline

By ESTELLE B. FRANKS

Fruits — Peaches, plums, seedless grapes, summer apples, melons.

Vegetables — Sweet corn, green beans, cabbage, potatoes, peppers, squash.

Meats and Poultry — Fryers, turkeys, hams and picnics, ground beef, chucks and rounds of beef, medium eggs.

Other — Canned tuna, frozen fish, ice cream.

The first estimates of the new apple crop have been released by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and the forecast is that apple production in the commercial growing areas of the U.S. will be seven per cent less than last year and four per cent less than 1957-61 average.

Mrs. Franks

Of the five leading apple states—Washington, New York, Michigan, Virginia and California — which normally account for about 62 per cent of total production—only Washington has prospects for a larger crop than last year (up to 23.8 per cent).

In Ohio, the prospects now are for 40 per cent fewer apples than last year, largely as a result of the freeze in late May. Frosts also contributed to an unusually heavy June drop. Expect many of the early summer apples to be smaller than usual, due to the dry weather in June and July.

Summer varieties available now include Yellow Transparent, Lodi, Williams Red, Dutchess and Wealthy. From now until mid-August is the best time to enjoy these summer apples; most of them are better for cooking than eating raw. And, good cooks agree they are best for cooking before they get too ripe, a little too firm to eat raw.

Local Vegetables

Harvest of mid-summer varieties of sweet corn will start next week in local fields. Luckily, much acreage devoted to this crop is under irrigation, so the ears are well-filled and the kernels tender and sweet.

In general, local vegetable supplies are less abundant than normal for the season because needed rains did not come at the right time. Field-grown tomatoes are still on the scarce side and many of them are smaller than usual. However, the cool nights have been ideal for lettuce growing, and harvest of a good crop of Cobbler potatoes is under way in southern Ohio.

Beef Supplies Drop From High Levels

Beef cattle marketings have dropped sharply from spring levels since early July. The decline in beef volume, which has been more abrupt and earlier than expected, has boosted farm and wholesale prices around three cents a pound. Some increases at retail with fewer and less attractive specials can be expected, at least by late summer. However, beef volume will continue above last year, and further price increases aren't likely for now. But if your freezer needs replenishing don't wait too long, specially if you are interested in the forequarter cuts that are such good values at present.

You Can Win 'Confederate' Cash In Newspaper Contest

Hartley Newspapers "Confederate" cash jackpot continues to build up again after being emptied completely three weeks ago by an East Side family.

This week's jackpot could be worth $63 in "Confederate" cash to some luckly subscriber. However, even if you are not a subscriber you could win one of 20 "Confederate" ones or even a "Confederate" five.

You begin by searching through the advertisements of your newspaper for the "Confederate" money emblems. They're always printed in a color other than black and will appear in the white space within an advertisement.

If you find an emblem like the one in this column, you can mail it to Hartley Newspapers, 2465 W. Broad - st, and you will receive $1 in "Confederate" cash in return. Only 20 of these emblems are included in the more than 70,000 newspapers published this week.

The single winner of $1 in "Confederate" cash in last week's contest was John Szabo, 40 E. Rockwell-rd.

An emblem like the one found in this paragraph is good for the entire amount of the jackpot only if the finder is a paid subscriber to a Hartley Newspaper. If not the emblem can be redeemed for $5 in "Confederate" money if the finder will bring the entire paper containing the emblem to the Hartley Newspaper office, in person, to claim his money.

All money not claimed in each week's contest is added to the following week's jackpot.

"Confederate" money will be accepted just like real cash in any place of business advertising in a Hartley Newspaper during the week the finder discovers the emblem.

All entries must be received by Hartley Newspapers not later than noon on the Monday following the contest. This contest is closed to all employes, including carriers, of Hartley Newspapers and their families.

State Fair To Offer $3.5 Million Spectacle

During an informal luncheon conference at the Ohio Expositions Youth Center, the Ohio Exposition Commission announced that all major plans have been completed for the late August staging of the biggest and most diversified 11-day program in Ohio's proud State Fair history. This year's 110th Ohio State Fair will open Friday, Aug. 23, with Youth Day and continue through Labor Day, Sept. 2.

Speaking for the commission, State Fair Manager E. J. Keirns said, "This year fairgoers will have the opportunity to see and thoroughly enjoy a complete Ohio State Fair on the last day of the big exposition, as well as on opening day.

"This assurance is made possible by several schedule and program innovations this year, the most recent of which was finalized late last week with our acceptance of contracts from several of television's top performers.

"The Beverly Hillbillies, Johnny Mathis, the Real McCoys, the All-Girl Auto Thrill Show, Sally Flowers and Flippo the Clown are certain to offer fairgoers the type of unfilled, laugh-a-minute type of entertainment they expect to see and enjoy at the Ohio State Fair . . . a tremendous 3½ million dollar spectacle."

Senior Citizens Center

275 McDowell-st

Senior Citizens are grateful to the Columbus Transit Co. for the service they have provided for the recreation center. They are providing a tripper service from the audiorium door of the center to High-st on Wednesday and Friday night, when the center is always open.

The bus will make two trips, the first one at 9:20 and the next at 9:50 p.m. This should be a great convenience to those who have had difficulty in coming to the center on these evenings. It is our hope that it will be well patronized so that this service to our members will be continued.

The new Sunshine Terrace apartments are occupied by 277 men and women over 65 year of age. Over 100 of these people are now members of the Senior Center and have found many of the center's activities a great addition to their life.

The patio area that joins the two areas is being used more and more by the people of both units. Last week a picnic supper with outdoor cooking, was a new program feature. It is also much cooler to have the square dance program and evening dance in the outside area and many of the neighbors livin the apartments enjoyed watching the dancers under the night lights. When weather permits, this outside recreation will continue.

The Jet Baseball Management in cooperation with the Columbus Recreation Dept. has worked out a fine offer for our members. Any member of the Senior Citizen's Recreation Center can attend the home baseball games at half price by just showing his Senior Citizen membership card. Take advantage of this generous offer.

Lantern Parade Big Playground Attracti on This Week

Tomorrow at 8 p.m. the lake in Schiller Park will be the scene of the annual Lantern Parade, part of the summer program of the Columbus Recreation Department.

Nineteen playgrounds from the south and southeast section of the city will be represented, and hundreds of children will march around the lake and across the bandstand with lighted lanterns which have been made on the playground each represents.

Constructed from boxes, cartons, chicken wire frames and anything else their ingenuity called for, the lanterns will be decorated according to themes. Animals, buildings, scenes from fairy tales, world peace, creepy, crawly things are but a few of the ideas carried out. Each lantern will be lighted by a candle so the decorations on the windows will glow in the dark.

The parade will form in the area east of the lake and will follow along the south side of the lake and over the bridge, through the park to the bandstand where they will be judged on construction and theme.

Mary Orr, feature writer for the Columbus Dispatch, will serve as emcee and a panel of five judges will be selected from prominent people of the community to make the more than 30 awards in 11 different classifications of the lanterns.

The public is invited to attend and there will be plenty of seats in front of the bandstand to afford a fine view of the lanterns as they pass by.

Deshler . . .

Deshler Red Junior Softball team lost to an overpowering Scioto team, 14-2.

Deshler Gold team, however, got revenge by beating the Scioto Junior Boys team, 33-2 in the fourth inning, when the game was called.

Deshler drama festival last Friday concerned a trip to a strange planet. The players were: Brenda Sarchet, Pam Bates, Bob Burkey, Debbie Stewart, Pat Gleich, Bobbie Thimmes, Steve Assman, Beatrice Leasure and Roberta McNamee.

Arts and crafts classes have been making yarn dolls, potholders, and lanterns, as well as learning the eight-strand braiding with gimp.

Intermediate Girls' Softball team lost to Schiller. Even though they were beaten they made many good plays. Three beautiful plays were made in one inning by Sharon McKenna, Casey Oddi and Barbara Coleman.

The Junior Girls were beaten by Lincoln. Although they haven't won many games, the Juniors are all much improved.

Angels beat the Yankees 11-8. Andrew Pitts hit a double and triple for the Angels.

The Tigers squeezed by the first place Indians 16-15 to end up in a tie for second place. Jim McGrady hit his fifth home run of the season. Mike Nieman and Rocco DePassio also hit home runs.

The big upset of the week was when the last place Twins beat the first place White Sox, 9-8. Jack Raymond contributed a double and home run to the victory. Pat Gleitch also hit a home run, and made several nice outfield catches.

The Orioles downed the Red Soxs, 12-2. The Yankees beat the Indians 11-5. Billy Bush hit a single and triple to help the Yankees. The Angels whipped the White Sox 6-3. Pat Coleman went four for four to help the Angels to their victory.

In the younger boys league the Braves downed the Cubs 20-18. The Giants also beat the Cubs in last week's action. Richard Terry and Terry West both hit home runs to lead the Giants to a 31-3 decision.

The first place Phillies showed their power by beating the second place Dodgers 17-8. Steve Assman hit two home runs and John Moehl one home run to help the Phillies down the Dodgers.

The Giants beat the Pirates 5-2. Richard Terry pitched almost perfect ball for three innings. He also hit two doubles.

The first place Phillies downed the last place Braves 6-4, Danny O'Connor had two hits to lead the Phillies to their victory.

The Pirates downed the Cardinals 17-6 behind excellent pitching by Ricky Stonerock. Alan Keach hit a home run to help the Pirates win.

In Senior Boys' softball, the Deshler team lost 6-1 to the Southeast Lions. Fritz Daniels scored the only run for Deshler.

Heimandale . . .

This week Heimandale Playground youngsters have been making an assortment of lanterns for the annual lantern parade at Schiller Park on Friday. All parents are urged to attend this event, which promises a good time for the children as well as the adults.

The drama festival, held last week at Watkins Playground, contained an excellent showing from the children from Heimandale with 15 youngsters participating in a skit arranged by Ruth Marriott, playground leader.

The bicycle safety program held at Heimandale last Thursday was very successful, with over 60 youngsters participating.

The time is drawing near for the deadline for the submission of entry blanks for the Junior Olympics. No youngster is permitted to compete without an entry blank being submitted prior to the event. The blanks may be obtained at the playground.

Ohio Avenue . . .

Ohio Avenue playground participated in the Drama Festival held at Schiller Recreation Center last Friday. Those participating in the play were Larry Wiggins, Roy Scott, Tyrone Washington, Larry Cates, Frederick Carter, Ernest Washington and Chuckie Brannon.

Softball teams broke even this week. Outstanding players were Norman Jones, Joe Ware and Charles Gilton who led their respective teams to victory.

Intermediate Girls lost to Hanford 7-13 after an attempt to regain the lead they held for the first three innings of the seven-inning contest.

Valuable player of the week Flay Gilchrest really fills the gap between second and third bases as shortstop.

Any coach would find it difficult to replace star first basemen and clean-up batter, Charlotte Byrd because of the king-size imprints she has made for herself in softball.

The Playground Checker Contest will be held Wednesday, July 31, at 6:30 p.m. Larry Cates has challenged all would-be checker players.

Watkins . . .

Last Saturday Willa Johns, Sharon Warner and Billy Taylor participated in the Television program put on by the Columbus Recreation Department.

Sharon demonstrated how to weave a basket and Willa and Billy displayed their "Hawaiian lanterns," which they made for the lantern parade.

Junior Girls' Softball team beat Smith Road 21-6 last week. Karen Graves and Rosalyn Tibbs led the team with three homers each.

In the bicycle races held last Friday, the following people placed: Boys 11 and under, geared, Ralph Jones, first; Phillip Broady, second; non-geared, Timothy Russell, first; Gary Franklin, second.

Boys 12 and up, Victor Walker, first; Warren Jones, second, and Vaughn Holbert, third. Judy Rife placed first in the girls' race and Karen Wolfe placed second.

The following children have passed their physical fitness test: Richard Roberts, Rick Newton, Hershall Parsley, Robert Abbott, Lewis Boyer, Vaugh Holbert, Eric Jordan, John Jones, Emile Patrick, Jimmy Beatty and Larry Walters.

Smith Road . . .

Arts and craft class members at Smith Road are putting the final touches on their lanterns for tomorrow night. This year's theme is "World Peace."

The first roller-skating rally was well attended by the girls. The winner was Gail Kaltenecker with a time of 1:17.

The Girls' Softball team lost both games this week, the first one to Deshler, 16-15, and the second to Watkins, 21-6.

Lincoln Park . . .

Youngsters at Lincoln Park have been busy this week creating unusual designs for lanterns for display tomorrow at Schiller Park Lantern Parade.

"Davy Jones' Locker" will be Lincoln's theme. The audience will be treated to a show of sea monsters, including some unknown even to experienced deep-sea divers. The bulletin board has been crowded this week with preliminary drawings of the lanterns.

Lincoln's entry in the city horseshoe tournament, Alfred Edwards of 645 E. Morrill, is perfecting his throws. Alfred won the South Sectional Intermediate Boys' championship earlier this month and will try for the city title Monday, July 29.

The softball teams won four of five games last week. The Red Junior Boys' team won two, taking a 5-3 nine-inning thriller from Karns when Vincent Wilson slammed a two-run homer in the last inning. The team also defeated Scioto, 16-1.

The Gold Junior Boys' team walloped Heimendale 18-4; the Intermediate Boys lost to undefeated Karns Buff 23-6, and the Junior Girls' trampled Deshler 19-6.

Palsgrove . . .

The "Miss Palsgrove" contest will be held Wednesday, Aug. 7, 7 p.m. at the playground. The contest is open to area girls from ages 8-12. Each contestant should have a teen area girl to help coach and prepare her for the various areas to be judged.

The areas include three-minute talent presentation, bathing or sun suit appearance, poise and general appearance. Please see Mrs. Hampton for additional assistance.

A word of thanks to the Palsgrove Players who worked so hard preparing the play "The Littlest Month" for the drama festival July 19.

Physical fitness tests for girls and boys are given four times a week: Tuesday and Thursday 1-2 p.m., girls; Monday and Wednesday, 1-2 p.m. boys.

Come and see how physically fit you are.

Butterflies will carry Palsgrove to the lantern parade at Franklin Park tomorrow evening. We are all looking forward to this colorful and gala event.

Schiller . . .

The Schiller Park arts and crafts class is completing preparations for tomorrow night's Sectional Lantern Parade at Schiller. "Creeping, Crawling Creatures" is the theme for Schiller lanterns.

Two no-hitters highlighted last week's Junior Jet Baseball program as Elmer Hay led his Red Sox to a first place tie with the Angels by pitching a 5-2 no-hit victory over Jim Turner and the Orioles. John Lee, a catcher who started his first game as a pitcher, hurled a 6-0 no-hitter over the tough Athletics as his Yankee teammates evened their season record at 4-4.

The Giants, led by pitcher Joe Dawson, took over undisputed first place in the National League by whipping the previously undefeated Dodgers 7-2. The Giants record is now 6-0.

New playground hours will be observed beginning on Monday, July 29. The playground hours will begin at noon and end at 8 p.m.

Starting times for Junior Jet Baseball will also change beginning Monday.

All 12:30 games will be played at noon; 2:15 games at 2 p.m.; 4 games at the same time, and all 6:30 games at 6 p.m.

Karns . . .

Intermediate Girls at Karns Playground came out on top with a 18-11 victory over Heimandale. This makes the girls' record 2-2. Andy Gill did a fine job out in center field as well as hitting a home run. Sandy Schmitt brought in two runs after getting a home run on errors.

Pitching was the key word in the Karns Junior Jet Leagues this week. Dave Rings once more whiffed 18 batters to give him 36 in his last two games. Pat Bingham also turned in a nice mound performance.

In the National League, Mark Roshon, Pee Wee Linville, Steve Hoffman and Dexter Collins proved strong in pitching roles.

Four Karns softball teams continued to lead their leagues. Ricky Anderson's pitching and the home run hitting of Foley, Roehrenbeck and Anderson gave their team a 23-7 win.

The steady hitting of Roger Crum and Dick Roshon gave their loop-leading teammates a 13-12 victory.

Jimmy Tiedt cracked out a home run in the bottom of the seventh inning to maintain the Junior White's victory string.

The Karn's Heyls earned a hard fought 17-16 win when Cheryl Burke and Patty Marshall homered in the last inning. Debbie Tapia also got a home run, and Janet Klopher came through with a pair of nice hits. Mary Belcher, Bease Ward and Linda Fenneman sparkled in the field.

Mohawk . . .

The Mowhawk softball team remains undefeated. They defeated Hanford Monday afternoon.

This week during arts and crafts the children worked on lanterns for the lantern parade.

The next track meet will be held Aug. 1 at Whetstone High School. The meet will be the Junior Olympics Track and Field Meet. All persons interested in participating should come and sign up now.

Mowhawk Playground will close at 5:30 p.m. tomorrow, Friday because of the lantern parade.

LET THERE BE PEACE

MEET YOUR PLAYGROUND LEADERS

YOUNG TEACHERS AND college students throughout the city take over the leadership of the recreational programs at the playgrounds during the summer months. Robert Reall, Eygate-rd, at the left in the back, and his wife, Judith, at right in the front, both teachers, are the leaders, along with Linda Schwab, Ohio University senior, at Watkins. The Realls live in Reynoldsburg while Linda lives at 1187 Linwood. At Scioto Trail you will find William Strayer, center back, and Alice Stadthaus. Alice, who lives at 1836 N. Starr, is a sixth grade teacher at Eastwood and Bill, 39 E. Sycamore-st, is a senior at OSU in the field of elementary education.

the existing Scioto River bridge, where a three degree curve is being considered, maximum curvature of Plan One would be two degrees whereby in the alignment of Plan Two it would be five degrees. Also, the maximum elevation per foot of the favored plan is 25 per cent less than that of the alternate.

Fornoff pointed out that he does not consider an expressway a desirable improvement to the front of his home which faces Fornoff-rd and that the growth of his plants in the greenhouse could hardly be expected to be influenced by more or less traffic on a nearby road.

He does own a filling station in the area that might conceivably be affected by traffic, but it is leased on a flat fee basis rather than gallonage, and an increase in business would not give him financial gain.

Also, the lease the oil company has with him names it as the sole beneficiary of any damages that might accrue to the property by highway re-routing. This again precludes the possibility of his making any money on the deal.

"As a private citizen, it is against my interests to see Plan One initiated," Fornoff stated Saturday "as the presence of an expressway so near my home will depreciate its value and decrease its livability with increased noise and traffic."

He went on to say that as a councilman, however, he would probably back the plan in spite of his own interests, as it is the one recommended by the engineers after an exhaustive study and would also save the city almost $200,000.

Plans—

the realization that South Siders are beginning to feel like "poor relations" in the attention given to their traffic needs.

Fornoff pointed out that there are several east-west arteries in the north, contrasted to the total lack of such a thoroughfare in the south.

Councilmen and the executive branch of city government are seldom completely deaf when voters make known their wants clearly enough, long enough and loud enough.

At this stage, it looks to several experienced persons who are vitally interested in South Side development that the powers that be are going to require a healthy amount of public urging before this ball gets rolling.

Not only those concerned with the matter of ease and safety of personal transportation have a stake in the completion of these plans.

Much of the proposed right-of-way, adjoins vacant property zoned industrial and commercial.

The report pointed out that it is anticipated that future development of such installations will be accelerated with the highway construction a reality.

"The entire community will share in the benefits reaped from development of this area," Fornoff emphasized.

Some elements of the administration do not seem particularly concerned with South Side development. However, there are thousands of citizens who are.

As Mike Mileusnich, president of the Council of South Side Organizations, suggested "Maybe if the people get stirred up about this, something will be done."

Park—

the fact they would not stick a toe in it.

The problem seems to be that since the area is not fenced off, access to it is through the area that was torn up during its construction, and is bare dirt.

Only one practical solution is apparent.

That is to enclose the area with access only by the concrete walk. An apron of concrete does surround the pool, and there is a paved approach. However, without a fence, the children enter it from all angles, and a great deal of Schiller Park real estate is deposited in the pool daily.

Columbus Recreation Department has spent a lot of money to provide a facility that anyone can see is a howling success.

It has been suggested that certainly after having gone as far as it has in giving these children a wonderful summer activity, a few more dollars would be well spent to fence it off.

Then they'd really have something for the kids to enjoy and the neighborhood to be proud of.

As of today, they've got a $7,200 mud hole.

Know Your Postman . . .

Earl Lloyd

Earl Lloyd, 1887 Jacksonrd, walks to work, but he's flying high during his off-hours, pursuing his hobby of a private airplane pilot.

For the past year and a half he has been the mail carrier on route 516. This route is bound on the north by Main-st, on the south by Livingston-av, on the east by Kelton-av, and on the west by Bedford-av.

A postman for 5½ years, Lloyd has been in the reserves of the National Guard and U.S. Air Force for more than 13 years, after serving with the Navy in the South Pacific for 3½ years.

He is a member of the National Association of Letter Carriers Branch No. 78, Southern Conservation Club, and an assistant Scoutmaster of the Boy Scouts. He has four children and is affiliated with the Evangelical United Brethren Church, on Brownrd.

Model airplane building and fishing and hunting are also among his hobbies.

Scioto Trails . . .

Junior Girls' softball team remains undefeated after beating Heimendale 27-10. Marsh Blackburn and Becky Hartung were chosen as best players of the week.

Junior Boys' Gold softball team lost to Deshler 34-2.

Junior Boys' Red softball team beat Deshler 14-2. Buddy Wells and Mike Painter hit home runs and George Ringhiser was the winning pitcher. The Reds were beaten later in the week by Lincoln Park, 16-1.

Intermediate Boys' softball team was beaten by Karns 13-12. Jeff Dodson was the losing pitcher. They beat Schiller Park 18-9. Jerry Ferguson and Jim Walden hit two home runs, and Jeff Dodson was the winning pitcher.

Boys and girls interested in going to the Junior Olympics Aug. 3 are reminded that they must pick up and fill out registration blanks before they can go.

Karen McMullen was chosen this week's Junior Leader of the Week by the committee.

Sixty-eight boys and girls won awards in the bicycle safety riding contest sponsored by the Columbus Police Department.

Winners were Bobby Smith, Charles Wells, George Ringhiser, John Jones, Hershall Talbott, James Wells, Mary Ann Cornwell, Mike Rowe, Melvin Clemens, Bill Allen.

Jackie Jones, Ann Wilde, Elizabeth Mekrle, Rockford Lambert, Deborah Hughes, Mike Miller, Bryan Sherman, Betty Hockenheimer, Kenneth Hockenheimer, Dianne Wilde.

Kathleen Bleichroth, Leslie Hill, Nancy Daines, Kathy Harrelson, Diana Hughes and Robert Purcell.

Junior leaders who have earned their badges will have a picnic on Aug. 5. Junior leaders wishing to go should come to the meeting on Friday at 12:35 p.m.

Plan Christmas In July Opening

Christmas is coming a lot sooner than usual this year at the Lockwood Dairy Isle, 275 E. Livingston-av. The new owner of the East Side ice cream store, Charles Lockwood, says he plans a unique celebration to launch his operation on Livingston-av and will feature Christmas trees, decorations, bells and a visit from "Old St. Nick" himself.

Set for one day only, Saturday, July 27, from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m., the celebration will include offering two sundaes, shakes, sodas, malts, cones, floats and root beer for the price of one.

Lockwood says Santa will also have balloons and gifts for the children and he promises a good time for all visitors during the day-long celebration.

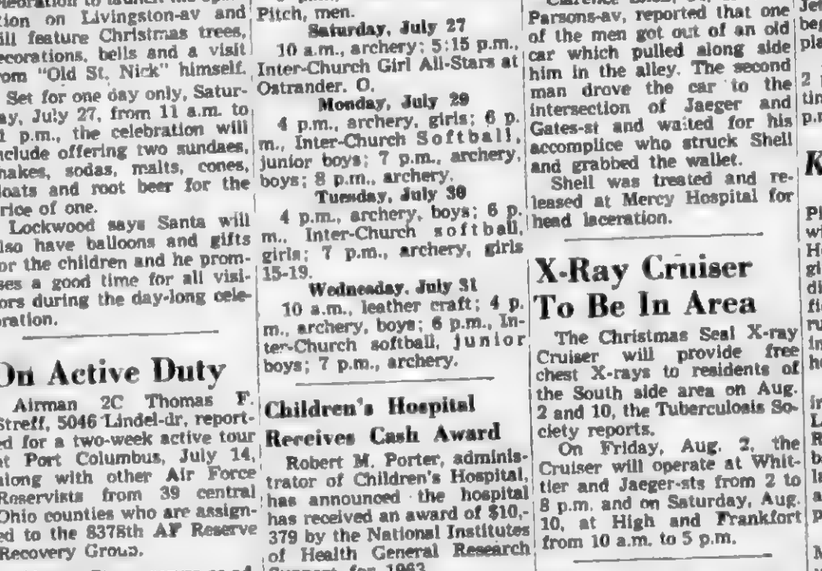
South Side Man Attacked, Robbed

A South Side man told police he was accosted by two men, struck on the head and relieved of a wallet containing $100 in cash as he walked through an alley at the rear of 549 E. Gates-st, Friday night.

Clarence Shell, 54, of 1514 Parsons-av, reported that one of the men got out of an old car which pulled along side him in the alley. The second man drove the car to the intersection of Jaeger and Gates-st and waited for his accomplice who struck Shell and grabbed the wallet.

Shell was treated and released at Mercy Hospital for head laceration.

X-Ray Cruiser To Be In Area



The Christmas Seal X-ray Cruiser will provide free chest X-rays to residents of the South side area on Aug. 2 and 10, the Tuberculosis Society reports.

On Friday, Aug. 2, the Cruiser will operate at Whittier and Jaeger-sts from 2 to 8 p.m. and on Saturday, Aug. 10, at High and Frankfort from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

OUT OF THIS WORLD

A MONSTER LURKS when astronaut Stephen Asemann, 1325 Lockbourne-rd lands on a strange planet in "2001," the skit the children at Deshler Playground presented at the drama festival last week. It was indeed a strange planet as even one the plants as acted by Robert McNamee, 1346 E. Kossuth, on the left, hissed at him. The monster was actually Patrick Gleich, 1206 Studer-av. Notice the parking meter found waiting when the rocket landed. The playlet was announced by John Dick, one of the leaders who helped direct the production.

Kilmer 'Trees' Forest Is Outdoor Paradise

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROB COCHRAN

When the weather is hot and sticky I often wish that I could escape to a wooded glen in the Joyce Kilmer Memorial Forest, where a splashing brook tumbles down from the rocky heights and nature's air conditioner is turned on.

Located in the Great Smokies, near Robbinsville, North Carolina, this stand of great trees — tulip poplars, hemlocks and oaks — is a fitting place for the bronze marker carrying the poem "Trees."

It is quiet and serene in the heart of this ageless forest where the Cheoah and Snowbird Mountains join the impressive Unicoi range. In this setting it seems obvious that "Only God can make a tree."

VISITING THIS FOREST is one of the great experiences to be found east of the Mississippi for outdoor enthusiasts. The words "virgin forest" have been over-used, but here truly are trees as the Indians saw them. Many of the trees are hundreds of years old. Some are 20 feet in circumference and more than a hundred feet high. It is not easy to identify some, for their leaves are almost hidden from sight in the upper vastness of the forest.

This is a true wilderness that is left undisturbed. If a tree falls, then the trail goes around it or over it. Great rhododendron jungles are still jungles except for a path that traverses some of them. The birds, warblers and vireos can be heard, but they are up so high they can't be seen.

The memorial forest, 3,800 acres in the center of the Nantahala National Forest, was preserved by accident and not by any grand plan conceived by man. A lumber company owned the land and was cutting on the easier locations. Before they got to what is now the memorial forest, a dam flooded their railroad, making the trees inaccessible. Then the U.S. Forest Service came into possession of the property where "the trees couldn't be cut."

FINALLY, IN 1934, at the Louisville encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, a petition was sent to the government to set aside a fitting area of trees to stand for all time as a living memorial to Joyce Kilmer, who had been killed in World War I.

After a long and careful study of millions of acres of national forests from New England to Florida and the West Coast, this area in the Snowbirds was selected. It was dedicated with appropriate ceremonies on July 30, 1936, the 18th anniversary of the day on which Sergeant Kilmer died in France.

There are a number of trails in the forest and you can walk through as much or as little as you like. Nearby are famous vacation areas around Fontana and Santeetlah Lakes, where fishing and other activities are available. The memorial forest is only a day's drive from here if you get up early in the morning. It's an experience that I can wholeheartedly recommend.

Archer Club Invitational Set Sunday

The annual invitational shoot of the Silver Moccasin Archery Club will be held Sunday at the club range on Avis-rd.

Registration starts at 8 a.m. with shooting getting underway at 10. The morning round will include 28 field targets and in the afternoon, there will be a 28 hunter spot.

ALL CLASSIFICATIONS will be recognized plus a team trophy and a husband-wife top score trophy will be awarded.

The range is located on Avis-rd, north of Morse-rd and ¾ mile east of the intersection of Morse-rd and the New Albany - Reynoldsburg-rd.

Members of the Silver Moccasin are from Gahanna, New Albany, Reynoldsburg, Whitehall and Southeast Columbus. The club includes target shoots, carp shoots, groundhog shoots and deer hunting among its activities.

MEMBERS OF the club will be on hand Sunday to answer questions. There will be about 90 members of clubs in the district participating in this event.

Club members are: Buddy Armstrong, president; Bob Pavoni, vice-pres.; Rod Rice, secretary; Bob Walton, treasurer; Leslie Wilkinson, range captain; Bob Armstrong, classification.

Earl McKnight, bow maker; Rose McKnight, '62 Women's State champion; Paul Ingram, '62 State Carp Shoot champion; Ronnie Piehler, Darline Armstrong, Jerry Scarberry, Norman Hammond, Brian McNamara and Chris Chrysler.

COMPLETES TRAINING

Marine Pvt. 1st class Roger L. McCallister, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. McCallister of 62½ Innis-av, recently completed "lock-on" training with the Second Battalion First Marine Regiment, First Marine Division, at Camp Pendleton, Calif. "Lock-on" training is the name given to a six-week period of intensive training which progresses from the basic tactics of the fire team and squad to the complex maneuvers of the company and battalion.

Tight Tilts, Title Setups Highlight SouthY Play

Swimming pools, vacations and summer camps cut into the number participating in the South Side "Y" Inter-Church softball program last week, but despite these annual interferences, races for the championship honors in all five leagues continued close.

In the Monday junior circuit, Livingston Methodist raised a few eyebrows as it took over first place with a thrilling win over Emmanuel Lutheran, thanks to some fine defensive play.

In other games on the docket, Hungarian E. and R. took the measure of Parsons Baptist and Welch Freewill Baptist won via the forfeit route from Gates-Fourth Methodist.

Best hitters for the week included Marty Komives, Ronnie Sabo, Brent DeWees, John King and Jim Tiedt.

GIRLS LEAGUE — Three games were played in the "powder puff" league, with South Methodist rolling on to its seventh straight win by downing a fine group of fems from Parsons Baptist.

Washington Avenue EUB remained on the runner-up rung by outscoring Southwood Church of Christ and Hungarian E. and R. strengthened its first division rating by a decision over St. Paul United.

Best players for the week were Margie Santo, Sandy Haynes, Carol Larimer, Andy Gill, Nancy Kirby, Pat Greenlee, Judy Carpenter, Loretta Boso and Karen Edinger.

WEDNESDAY JUNIORS— Only one game was played in this division, but it was a crackerjack with St. Paul United pulling a mild upset by downing the hot and cold South Methodist crew. Mike Schieppi was the big gun for the Saints and John Workmaster and Steve Rudd played best for South Methodist.

INTERMEDIATES — In a game that had championship written all over it, Frebis Church of God nosed out the fine Ohio Avenue-South Congregational nine, 9-8 with a story book finish. Clarence Bowen and Dale Goff were the Frebis stars while Les Sawyer and Chester Ellis were the bright lights for the losers.

South Methodist beat Brookwood 11-8 in the other game on the card. John Whitacre, Jim Hemmerly, Bill Friend and Chris Dyer were the big stick men for their respective teams.

ADULT SLOW PITCH — In this "stars of yesterday" league, Rev. Fred Ketner led his Ohio Avenue EUB 10 to an important win over St. John United. St. Paul Lutheran returned to form by beating Livingston Methodist and St. Paul United was awarded the decision over Southwood Church of Christ.

Players deserving mention for their fine play are John Schumacher, Howard Nicklaus, Dale Burns, Dick Poenisch, Gary Hennis and Bob Shultz.

Red-Hot Jets Home For Nine-Game Stay

The Columbus Jets, currently the hottest item in the International League, are home tonight, playing Richmond in the third last home stand for the local entry this season.

Thursday the Jets play hosts to the Vees before welcoming Buffalo for a four-game series which includes single night games Friday and Saturday before the Sunday doubleheader (1:30 p.m.).

INDIANAPOLIS closes out the current stand with single games Monday and Tuesday evenings at 8 p.m.

Several big 'nights' are on tap for this home stand. Thursday evening's game will be sponsored by the Prairie Boys' Baseball Assn. with proceeds aiding the organization's baseball program.

SUNDAY'S TWIN-BILL attendance will help boost the Franklin County's Retarded Children Fund. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the Council for Retarded Children, ARC or American Business Club.

People interested in obtaining tickets may also call the Council office at CA. 1-9115.

Monday will be Eastern Star Night and Tuesday will mark the fourth Buckeye Stamp Night of the season.

Wednesday the Jets will depart on an eight-day road trip with nine games scheduled in Richmond, Toronto and Rochester. The Larry Shepard crew returns to Columbus, Thursday, Aug. 8.

Sonny-Floyd Re-run Serves As Appetizer

Those of us who were wondering whether Sonny Liston is that good or Floyd Patterson is that bad are still wondering after Monday night's selected short subject at Vegas's Convention Center, via the Palace Theater.

People who didn't believe lightning could strike twice in the same round got converted as Sonny Boy decked the ex-champion faster than most of the ringside spectators could assault a slot machine.

IT MIGHT BE most accurate to state that Liston is an above par slugger and Patterson always was in hot water when he fought anyone with legitimate contending possibilities.

But the folks who came to see the big giant fall off boxing's bean stalk had to take their solace in the up-stage performance of Liston's next victim.

Brash Cass formally and finally broke off diplomatic relations with his September opponent when he merely stuck out his finger toward Liston after shaking hands with a then clear-eyed Patterson.

IN HIS POST fight comments, Sonny wondered aloud if Clay was around when asked when he thought he'd fight the outspoken contender who moved up a notch when Patterson sat down the third time in the opening round.

Young Cassius stormed into the ring and up to the microphone after Liston had departed a safe distance away in an effort to sell a few tickets to his September spectacular with Liston.

With a lean and hungry look, Cassius came surely not to praise Liston but rather to bury him under some more of his sometimes less than eloquent oratory.

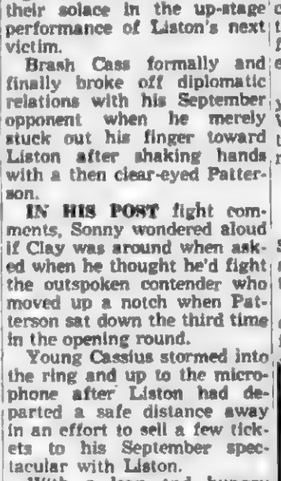
TEARING UP A newspaper with Liston's picture in it and throwing it into the air, Clay admitted that after talkin' for five years, he was tired of talkin' and "ready."

Liston, whom Cassius affectionately refers to as a "bum," is "too big, too flat-footed and too slow—and I'm cuttin' my prediction to five."

We hate to be cynical, but the whole post-mortem ceremony reminded us of the old wrestling show pitch. Villain wins. Young challenger rushes into ring, denounces villain and promises revenge for the faithful.

CLAY DID MAKE one statement that made some sense. "I'll beat Liston 'cause he doesn't have enough experience." With less than two rounds of actual ring competition inside a year, Liston will go into the September fight at a disadvantage.

But at the rate that Liston is sending the fans home early now, it's doubtful if he'll ever get to be an experienced boxer. Probably just a rich one.



Monday night's re-run accomplished just what it intended—to whet the appetite for the main course to be served in Phillie in two months.

We would suggest getting your tickets early for this one. Who knows, one of these times you're liable to see a real fight.

Old Timer Picnic

Food will be served and an orchestra will play for dancing from 4 till 11 p.m.

All-Weather Track Slated At M-F High

Columbus Board of Education recently awarded the contract which came to $110,156.

The stadium will be similar to ones built at Whetstone and Walnut Ridge high schools. The all-weather track will be a rubber-like composition, permitting events to be held immediately after inclement weather.

Other improvements, including restroom facilities, are included in the contract.

It was a first feature win Sunday night for Bob Smith at Columbus Motor Speedway. Smith took the 50-lap Mid-Season Championship super-modified race in a tight duel with Neal Sceva of Urbana.

The two raced side by side for the last 18-laps of the feature, with Smith overtaking Sceva in the final lap.

This Friday night the flying stock will take to the track and Sunday night the super-modifieds and the late models will run. An extra event Sunday night will be the 25-lap feature for the super-modifieds that was rained out two weeks ago.

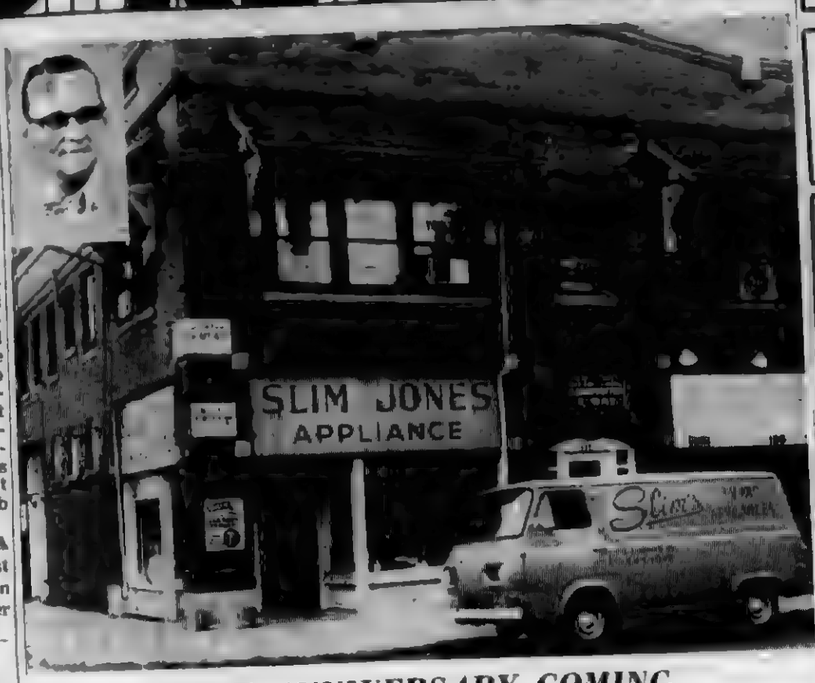
Hertz Rent A Truck Can Save Truckers Cash By Leasing Them A Needed Vehicle

If you need a truck but don't have the money to buy it or if your need for a truck is only for a few hours or days, then the answer to your problem might be to rent or lease one of the big vehicles from Hertz Rent A Truck, 73 W. Main-st.

Trucks of nearly any size, from pick-ups to large moving vans, are made available by the Columbus branch of this nationwide organization for travel to any point in the United States. Manager Albert VanGundy told of trucks from his garage which had been on the road for two or three weeks and had rolled up several thousand miles before being returned.

In nearly every case, VanGundy, who helps the customer fill out application, will personally select the truck that will best fill that customer's particular needs. A skilled mechanic, Harry Carney, who has been with the local Hertz agency for the past 13 years, sees that each truck is serviced and is in good mechanical repair before it goes on the road.



VanGundy adds to this his own experience in providing the proper type and amount of insurance to see that the customer is protected in case of an accident.

All of these services are provided for the customer, who has a valid driver's license, by the Hertz firm. Extras including dollys, padding and driving accessories can also be obtained at a small additional cost.

The truck rental agency, which is connected with Hertz Rent A Car, offers late model Chevrolet and GMC trucks equipped with panel, stake and van bodies in one-half, one, one and a half, two and a half ton and larger sizes.

For the best service, according to VanGundy, the potential customer should call in advance to make arrangements to use a truck and specify the type and size truck he wishes to rent so that such a truck can be reserved. VanGundy added that in some cases trucks are reserved several days in advance and he cannot always provide the exact equipment needed to do a certain job without prior notice.

A call to Hertz Rent A Truck can be one of the best investments of time a person in need of a truck will ever make.

Jones has been well known as a South Side businessman for many years and is active in the Moose and Masonic organizations.

Civil War Fans To Hold 'Skirmish' At Dar-Lee Range

The North-South Skirmish Association (NSSA) has announced plans to hold a regional "skirmish" at the Dar-Lee Shooting Club, 388 N. Taylor-rd, Sunday, July 28. The public is invited to attend.

The event, sponsored by the First Ohio Sharpshooters and the Second OVI, will feature teams representing actual Civil War units, both North and South, in authentic uniforms. Using either actual or reproduction weapons, each team will compete for shooting honors.

Teams, with muzzle-loading muskets and firing in unison, will simulate "skirmish" lines as they would have appeared in actual battle. In this case, however, both sides will be firing from the same direction at identical targets.

Spectators will be able to watch the "skirmish," see the authentic uniforms and rifles and enjoy a display at the club house during the exhibition. A reproduction of the Remington "Zouave" musket will be available for any visitor wishing to test his skill with a muzzle loader.

The NSSA is a non-profit, self - sustaining organization with Civil War buffs and riflemen as members. Sponsoring "skirmishes" for exhibition is one of the main projects of the group.

Wives and children of the 200 participants in the "skirmish" will be dressed in clothing of the Civil War era.

Nationwide Has Higher Coverage For Seat Belts

The Nationwide Insurance Co., one the nation's largest car insurers has liberalized its auto policy to encourage wide use of safety belts. Added benefits include 50 per cent extra medical coverage, greater "confinement" benefits to those protected by Family Compensation auto benefits to those wearing seat belts.

The company also unveiled a broadened auto liability provision to protect policy holders who are required to have additional protection while traveling in states other than Ohio and in the Canadian provinces.

In discussing the additional coverage being offered Howard Hutchinson, vice-president, stated, "We feel these extra benefits will encourage more people to use seat belts." He added that "research and actual exnerience have shown clearly that seat belts do save lives and help prevent serious injudy."

READY WITH RUNNING LIGHTS

FREE RUNNING LIGHTS to everyone in the neighborhood were presented as gifts by John Peres, president of Ohio TV Service, 839 E. Main-st. Perez, who lives on Lafayette-ct, said he was giving the running lights to his friends and neighbors in the interest of safety. Pictured above is Perez, installing the light, and his neighbors, Don Hall, 4367 Lafayette-ct; Rick Foltz, 4356 Lafayette-ct; Floyd Hite, 281 St. Christopher-la; Don Ebner, 4360 Lafayette-ct, and Charles Snider, 543 Beechwood-rd. The running lights are available to the public at Ohio TV Service, Whitehall Police have announced they are installing the running lights on all city cruisers.

Project 33 Wins Nod

The Rural Zoning Board put its stamp of approval—with some reservations — on the proposal of Project 33, Inc., when it met Monday night.

The wholly-owned subsidiary of the First National Investment Company had applied for AR 8-18 classification for about 10 acres owned on the southeast corner of Refugee-rd and Rt. 33. The approval was given with the stipulation that apartments conforming to AR 14-26 be built instead. The acreage is part of a larger tract of land where residential construction is planned by the corporation.

At the hearing held the latter part of June, the company's legal representative presented his clients' viewpoint that with a nearby shopping center, filling station and drive-in, it was only feasible to use the part of the land nearest the neighboring commercial ventures as a buffer zone between them and the proposed single family dwellings.

Property owners objected strenuously to this contention, evincing the belief such a move was not only unnecessary, but would depreciate the value of their nearby homes.

Although the developers had stated the rental units would range in price from $110 to $160, there was obvious skepticism as to whether these figures would remain firm.

Under the zoning regulation approved by the board, 1,400 to 2,600 square feet of land would be required for each housing unit, depending upon the number of rooms in each unit.

Mrs. Thelma Hardy, zoning clerk, explained that the standards for this classification are the highest set for any apartment buildings.

Lowell Fletcher, officer of the corporation, stated that he and his associates are very pleased with the board's decision and are now awaiting the opinion of the county commissioners.

Although a simple majority is required to ratify the board's stand, the commissioners cannot reverse it without a unanimous vote.

Fletcher stressed that the change in requirements would call for a re-design of the entire project, and it is impossible to say at this time when construction will begin.

Only two of those who had protested the corporation's request could be contacted before press time. Their opinions seemed similar — that although no kind of apartment building would be exactly to their liking, the more spacious requirements of the AR 14-26 are at least more acceptable than the AR 8-18.

BUILDING PROGRAM DELAYED

Hamilton Local School Board learned Monday night that the construction of additions to the three district elementaries is running about 18 days behind schedule.

This means that the additional space will not be ready for use until around Oct. 1, according to D'Alan Huff, superintendent.

He foresees no serious hardship in the delay which has been caused by slow delivery of some construction materials.

To cope with the situation during the first month of school, the board will simply enlarge classes past what is generally the policy of the system and utilize the teachers already hired, who will not yet have classrooms, to assist with the heavy pupil load.

nesses of his crime.

He had located the nest and in one swoop picked up his first victim. A few minutes later, while we were momentarily out of the garden, he completed the job.

Yesterday we saw the same kind of kidnaper swoop down on a baby yellow canary while attempting his solo flight. Four adult canaries and two brown wrens joined in the chase and collectively we were able to chase him off the island.

Next winter as I remember these scenes I'll be tempted to cut off the rations for Mr. Jay. But, by that time, his beauty will remind me again that the laws of nature may be strange but they are made by God and man has been unable to improve upon them.

Observations

Fishing is like salesmanship—if you make the calls, you'll make the sales. . . It really is an ill wind that blows no good: Just now a heavy breeze turned my boat completely around off my pickerel hole and a two-pounder was on the receiving line in the new spot. And, when the boat returned to its original spot, there was another finny friend waiting for his lunch, but he turned out to be my dinner. . . Our lady school teacher friends from Oklahoma, on opening their cottage here this summer, found that a porcupine had visited their outhouse and proceeded to chew up the seat. Now the girls have a two holer! . . . At 10:30 Tuesday night we had callers. A Dr. and Mrs. Williams and very small baby had run out of gas at the head of Twilight Bay and Doc had rowed the nearly two miles to our place where we did our good deed for the day by providing a full tank. . . A pleasant visit this afternoon with Kib Roberts and son and Paul Hazelbaker from Greenfield, Ohio, over at Sandy Haven Camp. . . The Paul Luggers of the Hilltop area are at Keystone Camp about three miles from our island.

SERVES IN KOREA

Michael S. Buechner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Buechner of 1072 Kelton-av, is serving with the Third Battalion of the Third Marine Division, a unit which recently participated in a joint U.S. Republic of Korea amphibious exercise dubbed "Operation Flagpole" and conducted near Seoul, Korea.

Westport Subdivision Ready To Go

The signs of the mushroom growth of Madison Township were in evidence again last week when ground was broken for a $2 million subdivision at the intersection of Groveport-pk and Rt. 665.

A project long talked about, which has met stumbling block after stumbling block, seems at last to be off the ground.

Known as Westport, the area is being developed by Great Lakes Homes and the First National Investment Company.

Lowell Fletcher is the president of the latter, the parent company of Project 33, Inc., a few miles to the east.

Although part of the area is outside the corporation limits of the village of Groveport, the developers have agreed to conform to the zoning regulations of the town.

Bel-Aire, which is the builder for the project, will construct ranch style, two-story and split-level homes. Model homes are scheduled for completion within 60 days.

Fletcher stressed that there will be no speculative building and homes will be built only to the specification of the buyer. They will be in the $14,000 to $16,000 price range.

One hundred forty-four residences are planned, and the streets and utilities provided by the developer will be donated to the appropriate government authority.

Fifteen acres facing Groveport-pk and abutting this property are owned by the Don Casto interests which have long ago received commercial zoning for the plot.

It has been repeatedly spoken of as the site for a future shopping center, but representatives of the company were quoted Tuesday as saying they did not care to discuss the matter at this time.

With what is apparently unusually cordial relations between the developer and the village administration, it is a foregone conclusion that annexation is looked toward favorably by both parties.

Another sign of the amicability of relationship is the agreement that the city streets will not be used during the construction period, although they will be a means of access and egress later.

HAPPY DAYS IN

Haviland

$9.95 TOTAL CASH DOWN PLAN AVAILABLE

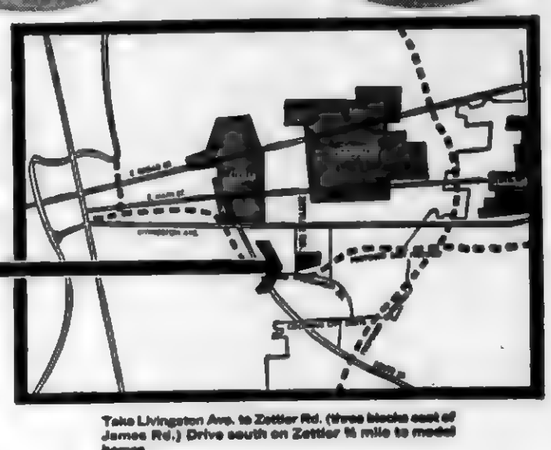
No tricks, no gimmicks, no second mortgages, no closing costs. You simply do the painting and planting instead of making a large down payment. It'll take you about three weekends. Naturally, if you'd rather make a regular down payment, we'll do the work for you

TOTAL MO. PAYMENTS FROM $89
(Incl. taxes and insurance)

FIVE-YEAR WARRANTY

Every Fritsche Home in Haviland is protected by the new, exclusive Ernest G. Fritsche & Co. Five-Year Warranty. Fritsche Homes are the only Homes anywhere known to provide this protection to buyers ...and there is no extra cost.

FINEST PROTECTION EVER OFFERED TO BUYERS OF NEW HOMES.



PROVEN HOMESTYLES

Fritsche's razzle-dazzle brand of 5-Level Design in Haviland are based on findings which are sketched by Columbus style home buyers.

These are conventional homes with BASEMENTS... built from quality materials ... in every instance of credit to the community and to the people who buy them.

THRILL YOUR KIDS WITH BIG BEDROOMS!

Haviland IS HERE

Take Livingston Ave. to Zettler Rd. (three blocks east of James Rd.) Drive south on Zettler ½ mile to model homes.

Haviland is within the city of Columbus where it enjoys the benefits of city utilities, schools, transportation and taxes. Its location is one of the finest being offered in the city this year ... convenient to downtown and the entire eastern half of the city.

A fascinating letter arrived recently from Jane Jardine, who is now living in South Rhodesia, Africa.

Jane Jardine was the Scotsman who lived in Columbus a decade ago and received city-wide publicity as the "Mystery Runner" who was observed by so many taking an early morning run in odd and peculiar places, such as the state house grounds, without regard for blazing sun or drenching rain.

When finally "run down" by a reporter, it was learned that he was an accountant who in his world-wide travels religiously pursued his hobby of a daily stint of several miles.

In his letter, he explained that though the farm he is living on is low-lying and almost under the equator, the extreme heat has not dampened his enthusiasm.

Describing life on the farm, begun by a friend from virgin veldt, he went on, "with the heat and abundant water of the tropics, the sugar cane grows tremendously. From the air, these fields of cane look like huge lawns, smooth as carpets. But when you touch down on the land and try to walk on the lawns, you find yourself battling through grass, 14 feet high stems. It always makes me think of a flea on the back of a large dog, lost in the hair of the dog.

"Every morning by 4 a.m. during the summer and 5 a.m. in the winter, we are out in the fields, and then I spend some time in the office, keeping the books ,etc. We find the natives kind and friendly. They lead exceedingly happy lives, living in small communities with their families round them. They work from dawn to midday, then are free to do what they will. They do not read nor write but cultivate little farms given to them by the farmer, with water which they till to make extra money and food.

"We have a boy, Jali, to help with the housework and gardening. Jali (pronounced Charlie) is 23 years old, who would not change his job for anything. We also have an eight-year-old lad, Judas, who keeps the garden. He is supposed to work form 6 to 9 a.m., but he is so happy here we have to chase his home about 7 p.m. Judas is the envy of a 100 little boys round here, who would cut his throat to have his job.

"Our little cotage, which we have christened "Pod Lodge," nestles under a huge old tree which an expert has said could be 2000 years old. We live a kind of camping-out life, for all our meals are taken under the tree as Pod Lodge has no windows, only meshed openings. There is no shortage of fresh air. At dinner time, we hang a powerful lamp about 12 feet from the table, just far enough away to give us sufficient light, but not so near that the insects worry us. You should see them! They fly round the light, in the thousands, all sorts of species, colors and sizes, from tiny midges to beetles as big as golf balls. Many of them touch the hot glass, fall to the ground, there to be eaten by the frogs, who grow fat, sluggish. The frogs then fall an easy prey to the snakes which are always lurking near by, though we do not see many of them. W. had a puff adder in our bathroom one night, while outside the door lay a big black ringed cobra with a body as thick as your forearm.

"One of our boys heard a noise in his fowl run, went to see what caused the noise, and saw a large python swallowing his fourth fully grown hen. Feathers and all disappeared.

"There is a river not far from us, in which live a colony of hypos, and these visit our cane fields most nights. A while back, one chased a native woman, who fell, and with one bite, her whole leg was removed. We have a fussy old boy here, and we could not keep from laughing one morning, when just before dawn, he opened his door to come to work, to find himself looking straight into the eyes ofa hippo facing his door.

"Not 50 yards from Pod Lodge I have a track which I use every day for an eight-mile run. One afternoon when I went down, I found a herd of elephant, about 20 in all, standing at the bottom of the track. The African elephant is big, and some of the bulls in this herd must have been well over 14 feet at the shoulder. So I ran in the opposite direction."

Ten young folks from the Southwood Church of Christ spent a week at Round Lake Camp. Those attending were Robin Yontz, Gary and Joe Antle, Nancy Leo, Elizabeth Conaway, Carolyn O'Hara, Carolyn Keeling, Candy Hacket, Tom and Judy Lenox, Vernon Banker, of the church, was one of the faculty.

Congratulations are in order for Pat Sergio, 11, of 802 Mithoff-st, who won the 1963 Soap Box Derby on Grandview Hill recently. The youngster nosed out James Humphreys, of Gahanna. An interesting sidelight to the item is that D. A. B. Humphreys, James' father, is a former South Sider himself, graduating from South High in 1934. The very best wishes go with Pat, as he tries for the National title in Akron on Aug. 3. Pat's Columbus winnings were a $500 savings bond, a plaque and an all-expense trip for the Akron try.

Ailing community residents include Kate Moeller, who spent a few days in St. Anthony's Hospital; Danny Seymour, who had been a patient in Children's Hospital; Mrs. Floy Harmel; Robert Olney, who underwent a check-up in Mercy Hospital; Charles Mason, who had a knee operation at University Hospital; Jim Mehl, injured in an auto accident; William Cupp; Dave Hamilton, who has been a patient in University Hospital; Clarence Syfers, who was a patient in Grant Hospital; Carrie Hahn, recuperating in her home, 1525 S. Fourth-st; Mrs. Pat Windmiller, 163 E. Gates-st, home after a trip to the hospital.

Rev. Eli Anthony is the guest speaker at the Gates Fourth Methodist Church, while Rev. Carl E. Brown is enjoying a summer vacation.

Newly installed officers of Local 67, International Association of Firefighters, are: Charles Smith, president; Frank Greshel, vice-president; Jim Cassell, secretary-treasurer; Charles Boso, trustee; Mike Melf, sgt. at arms; Bill Cronin: Welfare committee, Mickey McFadden. The installation was an event of July 10, at 1171 Gilbert-st.

More than likely some of these birthdayites will be far from their native state on their "year-older" day, as this is the season when more Americans are vacationing than any time of the year:

Year older teeners for the week included Jeri Hampton, Diana and Donna Coy and Peter Fornof.

Adult friends and neighbors who add a year are Dick Donovan, Wilda Davis, Margaret Miller, Marie Hart, Charles Yunker, Sybilla Boehm, Emily Knore Estella Fischer, Roberts Shaffer. A special wish for Mr. and Mrs. W. Minor, 1155 Heyl-av, who start "year 53," on July 28.

Charles Mack will be the conductor for the Schiller Band when it presents its program on Sunday, July 28, at 8 p.m.

The Orient State Institute is gladly accepting volunteers to assist with the cottage picnic program at the institute. More volunteers are needed this year than ever before, since the recreation staff has been cut in half. The picnics start at 4 p.m. and are usually finished by 6 p.m. The person to contact is Richard Bowser at TR 7-4314.

Mid-summer vacations that we've heard about include the one taken by the Romaniuk family, 786 E. 18th-st, who enjoyed the fishing, swimming and boating to be found in Michigan. The Goeller family, of 1400 S. Fifth-st, enjoyed a similar type vacation in Canada. The Alonso family spent some time in Florida. Blanche Barnette, a former Columbusite now residing in Baltimore, Md., has been a Columbus visitor, dividing her time among relatives. We hope to acquire a full report of the summer spent by Patti Trumps, who resided at 162 E. Innis-av, while in Columbus. The South High-OSU grad, now a resident of New York City, is touring the European continent for two months and should have an interesting report to make to her family and friends. Patti is working on a Master's degree at NYU, in addition to working in the big city. While in England, she will attend the Shakespeare Festival at Stratford-on-Avon. In Milan, she expects to visit relatives of a localite, Sandro Conti. Dorris and Clarence Syfers enjoyed a week's vacation at Lake Erie.

Eagles Plan Big Ox Roast For Aug. 4

The South Side Eagles have tickets now on sale for their annual Ox Roast, scheduled for Edgewater Park on Hamilton-rd, Sunday, Aug. 4 from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m.

The Ox Roast proceeds will be used to benefit the Eagles' Christmas Charity Program which helps to brighten the yuletide season for many a youngster.

Ticket donations are $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for children. Among festivities scheduled for the Roast are athletic games for both adults and children, dancing and other entertainment.

WITH HIS DAYS NUMBERED, the "piece de resistance" of the Eagle ox roast coming up poses with South Side butcher Hennie Berger, Pearl Stump and Eagle officer Tony Filichia. The "ox" is really parading under false pretenses. With oxen scarce these days, steers are substituted for the traditional beast of burden.

IT'S WET WORK when J. F. Mapes takes to his cornfield as soon as dawn hits so that it may be harvested with the cool dew still on it. Planting and replanting the same acreage throughout the growing season, the Groveport-pk truck farmer grows tomatoes, green beans, limas and okra.

Get Out That Salt And Pepper— It's Corn-On-The-Cob Time

J. F. Mapes of Ashville is a "rare bird."

He is actually in business for his health.

The truck farmer who now operates on Groveport-pk between Groveport and Canal Winchester, after growing up as a farm boy, took off as a young man to try the ways of the big city.

Efficient in whatever he tackles, Mapes soon had a responsible supervisory position in a foundry, and class-A ulcer with an accompanying foul disposition.

"I couldn't be decent to my men, my family, or live with myself," he recalled.

So he threw in the towel and headed back to the peace of rural Franklin County. He's never regretted his decision.

Convinced that a good farmer is never satisfied with his product, Mapes constantly experiments with hybrids and has done cross-pollenization of his own.

Starting in the middle of April, he plants every three or four days to assure a steady supply of corn, always picked at its prime.

Accurately forecasting its maturity date, he even sows so that the harvest will be heavy towards the end of each week, when demand is highest, and light during the first of the week, when shoppers tend to stay home and wait for weekend bargains.

When the harvest season begins, Mapes is up and in the fields before even a self-respecting cock would stir.

His corn is picked and iced before the sun ever hits it to protect the chill of the early morning dew.

When Mapes picks with the crew, production hits a high pace. He can maintain a speed of 100 dozen ears an hour, "when picking's good." Only one of his older sons can quite keep up with him, he admits.

Long before eight o'clock, the day's corn is in and the crew begins to pack.

Thirty-two ears go into oversized bags, then a layer of ice and another 32 ears before the package is topped off with more specially shaved ice. This refrigeration process, which assures farm-freshness, takes 10 to 15 pounds of ice a bag.

Mapes struggles with a problem uncommon to many growers—some of his varieties grow so large that even "shaking down" won't allow him to ship the standard five dozen pack.

Like most farmers Mapes periodically gets disgusted with dry or wet weather, plunging prices, corn-eating birds and greedy groundhogs, and makes rumbles about going to work for someone else.

But he's not kidding anyone, including himself, with his threats to "sell-out."

When you find a man making a decent living at a job he thoroughly enjoys, you have found a contented man.

And Mapes wouldn't trade his truck farm for all the tea in China, or steel mills in Ohio.

Ask Apartment Zoning For Land Near Lockbourne

The plea of the Franklin County Investment Company for AR 7-16 zoning classification of 14 acres adjoining Lockbourne AFB will be heard Monday, July 29, 7:30 p.m. at the Hamilton Township High School by the Rural Zoning Board.

The company previously withdrew its request for permission to establish a trailer camp on the property. The current proposal, if approved, will permit the erection of apartments, allowing 700 to 1600 square feet of ground space for each unit, depending on the number of rooms in the individual apartments.

Paul Ricart, Canal Winchester Ford dealer, has asked for a hearing on the rezoning of 32 acres on the corner of new Rt. 33 and Hamilton-rd. The property is now residential and agricultural, and Ricart has asked for general commercial classification. According to Mrs. Thelma Hardy, clerk of the Rural Zoning Board, the hearing will be scheduled some time the latter part of August.

Courtwright Residents Score In Landfill Fuss

Apparently the Courtwright Community Association has won a battle, if not the war, in their latest skirmish with Dr. Robert Kessler.

The association was formed recently after area residents became aware that Dr. Kessler, who owns a farm in the area, had entered into a lease agreement with S. G. Lowendick and Sons, allowing the firm to use the bottom land of the property as a landfill.

The residents took the attitude that the debris brought from the demolishing of building formed more of a dump than a landfill, and announced their intentions to find recourse.

After their more recent meetings the newly formed civic association suddenly clapped the lid on any publicity.

Before the homeowners who were later to make up the group had asked newspaper aid in airing their grievances.

However, Mrs. Robert Wray, who had been designated as publicist for the group, stated Tuesday that the members had decided that it was not yet time to release any further information on their activities.

A call to the Rural Zoning Board revealed that the group had hired James Burchfield as their legal representative and that the zoning board has issued an order of removal of all lumber, combustible material and an old underground gasoline tank from the premises at once.

This order to Lowendick, according to Mrs. Thelma Hardy, clerk of the board, is in accordance with the wishes of Dr. Kessler.

It was apparently the understanding of the board and Dr. Kessler that the wrecking firm would use only "clean fill," such as brick, broken concrete and silt, in the fill. Such material is acceptable for land to be used either for housing or agricultural purposes.

Whether this modification of the plan that was being followed by the Lowendick firm is satisfoctory to the residents is a matter of speculation.

But at least two matters were cleared up. The residents meant it when they stated that they would not stand idly by while the possible establishment of a "glorified" dump risked their property values, and Dr. Kessler, regardless of his motives for having the acreage filled, was sincere in his stand that the fill used must be "clean."

Homes

COLUMBUS, OHIO — JULY 24, 25, 1963

The Home of Tomorrow... is here Today

Whatever its size, shape or surroundings may be, a home of their own is becoming the main goal of American families. Three out of every five families are now sharing the pride and investment returns of home ownership. The significance of this nation-wide trend from renting homes to owning homes is readily apparent in Central Ohio.

The building industry has become the largest single industry in Columbus . . . employing over 15,000 persons. At the current rate of construction, a new home is being built for every 2.3 people added to our community. Remodeling, that brings new living comfort and convenience to standing homes, accounts for 12.8% of all light construction in Columbus.

Today, the variety of homes awaiting the selection of central Ohio buyers is at an all time high. New schools, churches, shopping centers and recreational facilities — along with the extension of utilities and transporation services — are increasing the convenience of living areas in every section of the city.

Mortgage money and financing arrangements have become more available in keeping with the growing desire for home ownership.

Local builders now offer you an outstanding selection of homes that cover a wide range of designs, prices and locations. From this wide selection you will be able to choose the home that best suits your desires. You will be able to find and buy the home that fits your family, and makes family living easier and more comfortable.

And for home remodeling, new materials and techniques are available to make your present home as modern, convenient and enjoyable as you want!

A home of your own is a good investment for your money . . . and now is a good time to fulfill your desire for a new home. Ranch-style, split-level, two-story, whatever type of home you're looking for . . . north, south, east or west, you can be "at home" in a home of your own — new or remodeled — before school begins.

Care And Judgment Should Be Used In Painting A Child's Room

The one room in the house which is probably subjected to the most wear and tear and requires the most frequent clean-up is also the room that should be the most cheerful. This is the child's room. Parents frequently are met with the sight of Johnny's last artistic effort on the door, the place on the wall where he drew an outline of his brother in indelible ink, the dots on the ceiling from the night they used it for target practice with their slingshots and ink cartridges.

In selecting the proper type and color coating for this room, there are some basic facts the homeowner should remember, according to the experts. Armed with information about type and color, the resulting paint job will be a source of satisfaction for him and of pleasure for his children.

What, then, should be considered when choosing paint for a child's room? The following are questions which should be answered by and for the handyman for a successful paint job. Is the paint sturdy and able to withstand much art work and many cleanings? What type of surface will he be painting on? Where is the room located? What color should be used?

A latex paint is generally the best bet for the "do-it-yourselfer," painting most ordinary walls and ceilings. It is easily applied, gives a smoother appearance, leaves no lap marks, and dries quickly. It can be cleaned frequently with soap and water, and the cleaning up after the painting can also be done with soap and water. Many latex paints require a 30-day curing period before they can be washed or cleaned. Also, a few latex paints on the market today have a gloss or semi-gloss finish.

Built-Ins Make Difference In Modern Home Living

With so much of today's busy family life centered around the home it is especially important that modern builders and designers provide houses that are easier to clean and keep clean, and easier to work, cook and serve in.

With the advent of television and the increased cost of outside entertainment more families are spending more time at home. Also, more families do more at-home entertaining than ever before. In an earlier time this would add many hours to the homemaker's already busy day. But in our modern age, due to the built-in time and labor saving devices, just the opposite has come to pass.

Air conditioning is becoming a common feature in homes. Not only does it keep the house at a comfortable temperature, but it makes for less cleaning by filtering dust from the outside air before circulating it in the room.

Kitchen ventilators are now being installed which completely change stale kitchen air in three minutes, insuring the homemaker a fresh atmosphere in which to work. These units can operate on less current than a 50-watt bulb.

Builders are incorporating new, easy-to-clean windows which eliminate the bulky, drafty sashweight boxes that admit large amounts of dirt into the house.

Single-story basementless construction removes tiring stairs from the house; interiors are decorated with new, easily washable paints; kitchen surfaces are finished with stain-proof, non-marring plastic.

New types of flooring originate no dust, thus keeping houses cleaner At the same time, tests show these new materials are less fatiguing than the older types of flooring for the homemaker to walk and stand on.

In the kitchen, where the homemaker spends a good part of her day, a housekeeper revolution is afoot . New fixtures and appliances eliminate back - bending, save steps, and cut minutes and hours from performance time for various chores.

Eye-level ovens and right-height cook surfaces which make stooping unnecessary are built right into kitchen cabinets.

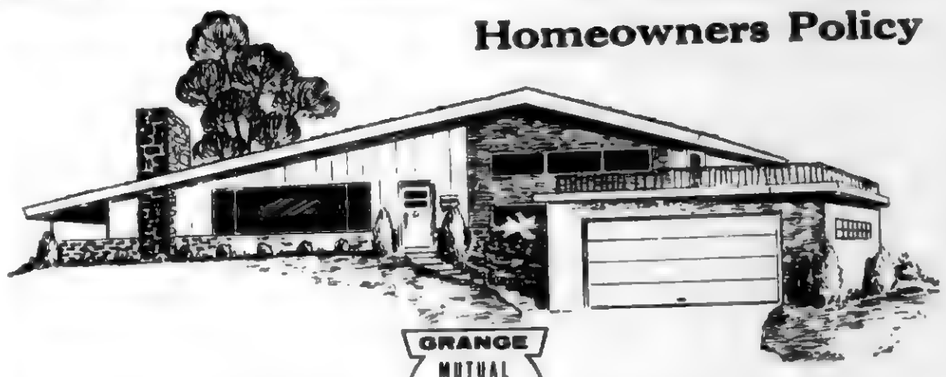
Time-consuming and tiring hunting and reaching for pots and pans is avoided by storing them on wall racks or in special storage cabinets with pull-out shelves on gliding holders.

New kitchen cabinets have doors which lift up and out of the way at the touch of a finger.

Home Value Increases As Improvements Are Added

The addition of a playroom, a swimming pool, finished basement or conversion of a garage to an apartment is in the future planning of many home owners. These improvements, planned to add comfort and space to the family's way of living, will also add thousands of dollars to the value of a home, if properly planned and constructed.

This increased value can be added to a home not only in cities or suburban centers where there is a ready market for homes but also on farms, small towns and rural areas. A prospective purchaser is usually very willing to pay the additional price for living comforts already added to a piece of property and in many cases is happy that he does not have to go to the trouble and additional financing required to furnish these comforts himself.



A swimming pool may be a profitable investment in many instances, for it may make a home worth hundreds of dollars more than the cost of the pool to assure profit for the far-sighted owner.

A swimming pool has an added value in that it can be used for fire protection simply by keeping a water pump nearby for immediate use if needed.

A favorite value-adding project is the conversion of a drab basement into an eye-appealing playroom where youngsters can have friendly gatherings. Not only does such a room add value to the home, it also keeps children at home where they can be supervised properly.

A laundry room can be included as part of the basement conversion, screening it with a low-cost lattice work or other attractive cloak. Heat for the playroom and for the laundry room's clothes dryer is available simply by connecting on to the home's gas system providing fuel for the kitchen range, furnace and other appliances and equipment.

Sporting Fun At Home For Every Size Wallet

By JACK WITTENMEIER
Hartley Sports Editor

Since Suburbia is becoming more and more sports-minded each year, have you given any thought to enriching your new home or improving your older one with sporting implements?

Home recreational facilities can not only make your leisure hours more fun but can actually make your domain more attractive and increase the value of your property.

THE SWIMMING POOL is no longer an oddity in backyard America. With so many two-car families anymore, it's not uncommon to sink three or four thousand dollars into the personalized pool.

The average backyard pool runs approximately 16 by 32. Fiberglas pools, completely equipped with diving board, underwater lights, eight-foot patio plus electrical and plumbing necessities, can be installed for $3,200.

Average pools, which include filtering systems, start at $2,700 for the vinyl-liner type, with the steel model going at $3,000 and the ceramic tile job costing under $4 000.

THE FIBERGLAS model is perhaps the most practical since it requires the least amount of maintenance. Water, which is left in the pool during the winter months, and chemicals run from $60 to $100 a year.

If you're a golfer and would like a little practice putting and chipping without legging it out to the course, greens can be installed in the back yard, assuming you have the space.

Putting green prices vary greatly, depending on the contour of your grounds. For example, if you have good natural drainage, you might have a 20 by 30 green surface installed for as little as $300

THIS CAN BE accomplished by cutting out the present sod, removing two to three feet of dirt and replacing with a combination of top soil with bent grass sod added to the surface.

If your yard does not meet natural standards, you might pay more than four times that amount to have the level reworked.

Drainage and sprinkling systems plus a sand trap or two can also fluctuate the initial cost.

FOR THOSE who are interested in home sporting activity but can't quite afford swimming pools or putting greens, there's a standard garage-driveway basketball court, selling for as little as $40 for ball, net, hoop and metal backboard.

The same set-up with wooden backboard can be purchased for under $25 or about 10 dollars if you can provide a do-it-yourself backboard.

And then, of course, there's always the national backyard pastime—badminton, available for all for as little as seven dollars.

FOR THE INDOOR sportsman, pocket billiards and table tennis are popular choices. The latter can become a part of your recreation room for $35, which includes table, net, paddles and balls.

New pocket billiard tables range in price from $775 to $1,000. Prices fluctuate according to models by about $75. Models differ by legs, castings, etc.

Price includes 12 cues, table cover, triangle rack, balls, chalk, rule book, etc. but does not include freight and installation costs—$25 smackeroos each.

COMPLETELY reconditioned tables are available for under $500, and prices in this line range according to age

These are just a few of the items that can make both summer and winter fun available at your house, and as we mentioned before, increase the property value of either old or new home.

Panel Doors Bid Welcome To Home

Paint a big pine door red, put a shiny brass door knocker on it, flank it with black louver shutters against white siding, and you have an entrance that says "Welcome!"

Perhaps that cheery Colonial look isn't your cup of tea. You may prefer the cool, contemporary look of modern architecture, or the elegance of Federal or Greek Revival houses. Whatever your preference, by using stock woodwork you can have an entrance that will dramatize the character of your home.

Guests are doubly welcomed to this new home by hostess and son, who wait at gracious double doors of paneled pine in graceful framework. Complete entrance is stock unit of ponderosa pine.

Building supply dealers today stock not only wood doors of many different designs, but also complete entrances. The entrances may have graceful fan lights, transoms, or carved pediments above the door, and mullioned sidelight panels and pilasters at the side to suit Colonial or traditional architecture.

For contemporary homes, there are entrances with simpler lines just as gracefully designed to give a warm, welcoming air to what otherwise might be a stark facade.

Stock entrances and doors of ponderosa pine are styled in authentic traditional and carefully proportioned contemporary designs.

John Cameron Swayze, noted news commentator, says:

"I'VE JUST RETURNED FROM A TRIP INTO THE FUTURE"

FOUR YEARS ago I reported on a new community in Florida that was just beginning. I've just returned from my third visit to this community and it truly was a "trip into the future." Four years ago it was raw land with a few hundred homes. Today, it is a young city of nearly 10,000 residents who are experiencing a new way of life.

What I saw four years ago on the drawing boards – in the eyes of the first residents – and in the determination of the people who were building this city – has now come true. The first stage of the future has happened.

This exciting new city is Port Charlotte, Florida, already known as the city that changed retirement to re-new-ment. Here is a city where all the comforts, conveniences and facilities are designed to make living a rewarding experience. Port Charlotte today has 3 shopping centers, nearly 100 business enterprises, 7 churches, a golf club, yacht club, almost every facility you would want for comfortable, happy, relaxed Florida living.

And even beyond this, plans have already been made for a "city in the country" ten times its present size . . . your assurance that you will have big city advantages, yet live in beauty and serenity.

Take a "trip into the future." Learn how you can make Port Charlotte's future your future.

New Design Has Changed Kitchens Of 60-Years Ago

In this modern age demands on the average housewife take her away from the kitchen for many hours a day. It is therefore a prime requisite that this important area is designed and equipped for efficiency and convenience.

It hasn't been so many years that our grandmothers spent most of their day in the kitchen and considered it a rare opportunity when they found a few spare moments for social activities.

Let's look at the kitchen at the turn of the century. A quick glance and it becomes evident why grandma was housebound. She had to hand feed the stove with coal or wood before she could light a fire. After getting the fire going she had to control the heat before she could start to cook. When she did start cooking she spent many hours literally bending over the little heat maker because the latest design in those days was low-slung and required a lot of stooping to reach the oven.

Grandma peeled, scraped, diced, sliced, pitted and cored before she boiled, stewed, fried or baked vegetables and fruits. And when dinner was over, stove-blackened pots and pans had to be scraped and scoured by hand.

The modern kitchen is palpable proof that the space age has arrived. New kitchen include wall-hung ovens—some heated instantly with infra-red rays—that open at a touch and are at waist level.

Sinks feature stainless steel basins, to cut down upkeep and increase wear.

Automatic dish-washers roll out from under cabinets, to conserve space or are free-standing so they can be moved anywhere in the kitchen.

Stoves are controlled by pushbuttons to adjust heat and measure cooking time.

Another sign of the space age is the advent of cookware that can be taken directly from the freezer and placed on the range-top.

These cooking utensils do double duty as serving pieces, since they are all made for use with detachable handles.

And so it would appear the drudgery found in kitchens of yesteryear has been minimized for the modern Mrs.

A BIT OF THE 18TH CENTURY

SPANISH AND ITALIAN country house bedrooms of the 18th century might have been very much like this one. The high and airy canopied bed might have had curtains drawn around it for winter, but the furniture around it would probably have had the same simple grace. The tawny brown wood, in this modern adaptation, is pecan. Drawer front veneers and cabinet tops and ends were selected for their rich, random figures.

OUTDOOR FUN INSIDE

A SUN ROOM was created from this ground level patio by an enterprising home owner who wanted a year-around area for enjoying the out-of-doors while enjoying indoor comforts. The stones which originally made up the scenes are more enjoyable when you are in front of the fireplace in the center of the room, while the warm days of summer are enjoyed with the coolness of air conditioning.

Now's A Good Time To Check Your Home In Preparation For Winter Weather

By RON BARLOW

A close inspection of the outside of your home during the late summer and early fall might turn out to be one of the best investments in time you have ever made. Getting the exterior of the abode in shape for the long, cold winter months ahead could save the home owner some anxious moments and costly repair bills when winter gales bring snow and ice from the north.

You might discover a paint job is in order. Even if the present paint hasn't started to peel or crack yet, it is important to remember that cold winds, sleet, ice and snow are hard on paint finishes. By catching the paint before the cracking and peeling starts, it is also possible to eliminate time-consuming or expensive scraping.

By buying a little more expensive grade of paint for your home you will find that in most cases one-coat will do the trick. Also one coat will probably given you an extra year or two of service.

Another trick to keep in mind, especially if you're planning to use one-coat paint, is to wash the area to be painted with a good strong cleaner and then hose it off. This eliminates any loose dirt that might work into your paint and darken the otherwise bright color. Since most of this loose soot and dust settles under the eaves, you'll find that failure to remove it can leave you with a two-tone paint job.

Another item to check before adding paint is the spouting and drain pipes for holes, cracks and peeling paint. Adding a sealer to cracks and holes can save time later. In many cases an application of metal paint as a base for your house paint will prevent the peeling of the surface before the rest of the home needs another coat.

One advantage to adding a needed coat of paint this season at least so far, has been the dryness of our current summer and the chilly nights which have kept the flying insects at a minimum. Few of the little bugs are circulating at the present time, to gum up the works.

However, if this situation changes before you get around to adding that paint job, you will find several repellents on the market that can be put right into the paint bucket to keep insects away until the job is finished and dry.

Another area that might need attention is the foundation of your home. A quick check for cracks and holes, especially a few inches below the ground, might be well worth the time it takes. Again the do-it-yourselfer will find preparations at the local hardware store to fill in the cracks and coat the foundation to prevent water-seepage deterioration.

Most experts agree that patching a roof is usually a lost cause. A roof almost wears out evenly, so unless someone has knocked a hole in it on purpose there's a good chance the first hole is just a preview of more to come.

In many cases just walking on a roof will open up more leaks and holes.

Many builders and suppliers have a ready stock of shingles and roof coverings available in all price ranges. Unless you are an expert yourself, it will pay you to let someone who is take care of applying the new roof.

The timely repair of loose window panes and sills while the weather is good can save many dollars in fuel bills and broken windows at a more critical time. In most cases the addition of putty or some of the liquid wood fillers can take care of these troubles and if you do it before you paint the repair can be covered over and made to blend with the older putty and wood.

These are just a few of the maintenance items and repair hints a home owner might consider in preparing his house for the coming winter. Like most items that are exposed to the year-round elements proper care can do much to extend its life and usefulness.

Builders, contractors and suppliers listed in this special section of your newspaper will be happy to advise you and offer more hints to prolong the life of your dwelling. Don't hesitate to call on them and seek their aid and advice when needed.

Living Room Look Moves Into Kitchen

By Mary Lou Holton

The kitchen is the first place most house - hunting families look for quality. Most-wanted in a new kitchen are more space and a full complement of top-quality major kitchen appliances, according to builders sensitive to the demands of today's families.

One survey found that the average one-family home has only 150 square feet of kitchen space, and the average apartment only 103. Families who have endured kitchens of this size are quickly attracted to new homes with spacious, well designed kitchens.

Last year, in response to this yearning for larger kitchens, more than 80 per cent of the nation's builders included dining space within the kitchen area.

Next to space, the quality, size and number of appliances are most important. Kitchen designers who work with builders agree that today's smartly styled, labor-saving electric appliances such as ranges, refrigerator - freezers and dishwashers are important to the convenience and livability of a home. They also add to the sale and resale value of a house.

Today's built-in electric ranges are compatible with the "living-room look" desired in modern kitchens. The variety of drop-in ranges, separate surface cooking elements and built-in wall ovens, double or single, makes it easy to design an inviting, convenient kitchen, regardless of its shape.

Electric ranges with automatic stop and start timers, easy-to-reach broilers, automatic meat thermometers, large built-in double ovens, surface heating elements that are adjustable to pan sizes, and optional rotisseries are features women look for when they're shopping for a new home.

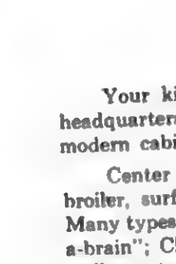
They also want roomy electric refrigerator freezers.

Today's customer expects a refrigerator of at least 13 or 14 cubic feet for the average family, according to building authorities. Most popular are the large combination units that cut down on marketing trips by providing an ample larder for a week or more at a time.

In addition to plenty of storage space for frozen and fresh foods, women now look for electric refrigerator-freezers that never need defrosting, even in the freezer section. The new squared-off lines fit snugly under and between cabinets, adding to the built-in look so much in demand today.

An automatic dishwasher, new to most families only ten years ago, has quickly become one of the basic appliances home buyers expect to find in a modern kitchen.

Today's electric dishwashers hold more dishes, save more time, and get dishes cleaner than ever. They help keep sinks and counters neat and uncluttered, making the kitchen more livable all day long.



New Dutch Door Recalls Delights Of Days of Yore

The Dutch who colonized our country introduced the double door, which has never lost favor. With its romantic air and practical application, the Dutch door is as popular today as ever it was. Doors like the one above can be bought from local building materials dealers, ready to be installed and painted or stained. They come in a variety of designs, and are made of sturdy ponderosa pine, which has been chemically treated to make them weather-resistant.

Spilt-Level Living Can Provide Economical Use Of Existing Space

The day when split-level construction was the symbol of a suburban society and was looked on as a status symbol, provided at a more than average cost, has passed.

In today's search for the most for your money and the economical use of space and construction area, the split-level home has come into its own. Not only is it a departure from the conventional architecture of the past, but its esthetic appeal and staggered design has offered the home-builder an attractive dwelling at a reasonable cost.

For example, you could take a one-story house with basement and saw the house in half. Then raise one of the halves so that what used to be part of the basement area becomes an above ground living area.

This gives you more living space at low additional cost, because the over-all perimeter and roof area remain substantially the same.

In such a home the area gained by the change could contain a recreation room, garage, entrance foyer and lavatory. This addition is contained under the same roof and allows the new area to be added within the same amount of space as before.

There are many plans available for the split-level home, ranging from tri-level to bi-level. In many cases existing homes can be remodeled to provide the extra space available in split-level homes.

Many Columbus architects and builders are available to discuss plans for constructing a split-level home. Many attractive designs are possible with proper utilization of available building materials and local contractors' skills.

Proper Care Will Preserve Range

The housewife who is the proud possessor of a new gas kitchen range can keep it looking new for years if she'll give it the proper care.

Following these suggestions from the American Gas Association will assure a kitchen range that will operate not only with top efficiency, but with lasting beauty:

Use flat-bottom pans, thereby avoiding upsets and spill-overs and utilizing heat more efficiently.

Wipe food smudges at once with a dry paper towel or cloth. Accidential spills are bound to occur, but dull finish on range enamel or discolored ovens may be avoided by promptly cleaning food spatters and smudges.

Wash the sections of removable oven linings as you would a plate. If grease has baked on the linings, place a saucer of household ammonia in the oven overnight. Next morning wash the linings in warm, soapy water, wipe with a moistened cloth and dry.

Cool the broiling pan before cleaning it. Instead of tucking it back in the range, let the pan cool, then soak it in hot, soapy water before washing finish to its original luster.

The surface is impervious to wear, never needs refinishing and goes well with any style of furniture or color scheme. Since the glass can't warp or swell, the danger of the doors sticking is eliminated.

When remodeling where conventional doors of the pocket or by-pas type are already installed, it is a simple matter to replace them with sliding mirror doors.

Where home owners wish to convert closets which have regular hinged doors, however, the face-mounted floor-to-ceiling type is the easiest to use as they mount securely to the wall studs and avoid the necessity of reinforcing the header to accommodate the additional weight. Here again, a good builder can be in valuable in helping to make the correct choice of door style.

Mirrors can double the size of a room, provide a flattering back-ground, or give a third dimension to any part of a room that is reflected in it.

Mirrors can brighten and spark a dark or windowless foyer, corner or hall, and give an area architectural unity.

Mirrors pick up the color of beautiful draperies, make twins of prize possessions, distribute and create light. They add gaiety or regal dignity or sheer drama.

Although mirrors as decoration are not new, they have, over the past few years, become a vastly valuable material in the decorative field. This increasing importance of mirror magic in today's decor is reemphasized by its strategic, functional and discriminate use by owners engrossed in home improvement.

TOP EFFICIENCY and lasting beauty can be preserved in a newly purchased kitchen range by the homemaker who takes a few minutes each day to give proper maintenance and care to this valuable piece of equipment. Manufacturers usually give tips for preserving and extending the life of their kitchen products.

Patchwork Out; Do Complete Job On Leaky Roof

Patchwork sometimes pays—when the elbows of a favorite jacket give out, for instance. But it's false economy to patch a shabby, leaky roof.

A roof usually wears out evenly, so when one or two leaks develop in an old roof, others may be quick to follow. Sometimes just walking on an old roof to patch it opens up new leaks.

Better than spot repairs is a complete new roof. Asphalt shingles, which are low in applied cost, durable, and attractive, can be applied over most existing roofs, making re-roofing practical in any season. A new asphalt shingle roof will add value to the house and will protect it for years.

In making gelatin salads or desserts, always used cooked or canned pineapple. Raw pineapple contains an enzyme which prevents the gelatin from congealing.

Attention To Each Room Provides Harmony In Home

Pleasing harmony is no accident. The well-dressed woman the delectable meal or the unforgettable melody all result from the careful blending of many possible ingredients.

So it is with the harmoniously decorated home, says the Home Furnishings Industry Committee. Each ingredient is selected for its contribution to the total effect.

Fortunately, money plays a secondary role, for a large furnishings budget is not a prerequisite for an interesting decor.

Our First Lady's favorite designer, Oleg Cassini, recently commented in a national publication that one of the best dressed women he knew was a secretary. Similarly, some of the loveliest homes are done on a limited budget.

But, as with the well-groomed woman, the total look is achieved by close attention to each part. Your house is not a few separate rooms, but a total home. Any one room left to chance will undoubtedly took it and destroy any semblance of harmony within the total decor.

As each home is the sum of its parts, it is well to know all the ingredients that compose it.

First of all, there are certain architectural facts that cannot be denied. They include room sizes, placement of windows, fireplaces, doors, built-ins, etc. They should be studied for the contributions they make to the effect you want. And if they don't help? Learn to practice the art of illusion. Color wallpaper, mirrors and wallcoverings that simulate architectural effects can help you add depth, heighten, shorten, disguise and overcome defects.

Among the magical ingredients you have for dressing your home are color, fabric, lighting, accessories, window dressings, floor coverings, room arrangement and furnishings. You then must learn to discriminate what you need from a mass of objects that display varying degrees of artistic integrity.

Each of these ingredients should be used solely for its compatability with the total effect you are seeking. That effect is based on your family's personality, preference, budget and everyday restaggering variety.

Planning must be your guide word, for a multitude of home furnishings are available to you today. No matter how limited your funds, how off-beat your taste, the furniture market offers quality furniture in a staggering variety.

Creating harmony is not done casually. It presents a creative challenge to any homemaker that demands study and planning. Experience may help, but nothing is as important as imagination and ingenuity.

Use of Door Mirror Can Add To Attractiveness

A quick way to "spruce-up" an otherwise unattractive bedroom might be to replace the usual closet door with a full-length sliding mirror door.

Many interior designers and decorators have found this is the way to add more light and the appearance of space to a small bedroom, while gaining the advantage of a handy, full-length dressing mirror to aid in grooming.

Unlike some remodeling projects which require extensive changes to the walls, sliding mirror doors can, with the help of a competent builder, be installed on existing closets with a minimum of carpentry work.

There are three basic types to suit any room — the recessed type which rolls out of sight into a wall "pocket" when opened, the by-pass type which has the doors mounted on parallel tracks and can be opened from either side, and the floor-to-ceiling, surface-mounted type which is highly adjustable to closets having conventional hinged doors.

Because they slide rather than swing, the doors save valuable floor space, allowvaluable floor space, allowwhich would not be practiced in the same room with conventional doors.

There is little to be gained in remodeling any room if the end result brings about considerable more everyday maintenance. With sliding mirror doors, however, an occasional cleaning with a damp cloth is all that is needed to remove finger marks and smudges and return the

Making Wall Decorations For New Home Can Help Pocketbook

Many young families, upon moving into that new home, are forced to forego the wall decorations they'd like until the budget recovers from the major expenditures. If you find your mind a blank, as well as your walls and your chockboard, here are a few inexpensive decorating ideas.

Try hanging a round wicker basket with a shallow rim flat against the wall above your planter of philodendron and train the leaves around the basket. One plant we've seen grows from a brown glass jug and circles a wicker bread tray about two feet in diameter. As the plant grows, the homemaker will guide it with toothpicks to make a spiral of leaves inside the basket, too.

If you've a hankering for one of those elegant mosaics, you might be surprised at what you can create from pastel-tinted stone chips sold for fishbowls. With a package or two of them, a can of putty, and an unwanted picture frame with glass, you should be able to work out an abstract or still life that would belie the fact that the chips are down as far as your decorating budget is concerned. Spray the surface with clear acrylic spray to make your work dustproof.

While you're in the dime store getting your mosaic materials, pick a set of plain white earthenware plates, one for each member of the family. You can letter each name at the bottom and paint caricatures with ceramic paint. One clever mother of five did hers with bits of calico, felt, and yarn in a Gay 90's motif, using sequins for earrings and the like. A natural for the family-room wall!

For a child's room, why not make a "grow chart" of a harmonizing 18-inch width of linen or denim. Stitch a 36-inch tape measure down the middle and decorate with embroidery or iron-on tape.

Another practical and colorful addition to a youngster's bedroom wall is an old-fashioned expanding hatrack with 10 or 12 pegs. On these hooks hang pajamas and clothes, or—even better — the child's collection of hats ranging from Indian headdress to baseball cap, Army helmet, firechief's hat, or football helmet which every young man seems to own but seldom can find.

One proud mama we know framed a large panel of clear plate glass. On the back (so the exposed surface can be washed) she has pressed footprints and handprints of each child at birthday time in a random pattern. The prints are made by wetting the child's foot or hand with white shoe polish (the non-toxic type) to which a drop of food coloring has been added.

The family portraits can always be displayed, especially in the master bedroom. One family with six children has each represented at every birthday (with a similar pose for that age) in a six-portrait-deep row around two walls. Needless to say, it's a large room!

In the kitchen a hand-painted family tree on one wall is a great attention-getter with a stylized apple tree bearing a red fruit for each offspring. Taping a pre-schooler's finger paintings or crayon sketches to the cupboard doors does a lot for his morale and brightens the kitchen, too. And the decor can be changed every week.

Without going any farther than the basement or, at most, the five and ten, you should be able to come up with some clever creations that will make your wall flower, if not fairly bloom!

NAUTICAL THEME FOR BEDROOM

UNUSED ATTIC SPACE can become an especially attractive bedroom for the younger members of the family and can easily double as a recreation area for entertaining youthful guests. Here is a nautical den-bedroom utilizes storage drawers under the bed to take advantage of otherwise wasted space and eliminate under-the-bed dusting. The floor covering, featuring a compass design in the center, is made of easy cleaning vinyl-asbestos tile.

Utilize Your Closet Space With Built-Ins

With judicious planning, the wise homemaker can create and outfit closets to provide efficient, compact storage in a minimum amount of spade. A closet should have racks, shelves, narrow trays and drawers to provide a proper place for everything it contains.

Closets with built-in conveniences can achieve greater and more flexible facilities than furniture occupying the same amount of space.

Pre-plan the best dimensions for the closet needed by figuring out approximate sizes and shapes of what the closet is to contain. When you have listed the items that need storing, decide on the arrangement — side-by-side or vertically — whether they are to be stacked or to be hung.

All items should be closeted in the nearest possible point of use, whether it's food, clothing or sporting goods. If better use of existing closet space will not adequately meet your needs—build new closets — because closets belong wherever storage spaces and good locks are needed.

Wasted space under stairs or a dead-end hall can be ideal for built-in closets. Closets, by their very utilitarian nature are apt to take a beating, so ease of maintenance should be considered. Any one of ten species of Western Pine region solid lumber is economical in purchase price, installation and upkeep.

The modern simplicity and beauty of wood give well-built cabinets and closets a custom look. Beautifully grained, durable wood harmonizes and enhances any decor.

In a family or multi-purpose room, build permanent sports or hobby closets. A hobby closet containing a special section for photographic equipment — sliding drawer trays for film projectors and editing gear, racks for film containers — will delight camera-minded members of the family.

A built-in sewing center with a drop-down cutting board, a shelf for the sewing machine, compartmentalized drawers for patterns and materials, and narrow racks for spools of thread and countless little sewing accessories would serve to increase the joys of home sewing.

Kitchen closets can be much more than a cubby-hole to store the broom and dust-pan. Build a storage closet with defined areas for long-handled mops, brooms, compartments for cleaning supplies and a high out-of-the-reach of children shelf for poisonous cleaners.

A storage closet for canned goods is always convenient; shelves will be more accessible if they are narrow — perhaps a can's width wide. Use the same finish grade and species of lumber to match the doors to closets. These doors can slide, fold or swing depending on your closet.

Double the use of bedroom closets by adding sliding shelves for shoes and hats, shallow trays for handbags and gloves. Fragrant Inland Red Cedar is an obvious choice for bedroom closets. Stained or painted to match your present decor and with the the addition of a bank of louvered doors on the closets would add that extra touch to any bedroom.

Entranceway Introduces Home

The introduction to the interior of your home, the entryway or hallway, should offer the visitor a preview of what the rest of your home is like. Many effects can be achieved by utilizing available space and adding to it while keeping the overall decor of your home in mind.

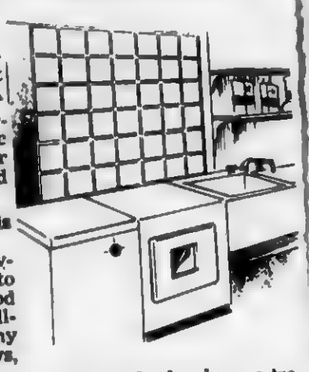
Beautiful raised-panel Idaho White Pine makes a traditional style backdrop while rough sawn Ponderosa Pine creates a more casual contemporary effect.

Even if the entry hall is small, there should be some kind of table or built-in chest on which to lay things down. A mirror too, is a convenient note for family and guests.

If the entry hall looks directly into the living room, Again, according to individual plan some sort of screen. taste and existing decor, attractive screens range from filagree fretwork to solid wood sliding screens to match the wall paneling.

A free-standing closet or cupboard can act as a room-divider screen. It offers protection when the front door is open and also provides additional storage space. You can add sliding or louvered doors to your closet or cabinet.

Panel with warm solid lumber to achieve a visual effect of flowing space in the halls of your home. Create a casual air with random widths of eye-catching, practical Ponderosa Pine or a more formal theme by using uniform widths of clear grade Larch. Run richly grained White Fir paneling horizontally to make halls longer and lower, or a vertical pattern using handsome Incense Cedar to make halls seemingly higher.



No other modern wallcovering material is as easy to maintain as solid wood. Wood is easily handled and installed, can be applied in many different and interesting ways, and tinted in many colors.

Many home-owners leave lovely lustrous wood in a natural state while others prefer to stain or color their wood paneling and built-ins. Western Pine region lumber takes readily and holds on to paint and stains. Again, individual family needs and tastes should decide what is best.

To further add usefulness to the halls and corridors in your home consider built-in book cases, shallow chests for storage or cabinets tucked under windows. Put barren wall space to good use but remember not to clutter passageways —hallway built-ins and accessories should be helpful not hazardous.

The possibilities for homeowners lucky enough to have a dead-end hall are limitless. This is ideal for a spacious storage wall of rugged, durable and texturally handsome lumber Or incorporate a handy office.

Light Laundry

The laundry has been a traditionally dark corner of the home, and the true whiteness of the family wash was never seen until after it left the room. Not any more. Light admitted by easy-to-install glass block areas provides a constant check on the whiteness and brightness of everything laundered from dainties to dungarees. To clean glass blocks, simply wipe with a damp cloth.

Many cakes and other desserts covered with icing come in cellophane packages. By placing the package in the freezing compartment of a refrigerator for 15 minutes the cellophane can easily be removed, leaving all the icing intact.

Best investment for safety... sidewalks of modern concrete

The vital safety advantages of sidewalks hardly need telling — especially to parents. Youngsters on the way to school must have a place to walk, away from busy traffic. (And one that gives them no excuse to test mud puddles all along the route.)

There's no substitute for a concrete sidewalk. Concrete's unique grainy surface is "non-slip" for even greater safety.

The going is easy for wet-weather walkers. And laid flat and level, concrete stays where it is placed—doesn't sink into hollow spots that collect muddy water.

Surprisingly low in cost, concrete sidewalks are a lasting investment. You can count on a lifetime of good service without upkeep expense. And concrete sidewalks let visitors know that the people here are proud of where they live.

Urban Areas May Soon Link Metropolitan Centers

LIKE THE ARMS of a giant octopus the city reaches out to engulf the surrounding rural area and continues to reach for other metropolitan centers. Experts say a vast network of urban areas could link Ohio's great cities by 1975. This aerial view of the West Side of Columbus shows all the elements which are important for this orderly growth to continue. On the left the older area of the city extends to the railroad tracks where a type of "buffer zone" has been established by the Valleyview Community Center. This area contains a church, parsonage, YMCA Branch, elementary and junior high school and park. To the right of this area is the newly constructed suburban Valleyview Heights. Industry is represented at the top of the picture by the big Westinghouse plant of W. Broad-st. Another center, vital to growth, is represented by the Great Western Shopping Center at the top of the picture. Even since this picture was taken a few months ago the area has grown and many new constructions are not shown.

HARTLEY NEWSPAPERS

Homes

COLUMBUS, OHIO — JULY 24, 25, 1963

A vast network of urban population, linking Ohio's great metropolitan centers, is not far off, say three Ohio rural sociologists. Wade H. Andrews, J. Ross Eshleman, and John B. Mitchell. Andrews and Eshleman are with the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, Mitchell with the Ohio Agricultural Extension Service.

There is a "galloping growth" in the fringe areas, the rural sociologists say, a growth which promises to link major metropolitan centers over large areas of the state. When this linkage actually will take place is anybody's guess. It could happen before 1975. The sociologists refer to a vast area interlocked by urban populations as a megalopolis.

Much of Ohio is deep in the process of megalopolis development, the sociologists say. The Columbus metropolitan area, although still not interlocked with other large centers, is an example of the growing process as it pushes out its boundaries, they point out. Employees of Columbus industry and commerce establish residences 20 to 60 miles from the city.

The sociologists note that the growing merger of urban and rural areas around Cleveland and Cincinnati extends as far out as the second tier of counties, and in some cases as far out as the third tier.

They point out that the spread of the city into the country is not new. During the past 20 years the growth of the suburbs and rural fringe areas has steadily outstripped that of the urban centers. Population trends in Franklin County are an example. The largest percentages of growth in Franklin County occurred in areas other than Columbus. These "urban" areas showed increases of 172.6 per cent from 1940 to 1950 and increases of 139.8 per cent from 1950 to 1960. Areas gaining population the fastest were those surrounding the city of Columbus.

This growth was so rapid, according to the sociologists, that several villages of less than 1,000 expanded through annexation and achieved official city status of 5,000 population by 1960. This trend, along with the large annexations which doubled the geographical area of Columbus, accounted for a high percentage of the urban growth in the past decade. On the other hand, the rural farm population in Franklin County during this period dropped considerably.

A House Or Home?

By BOB KIEBEL

House or home? Webster defines the two words as a dwelling place. Practically the same really, but not. There is a difference — a big difference.

Regardless of size or shape, age or cost, a house is only a house until it is made into a home.

Workmen may put up the walls, nail down the roof and paint the interior, but it still remains a house. Construction can never make a home.

Contractors and realtors may offer it for sale as a "home," not falsely but wisely. A home cannot be bought.

A house may even be purchased on a "home loan," but that still doesn't make it so. Neither the money nor the builder can change the structure from a house.

The house may be purchased and the very best interior decorators brought in to advise, but it still remains a house.

A family moves in and it becomes a dwelling place. Even children are added but it's still a house. Just a place to hang your hat.

Not money nor furnishings nor people can change it from a house. When, then, does it become a home?

A house becomes a home only when love and understanding are added.

It can't be brought in boxes or crates — only in the heart.

It can't be purchased with money or goods — only when it's given freely.

You can not see, feel or smell it, but everyone knows when it is there.

Only then does it become a home.

More Buyers Now Seen Entering New Home Market

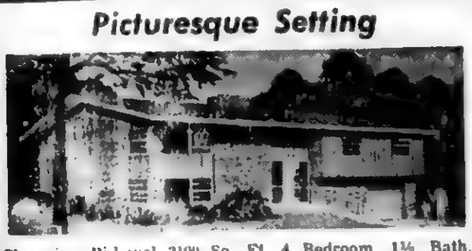
Apparently encouraged by the greater number of homes for sale at generally lower prices than a year ago, more buyers are entering the residential market, Daniel F. Sheehan, Sr., president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards said recently. He made this report as he released the 74th market study of the Association's Department of Research.

The study shows that demand for both new and existing housing is up somewhat compared to a year ago.

Participants in the survey indicated that favorable business conditions and renewed optimism of consumers were the main reasons for the revitalization of consumer demand for housing. The potential buyers are described, in general, as being more demanding since the majority of them are not buying from necessity and were experienced.

Lower mortgage interest rates and more liberal mortgage terms have also been quoted frequently as contributory factors to the improved volume of demand. Survey respondents in some areas noted competition between that sales and rental markets with recent good quality apartment construction attracting and holding tenants who might otherwise have bought homes.

The study concludes, however, that "home ownership has so many advantages over renting and is so well established as a part of our way of life that no appreciable trend away from it is likely to be formed."



Compared to a year ago, the demand for existing housing is said to be up substantially in 13 per cent of the country, up moderately in 33 per cent of the areas, about the same in 22 per cent, and down substantially in 7 per cent.

With respect to new housing, demand is said to be up substantially in 10 per cent of the nation, up moderately in 34 per cent, about the same in 28 per cent, down moderately in 21 per cent, and down substantially in 7 per cent.

Noting that prices of existing homes in many places are reported to be lower this year than 12 months ago. Sheehan observed "this reflects the fact that home owners across the country are becoming increasingly aware of the end of inflationary tendencies in the housing market and hence are pricing their homes more realistically in terms of what today's buyers are willing to pay."

For existing houses built in 1950 or later and priced under $12 000 prices are higher today compared to a year ago in 15 per cent of the nation the same in 30 per cent, and lower in 46 per cent. In the $12.000 — $20,000 range, prices are higher in 18 per cent of the communities, the same in 42 per cent, and lower in 40 per cent. In the $20,000 and over group comparable percentages are 15, 35 and 50.

Cleaning Tips Help Save Time, Work

Whether you're buying a home or want to keep your present home looking like new, here are a few hints for cleaning and repairing.

1. DISHWATER FILM — Fill dishwasher with all your glasses and porcelain china. Never put any silver, aluminum or brass in the washer when this method is used. Pour one cup of household bleach into a bowl and place in the bottom of the dishwasher. Run through washing cycle but do not dry. Fill bowl again with one cup of vinegar and let the dishwasher go through the entire cycle. This will remove all film not only from your glasses but from the dishwasher as well.

2. MATCH STREAKS — On some items these can be removed by cutting a lemon in half and rubbing the sulphur marks. Be sure that the item can tolerate lemon juice!

3. SINK STAINS — Household cleanser (scouring powder type) which contains bleach may be made into a paste and rubbed on the sink. Leave this overnight. Rinse as usual. This often takes away stains that have been there a long time.

4. COFFEE AND TEA STAINS — This refers to thermosetting plastic cups. Fill cups with water and add one teaspoon baking soda to each. Let stand overnight and rise thoroughly the next morning.

5. WATER MARKS — For those white marks left from glasses on table tops, apply mayonnaise and rub it in. Let stand and wipe clean with a soft cloth in an hour or so.

6. SCRATCHED MAHOGANY — Woodwork or furniture can be repaired by painting the scratches with iodine. After applying iodine, go over the entire surface with furniture polish and this will eliminate any noticeable defects. For ebony furniture, use black liquid shoe polish or black eyebrow pencil. Wipe this with a furniture polish cloth.

7. DARK MARKS — These marks can usually be removed by mopping with a solution of trisodium phosphate and water. If there are any really obstinate marks, then lighter fluid will undo the worst. This evaporates so fast that it will not do any harm. If the lighter fluid is spilled on the floor and not immediately wiped off, however, it may leave a mark or spot all its own. Lighter fluid should never be left where children can get to it.

8. RUG BURNS — Take a thread pulled from your carpet to any good stationery store. Buy a crayon that exactly matches and rub in on the rug. It will help blot the spot.

Dividers Are Useful In ModernHome

Add a divider and make your room more attractive. Many homemakers have found the wise use of the half-wall sets off one area from another without actually separating the two. Also it is easier to put up and less costly than a full wall.

With modern emphasis on multipurpose living areas, room dividers also help define the function of a particular area without limiting its usefulness to only one purpose.

Most important in designing a room divider is to determine how much separation you want. For example ,if your front entrance door opens into a small living room, you would want the barest suggestion of a wall to divide the entrance area from the rest of the room. A heavy divider would chop space off the room almost as much as a solid wall. A divider made up of lightweight 1¼-inch wood poles would serve this purpose.

Depending upon the degree of separation desired, you could add to this divider by positioning the poles in a planter. Vines give the divider a little more weight. You could use more horizontal pieces or add a diamond shaped panel to increase the amount of separation between the two areas.

Red Fox Hollow Offers Two New Home Buys

The newest section of Red Fox Hollow is now open and ready for inspection according to an announcement from the developer of the area.

There are two new models now available at prices not featured before in this area which has grown to more than 150 homes. Features of the development include quiet charm and suburban elegance.

A new home of the Cape Cod variety, now available, is equipped with five bedrooms, two complete baths, a large basement and attached garage. Considered one of the best values over offered by the developer, it is priced at $19,995, with terms available to suit the buyer.

Another outstanding home buy is the Revere. It is a two-story colonial including full basement, one and a half baths and a two-car garage priced at $17,995. Both homes offer excellent buys in the popular sub-division.

Red Fox Hollow is located on Rose Hill-rd, just off of E. Broad-st. All homes come with a life-time guarantee on the moragage which means that at any time or for any reason an owner wishes to sell the builder will guarantee to purchase the home for the amount of the mortgage.

The public is invited to visit the new model homes and salesmen are on hand to discuss terms and point out features.

Savings and Loan Associations Rise From Obscurity To Become Important Factor in Economy Of Nation

A particularly striking outgrowth of the demand for specialized financial skills in recent years has been the vast growth of savings and loan associations across the country. Within a decade and a half these institutions have risen from relative obscurity to become an important part of the total economy. At present, the total assets of the national savings and loan business are second only to those of the commercial bank system, and the growth rate of associations during this period has been substantially greater than that of the commercial banks.

The rapid development of savings and loan associations into a major national financial system has been primarily based on the public's need for an ample and constant source of home mortgage credit.

During World War II the private housing market had virtually died out due to an acute shortage of construction materials and the absence of any substantial demand for private housing. Moreover, the war had been immediately preceded by more than ten years of economic depression. During most of this period, there was relatively little capital to finance home buying and few families with sufficient income to make such a purchase.

We came out of the war, therefore, with a very serious housing shortage which was further intensified by the return of millions of war veterans to their families, a sudden upsurge in new family formations and the general prosperity stimulated by the war-time economy.

No other nation in history had ever built private housing before on such a grand scale, and to do so depended upon finding a way to reach the mass market of average income families. A new concept of home financing was needed, and the savings and loan associations, which had specialized in financing homes for more than a hundred years, were the only institutions that had developed a lending plan suitable for the great majority of American families.

Throughout the late 1940s and all of the 1950s, the demand for housing seemed inexhaustible. In 1944, private non-farm housing starts had dwindled to 138,700; but by 1950 annual new home starts passed the one million mark for the first time, and more than one million homes have been built in each succeeding year through 1959 when a record 1,494,600 starts were reported. Since then, between 1.2 and 1.4 million starts have contributed greatly to the trend toward lower down payments and longer maturities, but throughout this great housing boom the savings and loan business was obviously the pacemaker in providing the vast amounts of credit needed to support the rising levels of home building and home buying.

The total annual mortgage lending volume of associations increased from under $2 billion nationally in 1945 to $5.2 billion in 1950, reached $11.3 billion in 1955 and will exceed $20 billion for the first year on record in 1962.

During this period, the savings and loan business increased its share of under-$20,000 nonfarm mortgage recordings from 31 percent in 1950 to 37 percent in 1955 and presently is responsible for 45 percent of the total market.

Savings and loan associations now clearly dominate the home mortgage field. Their nearest competitors are the commercial banks which contributed 16 percent of the non-farm recordings during 1961. Individuals were responsible for 11.7 percent of the market that year, and mutual savings banks for 5.6 percent. Other mortgagees shared 19.2 percent of the market.

Of course, associations could only grow as fast as they attracted new savings from the public, but the great demand for savings and loan home mortgage funds enabled the majority of these institutions to offer a higher return on savings than any of their competitors.

This competitive advantage had the maximum effect during a period in which the average family's income was rapidly drawing away from the minimum cost of living. The figures show that by far the greatest portion of the new funds available for savings went to the savings and loan business.

At the end of World War II, associations held $7.4 billion in total savings; in 1950, savings had increased to $14 billion; in 1955, to $32.2 billion and at the end of 1962, the total savings held by associations will exceed $80 billion.

Mutual savings banks, the nearest competitor to associations among the thrift institutions, held $15.3 billion in savings at the end of 1945, $20 billion in 1950, $28 billion in 1955, and will hold slightly more than $40 billion at the end of 1962.

Total savings deposits held by the nation's commercial banks in 1945 were nearly four times as great as the savings held by associations, somewhat more than twice as great in 1950, only 50 percent greater in 1955 and today commercial bank savings deposits exceed savings and loan savings funds by only about $10 billion, and their totals include a substantial sum of corporate deposits not available to the associations in large amounts.

In terms of total assets, the national savings and loan business has increased its size more than ten times since 1945. Current assets of more than $93 billion are approximately double those of the mutual savings bank system.

The United States today is on the threshold of a new era in housing—a period when families will find it easier to own better, more comfortable homes at a more attractive price.

Already there are unmistakable signs that the home buyer of the 1960s will be on the receiving end of a better housing package than his counterpart in the decade just past.

For instance:

In most areas of the nation, home mortgage money is more readily available to home buyers and at lower rates from the nation's insured savings and loan associations. Mortgage funds are so ample that a return to the "tight money" conditions of the 1950s is unlikely in the foreseeable future.

On the construction front, builders have discovered that today's home buyers are more selective and require a better house. With home construction operating at less than peak levels, builders are catering to the demands of the cost-conscious, quality-minded home buyer of the 1960s.

In both cases, competition is the reason.

Financial institutions and builders find themselves competing more vigorously to serve a somewhat smaller number of home buyers than was the case just a few years ago. Then, the demands for credit—including home financing funds—were so great that mortgage rates rose and some buyers were unable to secure the financing they sought.

Today, credit demands of the nation are less. As a result, home financing funds are more ample and interest rates have declined in response to the conditions of the market. Many experts expect this situation to continue over the next several years.

Just as financial institutions have reduced mortgage rates to attract home mortgage borrowers, so, too, builders are shaving their costs to stimulate sales—meaning, of course, that today's home buyer can expect a "better deal" on both counts.

But even more important, the great population explosion portends major change in the nation's housing habits.

Insured savings and loan associations—which are the nation's major source of funds for home financing—are vitally interested in the construction of the homes which they finance.

Just as they are constantly measuring the breadth and depth of the housing market with special research studies, it is equally possible that in future years, savings associations may extend their research operations to the makeup of the home of the future.

At the present time, there are some savings and loan leaders who believe that the savings and loan industry should consider the problem of housing for the aged and develop a program for the design, construction, financing and management of projects in this area.

With resources rapidly approaching $100 billion, the nation's insured savings associations are ideally set up to handle special problems in the entire housing and home finance field in a manner never before thought possible.

If this should develop—and there are those who believe it will — major advancements in terms of design, construction and financing of homes may be on the horizon for the home owner of the future.

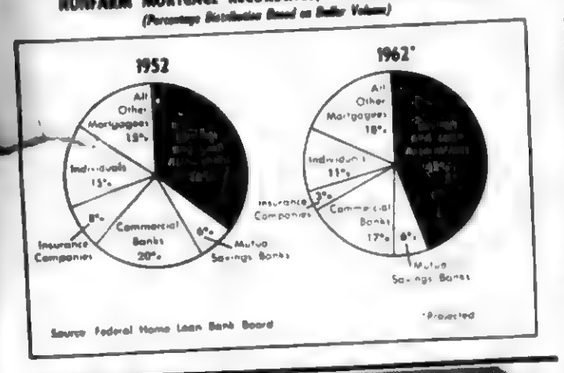
The savings and loan industry, dedicated to promoting thrift and opportunity for homeownership by the average citizen, has become the country's fastest growing major savings medium and its greatest single source of private mortgage credit. We estimate that, at the close of 1962, member institutions of the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation reached over $90,000,000,000 in assets, nearly $76,000,000,000 in mortgage loans held, and close to $77,000,000,000 in accumulated savings capital. By the end of 1963, FSLIC-insured institutions should constitute a $104,000,000,000 industry with mortgage holdings of nearly $86,000,000,000 and savings capital of more than $87,000,000,000.

Success Story

This has been a great success story, but that does not mean that savings and loan associations can rest on their laurels. If they do, they will lose the vitality that brought them such distinction in the financial world. Now, more than ever before, they owe to their community, State and Nation expanded services directed to the still unmet areas of housing need.

In addition, all home mortgage lending institutions face the serious problem of a relatively stable housing market. No further great increase in home building starts is expected before the late 1960s, and meanwhile the savings inflow into all institutions is at a record level. This means more money with less outlets in the home mortgage market, and it certainly will tend to keep interest rates down in the next few years.

However, there are many new opportunities which savings and loan associations are just beginning to explore. Among the most promising outlets for larger savings and loan investments in the future are the booming apartment construction field, privately financed urban renewal and housing for the aging projects and land acquisition and development. Recent legislation and regulatory changes have increased the lending powers of associations in all these areas. It also does not seem improbable that savings and loan institutions in the future will begin to lend funds for the purchase of items intrinsically associated with housing such as furniture and appliances as well as to increase their present activities in home improvement and modernization loans.



Better Equipped

With ample funds and broadened authority to lend them, savings and loan associations are now better equipped than ever to provide a wide variety of financing, from site purchase and development loans to construction loans for a home, an apartment, a store, or a shopping center. Additional authority to lend and participate in loans on large apartment houses is provided in the recently enacted H.R. 13044. A board regulation now in the proposal stage would permit Federal savings and loan associations to lend an additional 5 percent of assets for construction or improvement of housing facilities for aging persons, including rest homes and nursing homes. Nearing the stage of presentation as a proposal is a regulation that would authorize Federal savings and loan associations to invest in certificates of beneficial interest issued by urban renewal trusts.

New Authority

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board intends to do everything that is practicable and that meets with Administration approval to facilitate the job of financing that needs to be done.

Choosing Right Size Vital In Buying Air Conditioner

When buying a room air conditioner, it's important to select one with the right cooling power. There's no point in buying a 12,000 BTU/hr unit if an 8,000 BTU/hr unit will do the job. A unit with excessive cooling capacity won't do a better job, but it will cost more to buy and operate.

Room air conditioner dealers are equipped to advise families on what size units they'll need and where they should be installed, but dealers need information to arrive at an accurate estimate.

Pertinent Points

The homeowner should be able to tell . dealer:

1. The size and use of the area to be cooled.
2. Number and location of windows.
3. What exposure outside walls have to the sun.
4. Whether electric circuits are 115, 208 or 230 volts.
5. Whether ceiling or roof above is insulated.

The National Better Business Bureau, Inc., in a current booklet on room air conditioners, advises families to draw a simple floor plan to show the area to be cooled in relation to the rest of the house. Using the above information, a dealer can determine the cooling capacity needed in BTU's per hour.

Blend with Decor

Families who buy room air conditioners this year will find it's easier than ever to get a unit to meet specific cooling needs. In addition, many new room air conditioners blend better with the decor of a room.

The larger-capacity units are becoming increasingly popular.

RECENTLY REFURBISHED, the home financing department of Buckeye Federal Savings and Loan Association, 36 E. Gay-st, offers the eye-pleasing results shown here. Facilities are provided for customer conferences and prompt, courteous service which has long been the standard of every member of this department.

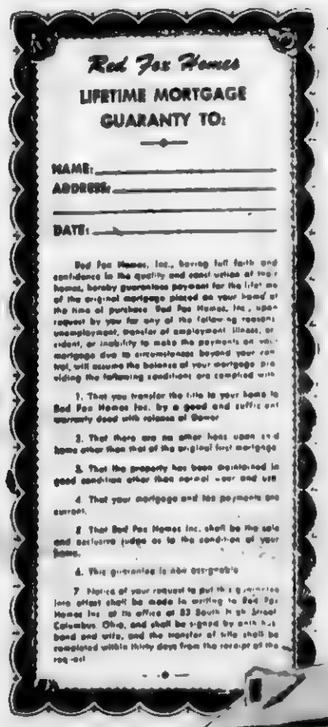
Buckeye Federal Has Grown Through Service To Community

Since its start in 1893, the record of Buckeye Federal Savings and Loan Association has been one of continuous growth and service to the community throughout those past 68 years.

Today, Buckeye Federal is one of Central Ohio's largest savings and loan associations, with assets totaling well in excess of $100,000,000.

During the past year, Buckeye Federal was responsible for about one-sixth of all savings and loan associations' mortgage loan activities in dollar volume recorded in Franklin County. At present, Buckeye Federal first mortgage loans are more than $87,170,000, up $12 million from a year ago.

Also of interest is the fact that since its founding Buckeye Federal has financed more than one-half billion dollars in real estate.



Buckeye Federal's Loan Department is noted for its prompt service in closing loans, and much of this is due to quick appraisal service. Two teams of appraisers provide overnight service on property appraisal. Another reason that Buckeye Federal loans are popular is the fact they contain no escalator or arbitrary call clauses.

Helpful Buckeye Federal loan officers are readily available with advice and assistance on loan transactions for the purchase of existing homes or for new construction by individuals, contractors and developers.

For added convenience, Buckeye Federal service is available at five locations. These include the main office at 36 E. Gay-st, a new drive-in office at 43 E. Long-st, and offices in Thurber Village and the Great Eastern and Great Western shopping centers.

Buckeye Federal service to the Columbus neighborhood areas will be further expanded this year with the construction of new drive-in office on the East Side and in North Arlington.

Friends Can Shower New Homeowners

By PATTY HARTLEY

A new home means new needs and also a desire to show off your new living quarters. An open house or housewarming is an excellent way to combine the accomplishment of both of these goals.

Friends like to shower new homeowners with items of use and decoration. A few well-thought-out picnic dishes brought to the home on moving day will make the process go so much more smoothly and will be appreciated by the family. Any cold dishes, sandwiches, desserts or a jug of cold iced tea may come in handy for several days until the homemaker gets her kitchen in order.

New homeowners will undoubtedly be doing lots of entertaining in the first few weeks and unusual delicacies make a nice gift. There are specially packaged appetizers, hors d'hoeuvres and cheeses, and especially nice is a specialty from your own kitchen.

Thoughtful friends can really surprise the happy householders by popping in for a housewarming-potluck supper. It's best to give the family some kind of hint that they may have company, but they needn't know the whole gang is coming until you 'round the bend with a caravan of cars.

Sunday afternoon makes a nice time for this sort of affair. Friends can tour the home, spread out the meal (take paper plates so the hostess doesn't have to spend hours in her new kitchen washing your dishes!) and be gone by early evening in case the family has other plans.

Guests can go together and present the new homeowners with a gift of considerable value, or they may desire to shower the folks with individual gifts of practicality, beauty, or pure fun. It's wise to know your friends' decorating scheme before you buy—they may have had "early attic" in their old home, but chances are they may be using French Provincial now!

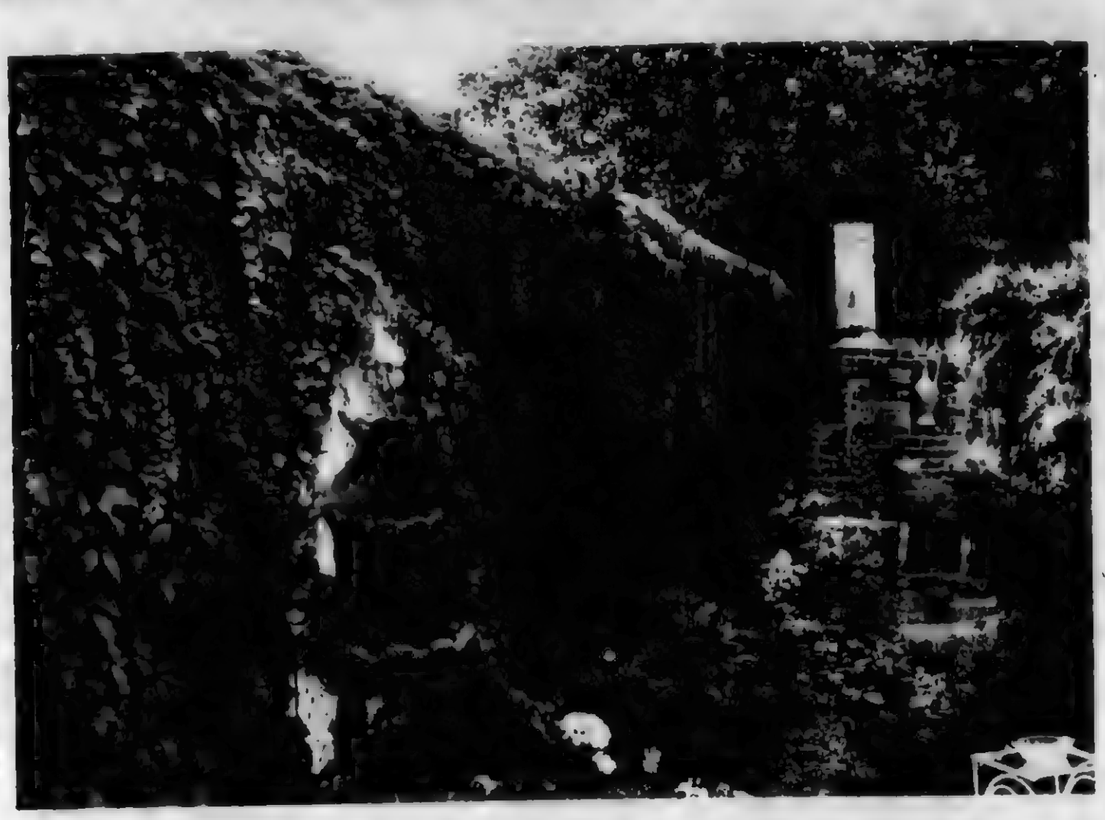
Kitchen Color

It's just as important to have cheerful, colorful kitchen walls as it is to design a kitchen to save steps and work.

Today's trend is to make the kitchen area flow into the dining area. You can select two colors, one for dining room walls, the other a complementary color for kitchen walls.

If your kitchen is small, select bright colors such as red and yellow.

Try painting one wall a deep yellow, another a light red, and the ceiling sky blue.



The new pastel shades can fill a kitchen with a bouquet of charming color.

Helen and Lester Newkirk Create 'A Patch Of Green'

ONLY THE INITIATED, accustomed to the miracles of German Village, would realize that behind the prim exterior of the dwelling of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Newkirk is a luxuriously furnished home, and behind the little wall are a garden and patios, almost breathtaking in their perfection.

IN THE BACKGROUND is the outdoor fireplace forming one corner of the beautiful brick wall, built by the Newkirks. In the foreground by the tiered fountain is one of the two patio areas they have created in the garden of the Stimmel-st home.

LIGHT AND AIR were of little concern to the early settlers of German Village when they built their sturdy little story and a half homes. But as the years went by and other generations occupied the houses, dormers were cut into the "lofts" and livable sleeping area was created in what had been little more than dormitories. The original beams form an interesting ceiling in the Newkirk home where by ingenious use of available space they now boast two and a half bedrooms and a full bath. (The "half-bedroom" is comparable to a Pullman roomette.)

By Jane Robinson

"Don't try to do everything yesterday."

That is a pearl of wisdom Helen Newkirk offers to anyone with the idea of restoring a German Village home.

And she is an indisputable authority on the subject.

When Mr. and Mrs. Newkirk headed for 44 Stimmel-st 29 years ago to make their home, most of their Bexley neighbors felt that Helen and Les were suffering a mild lapse of sanity.

But today, when they see what "Yankee ingenuity and intestinal fortitude" have wrought, they sing another tune. It is one of outright admiration.

Believed to be the very first to bring an old German home up to the 20th century without losing its charm, the Newkirks started with the interior.

The basic comforts of adequate plumbing, heating and lighting demanded their first attention and their first dollars.

From there the couple, who fortunately have a "dovetailing of interests," tackled the interior decoration and collection of furniture that would be "just right."

Although Mrs. Newkirk claims her home has grown like Topsy, the end results belie her statement.

The home is one of charm and taste. The structural changes have changed the basically utilitarian squat German building into a home with space, liveability and grace.

The antiques, some of them museum pieces, have been blended into a studied harmony with more modern furniture.

The home shows the patience and perseverance that have gone into its creation over the past two decades.

Helen and Les Newkirk still aren't ready to sit and survey the fruits of their labors with a self-satisfied "at last we are through," because their attitude remains the same as years ago: "What can we do for our home next?"

But during the past few years, having eliminated the glaring problems of a 100-year-old house, they have slowed down a little.

That is, they have de-accelerated their activities inside the house and have devoted themselves to the garden.

And they have created a veritable Garden of Eden.

But Adam and Eve never had it so good.

And they never worked so hard to get it.

Helen and Les first agreed the only wall to afford them the privacy necessary in a garden and patio, which is to be lived in, must be made of old and tried bricks.

Well, old bricks aren't too hard to lay one's hands on, but how many women have hauled several thousand rectangles of baked clay in a foreign sports car?

And how many women have mixed mortar and laid a wall who previously had never stuck together anything heavier than a chocolate cake?

Few people would have recognized Les as a North American executive when he turned brick mason's apprentice night after night. (It was Helen's wall, and she was the boss bricklayer on the job.)

That Yankee ingenuity came into play when a "widow's walk" was espied on an East Columbus mansion that was being demolished. From a salvage job, they brought home the balustrade to create what is considered the most striking wrought iron gate in the village.

Determined to have a small wall fountain with tiers, Helen's suppliers said, "There just isn't such a thing, Lady." So she had one molded to her own plans.

The garden soon grasped the idea that it was futile to buck the Newkirks' dream of perfection, and the petunias grew mammoth, the flowering plum responded to unusual pruning procedures, and the geraniums bow their heads to no one.

One section of the lawn, not adaptable to grass, bears a luxuriant ground cover of ivy, giving an effect that would have been lost had the Newkirks not seen the advantage of a break in the sod.

Many suburbanites looking at the tiny yard only 31 feet in width, might have skipped the whole business.

"What do you expect to do with a pocket handkerchief?" was one typical comment.

The answer is simple.

The Newkirks have come near to perfection.
